DETAILS OF THE BATTLE.

First Authentic News Received By Way of London Today

London, May 2, 1:35 p. m.—The details of the great naval encounter between the fleets of the United States and Spain at Manila yesterday have just been received at the British Colonial office. The substance of the report has been given out. It is as follows:

The United States fleet, under the command of Admiral Dewey, entered Manila harbor at daybreak and stationed itself opposite the city.

One of the Spanish forts opened fire on the American warships. Then the American ships shifted their position to one near Fort Cavite, one of the strongest fortifications of Manila Bay.

Then the United States fleet engaged in a fierce fight with both forts and Spanish fleet. The battle was a terrible one.

The despatch adds that the American ships finally withdrew to the centre of the roadstead where their magazine vessel was waiting. They took on supplies, supposedly ammunition.

One American vessel, the name of which is not mentioned, is said to have been disabled. No details of the injury is given, however.

Admiral Dewey sent a request to the British Consul in Manila, Rauser Walker, asking him to convey a message to the Governor General of the Phillippines, demanding his surrender.

The American admiral demanded the surrender of all the torpedoes and guns that form the defense and the possession of the cable office there.

Unless these terms were complied with he declared his intention to proceed with the bombardment of the city without delay.

The cable message ends with the statement that the Spanish officials were conferring with the British consul and the agent of the cable company.

Pending the decision of this conference the company was not permitted to handle any messages.

London, May 2, 2 p. m—A second cablegram was received at the Colonial office some time after the arrival of the first one. Its contents have been announced.

The message stated that the Spanish governor-general of the Islands had refused the demand to surrender the torpedoes, guns and cable office.

He also prevented the agent of the cable company from conferring with Admiral Dewey.

The message ended with the statement of the British Governor at the Straits Settlements that he expected the bombardment of Manila would begin Monday morning.

A FLAGSHIP BLOWN UP.

Madrid, May 2, 10 a. m—Madrid is in a state of great excitement over the news of the first great naval battle of the war between the United States and Spain. When the first news of battle was received here, it was considered a great victory for the Castilan host but the reports that followed have caused even the Spaniards to see that the American arms were victorious.

A later dispatch that has just been received from Admiral Montijo, commander of the Spanish fleet in defence of the Phillippine Islands, giving more facts and later news about the engagement.

The early reports of the fight stated that the Admiral's flagship, the Reina Cristina, caught fire during the fight. From the later despatch it is learned that the Reina Cristina caught fire in the fore part of the battle.

The fire spread to the magazines of the great warship and, at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, she exploded with terrific force. All the crew alive had made their escape before the explosion. The flagship was a complete ruin, even according to the Spanish despatches.

The other ships of the Spanish fleet retired to Bacoor creek out of reach of the American fleet. The despatch states that several were run ashore to prevent their capture by the Americans.

Admiral Montijo admits that the losses in his fleet and at the fortifications were extremely heavy. The unarmored sides of the Spanish ships offered no protection to the crews, and there is no doubt but that the continuous fire from the rapid-firing guns made terrible havoc in their ranks. The admission of the Spanish admiral makes it certain that the losses are even worse than reported.

CONFIRMING THE REPORTS.

London Correspondents Verify the Statements of Spanish Defeat.

London, May 2, 11:30 a. m—The correspondents of the newspapers in this city are confirming the report of the American victory at Manila.

A dispatch to The Daily News this morning says that it is believed that the capital of the Phillippine Islands will capitulate to the Americans in twenty-four hours.

The dispatch confirms the complete destruction of the Spanish fleet and the escape of the American war ships from serious damage.

Advices from Madrid state that the Spanish ministers admit that the Spanish fleet was defeated by Admiral Dewey's squadron.

The British ambassadors in the east have been ordered to report at once any developments in the situation at the Phillippines to the foreign office here.

Official Organ Admits Defeat.

Madrid, May 2, 11:40 a. m—The newspaper, the official organ of Sagasta, the Spanish premier, now admits that the Spanish naval forces at Manila were defeated. The same article deplores the lack of governmental foresight.

As a result of the defeat a sensational session is expected in the Chamber tomorrow. A very lively debate will probably take place.

No Official Report Yet.

Washington, May 2, 11:45 a. m—While no official report has yet been received by Secretary Long, of the Navy Department, regarding the first naval engagement off Manila, no doubt is expressed as to the truth of the victory of the American fleet.

The only news so far received has come through Spanish sourses and is in all probability highly colored by the Spanish. As even the Spanish dispatches concede a victory for the Americans, no doubt is felt in the Navy Department. All are, however, very anxious to learn the details of the conflict.

Destroyed Their Own Vessels.

Madrid, May 2, 1 p. m—Later dispatches go far to confirm the utter annihilation of the Spanish fleet at Manila. Besides the destruction of the three most powerful Spanish cruisers during the conflict, reports have been received that the Spaniards have destroyed others to prevent capture.

Three of the large war ships are reported to have been sunk by the Spaniards. Seven of the small gunboats were either run ashore, as has already been stated in a previous dispatch, or were sunk by their commanders.

The people in this city were jubilant when the first dispatches were published, but as the later news made the Spanish defeat evident, excited throngs gathered and mutterings were heard.

Bombarding Again.

Hong Kong, May 2, 10:10 a. m.—News of the engagement between the American and Spanish fleets at Manilla has reached here but none of the details are yet known.

It is understood that the American ships nearly destroyed their opponents.

Admiral Dewey's fleet is now bombarding the fortifications at Manilla. It is expected that a force of American sailors and marines will be landed today.

Insurgent Leader to Join Dewey.

Singapore, May 2, 10:40 a. m—Plans are already being laid for the future administration of the Phillippine Islands after the Spanish rule shall have been removed.

PROF. WARDE DECAMPS UNDER AWFUL CHARGE

Accused of Henious Offenses By Young Students.

PARENTS VERY INDIGNANT.

THE SUAVE PROFESSOR DEPARTED QUICK TO ESCAPE ARREST.

Fearful Tales of His Acts Told to Members of the Faculty by Members of the School, Who are Sons of Prominent Citizens—Affidavits Made and Warde Confronted With the Truth—Indignantly Denied the Charges, but Hurried Out of Town Immediately—Parents Will Have Him Arrested.

A. D. Warde, Ph. D, formerly superintendent of the public schools in North Plainfield, and for the past year at the head of the New Jersey Military School on Prospect place, left this city Saturday afternoon resting under charges that has created a great sensation in aristocratic circles, as the military academy was attended only by the sons of wealthy people.

Last Wednesday several members of the faculty of the military academy were approached by a number of the students of the school—sons of prominent citizens—who told a fearful tale of Prof. Warde's practices among the young lads entrusted to his care for education of mind and morals.

The members of the faculty were dumbfounded at the revelations the boys made, but after some consideration one of the teachers was delegated to take the boys involved in the charges before a notary public and make affidavits with which prosecution could be commenced.

Three of the boys who had made confessions were taken to Lawyer George Bird, of Front street, and before him related the circumstances and details of the practices which it is alleged Dr. Warde was guilty of.

The affidavits were taken by two of the faculty and Dr. Warde called Saturday morning. He was first told of the charges and denied them in toto. The affidavits were then shown to him, and he still indignantly maintained that they were false.

He was told that the matter would not be allowed to rest and was advised that the best thing he could do was to leave town and relinquish all authority in the school. After an hour's interview Dr. Warde told the members of the faculty to come to the school in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and he would have another talk with them.

The affidavits were mailed with a letter of particulars to Prosecutor Dungan, of Somerset county, at Somerville. Mr. Dungan is in the south for his health and the documents were received by his assistant, who was expected to come to this city today to cause the arrest of Dr. Warde.

In the meantime a number of the students at the academy were cautioned to watch Dr. Warde's movements and report immediately to one of the faculty if they should see Warde making arrangements to depart. Saturday morning the watchers noticed Dr. Warde packing up some of his effects, as if about to make a hurried departure.

The boys hurried to notify the members of the faculty, and the military academy was visited in the attempt to catch him before he had left. He was gone when the scholars and the faculty reached there. He had been seen going down Washington avenue and a search was made for him along the streets, but to no avail.

It seems that Dr. Warde took a street car to the Evona station of the Central Railroad and there boarded a train for New York. Where he went no one knows. Before leaving he made arrangements with Percy Robert Colwell to continue the school, stating that he would not return to town.

The parents of the boys on whom Dr. Warde practiced his detestable and henious offenses are very indignant, and they are determined to land him in State prison for the offenses if it is possible to arrest him. Every effort will be made to locate his whereabouts.

This morning Lawyer Charles J. McNabb appeared in Justice Smalley's court in the borough and secured an attachment in favor of Mrs. Harry Shearer, of 5 Grove street, against Dr. Warde for a board bill of $54 50.

An Address on Missions.

Mrs. J. S. Bussing, of New York, has been secured by the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church to make an address at the meeting of the Band Friday afternoon next at 3 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to hear Mrs. Bussing.

FINE CHURCH WEDDING.

MOORE-STEWART NUPTIALS CELEBRATED SATURDAY NIGHT.

The Ceremony Performed by Rev. W. R. Richards Before a Host of Admiring Friends—Reception Held After.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place in the Crescent Avenue church Saturday evening, when Miss Anna Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Stewart, of this city, became the bride of Eugene Albert Moore.

When 7 o'clock, the hour set for the wedding, arrived, the church was thronged by a host of friends and relatives of the bride and groom. The decorations about the pulpit were elaborate, and were made up principally of rare varieties of palms and a profusion of cut flowers, arranged with pleasing effect.

After a few minutes of expectancy the waiting friends and relatives heard the strains of the wedding march peal forth from the great organ, and a minute later the bridal party advanced up the aisle. The bride, leaning upon the arm of her father, was attired in white satin, trimmed with chiffon and old point lace. She wore a diamond sunburst, a present from the groom, and carried a bunch of white roses.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Kittie Stewart, a sister of the bride; and the bridemaids were Miss May Evans, Miss Ida Stewart, Miss Mabel Pierson and Miss Clara Moore. The maid-of-honor was attired in white satin trimmed with point lace. The bridemaids wore white organdie over pink silk and carried pink roses. The ushers were Percy Stewart, Walter William Tyler and Walter Moore, of this city; Frederick Fish, of Chicago, and Mr. Kilmer, of Philadelphia.

The party was met at the altar by the groom and the best man, Horace Moore. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. R. Richards, D. D., pastor of the church, the Presbyterian marriage service being used.

After the ceremony the wedding party were driven to the home of the bride's parents, 527 West Seventh street, where a wedding reception and dance were held from 7:30 until 10 o'clock.

The house was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, palms and smilax which gave a bower-like effect to the dining room, hall and parlor.

The guests were allowed during the evening to inspect the wedding presents, which were very numerous and included a profusion of rich cut-glass, silverware, china and jewelry.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on their wedding tour which will be through the south. Upon their return they will reside in their own house on College place.

SLEPT BESIDE DEAD CHILD.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gelett's Horrible Discovery Early Yesterday Morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gelett, of Harmony street, were greatly frightened yesterday morning about 5 o'clock when they awoke and found their infant daughter, Eloise, two months old, dead in bed.

Mrs. Gelett at once went to the home of Chief Marshal Wilson and informed him of the death. The Chief went to the home of Mrs. Gelett and saw the child. He then went to Somerville and informed County Physician Wagoner, who came to North Plainfield and gave a burial permit. In the opinion of the county physician the child died of convulsions.

The parents say that the child has been perfectly well since it was born. The funeral services will be held today or tomorrow.

Won Medals at Holy Cross.

The choir boys of the Church of the Holy Cross who won the silver medals for the month of April were Everett Sherwin, George Hill, Kenneth Stuart and Luther Shepherd. The medals are awarded for regular attendance, punctuality, good behavior and improvement in singing. A further prize of a silver cross will be awarded to the boy who makes the most improvement in singing during each month.

Attending a Conference.

Rev. Arthur Crane, of Carleton avenue, went to Philadelphia this morning to attend the Baptist ministers' conference. On Wednesday of this week he will attend a similar conference at Norfolk, Va. Mr. Crane expects to spend most of the summer in the south conducting evangelistic services.

A New Tenor Heard.

Mr. Lenox, tenor, who has been secured to take the place of Mr. Stricklett, resigned, at the Crescent Avenue church, sang very acceptably in the choir yesterday. At the morning service there was communion. Four persons were received into membership on confession and six by letter.

A WAR FOR HUMANITY.

REV. CORNELIUS SCHENCK'S PATRIOTIC SERMON YESTERDAY.

He Prays for the Success of the United States Because it is a Contest Waged in the Interests of Humanity.

There was no uncertain sound in the patriotic discourse delivered by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Reformed church, at the church service yesterday morning. Previous to the sermon, Mr. Schenck personally gave expression to his feelings of appreciation for the decoration of the pulpit with an American flag, which, he said, was done by kind hands, and without his knowledge.

The text of the sermon was taken from Exodus, fifteenth chapter and third verse: "The Lord is a Man of War; the Lord is His Name." In part the reverend gentleman spoke as follows:

"I have shrunk from talking in the pulpit about the present National crisis, not because I am not patriotic, but because for several weeks you have been surfeited with the news continually by day and night, and "extras" at the noon hour. I have thought that when you come up to the house of the Lord you deserve the Bread of Life. The first point I wish to speak to you about this morning is, 'Is war in any case justifiable?' Second, 'Is war with Spain justifiable?'

"War is a great evil. It costs life and treasure, which is undesirable. War, the evil that it is, and as undesirable as it is, is justifiable when humanity is to be relieved. David, of old, asked for divine guidance in military affairs, and God has given the sword to defend the right against the evil-doers.

"The second point, is there justification for the present war, is a concrete question, and I am not surprised that you ask the question. We have professed to be a peace-loving nation, and for thirty-three years the sky has been clear of clouds. The God of Mars has had no opposition and peace has been our watchword. Difficulties have been settled by arbitration since the north and south shook hands over Dixie's line.

"Now this is all changed. The dove of peace has folded her wings and the old rifle has been taken down, cleaned and placed in a handy place. The resolutions adopted by Congress and the President's call have been answered. War is here between the United States and Spain. I pray for the success of our arms.

"If the motive of the war was for territorial engrandizement, then it would be an unholy war before God and man. The resolutions adopted by Congress and the President disavow such a motive. When the United States wants property she goes into the markets of the world and pays hard cash for it, as in the case of the purchase of Louisana where $15,000,000 was paid, and Alaska, where $7,250,000 was paid.

"Our critics across the sea accuse us of desiring conquest, but people who live in glass houses should not throw stones. This country is too old for the United States of America to go to war for revenge. The sentiment was to strike quick and hard when our battleship Maine was blown up, and 266 sailors were killed, but our nation was greater than the occasion. The greatness of our composure was the admiration of the world. The Lord has said, 'Revenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath. Vengeance is mine, I will repay, saith the Lord.'

"Is there another nation that would do likewise? Not another one would have held back one hour. While we will remember the Maine, that is not our slogan, our watchword. It is a war for humanity and civilization, and to uplift our weaker brother. Clear the ship for action and let all say amen.

"We couldn't stand by if we would and see suffering humanity crying for bread. Let this war be waged on the ground that it is solely for humanity. There are two things to do. First, stand by the President and the Government. This is not a time for disputings or hair splitting, but a time for loyal support. We all condemn bushwacking, and the man who purposely sends up the price of the necessaries of life at this time deserves to be hung from the yardarm of the nearest ship or lamp post. If a commodity rightfully goes up bear it manfully, you who are living on a small margin.

"In the second place God is the God of His people, and we must trust Him, and the decree of the Almighty God will be righteously fulfilled."

Preceding the sermon the organist, A. L. Titsworth, played "The Star Spangled Banner" and "My Country, 'Tis of Thee," and at the close of the service choir and congregation joined heartily in singing the latter popular National hymn.

HOT FIGHT AGAINST THE COUNTY TROLLEY

An Uprising of Indignant Property Owners.

PROTESTORS ORGANIZING.

WILL RESIST THE EFFORTS TO BE MADE UNDER THE SQUIRE LAW.

Anti-Trolley Crusade to Go Under the Title of the "Union County League"—A Citizens' Meeting Held in Cranford Saturday Night and the Preliminary Details Arranged to Make the Fight—Eminent Lawyers to be Employed—An Address to be Issued to Property owners Showing Invasion of Rights.

Plans have been practically completed for the formation of a "Union County League" in New Jersey for the purpose of resisting the attempt to carry through the Boulevard trolley scheme which was authorized by a recent act of the New Jersey Legislature. A number of the property owners along the threatened North avenue, in Union county, have signified their intention to join this league, and at a citizens' meeting held at the residence of William Drysdale in Cranford Saturday evening the preliminary details were arranged.

A committee on permanent organization reported a constitution and by-laws for the "Union County League," and the organization is to be incorporated without delay. Although it will be of a semi-social character, its chief purpose is to watch and protect the interests of the property owners of Union county. Membership qualifications are to be limited only by the demonstrated sympathy of the applicants with the purpose in view. It is the intention of the leaders of this league to employ one of the most eminent lawyers in the country for the permanent protection of their property. An address to all property owners in Union county, explaining the danger they are in, is being prepared, and when printed will have a wide circulation.

A committee of Cranford property owners, which has been hard at work for the past few days circulating blank forms of protest against the Boulevard trolley scheme, reported results satisfactory to the projectors of the Union County League. These protests have already been signed by a majority of the residents of Cranford and by the owners of a majorty of lineal feet on North avenue in Cranford. The work of the committee will be continued until practically the entire population of the town of Cranford has signed.

In the discussion of this subject, which has stirred Union county from one end to the other, much has been said about the damages to be awarded for the land taken for the purpose of widening North avenue and the accompanying "benefit" assessment to be made on the land which the highway wideners do not take. Wright Babcock, of Fanwood, has been looking into the mathematics of the proposed "improvement" and he says: "At a recent public meeting called to consider this subject I heard an estimate that the average value of properties abutting on the proposed boulevard was $10 per foot front. At this estimate, which no one will regard as partial to owners, the required strip of land, twelve miles long by forty feet wide, would cost $633,600.

"The cost of moving or razing more than 100 houses, most of which are dwellings that would require new cellars and new water, light and sewer connections, would surely reach $100,000. And, finally, the stone and cement, labor, machines and tools, salaries of commissioners, and all other incidental expenses would certainly be no less for the new road than they were for the present one, which is said to have cost $10,000 per mile, adding $120,000 more, and making the total $853,600. This sum might be reduced, however, by whatever sum a trolley company would pay for the use of the road. The highest price so far bid for the privilege is $100,000, if still in force, (not per annum, but for the whole term of the lease.) Assuming that this sum can be increased to $200,000, the work would add more than $600,000 to the county debt, (already $481,000,) and it would increase the county taxes over $30,000 per year for thirty years, or until the bonds were paid, and this, when the country is entering upon the expenses of a war and the price of all the necessities of life are advancing."

Arrangements are being made to hold a general public meeting of property owners in the Cranford Opera House, under the direction of the Union County League.

—Local Addition, Royal Arcanum, will meet this evening.

A TRIUMPH AT MANILA

FIERCE FIGHT OF WARSHIPS

Loss of the Spaniards, 10 Ships; Americans, None.

Montojo's Vessels All Either Sunk, Burned or Disabled by the American Tars Under the Man Who Fought with Admiral Farragut.

Commodore Dewey's fleet has won a magnificent victory in the Philippines. The Spanish fleet of some ten vessels had not the courage to meet the six ships of the American fleet in the open sea, but retired under the heavy modern guns of Forts Cavite and Manila, which protect the entrance to Manila Bay. Commodore Dewey at 5 o'clock yesterday morning went boldly in, facing the guns of forts and fleet. After fearful havoc he retired to renew the attack at 9 o'clock, and finished his work, the forts of Cavite and Manila doing their utmost.

The entire Spanish fleet seems to have been destroyed, and, so far as known, Commodore Dewey did not lose a ship. The news comes by way of Madrid, and the best the Minister of Marine could do was to cable congratulations on the valor of the Spanish crews "under fire of superior warships."

The Spanish still possess Manila, it seems, because they control the cables, and their news reports say further American operations will be conducted under great difficulty owing to want of a base of supply for coal, ammunition and repairs.

London tells us that the entrance to Manila is heavily mined. The improbable suggestion is made, therefore, that the American Commodore will make for San Francisco.

Madrid, May 2.—Advices from Manila say that the American squadron, under Commodore Dewey, appeared off the Bay of Manila at 5 o'clock yesterday morning and opened a strong cannonade against the Spanish squadron and forts protecting the harbor. The Spanish second-class cruiser Don Juan de Austria was severely damaged and her commander was killed. Another Spanish vessel was burned. The American squadron retired, having also sustained severe damage.

A second naval engagement followed, in which the American squadron again suffered considerable loss and the Spanish warship Isla de Mindanao and Don Antonio de Ulloa were slightly damaged.

Following is the text of the official dispatch from the Governor General of the Philippines to the Minister of War, Lieutenant General Correa, as to the engagement off Manila: "Last night, April 30, the batteries at the entrance to the fort announced the arrival of the enemy's squadron, forcing a passage under the obscurity of the night. At daybreak the enemy took up positions, opening with a strong fire against Fort Cavite and the arsenal. Our fleet engaged the enemy in a brilliant combat, protected by the Cavite and Manila forts. They obliged the enemy, with heavy loss, to maneuver repeatedly. At 9 o'clock the American squadron took refuge behind the foreign merchant shipping on the east side of the bay.

"Our fleet, considering the enemy's superiority, naturally suffered a severe loss. The Maria Christina is on fire and another ship, believed to be the Don Juan de Austria, was blown up.

"There was considerable loss of life. Captain Cadarso, commanding the Maria Christina, is among the killed. I cannot now give further details. The spirit of the army, navy and volunteers is excellent."

According to late official telegrams the Spanish cruiser Castilla was also burned. The other ships retired from the combat, some being sunk to avoid their falling into the enemy's hands. An official telegram received at a later hour from the Governor General of the Philippines says: "Admiral Montojo has transferred his flag to the cruiser Isla de Cuba from the cruiser Reina Maria Christina. The Reina Maria Christina was completely burned, as was also the cruiser Castilla, the other ships having to retire from the combat and some being sunk to avoid their falling into the hands of the enemy."

El Heraldo de Madrid says that Admiral Montojo changed his flagship during the engagement or between the two encounters in order the better to direct the maneuvers. In this way he escaped the fate of the commander of the Reina Maria Christina. The second engagement, according to El Heraldo, was apparently begun by the Americans, after landing their wounded on the west side of the bay. In the latter engagement the Spanish warships Mindanao and Ulloa suffered heavily. Ministers speak of "serious but honorable losses."

CAPITAL EXCITED BY VICTORY.

Probable Manner in Which Spain's Fleet Was Whipped.

Washington, May 2.—President McKinley is receiving congratulations over the great victory of Commodore Dewey's fleet in Manila Bay. Although the reports come from Spanish sources, which, in ordinary circumstances, would be colored to satisfy Spain's pride, the action apparently has been so overwhelming in favor of the Americans that the outcome could not be left in the slightest doubt.

The Spanish fleet has been wiped out of existence. The vessels that have not been sunk or burned have either been captured or driven to seek shelter close under the Krupp guns of the Manila batteries, where they will be taken later. From all accounts two battles were fought—the first near the mouth of the bay and the second inside. It is probable that Commodore Dewey attacked the Spanish fleet in column formation, and that they prepared to meet him in line of battle.

HOW IT WAS FOUGHT.

Dewey cut the enemy's line in the middle and then turned all his attention to the wings. This is shown by the annihilation of the flagship Reina Maria Cristina, which would naturally be the centre of the Spanish line of battle. The Don Juan de Austria and the Castilla, also in the same wing, reports say, were sunk. Other vessels of the wing receiving the severe and concentrated fire were damaged seriously. The gunnery of the forts at this time is reported bad. This probably was owing to the fact that the first encounter took place well off the shore, and also that the American ships were in such a position that the Spanish gunners in the batteries were deterred from accurate firing for fear of injuring their own vessels.

The Spanish wing, not cut off in the first encounter, seeing the destruction wrought upon their consorts, made off up the bay under a hot fire from the Americans, who, by this time, were ready to deal with them.

SECOND ENCOUNTER.

After repairing damages and attending to his wounded, Commodore Dewey led his fleet after the enemy, which had sought temporary safety near the forts. It was here that the complete victory over the ships of Spain was acquired. The dispatches state in the second encounter the Cavite forts maintained a steadier and stronger fire on the Americans than in the first engagement. Our vessels then had come closer to them in order to destroy the remnants of the Spanish squadron. It is highly probable that we have captured more than one of the Spanish war vessels.

Those not captured are either sunk or aground. In the damaged condition none of them would have sought safety by flight to sea. From the nature of the engagement, it was fought at close range.

The American ships are none of them armored. Their sides easily could be pierced by the smallest guns.

The dispatches state the American vessels landed their wounded before beginning the second encounter. Therefore our side has not escaped uninjured. Naval officers hardly believe that Commodore Dewey would put his injured men ashore. If they were removed from the vessels at all they probably were placed aboard one or the other of the merchant vessels which accompanied the fleet as colliers and storeships.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE."

In the battle it s likely that the forts also received attention from the American gunners. The casualties ashore, as well as aboard the enemy's squadron, will undoubtedly be heavy. That the American tars fought with vigor there is no doubt. It is likely that more than once the battle cry of "Remember the Maine!" was passed from man to man.

It will be surprising if the Spanish losses do not foot up many more than 266.

The crews of the three ships, admitted by the Spanish authorities to have been sunk, number 800 men, and the greater part of these surely were killed or drowned. As all small boats were either left behind or dropped overboard at the beginning of the action, there was absolutely no chance for an effort to be made to save life on the sinking ships.

Reliable details of the battle hardly will reach us until some vessel which was in Manila at the time, reaches Hong Kong, whence the news can be wired without the interference of the Spanish censor. In the meantime anxiety will fill the hearts of those who have friends or relatives on board the squadron.

SPANIARDS FOUGHT WELL.

That the Spaniards fought well and to the death is shown by the destruction wrought. They did not run away until such a movement was a military necessity. Even then they retired only to the support of the batteries on shore.

It detracts only little from Commodore Dewey's credit to admit that the Spaniards were at a great disadvantage. Their shipes were old, slow and in no way up to the standard of ours. The Cristina was steel, with protected deck, but no armor. The Don Juan was iron without protection, like her sister ship, the Ulloa. The Isle de Cuba and the Isle de Luzon were steel, but they were small vessels of less tonnage than the Concord, which is only 1,700 tons. The Spanish guns were in no way the equal of ours. It is probable that their ammunition was faulty.

Torpedoes are not mentioned in the dispatches. It is probable that if they were used, no damage was due to them. The battle was won by the rapid and continuous fire of the eight-inch guns of the larger ships, whose plunging shot at the short range certainly must have hulled the enemy time and again. The lighter guns of the fleet also were not idle.

MINES IN MANILA BAY.

London Hears That the Plucky Commodore May Have to Retire for Supplies.

London, May 2.—While it is quite clear that the Spanish squadron has suffered a crushing defeat, the dispatches leave unclear the intensely interesting question whether the American squadron has suffered material damage.

All news thus far comes from Spanish sources, but it seems evident that Commodore Dewey has not captured Manila. Unless he is able to make another attack and capture the town he will be in an awkward position, having no base upon which to retire and to refit.

Probably, therefore, the United States squadron will be obliged to make for San Francisco, as the entrance to Manila Bay was heavily mined.

Commodore Dewey displayed great pluck and daring in making for the inner harbor. According to private advices received from Madrid the United States cruisers Olympia and Raleigh and two other vessels the names of which are not given entered the harbor. No dispatches give details as to the vessels actually engaged on either side.

It appears to be incorrect that the American ships finally anchored behind the merchantmen on the east side of the bay. It probably was the west side.

The probabilities are that the second engagement occurrred through the Spaniards trying to prevent the landing of the American wounded.

Spanish Losses Confessedly Heavy.

Madrid, via Paris, May 2.—The Spanish Ministry of Marine has received a dispatch saying that the American fleet was obliged to retreat after a terrible engagement off Manila.

The dispatch says the Spanish losses were heavy and that the American ships were severely damaged.

GLADSTONE'S CONDITION.

Disease Slowly Gaining and Pain Is Increasing.

London, May 2.—The following bulletin as to Mr. Gladstone's condition was posted at Hawarden last evening:

"There has been no material change in Mr. Gladstone's condition since last Sunday. There is a slow advance in the local malady and he has at times considerable pain; but he has felt easier this afternoon."

ELI SHAW ACQUITTED.

The Camden Murder Likely to Remain a Mystery.

Camden, N. J., May 2.—Eli Shaw, the young man of this city who was indicted for the murder of his mother, Mrs. Sarah Shaw, and for the murder of his grandmother, Mrs. Emma Zane, is nearer freedom now than he has been since he was first suspected, having been acquitted of the charge.

The verdict means much to Shaw, for the probabilities are that the indictment against him for the killing of his mother will not be brought to trial. The evidence was the same in both cases, but the prosecution decided to have two separate trials.

Shaw has been in jail since October. The double crime occurred early on the morning of Oct. 12. Both women were shot and killed in their home, 242 Line street. Eli Shaw was the only other occupant in the house. He claimed burglars entered the house, while the State tried to prove that Shaw killed his relatives in order to obtain possession of the house in which they lived.

The verdict shows that the jury believed the crimes were committed by burglars. The trial was one of the most sensational ever known here. Shaw was tried a short time ago, but because of ugly rumors the trial came to a close suddenly, and Lawyer Harry Scovel, chief counsel for Shaw, was arrested for embracery. He was indicted, but acquitted, and conducted the defense of Shaw at the present trial.

CROP FAILURE AFFECTS BIRTH.

So Says Professor Schenk in His Book on Sex Formation.

Berlin, May 2.—Prof. Schenk's book, which treats of influence on the formation of sex, is a small volume. The writer asserts that his theory is the result of long inquiries. The theory is that the more the maternal organism contains albumen the more likely it is that the child will be a male. Prof. Schenk says he observed that diabetic mothers produced girls, and that men always have more albumen than women. If the woman has not enough albumen, dieting to assist in its formation should begin some weeks before conception and should be continued until the third month of pregnancy.

Prof. Schenk says he has observed that in years of bad crops more boys than girls are born, and says that the reason for this is that in those years the agricultural population kill and eat more cattle, and meat contains more albumen than the vegetable food usually eaten by agriculturists.

SHORT NEARLY $200,000.

President Warner May Have Sailed for Europe.

Springfield, Mass., May 2.—Lewis Warner, defaulting president of the Hampshire County National Bank, of Northampton, is still out of reach of his pursuers. Some say he has $40,000 or $50,000 with him, but a lawyer, Mr. O'Donnell, who was with him last, declares that Warner did not have more than $500 about him.

Where he is no one knows. He may have sailed for Europe and he may have gone to Canada, but there are many who believe that he has gone West, basing their opinion on the fact that he was seen in Westfield, eight miles from Springfield, after he left Northampton. However, it is known that he talked of going to Europe.

Meanwhile the amount of his peculations continue to grow and the sum is already in the neighborhood of $200,000. His indebtedness to the National Bank is at least $170,000, while he owes the savings bank something more than $18,000, as near as can be figured at this time.

MAY BE A GENERAL WAR.

Germany's Peculiar Attitude and Wolseley's Talk Cause Comment.

London, May 2.—Many naval officers and others in authority believe that serious complications will arise before the war with Spain is over and that a general European war may be the outcome.

They see in the attitude of Germany an indication of trouble ahead, and the talk of Lord Wolseley of the militia being called out in case of need for foreign service, is looked upon here as extremely significant. England will be with the United States in whatever turns up, and the hatred of the German Emperor for both nations is the one thing that will help to bind them together.

England is fully prepared for the worst, and her magnificent fleets are ready at any moment for active service.

Are Not Cowboys, Says Roosevelt.

Washington, May 2.—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt objects to the terms rough riders and cowboys being applied to his regiment. He desires it to be understood that the command is to be a regiment of mounted riflemen and not a hippodrome or circus, and that any one who wishes to get to the front will do so. Those who are enlisting for the fun of the thing, he says, are making a great error.

Queen Regent's Appeal.

London, May 2.—The Berlin correspondent of the Sunday Special asserts that the Queen Regent has appealed to the Czar, through Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria, to assist Spain in her conflict with the United States. The Czar replied that he did not consider it time as yet for Russian interference, but at the proper time he would do whatever was possible.

Clenfuegos Bombarded.

Madrid, May 1.—An official despatch from Havana says: "An American ship has bombarded a battery at the entrance of Clenfuegos, but it was driven off by three of our gunboats, which put out of the harbor in another direction. We sustained some slight damage. Other men of war have threatened the Mariel coast. Troops have gone to its defense."

St. Paul Ready for Service.

Philadelphia, May 2.—The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul's complement of 18 guns is complete, and she is expected to leave here to-day. Preparations have been made to give her and her commander, Capt. Sigsbee, a send-off. Five coal barges will follow her down the bay and load her to a heavy you naturally want to get the very best possible for the money you are going to pay. That is what we propose to give you. There is no Piano concern in America that sells Pianos as cheaply as we do. An ordinary Piano man will say "I must make a big profit for I only sell a Piano occasionally." We have always said "We make the profit small and thereby stimulate business." It has paid us to do so, for it stands to reason that quarter the profit when you sell ten is better than the whole profit when you only sell one.

Pay us TEN DOLLARS and you can have a Piano at once.

A Hundred Reasons
Can be given why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best and most effectual cure for every form of indigestion
They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed They are pleasant to the taste.
After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.
They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half-digested food.
They increase flesh by digesting flesh forming foods.
Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.
One disease, one remedy, the successful physician of today is the specialist the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease.
A whole package taken at one time would not hurt you but would simply be a waste of good material.
Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

CUBAN INVASION PLANS

Government Has No Doubt That It Can Land Troops on Island.

CUBANS WILL CO-OPERATE

Landing Place Settled, but It Is Known Only to Army and Navy Officials—Col. Ludlow, of the Corps of Engineers, to Go with the Expedition and Fortify the Place.

Washington, May 2.—The Government is confident of its ability to carry out successfully the plans for landing a large military force in Cuba at an early day, and of accomplishing all the purposes of the expedition. Despite the published statements which have purported to give the minutest details of the project from the precise time of sailing to the exact point of landing, the army administration is apparently unembarrassed in its plan. The officials in charge of the preparations know that the expedition could not be embarked without public knowledge of the fact. They are confident, however, that they have conducted the preliminary operations so secretly that little of the real intentions of the Administration have become known. One thing only has caused serious annoyance. One newspaper published the date on which the expedition is expected by the War Department to set out, and the publication was accurate. Up to that time the exact day the United States troops would be transported to the island had not been mentioned in public by the few who were acquainted confidentially with the fact.

A surprise probably awaits the Spaniards, and the history of the first military expedition from this country, when it shall have been written, will very likely prove that the strategists of the army and navy made wise preparations for the successful execution of the important project which they had in hand. The landing place of the troops, with their important stores of guns and ammunition for the Cuban insurgents, may be Matanzas, as has been generally believed, and it may not be. The best reason for believing that Matanzas is not the place selected is that the public and Spain have been allowed to believe that Matanzas is the place. The War Department has made complete preparations for fortifying the proposed base of supplies in Cuba. Lieut. Col. Ludlow of the Corps of Engineers of the army has been ordered to go South at once, and he will probably accompany the expedition to Cuba. A part of the engineer battalion at Willets Point, N. Y., will go South for the same purpose.

The preparations which the Administration has made for the landing of the expedition have not neglected the co-operation of the insurgents, and it is expected that a strong auxiliary force of Cuban troops will assist the United States forces in delivering the large number of arms and immense stores of ammunition which will be carried from the Florida coast. Some time before the arrival in Cuba of an emissary of the War Department had been published, the agent had reached the lines of the insurgent army and had performed the important part of his mission. The complete details of the expedition were doubtless given this emissary, in order to arrange for the intelligent and prompt co-operation of the Cubans under Garcia and Gomez.

No secret is made of the fact that the Administration wishes to have the volunteer army in condition as soon as possible to support, if necessary, the preliminary expedition to Cuba. Very soon after the preliminary project shall have been carried out many of the volunteers will have been mustered into regiments and can be landed on the island very soon, should it become necessary to engage in a general campaign precipitated by the attempt to carry arms to the insurgents. It is possible that the volunteers will be mobilized at not less than four or five points south of Washington. There will be five army corps, probably, and it is unlikely that more than one corps will be mobilized in the same place, except at Chickamauga.

As already published, it is expected that the Chickamauga Park and Fort Meyer, Va., will be selected as mobilization points. Strong influence is being use to secure the selection of Richmond and Atlanta. John B. Gordon, who was a lieutenant general in the Confederate Army, has been recommended to the President for appointment as a major general in the present hostilities. Several appointments in the higher grades are expected to be made early this week.

The Commissary Department has already shipped to Key West and Tampa provisions for the subsistence of 5,000 men for thirty days, and it would appear from this that 5,000 is the correct number of men to compose the expedition, although this number will probably be increased to 20,000 in a short time.

There is some anxiety at the department in regard to the way that Gen. Blanco will treat the invasion of Cuba. If he should decide to attempt to repel our troops he could greatly embarrass them. Unless landing is effected at some deep water harbor, where docks can be utilized, men, horses and their equipment will have to be taken ashore in lighters.

Before our soldiers can occupy a good harbor provided with docks it will first be necessary for them to drive away the Spanish from that point. As it is given out that the object of the expedition is to carry supplies and food to the suffering Cubans and that every precaution is to be taken not to provoke a battle, it would seem that the forces will be taken ashore at some place that is either undefended or at which there is only a small Spanish detachment of soldiers.

It will be a serious matter to get to shore 5,000 men with their equipments with no better conveyance than lighters. Soldiers loaded with knapsacks, blankets, etc., can move but slowly under the most favorable conditions, but in clambering down from a steamer into small boats they will be at great disadvantage.

It will be no easy task either to get the horses for the cavalry on shore. Of course, the navy is expected to cover with its guns the point of landing, and, if necessary, engage the enemy should the Spanish attempt to prevent the disembarkation of our soldiers.

It is the intention of the Administration to make this first invasion a permanent one. A base of operations will be established and maintained throughout the entire war.

Cable communications will be established from this point with Key West and a regular passenger route will be put into operation for the regular conveyance of mails, supplies, etc.

WILL FORCE A LANDING.

The Puritan to Reduce Remaining Matanzas Defenses To-morrow

Miami, Fla., May 2.—From an officer of the monitor Puritan it is learned that another attack will be made on Matanzas to-morrow. The Puritan will reach the station to-night and bombardment will begin early to-morrow morning.

Both forts will be shelled, and when reduced landing parties will be sent ashore. The 900 marines on the Panther have not been permitted to go ashore at Key West. They are still aboard the transport, which will be convoyed to the Cuban coast by the Puritan. They will police and hold the town after bombardment.

The Red Cross ship, loaded to the guards with provisions and supplies for the reconcentrados, will go with the Puritan and Panther. Miss Barton, Dr. Egan and a large staff of Red Cross nurses are domiciled on the Texas.

It is said at the naval station that an attack on Havana will be made as early as to-morrow. Only the western shore defenses will be the targets and no general attack on all the forts and batteries will be made until later in the week.

Matanzas will be the place of the first landing in Cuba. No attempt will be made to extend operations beyond holding towns until Gens. Miles and Merritt can land a column at Matanzas and eastward, to be joined by Gomez.

GERMANY'S ATTITUDE.

Her Peculiar Course Giving Washington Authorities Much Anxiety

Washington, May 2.—All the great powers of Europe, with but two exceptions—Germany and Austria—have declared their neutrality in the war between the United States and Spain.

It has been understood that the Government of Austria, for dynastic reasons, leaned toward Spain, but the failure of the Austrian Emperor to issue a proclamation of neutrality is not construed here as indicating that his Government will give aid directly or indirectly to that of Spain. It has been semi-officially stated that Austria has abstained from declaring neutrality so as to be in a better position to take steps to bring about European mediation or intervention in the interest of peace at a later stage of the war.

The position of Germany is not so well understood. More uneasiness is felt in regard to the attitude of the German Emperor than as to that of any other European ruler. Especially is this so since there have been reports of a possible German protest against the proposed operations of Commodore Dewey's fleet in the Philippines.

The failure of Austria and Germany to declare their neutrality will not in any way affect the attitude of this Government toward them. They will be treated as neutrals in every respect, and their public and private vessels upon the high seas will be treated just as the vessels of any other neutral power.

Under the instructions that have been sent to the fleet commanders the merchant ships of these nations will be subject to search on the high seas, and owing to the peculiar attitude of Germany, German ships will be watched, if possible, more closely than those of other nationalities.

All the nations of Central and South America, with three exceptions, have declared their neutrality. The nations that have not done so are Paraguay, Ecuador and Chili. No significance is attached to the tardiness of either Paraguay or Ecuador.

The Oregon at Rio Janeiro.

Washington, May 2.—There is a feeling of relief among officials over the safe arrival of the Oregon at Rio Janeiro, well to the north and out of possible reach of the Spanish cruiser Temerario, which has been lying around the vicinity of Buenos Ayres. The keenest interest is taken in her future movements, but on account of the extreme reticence of the naval authorities the nature of the instructions which have awaited her at Rio Janeiro are not known. The prevalent belief, however, is that her orders are to proceed to join Admiral Sampson's fleet without delay.

War Telephone Service.

Washington, May 2.—For the first time in the experience of any army in actual service the commanding officers of the United States troops will have complete outfits for maintaining telephonic communication with the various brigades, regiments, etc., that go to make up divisions or corps of an army. For this the officials are indebted to Gen. A. W. Greely, the chief signal officer. By means of the communication thus afforded commanders will be able to readily send instructions to subordinates in the field and to receive reports of movements.

Cubans Coming North to Fight.

Caracas, Venezuela, May 2.—News from the United States regarding the war is eagerly read here, particularly among the Cuban refugees, of whom there are a large number in the various cities. There is much enthusiasm among the Cubans over the prospect of Spain being speedily driven out of Cuba, and 200 of them have arranged their affairs and are ready to leave to take up arms in behalf of the United States.

700,000 Men Offer Their Services.

Washington, May 2.—Senator Lodge, who made careful inquiries at the War Department, has been notified that between 600,000 and 700,000 volunteers have offered their services to the Government for the war with Spain. The desire to enlist has been even greater than the officials had reason to expect. It is believed in department and legislative circles that if it were necessary no less than 2,000,000 able bodied men could be secured.

PURITAN TRAITOR SHOT

The First Spanish Spy to Pay the Death Penalty.

MEETS SWIFT VENGEANCE

Jose Yslenias, Who Plotted to Blow Up the Monitor Puritan, Fell with Twelve American Bullets in His Body, Just as the Sun Went Down

Key West, May 2.—News has just reached here that Jose Yglesias was shot and killed on board the monitor Puritan Saturday evening for treason.

Yglesias was a Spaniard, who had been in the navy so long (seven years) that his loyalty was considered assured. He was one of the most active members of the crew of the Puritan, and, barring an occasional eccentricity, did his work faithfully.

Until the reduction of the forts at Matanzas by Admiral Sampson, his conduct was above suspicion, but his family lived in Matanzas, and the bombardment made him moody and sullen.

He brooded over the danger he fancied his family was in, and last Wednesday evening he stole to one of the magazines and was trying to saw the lock off the door, when he was seen by one of the crew, who at once gave the alarm.

Yglesias was caught at his work. He had with him some cotton waste and rockets, and sullenly admitted that he had intended to set fire to the waste and take his chances on escaping by jumping overboard before the explosion occurred.

He was placed in irons and tried by a drumhead court martial Friday. There could be no doubt of his guilt on his own admission, and he was promptly condemned to death.

One day was given him to prepare for death, and at sunset last night he was led out to die. A file of marines executed the sentence of the court.

ENLISTMENTS FOR THE ARMY.

Washington, May 2.—The Adjutant General of the army has issued explicit instructions for recruiting troops for the regular army to increase the present regiments according to the provisions of the Hull Reorganization law.

Applicants for enlistment are required to be between 18 and 35 years of age, of good habits and character, able bodied, free from disease, and must be able to speak the English language. The enlistment of married men is left to the discretion of regimental commanders. Minors will not be accepted for the army, except on the written consent of their only surviving parent or legal guardian. Boys between 16 and 18 years of age may be enlisted as musicians only.

Original enlistments are confined to citizens, or those persons who have made legal declaration of their intentions to become such. The instructions issued by the Adjutant General give a table of physical proportions for height, weight, and chest measurement required of applicants for service in the various branches of the service.

Applicants for service are required to bear their own expenses in reaching the place of enlistment. To the pay regularly allowed to soldiers in the regular service, 20 per cent. is to be added in time of war.

Soldiers are allowed to deposit their savings in sums not less than $5 with paymasters of the army, and the sums thus accumulated are payable on discharge from the army. Soldiers who have performed satisfactory duty for the period of twenty years, or have been discharged for wounds or disease, are entitled to the benefits of a comfortable home in Washington.

The army administration deducts 12½ cents per months from each soldier's pay for the support of this home. Upon the expiration of thirty years' service enlisted men may be retired at three-fourths pay and $9.50 per month for clothing and subsistence.

HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

Practically Certain Within a Fortnight—By Military Occupation.

Washington, May 2.—It is practically certain that before two weeks have passed Hawaii will be annexed to the United States, not at this time by act of Congress, but by military occupation. The Hawaiian Congress having passed the resolutions of annexation, the United States Government, it is officially stated, feels it absolutely necessary to annex the island for military purposes, to be used as a base of supplies and as a coaling station.

Later on, it is asserted, the Hawaiian Islands will be regularly annexed by act of Congress, and will be governed as a part of the United States, just as the Territory of Alaska is.

Blanco to be Ousted.

Washington, May 2.—If all arrangements work well this week will record two reverses to Spain. Army and navy men agree that if the two undertakings are as successful as the Administration believes they will be, Spain will not be able to revive confidence anywhere in her ability to prevent the United States from ousting Blanco and his forces from Cuba.

Guarding a Projectile Factory.

Reading, Pa., May 2.—An armed guard of twelve men are guarding the Carpenter Steel Works. This will be continued from now on. The company made a shipment Saturday of 180 13-inch projectiles in response to a request from the Government to hurry up work on this size. Another large shipment will be made to-day.

Will Remain Neutral.

Washington, May 2.—The State Department to-day announced that up to date the following Governments have declared their neutrality: Italy, Netherlands, Sweden and Norway, Switzerland, Colombia, Mexico, Russia, France, Korea, Argentine Republic, Portugal, Japan, Uruguay, and Great Britain.

The Fighting Yankees.

There are no Bull Runs for the Stars and Stripes in this war.

It makes one's blood tingle to read how Dewey's fleet annihilated the Spaniards at Manila. When it comes to fighting the Yankee warrior knows a thing or two, and before we get through it is certain the Spanish will realize the truth of it.

There is every reason to believe that the American victory at Manila is greater than the current news shows, in view of the fact that what information we have thus far secured has been through channels entirely and autocratically controlled by the Spanish. The Spanish are prone to distort the true condition of affairs, and this inclination will doubtless be shown up when the news is secured from impartial sources.

Pure Food Law.

There is an impression in Europe that American merchants are more unscrupulous and dishonest than those of other nations. Particularly this impression works against us in the sale of our food products there. The natural jealousy of agriculturists who cannot compete with us in the sale of food products seizes on the popular belief and inflames it to the furthest extreme.

There is one way in which this opposition can be successfully killed. That is by using the utmost care in the preparation, inspection and branding of all food products that leave our shores, from pickles to horse meat. Secretary Wilson of the agricultural department is exactly right in asking congress to pass a national pure food law, so that each package going abroad shall be precisely what it purports to be. Several states have passed for themselves such pure food laws, but the complications arising from interstate trade have made the execution of these laws a matter of difficulty, impossibility in fact.

The right thing is a national pure food law that shall cover the whole country. Secretary Wilson asks for especial rigidness in regard to food products shipped abroad. There is no reason, however, why we at home should be poisoned any more than foreigners in Europe. Let the law cover the whole United States and let it be passed just so soon as the Cuban question is out of the way.

A Rare Find.

The discovery in the desert of eastern California of extensive turquoise deposits is an incident of importance both from the economic and historic standpoint. Professor Gustav Eisen of San Francisco believes he has here found the original beds whence the Aztecs obtained the fine turquoises so numerous among them. The desert beds show evidence that they were worked at one time. Among them are numerous pits, five to ten feet across, which plainly have been dug by man, although it was as plainly done a long time ago.

Upon rocks in this desolate region are hieroglyphics which may reveal many things to the scientist. They appear to have been made by an older people than the Aztecs, whose picture writing is known and understood. The characters upon rocks at the turquoise beds resemble those left by the Mayas of Yucatan, which perhaps is not surprising. Considering what Professor and Mme. le Plongeon have discovered and made known in regard to that wonderful people, it would not be strange if they had pushed their civilization as far north as Arizona and eastern California.

From the economic outlook the stones are exceedingly valuable. They are exquisite in color, vary in size from that of a small pea to a large bean, and a man may gather up a hatful of them in a day.

Farmers are too easily fooled into making contracts which give the advantage to the other side. Various manufacturing and other corporate establishments open their jaws and take in the agriculturist as a whale swallows minnows. New York seems to have been one state that considered the farmers in this matter of being fleeced by powerful corporations. The legislature at the last session passed a law giving beet sugar manufacturers a bounty of 1 cent a pound. They fixed a string to it, however, which will hold the manufacturer in the straight path. The law says that the bounty shall be paid only so long as the farmer who grows the roots receives not less than a certain price per ton for his product. Farmers should learn to protect themselves, find out something of the profits of manufacturing enterprises for which they grow the raw material and then tie up the person who works up the raw material in a contract mutually advantageous to both.

In proportion to their original numbers there would be more Confederate veterans than ex-Union soldiers in our army of volunteers for a Spanish war. There are two reasons for this. One is that the south is justly so proud of Fitz-Hugh Lee that old Confederates who could go would flock to his standard to a man, and he would certainly lead them in the field. He has said so. Then again the average age of the Confederate soldiers was considerably under that of the Union men, so that there are proportionately more Confederates than Union men still young enough to shoulder a musket and march.

Nobody but a rabid Spaniard would pretend to discredit the word of Consul General Lee, and Lee has summed up the starvation record in Cuba by figuring that 400,000 peaceable persons have been driven from home as reconcentrados by the Weyler order and that 200,000 of them have died. Starvation as a military policy is something so damnable that the government resorting to it in the humane and enlightened nineteenth century should be wiped off the earth. It is time for Spain to go.

It was a gracious act on the part of the Globe Insurance company, whose headquarters are in England, to send word to its employees in New Orleans that their places would be kept and their salaries paid by the firm during the time they were absent, if they wished to enlist in the United States army in case of war with Spain.

TARGET PRACTICE AT NIGHT.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

The band concerts which Prof. La Vere and his talented musicians are to give this summer in Music Hall will doubtless prove a happy feature of hot-weather life in Plainfield. The concerts given by the Drake Band in Elizabeth every summer have been very successful, and there is no reason why the Queen City Band cannot score as much popularity along the same line. The first concert is to be given in Music Hall May 26th. Those who heard the concert given in the Y. M. C. A. Hall some time ago by this organization are certain that the affairs to be held in Music Hall will attract large audiences on the principle that Plainfielders like good music. Prof. LaVere's musicians will soon be measured for their new uniforms, which will be very handsome, and will wear them for the first time at the concert to be given the 26th of this month.

—The largest number of scholars and teachers ever in attendance at one session of the school was that of yesterday in the Sunday school of Trinity Reformed church when 371 were present, and the offering for missions amounted to over $17.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The following communication, received Saturday by Manager Maze Edwards at Music Hall, explains itself: "Dear Sir—Business is so awful bad where I've been playing, I am compelled to cancel balance of my season. Therefore will not be able to play with you May 5th Very truly, etc, Manager Hoyt's Black Sheep Company." As may be expected Manager Edwards is put to some inconvenience by this cancellation of an attraction, for which preparation had been made, and other offerings refused. Music Hall will therefore be closed for performances until Saturday, when "Gayest Manhattan" will be presented.

Koster & Bial's big company will present the burlesque extravaganza "Gayest Manhattan" at Music Hall Saturday of this week. The story of the piece is that of a young lady from the wilds of Maine who visits New York with her father. Both become stage struck, the daughter being desirous of becoming an actress. Upon this slender foundation the manufacturers of this riot of color, song and merriment have built their spectacular production. The organization is very much larger than in its original form in New York, and in addition to a chorus of 40 there is a long cast of clever artists, among whom may be named Kate Michelena, Marie Twohey, Jennie Lewis, Grace Sherwood, Gus Pixley, Richard Gorman, James Kiernan, Alexander and Watson, Thomas Kiernan, Mabel Montgomery, Carrie Cameron, F. J. McCarthy, Florence DeVere, Jean McIlmoyle, Lizzie Young, Helen Baker and Mellie Bly. There are in addition to these a pickaninny troupe, a band of acrobatic dancers and plenty of specialties. The music of "Gayest Manhattan" is by W. H. Batchellor and the stage is under the direction of William H. Lytell. Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at the box office of theatre Wednesday.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

SERGE FOR SPRING COSTUMES.

(By special arrangement with the N.Y. Sun.)

The gowns which aspire to be dressy at all are extremely fussy and elaborate, yet in general they are very pretty and tasteful. Chenille, which, by the way, was very much in evidence in our winter gowns, has developed some new possibilities. It is twisted into a dainty cord, using two shades of one color, or one shade, as you fancy, and applied as a finish sewn on in straight rows or coiled into a simple design. In an ecru nun's veiling one row of ecru chenille cord, and one row of white are sewn quite close together at the head of the circular flounce. The effect is pretty, but it requires a second look to see what produces it. Narrow plaitings and double frillings of black mousseline de soie are effectively used on grenadine, foulard silk, and barege gowns. Edging the circular flounces on the skirt and a square double yoke shaped collar they are especially pretty. Plaiting of white swiss muslin on wool and silk gowns are indeed a novelty, but they must have the finish of ribbon or lace on the edge. A blue and white foulard is trimmed on the bodice with swiss plaitings edged with a narrow black and white striped gros grain ribbon. Plain satin baby ribbon is also used.

Grass lawns in open work stripes and variously embroidered designs mixed vests, yokes, and collars. Ecru canvas embroidery is another variety of material for this purpose. Gowns of grass linen are shown among the new dress models, which is an encouraging outlook for those who invested in this particular kind af costume last season. A gown of last season can be brought quite up to date, too, by making a new blouse bodice of glace silk in some bright color, using embroidered linen for the finish and the linen sleeves.

Cloth or serge, which has come into the front rank among fashionable materials, is the thing to have for your spring gown, and the most attractive costume in these fabrics are made by the first-class dressmakers who combine a tailor finish with fanciful effects, embroidery and appliques of lace which cover revers, yokes, vests and collar, are a feature of this sort of gown. The costume is made either with a jacket and vest in some pretty contrast, or with the bodice plain in the back, and bloused a little in front. The embroidery is usually hand work, and consequently expensive.

AMERICA'S FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Miss Clara Barton was born in Oxford, Massachusetts, 1838. She attended the public schools of her native town and supplemented her education by a course of study at Clinton, N. Y. A serious affection of the throat compelled to resign the position of principal of the first public school of Bordentown, N. J., and she accepted the offer of a clerkship in the Patent Office, at Washington, D. C.

At the outbreak of the war, in 1861, a number of wounded soldiers from her native town arrived in Washington, and Miss Barton asked permission to go to the hospital and nurse them. So competent did she prove, that the surgeons begged that she would remain permanently. She consented, resigning her position in the Patent Office. When the great battles began to be fought, and the need on the field became peremptory, she hired vehicles and went to the scenes of action, Culpepper Court House being her first destination. She was at Cedar Mountain, Antietam, Fredericksburg, Falmouth, and at the siege of Charlestown, superintending her band of trained nurses, and rendering personal services whenever possible. When the war was ended, thoroughly exhausted by her continuous labor and exposures, she went to Europe to recuperate. While there the Franco-Prussian war broke out, and she promptly offered her services. At Metz and Paris, and many other scenes of conflict, she ministered to and comforted the wounded and dying. Her services were acknowledged by the Emperor of Germany by a presentation of the Order of the Iron Cross. From a number of other distinguished personages she received tangible proofs of gratitude and esteem. As President of the Red Cross, founded in 1864, Miss Barton rendered efficient services to the sufferers of the Ohio and Johnstown floods, the Michigan fires, the Charleston earthquake, and other national calamities. During the famine in Russia, the Red Cross sent relief to the suffering peasants.

Miss Barton was the idol of the soldiers of the War of the Rebellion, and wherever she goes she wins the gratitude and love of thousands. She was in Havana at the time of the "Maine" disaster, and, with her staff of workers, was promptly at the bedside of our wounded sailors, who were rescued from the exploded and sinking warship.

LAWYER AND PREACHER.

Judge Christian Got His Clients Out of Jail and Later Married Them.

Judge Hiram Christian is the old original lawyer of McDowell, W. Va. He has practiced law so long in that county that the "memory of man runneth not to the contrary." The Judge, however, combines with his law practice a general utility. He preaches occasionally; pulls a tooth with as much dexterity as the latest graduates of the dental schools, and in the old days was known as a man who would fight at the drop of a hat. He is above all an all round good fellow. A few days ago the Judge was called upon to take a case which seemed surrounded by more than ordinary difficulties.

Lucien Gabriel, an Italian, and Lizzie Smith, an English girl, both from Algoma, had fallen in love with each other, and their love led them beyond the bounds of good citizenship, or, rather, further than is allowed in good society. They were arrested and both were languishing in the county jail with cruel bars separating them from complete happiness.

After remaining in jail for ten days they sent for Judge Christian. The case was an easy one for the Judge. He had them released from jail temporarily and took them before Judge Chambers of the Criminal Court to try and effect a permanent release. While Judge Chambers was inquiring into the details of the case, with the culprits sitting in his office, Judge Christian then and there produced a marriage license, and temporarily dropping his role as attorney, so to speak, took on the role of a minister of the Gospel, and proceeded to make the troubled twain a happy one.

After the ceremony and the congratulations the minister was a lawyer again, and he produced a bond for the offenders, duly signed and sealed, with his own wife as surety. Judge Chambers relented, receipted the bond, and Lucien Gabriel and his bride went out into freedom and bliss.

A Poem of Olympia, Wash.

In a public school of Olympia, Wash., where pupils are asked occasionally for impromptu poetical recitations, one reluctant boy recently ordered to show his ability at rhyming for the benefit of the School Board's visitors, astounded all present, and secured punishment for himself later by declaring:

God, Oh! God, supreme on high,
Look down on this committee,
Who chose such fools to teach our schools
In this our capital city.

Biberach. In Altheim brannte es im verflossenen Jahre neun Mal. Der Einwohnerschaft (570 Seelen) bemächtigte sich furchtbare Aufregung. Endlich lenkte sich der Verdacht auf den Hornisten der Feuerwehr, einen Maurer Namens Hofherr. Stets rechtzeitig ertönte sein Signal, stets war er der erste am Brandplatz. Das Schwurgericht verurtheilte ihn dieser Tage zu neun Jahren Zuchthaus und Verlust der Ehrenrechte. Aus heller Freude an seinem Horn und am Alarm war er zum Brandstifter geworden.

Heilbronn. Oberbürgermeister Hegel, welcher die Karnevalzeitung „Neckaresel" wegen Beleidigung verklagt hatte, ist zu besserer Einsicht gekommen und hat die Klage zurückgezogen.

Another very unusual "happening" for you.
It's about the same as the bedroom suit event we startled you with a week or so ago, except that more suits are in the sale. They're not rejected patterns but the cream of our '98 arrivals. You cannot meet another snap like it anywhere.
Suits exactly like cut, well carved--liberal dresser and washstand--bevelled mirror--a $25 suit--at $14.95.
A Curly Birch Suit--French plate, bevelled mirror, very large bureau and stand, brass trimmings, cheap at $45--now $30.
Some 8-piece Quartered Oak Suits, elegant, "impressive," unusual--instead of $50, it's $35.
A richly carved, Solid Oak Suit--was $65--now $40. Decribing it would be useless--"seeing" tells more than words.
A 200 ft. Carpet Floor
--Light, Pleasant, Well-Stocked.
It is not by "chance" we'll meet your carpet whims. The stock is far too big, varied and too new to just "happen" to hit your taste.

THE SPANISH PEASANTS.

A Patient and Long Suffering Class—The Cream of the People.

In the Spanish lower classes you will find poverty and appalling ignorance—a neglect of the intelligence which is positively animal—yet nevertheless not unallied with an obvious capacity of education and improvement, an actual and admirable pluck and cheerfulness, a temper grateful, hospitable, and affectionate, and a marvelous sobriety of living.

There is one especial word particularly applicable to this gente baja. It is the Spanish word sufrida, which we must render in a single English word by patient; but it means more than patient; it means patient and uninvitictive under grievous injury and wrong.

Such are the Spanish peasantry—the cream of the Spanish people. Their only province in relation to their government is to pay. They are a passive vehicle for ministerial extortion. The contribuciones are already heavier than they can bear, and grow more merciless as each successive administration plunges the country deeper leeper into debt. In return for this continuous disbursement they receive nothing. Their lands are without a road, their children without a school; their navy is furnished with ships contracted for at double the price of ours, whose only quality is to go to the bottom without the shadow of a cause; their army is unpaid, unofficered, and undrilled, and absolutely incompetent to engage with any European power. The last Spanish census shows that of a total population of 18,000,000 over 5,000,000 can neither read nor write, while over half have no determined occupation. This statement is in itself so damaging that it appears hardly necessary to inquire further.—Westminster Review.

A USEFUL ANT-EATER.

Nearly Exterminated the Caterpillar from the Trees.

When a horde of hairy, yellow caterpillars infested the linden trees in the Philadelphia Zoological Gardens the superintendent was much troubled for a way to get rid of the pests. Poisonous sprinkling mixtures, tar and coal oil were all applied to the trees, but the results fell far short of what had been hoped. The caterpillars flourished in spite of all, and seemed to increase in numbers.

Then the ingenious head keeper had a happy idea. He took the South American ant-eater from its cage, and securing it with a collar and a long cord, started it up one of the trees. The way the creature laid about with its long, sticky tongue, scooping in caterpillars by the dozen, more than realized the keeper's greatest expectations. It took to them with as much relish as though they were its natural food, and in the course of half an hour completely cleaned the tree.

Then the ant-eater was put up another tree, and it ate until it was gorged. Since then it has been turned out three times a day, and so great have been its industry and appetite that the caterpillars are nearly exterminated.

THROWN OFF THE SCENT.

Device by Which Burglars Fooled the Bloodhounds.

Sometime ago a bank in Shipshewana, Ind., was visited by burglars, who blew open the safe and secured a large sum of money. A famous pack of bloodhounds was brought from Indianapolis and turned loose upon the robbers' trail. The man hunt lasted only a few minutes. Suddenly the leading dog began howling dismally and refused to go farther, and it was impossible to continue the chase.

Later a prisoner in jail at Ligonier, Ind., turned State's evidence and gave the police all the facts concerning the bank burglary and the subsequent escape of the men. He said the bloodhounds were thrown off the scent without any trouble by rubbing an onion on the shoes worn by the burglars. He added that no bloodhound can be induced to follow an onion trail.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Compressed Flour.

The importance of lightness and compactness in the kit of soldiers has stimulated the manufacturers of army food stuffs to produce all manner of concentrated products for use on the march or in camp. Of these the latest is compressed flour, which is now being tested by the British War Department. The objection to the establishment of national granaries is the impossibility of storing wheat for any length of time. The grain soon germinates and is ruined. The flour is now molded into bricks by hydraulic pressure, in which shape it is unaffected by damp, is mold-proof and sweet and wholesome. The compression is said to destroy all forms of larval life, and the flour becomes immune against the attacks of insects. Since the cubic space occupied by 100 pounds of loose flour will hold more than 300 pounds of the compressed flour, it will be seen that the saving in storage is immense.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Inherited the College Yell.

"My dear," said the young wife, "there was a time when I was proud of the powerful voice you put into your college yell, but now I wish it had been merely a whisper."

"Why, dearest?" asked the astonished young husband.

"Because," she replied, "the baby has inherited it."—Chicago News.

AN AGGRAVATING DISCOVERY.

The Last Link Found Two Years After an Estate Had Gone to the Crown.

It was one of those big English estates which was to make a great many people rich if all the links in the long chain of ancestry could be found. The legatees in this country had twenty-one years in which to prove their claim before the property would revert to the Crown. Everything possible had been done, and one link was still missing. This was an old family Bible containing certain necessary records. It was supposed to have been burned at the time of the Deerfield massacre, but, notwithstanding, every effort had been made to find it if by any possibility it was in existence; but without success and the time expired.

Two years later one of the legatees, a New York woman, chanced to see in a paper the advertisement of a woman who wanted work. The advertiser had signed her name, and it was a family name of the woman who was one of the claimants for the English estate. It was perhaps the persistent fascination which the earnest searcher into genealogical records never loses, and the force of habit formed in many years' search for precious documents, which interested her at once. She answered the advertisement in person, found that the woman had been the wife of a member of her family, who had died, leaving her in financial straits which had forced her to advertise for something to do to support herself.

But the strange and romantic part of the story was that among old books and papers which had been cherished as having belonged to her husband, the woman had the old Bible, with its register of births and deaths, the only link that had been needed to obtain the big estate, and now that it was too late it was found where it had been treasured simply as a souvenir.—New York Times.

FRANCES E. WILLARD'S ROMANCE.

Story of an Early Love Affair with Bishop Charles W. Fowler.

There was once an engagement between Bishop Chas. W. Fowler, and the late Miss Frances E. Willard. Those having read Miss Willard's memoirs will remember an intimation that at one time in her life her heart had its hero and that at an early day she wore a ring and "acknowledged an allegiance based on a supposition." Again she speaks of the romance of her life being ungu essed, a "secret lying within the temperate zone of a great heart's geography." To those who thought her cold she said, "Cold because no brave Stanley had ever explored her heart's tropical clime; cold because no Balboa had ever sailed on the bosom of its wide, pacific sea."

In their youth Bishop Fowler and Miss Willard were students in the same Methodist college, both being members of the Methodist Church. Between them was a strong affinity, a friendship that eventually ripened into a deep, abiding love. The ring she speaks of wearing as "an allegiance based on a supposition," was the gift of Bishop Fowler. Both had great strength of character and were born leaders of men and women. The similarity of their temperaments was frequently considered by the young people as a barrier to matrimony, and it was finally agreed that it would be best for both to choose separate paths in life. The engagement was accordingly broken.

The Conversion of Senator George.

The late Senator George of Mississippi was an agnostic, while his wife was deeply religious, says a correspondent from that State. She placed a neighboring Baptist minister on his trail, and he got no peace. Once, riding slowly home from Carrollton and reading his mail, the preacher burst out of the woods on his right hand and began. They came to a creek and crossed it. It was, in the Senator's language, "saddle pocket deep." On the further bank he dismounted. "Git down," he said, fiercely. The minister looked at him doubtfully. He feared a personal encounter. "Git down!" He got down. "Now," said George, "I'm tired o' being harried around th' kentry like I was a cotton-tail rabbit an' you was a pack of nigger dogs. Baptize me right here." It was winter time, but the venerable statesman would not be denied. The two men waded into the icy water up to their armpits, and the ceremony was performed. Senator George climbed into his saddle and looked down on the shivering evangelist. "Now," he said, "you go home and stay home. I'm through with this — foolishness."—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Dieting on the Side.

A certain stout lady resolved to consult a physician about her corpulence. She had no previous experience with "banting" of any sort. The doctor drew up a careful dietary for her. She must eat dry toast, plain boiled beef, and a few other things of the same lean sort, and in a month return and report the result.

At the end of the time the lady came and was so stout she could hardly get through the door. The doctor was aghast.

"Did you eat what I told you?" he asked.

"Religiously," she answered.

His brow wrinkled in perplexity. Suddenly he had a flash of inspiration.

"Did you eat anything else?" he asked.

"Why, my ordinary meals!" said the lady.—Pearson's Weekly.

WAR NEWS.

General Aquinaldo, the leader of the insurgents of the Phillippine Islands has started for Hong Kong. Upon his arrival there he will be transferred by the American dispatch boat to join Admiral Dewey and the American fleet at Manila.

After the capture of Manila by the American fleet as now seems probable, it is planned by the insurgents to proclaim the independence of the islands. Their affairs will then be controled by American and European advisers until the new government is in a condition to look after itself.

Fall in Spanish Securities.

London, May, 2, 10:05 a. m—The reports of the American victory at Manila has caused great excitement in this city. Foreign exchanges are very unsettled, and there has been a great fall in Spanish securities.

Armor for the Yale.

Washington, May 2, 10 a. m—The cruiser Yale (Paris) will take on a complete armor at the Brooklyn Navy yard immediately. When she is ready for sea she will sail under secret orders.

Sailors Refused to Leave Ship.

Madrid, May 2, 1:30 p. m—The Spanish Cabinet discussed the defeat of the Spanish arms at Manila for four hours this morning. It was determined to continue the struggle to uphold the National honor.

A dispatch from Hong Kong says that the Spanisa sailors refused to leave the sinking ships even when ordered to do so by their commanders.

Insurgent Forces Active.

Washington, May 2, 2:45 p.m.—The latest advices from Manilla state that the insurgent forces are fiercely attacking the city from the rear. Capitulation is momentarily expected.

Portland, Me., May 2, 2:15 p. m.—The United States cruiser Columbia was sighted entering the harbor this morning.

With the Blockaders.

On Board Flagship New York, May 2—The blockade of Havana still continues. Fleet is concentrated 10 miles off Morro Castle. Cruiser Montgomery and tug Osceola have just arrived. The commander consulted Admiral Sampson. It is hardly expected that a demonstration off Cuba will be made today. There was a consultation yesterday of commanders. Every indication is that a concentrated movement is contemplated. Those aboard the flagship are ignorant of the object of the conference. It is expected that the bombardment of Matanzas will be repeated. Yesterday the flagship steamed slowly past Morro Castle without incident. The remainder of the fleet returned to their various stations along the coast. No excitement among the vessels for 48 hours, except the chase of the British tramp steamer Strathdee.

Bombardment Today.

Washinington, May 2, 2:30 p. m—The latest news from Manila, although unofficial, is considered to be from generally trustworthy sourses.

It states that the bombardment of the city of Manilla began this morning by the vessels of the American fleet.

The British Consul, Walker, went out to see Admiral Dewey on his flagship, the Olympia, under the cover of a white flag.

It is assumed that he was tacitly empowered to do this by the Spanish authorities though acting ostensibly in the interests of the foreign element whose personal safety and business operations were put in serious jeopardy by the attack on the city.

He was probably selected to go on this errand instead of anyone else as he is the representative of England on the theory that the friendship between the United States and England would have a powerful influence in procuring concessions that would spare the Spanish dignity.

Funds for War.

Washington, May 2, 2:45 p. m.—The House Committee on foreign appropriations reported an urgent deficiency appropriation bill of thirty-five million, seven hundred and twenty-one thousand dollars to support the army. The bill includes one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for the expenses of the Cuban expeditionary forces, and three hundred and fifty thousand dollars for torpedo work.

GOVERNOR NOT FAVORABLE.

Does Not Approve of Enlistment in the National Volunteer Reserves.

Mayor Charles J. Fisk went to Elizabeth last evening and consulted with Governor Voorhees regarding the formation of a company of volunteer soldiers in Plainfield. The conference was very satisfactory and the Governor informed Mr. Fisk that he had consulted with Adjutant General Stryker in the matter and that the latter had in turn corresponded with the authorities at Washington.

As a result the Governor does not deem the proposed enlistment necessary or advisable at this time. Should a call for additional volunteers occur an opportunity will then be given for enlistment. At present the enlistment already secured cannot be made use of.

COMPANY H GOES THROUGH.

Two Coaches Take Them Through to Sea Girt Today.

Two cars bore the members of Company H of the Third Regiment, N. G. N. J., through Plainfield this morning on their way to the State encampment at Sea Girt and eventually to the seat of war. They were ordered out last night and responded almost unanimously to the call.

Herbert L. Overbaugh, manager of the repair shop of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company, of this city, volunteered for service several days ago with the company. He was called out and joined the company at the North Avenue station this morning as they passed through.

They did not seem in a particularly doleful mood for they greeted Plainfield with a wild cheer and gave another in parting.

Gov. Voorhees to go to Camp.

Trenton, May 2—Gov. Voorhees will today remove his official residence to the Sea Girt camp ground, where he will remain in his capacity of Commander-in-Chief of the New Jersey National Guard until the militiamen are mustered into the Government service. The Governor said that he has received a report from Col. Benjamin A Lee, of the Third Regiment, that all the regimental and company officers excepting two have volunteered, and that substitutes for the two vacancies have been obtained. The Governor says that all these officers will be commissioned to serve in the volunteer army.

Gen. Plume, it is understood by military authorities here, will seek to retain command of the New Jersey brigade after it is mustered into the Government service, and application will be made to President McKinley to commission him as Brigadier-General.

Orders to Jersey Militia.

Major General Joseph W. Plume issued from his division headquarters in Newark Friday a special order for the State troops designated by the Adjutant General's orders to proceed to the State Camp at Sea Girt Monday, May 2d, and to arrive there not later than 2 o'clock in the afternoon in service uniform.

The First Regiment is almost ready to go. It will muster 1,026 officers and men. The other troops designated will be the Second and Third Regiments, and they will be augmented by companies from the Sixth and Seventh Regiments.

Seventy-Seven Volunteer.

Somerville, May 2.—Only three of the eighty six members of Company H, 3d Regiment, National Guard of the State of New Jersey, failed to pass the medical examination just completed at the armory here. Seventy-seven members of the company have expressed their determination to volunteer. The company will move to Sea Girt this morning, under command of Captain John E. Wherley. Among the militiamen who have re-enlisted for active service is Charles J. Smith who bears medals as the crack marksman of the State.

Camden Reserves on the Montauk.

League Island, May 2.—The Camden Naval Reserves have taken possession of the monitor Montauk, which the men of the Battalion of the East New Jersey Naval Reserves put in the best condition before they were ordered home. Some of the men of North Jersey remained at the Navy Yard until the new men arrived. It is expected that the full crew of the Montauk will arrive today, when the Montauk may depart for Portland, Me.

Few in the Third Rejected.

Elizabeth, May 2.—The medical examination of the companies of the Third Regiment located here and in Rahway, disclosed a very favorable condition of health among the militiamen. Drs. Holmes and Hough, of Rahway, examined seventy-one members of Company F, and out of this number rejected five. Their places were promptly filled by new recruits.

Secured Thirty Enlistments.

Edward Milliken, of the borough, who was a member of Co. H, N. G. N. J., of Somerville, has thus far secured about thirty men for the company that will serve with the New York State cavalry. There are about thirty cowboys in the cavalry. Robert Prentice, of Dunellen, has been chosen captain of the company. No orders have as yet been received for the company to move.

In Company 10.

Co. H, Third Regiment, National Guard, N. J., of Somerville, has been selected by Gov. Voorhees as one of the companies to represent the State in the present war, and among the members who will accompany the company are Leonard Leach, of Dunellen and William F. Richards, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Somerville.

Sea Girt Camp Ready for the Militia.

Sea Girt, May 2—The damage done by the windstorm to the tents at the State camp has all been repaired, and they are now ready for occupancy. Orders have been received at the camp that the New Jersey National Guard will march into camp this morning.

Entertainments for Cavalry.

Several enlistments have been secured by Lawyer Charles J. McNabb, of the Marsh building, for the First Provisional Cavalry of the National Volunteer Reserve.

Y. M. C. A. SOLDIER BRANCH.

Religious Work to Be Carried on Among the Militiamen.

An effort has just been inaugurated by the Young Men's Christian Associations of this State to make the soldiers at the Sea Girt State Camp more comfortable. They have arranged to erect on the camp grounds a tent, 30x50 feet, in which will be placed the best and latest magazines, daily and weekly newspapers and other suitable reading matter, together with all sorts of games. Writing material will also be furnished so that the men will have a quiet place to read or play games or correspond with home. Two experienced Y. M. C. A. secretaries are to be constantly at the association tent, they themselves living in a tent similar to the one occupied by the soldiers, and giving all their time, night and day, to helping the soldiers.

It is hoped that as long as the camp lasts the association's tent will be a social and religious center. Bible classes will be organized and Sunday services will be conducted for the men and the aim will be to surround the soldiers with some of the comforts of home and to throw around them some of the Christian influences under which they have been living.

Each State where camps are to be established will have a similar Y. M. C. A. tent. There will be no expense, of course, to the soldiers. It would seem that our patriotic citizens would support this special work liberally and enable those in charge to make the soldiers as comfortable as possible while they are getting ready to fight for us.

The committee appointed by the International Y. M. C. A. committee to have charge of this work throughout the United States is composed of Alfred E. Marling, Col. John J. McCook, Morris K. Jessup, William E. Dodge, William D. Murray and Chas. W. McAlpin, with an office at 6 West Twenty-ninth street, New York city.

"LINKE'S REST."

Country Home in Passaic Valley Dedicated Yesterday

Seventy-five friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kinke, of West Front street, yesterday journeyed across the mountains to the old Moore farm, recently purchased by Mr. Linke as a country seat. The place is beautifully situated on the farther slope of the second mountain, close to the Passaic river, a mile from Sterling.

A historic old stone school house, erected in the year 1797, and an immense elm tree, one of the largest in in Somerset county, mark the spot as one well known to old inhabitants of the region and to pleasure seekers as well.

It was a double celebration, for in addition to the dedication of the new summer home, it was the birthday of both Mr. and Mrs. Linke. A name was selected for the place by vote. The suggestion of Otto Linke, which was enthusiastic ly endorsed by Max Wiertz, of "Linke's Rest" was unanimously chosen. In honor of it, a young oak tree was planted amid happy ceremonies of which Henry Haur and took charge.

Speeches followed the planting of the tree. William H. Pangborn and Percy C. Ohl gave some very interesting sketches of the early history of the farm and the surrounding district going back even to the times of the Indians.

Visited the Sewer Beds.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, May 2.—Dr. Brackett, president of the State Board of Health, and Dr. Mitchell, secretary, visited the sewer beds last Saturday afternoon unbeknown to anyone. They examined the beds thoroughly, after which they adjourned to the Presbyterian church where they took testimony from about twenty people, residents of the borough. Several affadavits were also taken. The members of the board present did not express any opinion on the subject under consideration.

Death of John Mellick.

John Mellick, aged 70 years, died yesterday morning on the farm near Mt. Pleasant, where he and his brother lived for years. The brothers were very wealthy, and it is supposed that the wealth of the deceased will be left ta the surving brother. The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house.

Doing the Work Good.

The employes of the telephone company are receiving much praise for the very excellent manner in which the work of putting conduits underground is being done. The streets have been put in extra good condition where the conduits have been put in.

Important Council Meeting.

The regular May meeting of the city council will be held this evening when much business of importance will be considered. It is understood that a petition for the extension of the trolley will will be presented to the council.

BOMBARDING MANILA.

London, May 3, 1:25 p. m.—A Madrid dispatch says that the Spanish Calonial office had received advices of the beginning of the bombardment of Manila before the cable was cut.

The dispatch says that thus far the shells from the American fleet have not reached the town proper which is reported to be strongly protected.

Only the outlying native quarters are said to have suffered from the fire from the American ships. They are now in flames.

Occasionally a shell is said to enter the European quarter of the town where a few houses are reported to have been struck by the American shells.

The Spanish batteries on the Citadel of Manila, especially the six large calibre guns, are vigorously replying to the American fire, and are reported as having done considerable damage to Commodore Dewey's fleet.

Spaniards Evacuate Santiago.

Kinston, Jamacia, May 3, 12:30 p. m.—The Spanish troops are reported to have evacuated the bay and town of Santiago de Cuba. With the departure of the Spaniards, the insurgents are reported to have occupied the town.

The Second Spanish Fleet Ready.

Naval Reserves Overrated.

Trenton, N. J., May 3.—Assistant Secretary Rosevelt has sent a communication to Adjutant-General Stryker, stating that the Bureau of Navigation, is making preparations to utilize the New Jersey Naval Reserves in the auxiliary vessels Badger and Resolute as soon as they are ready to go into service. Reference is made by Mr. Rosevelt to the incompetency of some of the sailor-soldiers to perform the duties of the ratings they have been given, and he asks that extreme care be taken to send into service only such men as have had deep-sea experience and that they be competent to perform the duties that will be required of them on shipboard.

Activity in Sampson's Fleet.

Key West, May 3, 11:15 a. m.—Intense activity exists in Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet. It is expected that a speedy attack will be made on Porto Rico.

The vessels of the fleet are coaling and preparing for active service.

A conference was held this morning between the Rear Admiral and the captains under his command. It is supposed that plans were being laid for the opening of active hostilities on the Cuban coast.

It is expected that the bombardment of Havana is not far distant. The officers of the fleet are enthusiastic at the idea of breaking the monotony of the blockade.

A Short Conflict Expected.

London, May 3, 12:15 p. m.—It is rumored here this morning that the present British Ambassador at Washington, Sir Julian Pauncefote, is to be succeeded by Sir Thomas Sanderson.

The members of the Stock Exchange interpret the news that has been received from various pcints to mean that the war will not last long.

Would Promote Dewey.

Washington, D. C., May 3, 11:30 a. m.—Admiral Jewett said this morning that had he the authority, he would promote Dewey to the rank of Rear Admiral by telegraph, to let the whole world know that this country instantly recognizes valorous services.

The constitutional rights of the people will not be suspended.

Deputy Gassett will submit to the Chamber of Deputies today a motion inquiring as to the responsibility of Admiral Bevmejo, minister of marine, for the Manila disaster.

The Government has been officially notified that it was Commodore Dewey who cut the Manila cable, and that he has now carried the end of the cable on board of his flagship, the Olympia.

Movements of the U. S. Cruisers.

Highland Light, Mass., May 3, 1:30 p. m.—The United States cruiser Minneapolis passed out at 9 o'clock this morning, steaming southward.

Provincetown, Mass., May 3, 1:35 p. m.—The United States cruiser San Francisco arrived here this morning.

Spanish Stories Ridiculous.

Washington, May 3, 1:30 p. m.—The stories from Spanish sources of the battle of Manila, telling that Commodore Dewey set fire to Manila and the Spanish ships by the use of petroleum bombs, are considered ridiculous by the authorities here.

Nothing Official Yet.

Washington, May 3, 1:45 p. m—No special report has yet been received by the Navy Department concerning the engagement at Manila.

The reports through London and Madrid convey enough information, however, to satisfy the administration that Commodore Dewey and his fleet have won a brilliant victory.

Chairman Blanchard, of the Joint Traffic Association, will be nominated Brigadier-General of Volunteers to take charge of the transportation of troops.

To Rescue English on Cuba.

Key West, May 3, 10:10 a. m—The British cruiser Talbot arrived five miles northwest of Morro Castle, Havana Harbor, last night. The British commander conferred with Commander Converse, of the United States cruiser Montgomery, and was allowed to proceed to Havana. It is supposed that the English ship will eave tomorrow with all the British subjects who are desirous of leaving the island of Cuba.

New York, May 3, 10 a. m.—The Commercial Cable Company states that the communication with Manila is still closed this morning. The cable is supposed to have been cut by the Spaniards. The cable is owned by an English company whose operators are in charge.

FLAG POLE IS A DANDY.

Will Be of Norway Spruce and 140 Feet High.

The flagpole that has been purchased by the city, to be erected at the head of Park avenue on Front street, will arrive in Plainfield in a few days.

The total length of the pole out of ground will be 140 feet. It is made of Norway spruce and came from Nova Scotia. During the past year it has been laying in the North river for salt water soaking. It will be exactly like a ship's mast and will not be a spliced pole. A weather vane and an eagle will be placed on top of the pole. The eagle will be nine feet across from tip to tip and there is now a scheme to have the children raise the money to pay for the bird, which will be made of copper.

SIR KNIGHTS WERE HOSTS TO FAIR ONES.

Ladies Royally Entertained By Trinity Commandery.

PRESENTATIONS ARE MADE.

EMINENT COMMANDER KIRKNER GIVEN PAST COMMANDER'S JEWEL.

First of the Events was the Presentation of Lodge Paraphernalia by the Grand Prelate of New York State, Followed by the Gift of a Beautiful American Flag to the Commandery by Mrs. Harry Marshall—Musical and Patriotic Programme Was Rendered and an Elaborate Banquet Closed the Evening.

The Sir Knights of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., did themselves proud last evening when they entertained in a royal manner their lady friends. Occasionally this Commandery receive the fair sex, and when they do nothing is lacking to make the event one of genuine pleasure. As expressed by several members previous to the affair, "There were several things up the sleeve to be divulged later."

Even that worthy Past Master, Jacob C. Kirkner, who assisted in preparing the notices to be sent out, was wholly unaware of what was in store for him and his brother knights.

The first event of the evening was the presentation of the beauseant, guidons and prelate's robe and cap by Rev. George C. Maddock, Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery of the State of New Jersey, with an eloquent speech. They were received on behalf of the Commandery by the Eminent Commander, J. C. Kirkner.

Following this presentation a large and beautiful American silk flag was presented to the Commandery by Mrs. Harry W. Marshall, on behalf of the lady friends of the Sir Knights. After it was received by the Eminent Commander all present joined in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," which was followed with three rousing cheers.

The surprise of the evening was the presentation to Past Commander Jacob C. Kirkner, of a costly and elegant Past Commander's jewel. The recipient was completely surprised when Right Eminent Sir John E. Rowe, Grand Commander of the State of New Jersey, presented Mr. Kirkner with the valuable token of esteem on behalf of his brother Knights. Mr. Kirkner was equal to the occasion and accepted the gift with a few words of profound appreciation.

The programme of the evening was interspersed with reciations by Miss Mary Lucky, instrumental selections by William E. MacClymont, vocal selections by Elmer E. Runyon, and selections by the Plainfield Mandolin, Banjo and Guitar Club, all of which were duly appreciated by those present.

Before the festivities closed the members of the Commandery presented a beautiful basket of flowers to Mrs. J. C. Kirkner and a bouquet of flowers to Miss Kirkner.

After the close of the programme a banquet was served, during which Sir Knight, Frank W. Miles entertained the audience with selections on his phonograph.

Accepted a New School House.

The Board of Education of North Plainfield Township met last Friday evening and formally accepted the new school house recently erected, and which is now being used for school purposes. The Board decided to engage Mrs. Higgins and Miss Higgins as teachers for the balance of this year and for next year also. The old school house will be put up for sale May 20th, and it is thought that the Township Committee will purchase it for a town hall. After the sale and removal of the old building the grounds will be graded and put in good condition.

For a New School Building.
(Special to The Daily Press.

Bound Brook, May 3.—An important school meeting was held last night, at which it was almost unanimously voted to build an extensive addition to the present school structure. This addition is to accommodate an advanced grade and also a kindergarten department. It is estimated that the improvement will cost $15,000, to raise which amount it was voted to bond the town. It was also voted to pay off one thousand dollars of the indebtedness each year.

CRY OF EXTRY! EXTRY! DISTURBS EDUCATORS

Young Newsboys Fall Under Bann of School Teachers.

KEEPS LADS FROM STUDY.

CHIEF OF POLICE ASKED TO ENFORCE TRUANCY LAW.

Board of Education Last Night Passed Resolutions Calling Attention to the State Law Which Says No Child Under Fifteen Years Shall be Employed in Any Labor Unless Attending School the Required Length of Time, and Says Newsboys Do Not Comply With This Provision of the Law in this City.

The sensational New York papers have fallen under the bann of the Plainfield Board of Education. No longer will the horde of small newsboys crowd about the depot and the neighboring corners until school is dismissed. That is, if the Board can help it.

Last night at the May meeting of the Board of Education a resolution was passed which will, in effect, if carried out, prevent the sale of the numerous war extras by young boys until after 3:30 o'clock when school is dismissed. The resolutions and the preceding preamble were prepared by Superintendent Maxson to do away, if possible, with the throng of small boys that are usually found in the vicinity of the station. While the resolution sounds decidedly strict, it was admitted by the members of the Board that they had no way of enforcing it except by moral suasion. Its moral effect on the small boys is hoped, however, to keep most of them off the streets.

The resolution was unanimously passed after a somewhat lengthy discussion. Several of the members of the Board, particularly Mr. Abbott, seemed to think that it might be a hardship on some small boys of poor families who had to earn their bread. Mr. Lounsbury was of the opinion that it might be better to leave the matter until some future day when the entire matter of truancy could be taken up.

Mr. Maxson based his argument in favor of the resolution on the fact that since the issuing of the war extras by the sensational New York papers, many of the small boys, sometimes with and sometimes without the consent of their parents, remained away from school in the afternoon to sell papers. Now most of them spent their time in hanging about the corners and did very little towards pushing their trade. He thought that they really went out for the fun rather than the revenue.

The resolution was as follows:

WHEREAS, Under the State law no child under the age of fifteen can be employed in any labor unless he has attended school the required length of time during the twelve months preceding; and

WHEREAS, There may now be seen a large number of boys on the street during school hours ostensibly selling papers, but many of them doing little but loiter around the corners; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Chief of Police be requested to see that each boy on the street during school hours be requested to show a paper from the principal of some school, public or private, proving that he has attended school the required time and therefore may be legally absent from school.

There was little else done at the meeting aside from the discussing and passing of the resolution.

The report of the medical inspectors showed that they had examined 300 pupils during the month of April, making a total of 1,474 examined in all. Of these 651 were unvaccinated, or nearly 45 per cent. During the month 19 cases of defective eyesight and 5 cases of defective hearing were discovered.

Young Vandals.

Some young men who had more time on their hands than anything else have committed a most outrageous piece of work on the new Sycamore avenue bridge by twisting the iron on the sides of the bridge all out of shape. Some attempt should be made to catch the parties who did it and bring them to justice.

Temple Builders Elect.

The Temple Builders of the First Baptist church held its annual meeting last Sunday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, G. H. Batchelor; vice-president, L. H. Biglow, Jr., treasuurer, R W. Barnes; secretary, Frank Jones.

Prize Choristers.

The prize choristers of Grace church for April were Augustus Feiring, Douglass Murphy, Reginald Chandor, Lynn Adams and Miss Eva Noe.

Mrs. S. R. Struthers, of College place, is now in charge of the Plainfield Relief Association rooms.

OVERSEER OF POOR HAS SALARY REDUCED

TALK FOR EVEN LOWER PAY

CITIZENS' COUNCILMEN THOUGHT $100 WOULD BE AMPLE.

The Minority Report of the Committee Rejected by the Council—$150 Voted to Buy Clothes for the Police—W. C. T. U. Ask the Council to Adopt a Curfew Ordinance—A Petition Asking to Have Park Avenue Repaired—Important Action Taken in Reference to Unpaid Taxes Before 1880.

The regular May meeting of the City Council was occupied in the discussion to a great extent of small matters, all of which were important in their way. The question of fixing the salary of the overseer of the poor and the location of electric lights came in for the greatest amount of talk. These matters, as well as all others, were agreeably settled to the satisfaction of all the members. Business of the evening was opened with the reception of many petitions, all of which will be found below.

The Council received two petitions, one from J. E. Beerbower and others, and another from the cyclists of the city, asking for the repavement of Park avenue with a permanent pavement, preferably asphalt. D. S. Randolph and others asked for crosswalks at Fourth and Liberty streets.

A petition was received from the W. C. T. U. asking the Council to adopt an ordinance compelling children under 15 years to keep off the streets after 9 o'clock in the evening in the summer and 8 o'clock in the winter. On motion of Mr. Runyon the matter was referred to the streets and sewers committee.

F. R. Fish and other resideuts of Martine avenue asked for three electric lights on that avenue, and the matter was referred with power.

The report of Overseer of Poor Hansen showed that there had been thirteen new applicants and six granted. At present there are twenty beneficiaries on the list, five of whom are at the City Home.

Street Commissioner Gavett reported the granting of thirty sewer permits, and Building Inspector Doane reported the granting of nineteen permits. These reports together with that of the city physician were received and filed. The Council gave the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company permission to go ahead and open up certain streets to lay wires underground.

Mr. Barrows offered a resolution giving the proper committee authority to proceed to widen Westervelt avenue.

Mr. Buckle presented a resolution authoriz... the expenditure of $150 for serge coats for the policemen for the summer.

Mr. Hetfield objected to the expenditure, and stated that the people of the city were opposed to furnishing the police with clothes and giving them increased salaries. The motion was adopted, Messrs. Hetfield and Leifke alone voting no.

Mr. Runyon stated that at the next meeting he would present plans and specifications for a new hose house in the West End.

A breeze was created at this time. Mr. Andrews presented a minority report of the alms committee regarding the fixing of the salary for the overseer of the poor. Mr. Andrews moved the salary be fixed at $250 a year for three years. He stated that he disliked to present such a report, but he found that he could not agree with Messrs. Hetfield and Liefke, the other two members of the committee.

Mr. Hetfield was of the opinion that $100 per year was sufficient for the official, as only a portion of his time is occupied in looking after the duties of overseer of the poor.

Mr. Andrews said that last year it cost the city $700 in this department, and this year it was figured to make the expense $610. He considered Mr. Hansen a thoroughly competent man and well worth the salary.

Mr. Buckle made a motion that the salary be fixed at $200. He thought that amount would make a fair salary for the office.

A motion to lay the matter on the table was lost, as was also Mr. Hetfield's motion to make the salary $100. Messrs. Homan, Hetfield, Moffett and Leifke voted in favor of the motion for a $100 salary, and the same four members voted against the motion offered by Mr. Andrews making the salary $250. The latter motion pre-

DEVELOPED A FINE ART IN PRINTING.

Success of the Aluminum Process of Lithographing.

WORK DONE IN PLAINFIELD.

FACTORY OF THE ALUMINUM PLATE AND PRESS COMPANY.

Established and in Operation in This City—In Charge of Skilled Mechanics Who are Turning Out Machines That Will Completely Revolutionize Color Printing—Aluminum Plates Combine Durability and Lightness, Besides Being Able to Do the Best Work—A Splendid Industry for Plainfield.

A new plant has been recently started at Netherwood, which promises to be one of the most extensive as well as one of the most important, not only in the State, but in the country.

Through the discovery that the new metal aluminum possesses certain properties which render it not only availabe, but an invaluable agent or medium in all kinds of printing and superior to any of the materials now employed, particularly in lithography, a revolution has been inaugurated that promises in the near future to effect a radical change in present methods. This discovery is amply protected, not only in this country, but in Europe, and the process by which it is applied in the work of surface printing has been adopted, and is now in successful operation in several of the principal lithographic establishments in New York and elsewhere. As lithographic stones have heretofore been exclusively used, continuous and persistent efforts have been made to overcome the difficulties inseparable from the manipulation of such heavy, rigid and cumbrous masses, some of which weigh from five hundred to over a thousand pounds. The work, it is true, was all that could be desired, especially in the highest grade of colored printing, or chromo-lithography. But something more was desirable, and in the unremitting, through fruitless endeavors to attain that something, millions of dollars and nearly a hundred years were spent. Some conception can be formed of the nature of the difficulties encountered from a statement of the mere fact that a print in ten colors covering a surface of thirty-six by fifteen inches requires ten stones weighing in the aggregate over six thousand pounds, or three tons. The time lost in the handling of such heavy masses, their liability to fracture, the high prices of the finer quality and the great care required in the handling, rendered lithography one of the most expensive methods. The great object, therefore, was to find, if possible, a suitable equivalent—some material which, while it would be free from the defects of the lithographic stone, would give as satisfactory results. It was hoped that among the various metals, or metallic compounds a substitute would be discovered which would possess all the desired qualities.

Among all the metals it has been found that aluminum is the only one which possesses in combination all the essential elements, or properties of porosity, lightness, flexibility, non-corrodibility and facility in manipulation. These are the properties which not only render it especially applicable to work heretofore performed with the lithographic stone, but give it a decided superiority over the stone in the matter of economy as well as in the quantity and quality of the product.

It is specially deserving of notice that as the metal is made from clay, the source of supply is literally inexhaustible, and as the method by which the aluminum or ore is reduced to the metallic state has been, and is likely to be still more, materially cheapened, no apprehension need be entertained on the all important question of quantity.

It is very evident that the lithographic trade, not only in the United States, but in Europe also, has been stirred to its depths by the conceded success of the new metal as a printing medium, which meets all the requirements of the art; and the change which is already foreshadowed in the printing mechanisms of the day is shown by the growing demand for the rotary in place of the slow and tedious movements of the flat-bed presses. In the prophetic words of "L'Imprimerie," the organ of the typographic and lithographic trades of France, describing the revolution inaugurated by the use of aluminum in surface printing, we may well ask "who can arrest this endless progress? The future alone can say, but it has opened

BEGINNING OF THE END

Manila Victory First of a Series of Decisive Moves.

MAY FORCE SPAIN TO TERMS

If Spanish Fleet Crosses the Ocean It Will Be Engaged at Once—Believed in Washington that if Spain's Ships Have Gone Back to the Canaries They Will Never Venture Here.

Washington, May 3.—The Administration will not arrive at a hasty determination in respect to further military and naval operations in consequence of the reports received from the Philippines. The President hopes to receive a definite report from Commodore Dewey at an early enough date to be of value in connection with the operation of the fleets under command of Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley.

The advices received from hostile sources show clearly enough that Commodore Dewey has utterly destroyed the Spanish power in the Pacific, but they do not know what damage, if any, of consequence was done our own vessels.

As this is the first engagement our modern war vessels have had, it is of incalculable value to know exactly how our vessels behaved and what weakness they showed. Information on this line will enable the commanders of our Atlantic squadrons to correct whatever defects may exist in the new system of naval action and give them confidence in the good qualities of the modern war ships not heretofore tested.

Beginning of the End.

A very strong belief prevails that the Philippine victory is the beginning of the end, and that prompt action at this time will speedily bring Spain to terms. The disturbed condition of affairs in Madrid shows the desperate straits to which the Spanish Government has been driven, and it is conceived to be possible that Spain will not be in condition to prosecute the war much further.

Civil strife at home will make it very difficult for her to maintain herself even for a short time, either on the seas or in Cuba. The opinion is entertained that if the Cape Verde fleet is not already directly on its way to Porto Rico, it will never go there or anywhere on this side of the Atlantic. The fact, however, that the fleet on leaving the Cape Verde Islands steamed straight away toward Porto Rico for twelve hours, renders it probable that it continued on this course and will arrive at Porto Rico.

If this is found to be the case, it is believed that the war can be ended with one bold stroke within a very short time after it is positively known that the fleet is coming this way. No doubt whatever is felt that if the Spanish fleet will face an engagement we shall be able to destroy it utterly.

Effect on Cuban Plans.

There is still some uncertainty as to the effect the news from the Philippines will have on the contemplated invasion of Cuba. Some authorities are strongly in favor of making a formidable invasion at once, at the same time attacking the coast defenses from our fleet, without delaying to ascertain the movements of the Spanish fleet.

Conservative opinion is, that this would be a hasty action, and the probability is that our plan, so far as the invasion of Cuba is concerned, will not be changed, but that the force of 5,000 men, or possibly more, will be landed at a convenient point in Cuba within two or three days to establish a base of supplies and put themselves in communication with the Cubans, as was before contemplated.

The Cubans say that Gomez can have his army ready to co-operate with the fleet by to-morrow, and with the munitions of war to be carried by the invading army there will be no lack of arms and ammunition to insure a successful land attack on the Spanish.

By that time it will probably be known definitely where the Spanish fleet is.

Decisive Battle Expected.

If it is at, or on its way to, Porto Rico, a strong fleet composed of the flying squadron and some of Admiral Sampson's squadron will be sent against it to do battle, without any fear as to what the result will be. The destruction of the Spanish fleet under these circumstances would render Spain entirely helpless, and she would have to sue for peace under such terms as we would grant.

If, on the other hand, it shall be found that the Cape Verde fleet has turned back to the Canaries, it is probable that the complete invasion of Cuba will be hastened, and the capture of Havana and Matanzas will be undertaken by the co-operation of land and naval forces by the speediest process possible. There will be no apprehension if the Spanish fleet has turned back that it will at any time make an aggressive move.

SPANISH FLEET ANNIHILATED.

All Reports Agree that the American Victory Was Overwhelming.

London, May 3.—The details of the battle of Manila have been received at the British Colonial office. They came in two cable messages, the substance of which was furnished to the Associated Press by the officials of the Colonial Office.

The first dispatch announces that the United States fleet entered Manila harbor at daybreak Sunday, stationing itself opposite the city. A fort opened fire on the American ships, whereupon they shifted their position to one near Cavite, in Manila Bay, engaging in a fierce fight against both the forts and the Spanish fleet.

The engagement lasted two hours, and resulted in the annihilation of the Spanish fleet.

This dispatch adds that the American ships withdrew to their magazine vessel in the centre of the roadstead, for the purpose of coaling.

One American Ship Disabled.

One American vessel, whose name is not mentioned, is said to have been disabled.

Commodore Dewey requested the British Consul, Mr. E. H. Rawson-Walker, to convey a message to the Spanish Governor General, demanding the surrender of all the torpedoes and guns at Manila, and the possession of the cable offices, saying that unless these terms were complied with he would proceed to bombard the city.

The first cable message ends with the statement that the Spanish officials were conferring with the British Consul and the telegraph company's agent, and that, pending a decision being arrived at, the cables were not permitted to handle messages.

The second cable dispatch received by the Colonial Office announced that the Spanish Governor General had refused to surrender the torpedoes, guns and cable offices, and that he had prevented the agent of the telegraph company from conferring with Commodore Dewey.

The message ended with the statement that the British Governor of the Straits Settlements expected that the bombardment of Manila would be begun on Monday morning, when the Spaniards would cut the cable.

Cable Supposed to Be Cut.

No other messages on the subject have been received in London, although the Foreign Office expected news from the British Consul at Manila. Therefore, it is supposed that the expectation of the Governor of the Straits Settlements has been fulfilled, and that the Spaniards have cut the cable.

The officials here gather from the fact that Commodore Dewey's demands are limited to the guns, torpedoes and cable, that he does not consider he has a force sufficient to land and occupy the town.

SPANISH LOSS 400.

British Consul Said to Have Protested Against Bombardment.

Paris, May 3.—A dispatch from Madrid to the Temps says that, according to the latest dispatches, the British Counsel at Manila, in his visit to Commodore Dewey, made representations in behalf of the Consular Corps, against bombardment of the town.

The Madrid dispatch to the Temps also says: "French, British and German war vessels are in the roads at Manila. No Spanish warship surrendered, and the majority perished. Two Spanish commanders were killed while resisting to the last moment.

"The Spanish losses are estimated at 400 men killed, including many natives. The American squadron attacked furiously both the Spanish squadron and Cavite, where it caused great damage."

Commenting editorially on the battle, the Temps remarks: "The United States put into the balance a too crushing superiority of resources and forces to leave a doubt as to the result."

Later the Temps says: "Directly Castilian honor has received the satisfaction it demands, will not the moment have come for Europe to say its word and take as a basis for the mediatory action the wise advice of the Duke of Devonshire in his speech on Saturday evening?"

POWERS MAY INTERVENE.

Such a Move Would Not Cause Much Surprise in Washington.

Washington, May 3.—Secretary Long does not look for official news of the "glorious victory" of the American navy at the capital of the Philippine Islands for a day or two, and Commodore Dewey's full official report may not be received in a week. In the meantime, however, the facts will become known, as to the battle, of which there are as yet but the most meagre details.

Commodore Dewey is regarded by naval officers as the luckiest man in the service. To have the honor of making the first fight in a war that is to add to the glory of his country is indeed great, and it came, moreover, as a surprise. The fleet of vessels, of which the Olympia is the flagship, went to the Asiatic station when the question of war with Spain was still a diplomatic controversy. He had not prepared for war, but was ready to accept it if it came. Moreover, it is known here to have been the intention of the President to withdraw the fleet from the Asiatic station and send it to the Pacific, when the notice of England's policy of neutrality was received so unexpectedly.

Then the ships were ordered from Hong Kong. They had to go somewhere, and as an emergency order the fleet was sent to Manila. There Dewey met and vanquished the braggart foe, and has placed his name at the top of the heroes of the first great naval war with modern fighting ships.

The President's plan does not contemplate more than a maintenance of the blockade of Cuban ports at present, in addition to the landing of the troops to form a base of supplies and carry food to the starving people, but Dewey's decisive victory may crush the spirit of Spain as well as impress upon the President the importance of bombarding the Cuban capital, with the hope of bringing the war to an end at once.

A high official of the Government said, after all the news from Manila had been received and discussed: "Well, I believe that the powers will now intervene to stop the war. Spain has lost already and has nothing to hope for. I think the powers will compel her to at once sue for peace."

This view has many supporters among Congressmen and Administration officials.

WAITING AT TAMPA.

The 7,000 Soldiers Now in Florida Ready to Move on Cuba.

Tampa, Fla., May 3.—Eleven regiments of infantry, one of cavalry and ten light batteries of artillery are now concentrated at Tampa and Fort Tampa, about 7,000 men in all. It is generally believed in Tampa that this force will be augmented soon by at least two regiments of cavalry from Chickamauga, besides the artillery.

The Plant system has notified the Government that the steamers Olivette and Florida were at its service for use as transports. The Mascotte also will be tendered at once. These boats have a capacity of 1,800 men.

No Tonnage Tax.

Washington, May 3.—The Senate Committee on Finance has practically decided to eliminate the tonnage tax feature of the War Revenue bill, to avoid irritating European countries.

WHAT VICTORY MEANS

Manila Foreshadows the Result of the War.

GREATER NEWS EXPECTED

When Commodore Dewey Himself Is Heard From—Europe May Now Bring Pressure to Bear on Spain to Give Up Cuba at Once—No Formal Protest Against Bombardment of Manila.

Washington, May 3.—One week of war. It began with the blockade of Havana, and the formal declaration by Congress of a state of belligerency. It ends with the thrilling news of a great naval victory in the East, a victory so significant and decisive that it must foreshadow the end, even to the stubborn and brutalized intellect of Spain. It must be remembered, too, that the national rejoicing to-day has its source only in Spanish dispatches, the suspicious candor of which bears evidence of a desire to break gently to Madrid some very unpleasant tidings. When Commodore Dewey gets possession of the other end of the cable at Manila, or when his dispatch boat gets back to Hong Kong, we may expect to hear news which will cause every American heart to swell with pride in our navy, and in the skill and valor of the men behind the guns. It is most significant that while the Spanish report grudgingly confess "serious but honorable losses of life," and while Dewey's squadron is represented as performing a continuous act of "retiring," there is no mention of any loss of American lives. We must be prepared, however, for a kind of dispatch so far new to this war, the inevitable list of dead and wounded, but no one expected a bloodless or tearless struggle.

The Cost Was Counted.

We entered upon the war to make Cuba free, soberly, reluctantly, counting all the cost. Our President exhausted all the expedients of reason and diplomacy to avert it. But it had to come. The end of Spain's infamous barbarities and murders on the Western continent had been decreed in the providence of God, and to the nation in whose ears Cuba's cries for rescue and freedom have been sounding for two generations was given the solemn duty of clearing the continent of the Spanish plague. Now, no matter what the burden of sorrow and suffering and loss, the price must be paid. We cannot turn back until Spain is humbled to the dust and Cuba is free.

One possible outcome of the dispersion of Spain's Philippine fleet may be a pressure brought to bear on Spain by the European powers to recognize the futility of a further struggle, and to peaceably give up Cuba. That has been the substance of our demand. To those who desired vengeance, as well as free Cuba, it will probably appear that the Maine is already amply avenged in the China Sea. It will be interesting to note the tone of the popular sentiment in Spain to-day, whether it be for submission or for a contest to the bitter end. For either contingency the Administration is well prepared.

No Foreign Protest.

There is a weariness which approaches disgust at the State Department over the repeated reports of foreign interference in our conduct of the war with Spain, the latest being that Germany had filed a formal protest against the bombardment of Manila. It is stated by the highest officials in the department that no formal representations have been made since the call of the ministers on President McKinley before he sent his message to Congress.

The reason probably is that the powers realize that it is none of their business. This is our fight now, and it will be fought out in our own way, without interference by principalities or powers. This is understood at foreign courts as well as at Washington.

MEN FOR PHILIPPINES?

Army Officer Says Volunteers West of Missouri River Will Go There.

Denver, Col., May 3.—According to Col. W. J. Volkmark, Adjutant General of the Department of the Colorado, the volunteers raised in the States west of the Missouri River will probably be sent across the Pacific Ocean to hold the Philippine Islands.

"It will be necessary to hold the islands," said Col. Volkmark, "while the war is being prosecuted in other directions, and what would be more natural than for the troops recruited in the West to be placed aboard transports in the harbor of San Francisco and sent to occupy the important posts in the Philippine Islands?

"The Government may dicker with Japan as to the future ownership of the islands, but in the meantime the territory must be securely held. This victory is far reaching in its character, but does not mean that the war will at once come to a close. That does not follow by any means, although the loss of the Philippines will be a death blow from which Spain cannot recover."

Beer Tax Will Be Levied.

Washington, May 3.—It looks as though there is no possibility of warding off the additional tax of $1 per barrel on beer. The war tax is now before the Senate Finance Committee and it will be considered to-day and reported to-morrow. Representatives of the brewing interests are in Washington to-day making a final appeal to have the beer amendment eliminated. There is little if any chance, however, of this being done. The fact that $37,000,000 annually is expected to accrue from a tax on beer is having great weight with Congress.

Congress to Thank Dewey.

Washington, May 3.—Representative Livingston, of Georgia, has introduced this resolution in the House:

"Resolved, That the thanks of Congress be and they are hereby tendered to Commodore George Dewey, commanding the Asiatic Squadron, for the eminent skill and valor exhibited by him and his squadron in the recent engagement resulting in his glorious victory over and the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Manila."

MANILA BOMBARDED

Commander Dewey's Fleet Shelled the City Yesterday.

COMMUNICATION CUT OFF

The Enemy's Squadron Completely Destroyed by the American Ships—Spanish Confess the Disaster—The Excitement Intense in Spain—Martial Law May Be Proclaimed if There Are Demonstrations.

A cable from Hong Kong says the bombardment of Manila was begun yesterday, and that cable communication was interrupted, as the operators fled to save their lives.

The British Governor of the Straits Settlements has cabled to London that the American fleet at Manila has "annihilated" the Spanish fleet in a two hours' engagement.

He says Commodore Dewey demanded a surrender of the city, which was refused, and the bombardment of Manila followed.

The attack on Manila by the American squadron under Commodore Dewey on Sunday resulted in a complete Spanish rout, the enemy's fleet being entirely destroyed. Two vessels were burned, one blew up and others were sunk to avoid capture. The utter defeat of the Spanish and the annihilation of the fleet is admitted on all sides in Madrid.

Commodore Dewey's fleet moved on Manila, and the inhabitants expecting bombardment, fled to the country.

Great excitement prevails in Madrid, and martial law has been proclaimed. Sensational speeches are expected in the Cortes to-day, in which Romero and Weyler will take part. The popularity of the latter is said to be steadily growing.

Cable Operators Flee.

Hong Kong, May 3 (via London).—The operators at the cable station had to abandon their posts on account of the shower of shells from Commodore Dewey's fleet. The cable building is down by the water's edge, and close in among the forts. The operators had to fly as soon as the bombardment began.

No further news can now be obtained until the town is captured by the Americans and the cable service re-established.

It is believed that the Spanish have now cut the cable to prevent its falling into the hands of the Americans. This was the last act of the Spanish Governor General before he ran away to the hills to escape the bombardment.

The last news received shows that the American squadron has complete mastery of the water, and can lie at anchor anywhere and bombard the city with safety.

An insurgent force, some 6,000 in number, it is said, is operating in conjunction with the squadron.

The movements of the insurgents are controlled by signals from the flagship. Several insurgent chiefs were on board of the American men-of-war during the engagement. Their services were desired in pointing out the location of batteries, with which they are reported to be very familiar.

Spain Orders Manila to Yield.

London, May 3.—A special from Madrid says that Commodore Dewey gave Captain-General Augusti twenty-four hours in which to comply with his ultimatum demanding a surrender of all stores and coal. It is believed the government has cabled Augusti to comply with the demand. This belief is based on the fact that the Cabinet council, after a late session, decided to proclaim a state of siege immediately.

Martial Law in Madrid.

London, May 3.—A special dispatch from Madrid says martial law has been proclaimed there. The customary proclamation was posted at midnight. Military patrols have appeared in Puerto del Sol, the principal square of Madrid.

Senor Aguilera, the Civil Governor of Madrid, says the civil authorities consider the circumstances justify their handing over to the military authorities the mission of keeping order. Lieut Gen. Daban, Captain General of Madrid, has assumed charge. The whole garrison is ready in barracks.

Washington, May 3.—It is reported here on apparently reliable authority, and generally believed in official circles, that Manila has surrendered to Admiral Dewey, and that the latter is now in complete possession of the fortifications.

This news, it is said, has been received by President McKinley. It came in the shape of a cablegram from Manila, sent by the British Consul-General.

It is understood that Admiral Dewey has asked for troops to aid him in holding Manila. If it is decided to grant the request they will at once be rushed forward from San Francisco.

New York, May 3.—Over Cavite, the stronghold of Spain in the Philippines, the white flag must have been run up yesterday. Scarcely a doubt exists that Commodore Dewey, the fearless, is in possession of Manila. The only cable from the Philippines has been cut, and until Commodore Dewey finds connection, the details of his incomparable fleet cannot be known. About the last message sent over the cable was from the British consul telling of the annihilation of the Spanish fleet, the demand of Commodore Dewey upon the Governor General of the Philippines for surrender on penalty of bombardment, the refusal of the Governor General and his decision to cut the cable when the bombardment began. A short time afterward word came from Hong Kong that cable communication had ceased. Within a few hours the same announcement was sent out by the cable companies in New York city.

Hong Kong reports that following the message of the British consul came a plaintive message from Captain Concha, of the Spanish cruiser Don Juan de Austria, which the intrepid Dewey blew up on Sunday, addressed to his children in a convent school in Hong Kong, saying that firing had begun in the entrance to Manila Bay. That doubtless was the beginning of the end.

TO JOIN GOMEZ AT ONCE.

Roosevelt's Mounted Riflemen to Go to Cuba as Soon as Organized.

Washington, May 3.—It has been decided to allow the cowboy cavalry, or rather, the "Mounted Riflemen," being raised by Col. Leonard Wood and Lieut. Col. Roosevelt, to go to Cuba as soon as the organization is completed.

The command will go independent of other military movements. The plan is to enter Cuba, make connection with Gen. Gomez, and begin active operations without delay. Recruiting of the cowboy band is going on rapidly, and the requisite number of men will probably be enlisted by the end of this week.

Several retired army officers have entered the regiment and are engaged in organizing companies. These men have had considerable service in the Indian country, and since their retirement have spent their time on the plains. They will have command of the companies they organize.

Col. Wood left Washington for Key West last night. There he will complete details for the expedition, including the charter of transports, which the War Department has authorized.

Hamilton Fish, grandson of Secretary Hamilton Fish, has enlisted in the cowboy regiment being organized by Lieut. Col. Roosevelt. Mr. Fish is a graduate of Columbia University, New York. Many of his college friends were informed of his intention of joining the army, and since then he has received many applications from them for positions in the cowboy regiment.

Expects the War to End Soon.

Washington, May 3.—President McKinley is credited with having said to a high army official that the war might be expected to come to a close within a few days. The official in question had asked for fifty additional paymasters for the volunteer army. According to the report the President replied that he did not believe the volunteers would be needed at all, and it was very likely few of the regulars would go to Cuba. The inference the army official drew was that the Executive anticipates an early surrender on Spain's part.

PREPARING A PROCLAMATION.

President to Fix the Status of Spanish Subjects.

Washington, May 3.—The President has in course of preparation a proclamation which will be issued in the next day or two, fixing the status of Spanish subjects in this country. Generally speaking, the proclamation will make it known that such subjects are under suspicion and, it is believed, will announce that stringent measures will be taken to prevent their hindering a speedy and successful conduct of a war against the Kingdom of Spain.

Berlin Is Not Pleased.

Berlin, May 3.—The news of the brilliant victory of the United States fleet at Manila was received here, except in Government circles, with general incredulity, although the Foreign Office was informed on Sunday evening, and it promptly notified the embassies. The newspapers either did not publish the news, or, if they published it, they expressed doubts of its reliability. They said it was "derived mostly from American sources, and doubtless had been grossly exaggerated or was baseless."

No Foreign Mediation.

London, May 3.—The Vienna correspondent of the Times says: "In well informed circles it is positively denied that the powers will intervene at the present juncture, nor has any agreement been arrived at for mediation at any future time. The disparity of views is considerable enough to render highly improbable the co-operation of all six powers in any diplomatic step, either at Madrid or Washington."

Ask your doctor how many preparations of cod-liver oil there are.

He will answer, "Hundreds of them." Ask him which is the best. He will reply, "Scott's Emulsion."

Then see that this is the one you obtain. It contains the purest cod-liver oil, free from unpleasant odor and taste. You also get the hypophosphites and glycerine. All three are blended into one grand healing and nourishing remedy.

ANOTHER NAVAL VICTORY.

Marblehead, Nashville and Eagle Capture a Rich Prize.

Key West, May 3.—A naval battle was fought off Cienfuegos Friday between the Yankee cruisers Marblehead and Nashville and nine Spanish war vessels.

Uncle Sam's fighters won a brilliant victory, capturing an auxiliary cruiser and taking a Spanish general and twenty-eight other officers prisoners.

The engagement was rapid and hot from the start. The American vessels steamed up to the harbor and immediately attracted the attention of the Spaniards, who skirted about, trying to circumvent the Yankees. Shots were exchanged, but the Nashville and Marblehead were out for a prize and steamed to close quarters, sending several shots straight at the fleet.

At last two of the Spaniards gave evidence of having felt the Yankee fire and a manoeuvre was made, concentrated action evidently being the object. The Nashville and Marblehead understood the movement, though, and separating sailed away in opposite directions. They suddenly turned, however, and running straight at the group of the enemy's warships cut off one of them, the Argonauta, from the fleet, and firing rapidly drove her seaward.

The Spaniard was in a fix, and ran before the Yankee shells, fully expecting help and ultimate escape. But the Americans pursued her closely and finally overhauled her.

The Marblehead drew alongside, and the commander of the Argonauta, with an American on either side, realized that discretion was the better part of valor, and gave up his ship.

The Marblehead put a prize crew on board and the Argonauta, with her officers, prisoners, was headed for Key West.

The news of the capture reached here to-day, when the prize ship was reported coming in. The capture is described as one of the most daring yet attempted. Officers of the cruisers say the Spaniards seemed dazed by the sudden and audacious attack, but fought viciously.

ARMY DEFICIENCY BILL PASSED.

The House Appropriates the Sum of $35,720,945 for May and June.

Washington, May 3.—The House yesterday passed without division the War Emergency bill, carrying a total of $35,720,945 to supply deficiencies in the appropriations for the support of the army for the months of May and June, for equipping the 125,000 volunteers and the increase of 35,000 men in the regular army.

The appropriations are in accordance with the estimates submitted by the Secretary of War, and in addition to the purposes named includes $350,000 for finishing the work of laying torpedoes for harbor defense, $150,000 for tools, etc.; for an expeditionary force to Cuba, miscellaneous, navy, $100,000, and $2,836,800 for armament of fortifications. The items follow:

Signal service, $21,000; pay of colunteers, $5,766,661; pay of regulars, $1,434,586; pay, etc., of regulars, including mileage (prior to act of April 26), $1,095,219; subsistence of the army, $2,739,643; regular supplies, Quartermaster's Department, $1,000,000; incidental expenses, Quartermaster's Department, $750,000; horses for cavalry and artillery, $1,500,000; barracks and quarters, $300,000; army transportation, $6,000,000; clothing, camp and garrison equipage, $10,000,000; contingencies of the army, $20,000; Ordnance Department, $1,506,000; Medical Department, $50,000; Engineer Department, $200,034.

IS THE END AT HAND?

Senor Silvela's Suggestive Reference to Spanish Honor.

Madrid, May 3.—The speech made by Senor Silvela in the Cortes on Saturday is widely discussed. He said he thought that war with the United States was solely a question of honor.

Spain, by granting autonomy, had relinquished all her rights in Cuba that were worth anything. She no longer had any material interest in the island, but, anxious to save the honor of her flag, she had been driven into war.

The army and navy would certainly defend her honor heroically, but it was incumbent on the Cortes to interfere the moment the duel had gone far enough for honor to be satisfied.

Senor Silvela alluded to an impending European congress for a settlement of the dispute.

FLYING SQUADRON TO SAIL?

To Meet the Oregon and Marietta in the South Atlantic.

Washington, May 3.—The Navy Department has reached the conclusion that the Spanish squadron which left St. Vincent on Friday will steam slowly toward the Brazilian coast, and lie in the track of the Oregon and the Marietta, both now at Rio de Janeiro.

It will take the Oregon and her consort about five days after leaving Rio to get within the danger line or space bounded by points nearest St. Vincent. They are coaling at Rio now, with the intention of filling their bunkers to the very top to enable them to cruise rapidly to Key West.

Assessors Take a Hint.

The narrow escape which the assessors of Bergen county had from indictment for failure to assess property at its actual value, which was advised by Supreme Court Justice Dixon in a vigorous charge to the Grand Jury last month, has had its effect with the Union County Board of Assessors. An informal meeting of the Board has been held and a resolution adopted that this year all valuations on taxable property be put at their actual value in the real estate market. Another important point brought to light during the conference was that a number of local assessors in various townships have not been taxing the property of corporations under the belief that the tax was levied by the State. The erring ones agreed to remedy this practice this year. It is expected that this new system will result in loud protests from property owners, but the assessors are fearful of indictment unless they follow the letter of the law.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

At Music Hall, Saturday night, the musical extravaganza entitled "Gayest Manhattan" which ran continuously through the winter season in New York, and its success was supplemented by its performance during the entire summer at one of the beach resorts adjacent to New York, will have its first presentation in this city. The story hangs upon a stage infatuated maiden, who, aided and abetted by a rich, fond and foolish father, comes to New York to study for the stage. The pair are rural and gullible, and like all people of that character coming to New York, are subject to the gold brick swindle. In Miss Ricketts' search for fame through historic channels she meets with some strange people, all the way from bogus managers to the real swelldom, and her fond father, Hiram, from Skowhegan, is thrown in contact with the choice spirits of the town. The awkwardness of the two and the impositions upon them afford the fun of the play for a time, but their progression is rapid, like the chrysallis of the worm to the butterfly, and while in the first act the immature Tess blushes at an undraped figure in the park, in the last act she developed into a full-fledged skirt dancer and prime favorite of the roof garden.

Church Auxiliary Elect Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of Trinity Reformed church, held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the church, the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. T. VanWinkle; first vice-president, Mrs. G. Q. Dolliver; second vice-president, Mrs. Robert Clark; third vice-president, Mrs. John Krymer; secretary Mrs. H. W. Marshall; treasurer, Mrs. O. W. Dunham. The two latter officers were re-elected. The annual public meeting of this valuable auxiliary will be held Sunday evening next in the church, at which time an address will be delivered and the reports of the secretary and treasurer for the past year will be read.

TRAVESTY ON JUSTICE.

SWEENEY PERJURY CASE ENDED IN A FIASCO YESTERDAY.

Justice Mosher Stood Before a Mirror in Mocking Mood—Complaint Was Not Prosecuted by Young Mr. Nash.

The case against Willie Sweeney, a clerk in the law office of Counselor William K. McClure, for perjury, called in Justice Mosher's court yesterday afternoon, ended in a fiasco as was expected.

V. W. Nash, Jr., who represented the prosecution, wanted to withdraw the charge, but Counselor McClure, appearing for Sweeney, protested against such action and the Justice declined to permit the complaint to be withdrawn.

No witnesses for the prosecution were sworn. For the defense Counselor called young Mr. Nash and young Mr. Sweeney. The trial throughout was a travesty on the dignity of the law, and Justice Mosher added the finishing touch when he arrayed himself before a mirror and mockingly declared, "Here I am, Judge, what do you want." It will be remembered that Justice Mosher had been subpœaned to appear before himself as a witness. The Justice was laughed at.

Finally, after considerable fun had been extracted out of the proceedings by the crowd who had gathered to witness them, the Justice dismissed the case.

Counselor McClure says he is not through with the case yet.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

On a motion offered by Mr. Newman, the light committee was authorized to allow the Welsbach Light Co. to give a test of their light in Plainfield.

Mr. Newman started a discussion regarding the electric lighting of the Plainfield streets. He moved that four lights be located on South avenue from the last light to Terrill road. Mr. VanHerwerden amended the motion by substituting the number to six. This caused a lengthy discussion and finally four lights were granted by the Council, it being in their opinion the best plan in view of the fact that the Council is limited as to the number of lights to be granted this year.

Mr. Hetfield offered a resolution that the Corporation Counsel be instructed that it is the sense of the City Council that the Court at Elizabeth do not confirm that portion of the report of the Martin Act Commissioners which refers to taxes prior to 1880. Messrs. Hetfield, Barrows, Runyon, Buckle and VanHerwerden all spoke in favor of the resolution and the same was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Mr. Barrows moved that when the Council adjourned it be to meet in two weeks when the question of giving the electric light company power to place their wires underground would be discussed.

On motion by Mr. Buckle ordinances authorizing the repairing of Woodland, Stelle and Madison avenues, were adopted on their third reading, as was also the ordinance relating to the installing of separate sewers to carry off drainage water.

Mr. VanHerwerden offered a resolu which provides for the expenditure of $360.92 on sewer work. Mr. Runyon called up the resolution regarding the location of a keyless fire alarm box on West Front street, and on his motion the box was ordered placed on that street. It will probably be located near Music Hall. The last business transacted was the reception of a petition from about forty business men on Front street asking the Council to locate the proposed flag pole on Front street at the head of Park avenue. The petition was filed after which the Council adjourned.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Dunellen, May 3—Constable Wyhuskey had a lively experience last Sunday afternoon which he will not soon forget. Two young men from Plainfield paid a visit to the borough and while here became somewhat noisy and appeared like persons under the influence of liquor. The constable gave the young men fair warning and told them to keep quiet. They started for the trolley car and on their way they continued to make a nuisance of themselves. Mr. Wyhuskey thought it time to act and he proceeded to put the force of the law into effect. The attempt was right but failed to work, for the young men picked the constable up and threw him over a fence. They ran away and left the constable to himself. The young men had too much the start and the constable could not catch them. It is safe to predict, however, that the young men will not visit Dunellen very soon as Constable Wyhuskey will be prepared for them.

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

RECKLESS LORD LAWRENCE.

He Carried the Kohinoor in His Vest Pocket and Forgot About It.

The Kohinoor, Queen Victoria's most famous jewel, and one of the biggest and most celebrated diamonds in the world, has been much written about, and its adventures among Eastern potentates and thieves traced with much research, but one of the queerest things that ever happened to it befel after it came into English hands and is very little known.

The Punjaub was annexed in 1849, and the East India Company took possession of the Lahore treasury, as the Lahore government was deep in their debt.

The Kohinoor was the greatest treasure of the treasury, and it was stipulated in the agreements signed by both parties that it should be presented to Queen Victoria. At a meeting of the East India board the "mountain of light" was given into the care of John, afterward Lord Lawrence.

Mr. Lawrence must have been in a singular frame of mind at the time, for he put the gem in his waistcoat pocket, and, in his own phrase, "thought no more about it."

This is unaccountable but true, for he went home, changed his clothes for dinner and did not wear nor handle that waistcoat for a day or two. Then came a message from Lord Dalhousie to the board, asking for the diamond, that it might be forwarded to the queen.

"Well," said John Lawrence to his brother Henry, "send it at once."

"Why, you have it," said Henry.

Lord Lawrence all his life would tell of the terror that then seized him.

"This is the worst trouble I ever got into," he said to himself, as the cold sweat started on his forehead.

But when he got out his discarded waistcoat there undisturbed was the great Kohinoor that Turk and Persian and Hindoo conquerors had shed rivers of blood to possess.—Golden Days.

MATCHES IN MEXICO.

The People There Do Not Like Those Made With Phosphorous.

An inquiry in regard to the possibility of profitably establishing an American match factory in or near Mexico City has elicited the fact that there are no phosphorous matches in use in Mexico, or any with wooden sticks. The kind universally used there are made of wax, about 1 inch in length, and practically odorless. The heads are very similar to those used on the parlor matches in the United States, and while they can be ignited otherwise, they light best on a small strip of sandpaper which is put for the purpose on one side of the box. In lighting these matches, a newcomer invariably holds them head down, as he would a wooden match; but he soon finds out that Adams watched him until he saw him they burn better the other way. They are sold in small boxes, for 1c, 2c and 5c silver per box. Travelers in Mexico who have bought strawberries at the railway stations, or even in the markets, have reason to recognize the cleverness of the seller in packing the fruit in boxes which appear to hold a great deal more than they actually do. The same experience holds good in the matter of buying matches. The boxes look to be of fair size, and appear to hold a considerable number of matches; but on examination they are found to have raised bottoms and stuffed sides, and their contents are decidedly slim. Practically, no matches are imported into Mexico, as the people do not like either the wooden sticks or the odor of the phosphorous matches, and the other kind can be made there more cheaply than they can be imported. For this reason, it is doubtful whether a successful American factory for match production could be started in Mexico, at all events at present.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Railroad Passes Made of Silver.

Most people are quite pleased to have a railroad pass of common paper, with the general passenger agent's signature scrawled in one corner, in the ink of sickly hue usually found in railroad offices. How would you like to have a pass, good for your whole life, on solid silver, and engraved at a famous silversmith's?

President Thomson, of the Pennsylvania lines, has issued a silver pass to Mr. Edgar Thomson, Mrs. Thomas Scott and Mrs. George B. Roberts, widows of former presidents of the road. The silver transportation cards are good on any train or car of the whole system of the road. They are just a little larger than a ladies' visiting card, and can be carried conveniently in the card case.

President Thomson is fond of making his passes valuable souvenirs. He has presented the members of the board of directors with a silver pass, about the size and shape of a silver dollar.—New York Journal.

Set Against High Hats.

The Bohemians in Austria have made up their minds that a tall hat is a badge of Germanry, and it is as much as a man's life is worth to appear in a Czech town wearing a "stovepipe." The cowboy of the West used to shoot the hat for fun, but never killed the wearer, except by accident, but the Czechs are more bitter. A high hat on a Czech has the same effect as a red flag on a bull; if he does not kill the offender, it is because he can't. The other day at a railway station a large crowd assembled to bid farewell to a well-known deputy. As the train arrived, Doctor Jindrich, a judicial functionary, traveling on official business, stepped out, and he wore a high hat. Instantly it was knocked off, and he had to run for his life. This feat landed a dozen of the mob in jail, but the Czechs are still on the warpath.—Golden Days.

PICTURES BY WIRE.

Transmitted as Easily as a Message—No Limit as to Distance.

Ernest A. Hummel, of St. Paul, Minn., is the inventor of a device by which photographs can be sent from place to place by telegraph quite as easily as any ordinary message.

There is no limit to the distance over which pictures can be sent any more than the limit to which electricity can carry an ordinary message. Mr. Hummel's experiments which proved the success of his device were made over a wire 320 miles long.

Mr. Hummel is a young manufacturing jeweller in St. Paul, and his invention is the result of numerous experiments thought out and carried out during all his spare moments for the last two years. He believes the instrument will be especially valuable in helping to catch criminals fleeing from justice by scattering their photographs over the country with the speed of electricity instead of by the comparatively slow medium of the mails. This, however, is only an incidental use for the invention. In scores of ways the device can be put to practical use.

The Hummel invention takes up about the same space as a typewriter and its table, or a sewing machine.

Its principal features, of course, are the transmitter and receiver. Each of these is operated by a diminutive electric motor, hardly as large as the case of a pair of spectacles. There is also a rather complicated system of clockwork which controls the movements as part of the machine.

The transmitter and receiver each has a moving carriage, operated by the electric motor. In these carriages are fixed the pencils which are used in copying the pictures to be sent. The carriage of the transmitter has a projecting arm with a vulcanized rubber extremity, in which is fitted a sharp platinum point.

By an ingenious device the clock work moves this platinum point a very minute distance from the line in which it moved before. A screw and triple series of ratchets are provided by which the width between the lines can be regulated.

When a picture is to be sent over the wire it is first traced through a carbon paper upon a metal plate. Then the lines on the plate are brought out by a solution of shellac, which is a non-conductor of electricity.

After the machine is connected with the electric circuit and the platinum point is set in motion each time it encounters a strip of shellac the circuit is broken. This break in the circuit throws down against the receiving paper in the complementary part of the machine a sharp needle point, which etches into the surface a line corresponding to the course taken by the platinum point while on the shellac insulation. When the platinum point has passed over the shellac and the circuit is again closed the needle point is lifted.

It goes without saying that the harmonious working of the delicate instruments require the most careful adjustment of the clockwork which controls the velocity of the machine. This adjustment Mr. Hummel reaches by several whirling fans, somewhat like the governors of a steam engine, but with discs instead of spheres.—New York Herald.

"OLD COMPARISON."

The people around the little mountain town called him "Old Comparison."

One day an acquaintance was passing his house as he was sitting on the steps of the little vine-clad porch in front.

"Good morning," said the gentleman. "It's a lovely day."

"Finer'n silk," he responded.

"How are you this morning?"

"Friskier'n a colt."

"How's your wife?"

"Pearter'n a pullet."

"The weather is very hot and dry for this season, don't you think?"

"Hotter'n a run horse and drier'n a clean shirt."

"I suppose you went to the wedding last night in the meeting-house? A prettty bride, I thought."

"Putier'n a speckled dog."

"The young man is rich, I hear."

"Richer'n fertilizer a foot thick."

"By the way, are you willing to sell me those sawlogs Brown couldn't take off your hands?"

"Williner'n a girl to get spliced."

"When can I see them?"

"Quicker'n a lamb can shake his tail."

And the old man grabbed his hat and stick and led the way to the river, offering no remark, but answering all inquiries as usual.—Yakima, Wash., Herald.

Mark Twain's Yell.

Mark Twain, when starring on a tour round the world, told an interviewer at Winnipeg how he often felt a desire to "cut loose" from civilization and to get away by himself where he could run and yell to his heart's content. In this connection there is a story about the humorist and Canon Kingsley. Walking along the streets one day Mark felt the impulse to yell coming on him with resistible force, and said to Kingsley: "I want to yell; I must yell!" The Canon said: "All right, yell away; I don't mind." "And with that," said Mark, "I stepped back a few steps, and, throwing my arms above my head, let out a war whoop that could be heard for miles, and in less time than you could count ten Canon Kingsley and myself were surrounded by a multitude of anxious citizens who wanted to know what was the matter. I told them nothing was the matter; I just wanted to yell, and had yelled."—Nashville Banner.

Agram. Der hiesige Gerichtshof verurtheilte den früheren Korrespondenten der Ersten kroatischen Sparkasse, Milan Lackner, welcher im Vorjahre nach Veruntreuung von 4000 Gulden aus Agram geflüchtet war und in Köln sich selbst der Polizei gestellt hatte, zu zwei Jahren Kerkers. Bedroom Suits--
Another very unusual "happening" for you.
It's about the same as the bedroom suit event we startled you with a week or so ago, except that more suits are in the sale. They're not rejected patterns but the cream of our '98 arrivals. You cannot meet another snap like it anywhere.
Suits exactly like cut, well carved--liberal dresser and washstand--bevelled mirror--a $25 suit--at $14.95.
A Curly Birch Suit--French plate, bevelled mirror, very large bureau and stand, brass trimmings, cheap at $45--now $30.
Some 8-piece Quartered Oak Suits, elegant, "impressive," unusual--instead of $50, it's $35.
A 200 ft. Carpet Floor
—Light, Pleasant, Well-Stocked.
It is not by "chance" we'll meet your carpet whims. The stock is far too big, varied and too new to just "happen" to hit your taste.

CAN'T DENY IT.

When the Facts Are Brought Home to Us, and By Our Neighbors, Too—They Are Plainfield Facts.

A wholesome suspicion is one of our characteristics as a people. In matters worthy of investigation we want real, tangible facts regarding it. The word of those we know, the nearby evidence obtainable, are generally what we most desire. When we call on a neighbor, a man of business at that, and say, "You have had some experience with so-and so, what do you think of it?" and he answers "Just the thing, I know because I have tried it." It goes a long way in helping our decision. This is always the way with Doane's Kidney Pills. Every body who has used them for any kidney complaint will tell you, "they are just the thing." Why? Because they do the work every time and in all disordered conditions of the kidneys. The proof lies with your neighbors. Many have been cured in Plainfield and are ready to tell you or any one enquiring.

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Bros, Grocers, at 267 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for the last 8 or 9 years. My chief trouble was pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated the pain and lameness. At last my back grew weaker and heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. In the mornings my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise, when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was like throwing my money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper and being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved, and continuing their use all the pain left me. I have felt slight signs of it since but a few doses of Doane's Kidney Pills always drives it away. I always keep them on hand to use if occasion requires. I consider Doane's Kidney Pills a grand medicine for kidney trouble and it gives me pleasure to recommend them whenever an opportunity presents itself.

A NETHERWOOD PLANT.

a hitherto unknown route to the three distinct branches of engraving, lithography and typography."

The paper referred to, alluding to the progress thus far made in France, remarks that they have already a number of engravers, designers, etc., who have recognized the fact that their work was easier upon aluminum than upon stone, and that the economy and advantages from its use secure its extension over a field which could not be dreamed of for the stone. Furthermore, it adds, "another point in favor of the metal, is that it affords the means of a direct transition between the lithographic and typographic methods, thus opening a wholly new way to general printing."

In other words, it means a revolution in which, as already stated, the best results of lithography with the most economic and rapid methods which have heretofore been possible only through relief printing will be produced by the new printing medium Lithography or surface printing as an art would seem in fact to have reached its climax; only one thing was wanting to enlarge the field of its operations, and that one thing, for the possession of which millions have been spent in vain, having at last been found and its merits having been proved by tests of the most conclusive and convincing character—conclusive and convincing to the most exacting critics—its final adoption in place of the various forms of relief printing is, as claimed, only a question of time and the construction of the necessary mechanical devices to meet the new and changed conditions of the art.

When aluminum was first extracted from its native clay by the celebrated French chemist, St. Clair Deville, less than half a century ago, the cost of its production was over one hundred dollars a pound. Improvements in the process of reduction have, however, brought the price down to almost a two-hundredth part of that figure, although less than ten years ago the market rate of the pure metal was five dollars a pound. Even at this price, however, it would have been considered too costly for the purpose to which it will eventually be applied.

Today the metal can be purchased at a price materially below that of the stone—indeed, at a comparatively small fraction of the cost of the best quality of stone.

The great reduction in the market price of the meta., the uses of which are constantly multiplying, is destined to effect a revolution, not only in surface, but in relief printing as well, for relief printing, through the improved methods secured by this invaluable discovery, is certain to be eventually superseded by the new system.

As the aggregate yearly value of the output of the printing trade of the United States, is, according to the last census of the industrial products of the country, nearly three hundred millions of dollars, and as the new process is adapted to all kinds of printing, an approximate idea of its actual value may be formed in its application to this great industry. In brief, the discovery of the valuable properties of the new metal has rendered absolutely practicable the production of the highest and most artistic effects of the lithographic art, or surface printing, by the application of the most rapid and economic methods. It is in this the great value and superiority of the aluminum plate over the lithographic stone consists. In lightness, it is one to one hundred compared with the stone which is heavy, rigid, and, on account of its great weight, difficult of manipulation. In the case of the larger plates the cost varies from one-fifth to one-tenth that of the stone according to the area of the printing surface. In the matter of speed, while the product of the stone rarely exceeds six or seven thousand impressions a day, the product of the aluminum plate ranges from twelve to twenty, and thirty thousand, and even higher will doubtless be attained hereafter by the more rapid operations of improved printing mechanisms.

The simplicity of the process and the fact that it dispenses with many of the expensive and tedious details inseparable from relief printing, as well as the additional fact that it is certain to lead, not only to improved, but less complicated machinery, commend in a special manner the new system, (which is now known by the the distinctive title of aluminography) as the most important advance which has yet been made in this great industry.

It is for the manufacture of the machinery and plates required in this new method of printing that "The Aluminum Plate and Press Company" has established their first manufacturing plant in this city. Their building can be seen from the rail road and their sign is so conspicuous that it is literally true that "they who run may read." The principal office of the company is at 87 Nassau street, New York, and the laboratory as well as the factory is located here in Plainfield. The machinery employed is not only of the best and most efficient description, but it embraces all the improvements up to the latest dates. The buildings are spacious, well lighted and in every respect admirably adapted to the purpose for which they were erected.

The main structure comprises the machinery department proper, the engine room, the offices and the designing department, with ample room for the assembling and completion of a large number of presses at the same time. It is compact, strong and constructed on the most approved plan for the production of all kinds of printing mechanisms, and especially of that particular class of presses required in aluminum surface printing. In a word, it is not only one of the most thoroughly equipped factories in the United States, but it is furnished, as we have said, with the latest and most improved machinery.

In addition to the main building there is a foundry fitted with all the necessary appliances, minor structures for the storage of materials of all descriptions and ample space in the plot on which the factory stands for whatever additional buildidgs may be needed. As the factory is furnished with a powerful electric plant it can be run to its highest capacity night and day to meet the demands of the trade and to supply orders within a reasonable time commensurate with the best quality of work.

The most satisfactory guarantee that could be given as to the character of the presses made by the Aluminum Plate and Press Company consists in the fact that they will not on y be constructed by mechanics who have been selected on account of their proved skill and long experience in this special line of work, but the factory itself is under the direction and supervision of the best talent in the designing and manufacture of printing machinery, men who have acquired a high reputation in this particular industry, and the success of whose improved and patented devises has been proved by the marked appreciation in which they are held by the trade. It is only through such mechanism that surface printing on aluminum can be developed in its most advanced and varied forms, and brought to the highest state of perfection of which this particular style of printing is capable. The practical experience which has been already acquired in this direction has, as may be expected, been turned to the best account in the construction of the new rotary press.

As rotary presses for surface printing have heretofore been necessarily limited to the use of zinc and as the work done on this material has been almost wholly confined to the coarser grades of posters, they were naturally deficient in the essential requirements demanded for the fine and artistic work which has been rendered possible only through the substitution of aluminum for both stone and zinc.

The success of the new metal and its preliminary use on flat bed and rotary presses, such as they were, have, by exposing the limitations and and deficiences of both machines led to much needed alterations and marked improvements in the new rotaries now in course of completion in the factory of the Aluminum Plate & Press Company in Plainfield. To secure the best results in color printing certain important and indispensable changes were necessary, the effect of which will be seen not only in the adaptability of the new presses to the most exacting requirements of the highest grade of color printing, but of all kinds of commercial work.

The printing presses turned out in this factory will, therefore, be constructed according to the most improved designs, in which economy combined with the highest efficiency will give them a marked advantage over machines which were primarily and solely designed some ten years ago for the use of zinc plates, and which are not up to the requirements demanded by the new conditions developed by the use of aluminum and the advanced state of the art.

We may say in conclusion that the great presses to be turned out at these works will be completed in a few days days when those of our citizens who are interested in the growing industries of Plainfield may witness them in operation.

A Moving Mountain.

There is a mountain of dark-brown basalt on the Columbia river, nearly 2,000 feet in height, and stretching along the stream for six or eight miles When the white settlers first came into the country the Indians told them this mountain was traveling; that some day it would move across the Columbia and form a lake, which would reach from the cascades to the dalles. What the Indians said has been found true in some respects. The mountain is in motion. Its movement is forward and downward. The railroad builders who constructed their line along the base found the tracks continually forced out of place. In some places the movement has amounted to eight and ten feet in a few years. Geologists attribute the phenomenon to the fact that the mountain rises on a substratum of conglomerate, or soft sandstone which is steadily being washed away by the current of the big river.

TOWERS OF SILENCE.

The most unique and impressive feature of Zoroastrian customs is their method of disposing of the dead. According to their religion, earth, fire and water are sacred elements, useful to mankind and hence not to be polluted in any way. They are strictly enjoined that dead bodies shall not be thrown into the sea, burned in fire nor be buried in the earth. Therefore the only practicable course open to them is to expose the naked bodies of their dead in the open air, so that they may decay and disintegrate under the ordinary action of the elements or be devoured by birds or beasts. This exposure, however, is made with the confident expectation that the corpse will be speedily eaten by vultures, which are numerous and voracious in oriental countries, and especially so in the vicinity of a tower of silence.

These towers, or Dokhmas, are not as numerous as is generally supposed. Outside of Persia and Russia the only ones in use at present are those in Bombay and one or two in China. Those in Bombay are located on the summit of Malabar hill, a picturesque elevation on the eastern boundary of the city, from which a magnificent view of the surrounding country can he had. The Parsees own about fifteen acres of the hill, and have transformed the place into a veritable paradise. There is nothing suggestive of death about the place. It is a luxurious garden of flowers, ornamental shrubbery, palms, cypresses, bamboo and other tropical trees, laid out with smooth, well-kept gravel walks. There are comfortable benches in shady nooks, secluded trysting places and fragrant corpses, where birds of brilliant plumage sing and mate.

There are six of these towers located within less than 100 yards of each other, and partially hidden by the overhanging foliage of palms and cypresses. Five are used for the exposure of the bodies of Parsees in good standing in their community, while the sixth receives the bodies of criminals and outcasts. The first was built in 1669 and the second in 1756.

Each tower is about 30 feet high, 150 feet in circumference and constructed of blocks of trap rock and sandstone cemented closely and covered smoothly on the outside by a heavy coating of chunam or stucco. A stone parapet about three feet high rises above the three concentric circles of corpse receptacles which slope sharply toward the central well and seem to be hewn out of solid rock.

When a death occurs the body is wrapped in a white sheet and placed on an iron bier. Within twelve hours thereafter it is taken in charge by official corpse bearers, called khandias, and a procession is formed, headed by one or more mobeds, or Parsee priests, followed by the mourning relatives and friend of the deceased in couples, each couple holding the opposite ends of a white handkerchief. All the participants are attired in new white robes which are never worn afterward. No carriage or other wheeled vehicle is ever used and the procession marches slowly, and in silence, from the Parsee quarter of the city to Malabar hill and up the long flights of stone steps to the tower garden on the summit and to a point within thirty feet of the particular tower selected for the exposure. Here the mourners, mobeds and khandias leave the body and retire to a sagree or prayer temple, near the entrance to the garden, where the sacred fire, fed with sandal wood and incense, is kept constantly burning. While prayers are being said for the safe passage of the departed soul over the "Chinvat bridge," the corpse is taken into the tower by two official bearers, called nassasalars, who strip it and deposit it naked in one of the open receptacles.

During all this the watchful observer will notice evidences of excitement among the numerous large vulturers perched among the palms and cypresses near the tower. They utter no cries, but move restlessly on the branches and indicate plainly their impatience to begin the feast prepared for them.

The nassasalars having performed their task, emerge from the tower, closing the door with a sharp bang. The instant this sound is heard there arises a loud whir of wings and a low roar as of a fierce wind through a dense forest. A cloud of vultures darken the air and settle down upon the tower. In from one to two hours the bones of the dead man are picked clean and the gorged birds fly lazily back to their perches or roost upon the parapet of the tower, with their heads turned inward as if contemplating regretfully the remains of their recent banquet.

The bearers, upon leaving the tower, retire to a small inclosure near by, remove all their clothing, burn it and bathe their bodies thoroughly. Not an article they have touched or that has touched the corpse during the ceremony is permitted to leave the garden, and they are supplied with new garments for each funeral. As these bearers are supposed to contract impurity in the discharge of their duty they are forced to live quite apart from the rest of the Parsee community, and are therefore well paid.

The bones of the deceased are allowed to remain exposed in the receptacle from two to four weeks. Then the nassasalars, with gloved hands and implements resembling tongs, throw them into the central well, where they ultimately crumble and pass into the underground drains. "Thus," says the Parsee, "the rich and the poor meet together on one level of equality after death."—Moulvi Iskander, in Washington Star.

ments of the National Guard of New Jersey, First, Second and Third, marched into the camp here yesterday. They came in on special trains. The first to arrive was Company E. of the Seventh Regiment, which has been attached to the Third. Companies A, C and G of the Sixth followed. These companies have been assigned to the Third Regiment to make up the quota of twelve companies.

The camp never looked prettier. On the right is a sea of snow-white tents and to the left acres of green grass, the whole as flat as a prarie. Major-Gen. Plume and his staff were at the little white house which will be the Governor's headquarters while the regiments are in camp. Gov. Voorhees was also there. As the companies marched by there were loudly applauded. To those about him the Governor said he was proud of New Jersey's showing.

Major Gen. Plume's headquarters are directly in rear of the white house. It faces the parade ground. Reveille will be sounded at 6 o'clock. The order for the rest of the day follows: Breakfast, 6:30; surgeon's call, 7; company drill, 7:30; call, 8:30; regimental drill, 10; recall, 11:30; dinner, 12; company drill, 1:30; recall, 3; guard mount, 4:15; dress parade, 5:45; supper, 6:30; tattoo, 9; taps, 10.

SEEN CENTURY OF LIFE

MRS. SARAH E. STEAD CELEBRATED HER HUNDREDTH BIRTHDAY.

Event Made an Auspicious One This Afternoon by Friends and Relatives of the Old Lady, Who is Hale and Hearty.

The rare occasion of celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of a birthday is today the enjoyment and pleasure of Mrs. Sarah E. Stead, daughter of the late Jonathan Berkman, a descendant of an old Holland family, who came to this country in the days of the Revolution. Mrs. Stead is also the widow of the late Thomas Stead, of Holland descent.

The occasion is marked by a quiet celebration in which the two children, Mrs Anna Marie Allen, of Somerset street, and Thomas J. Stead, of New York, are present to join in the festive event. There are also present Mrs. Harrison Coddington, daughter of Mrs. Allen, and her children, Miss Jessie Coddington, Harry Coddington and Allen Coddington, of the borough; Mrs. Anna M. Jurisch, of Madison; David Moore, of Green Village, this State, and Mrs. Thomas J. Stead, of New York.

The celebration is being held at the home of Mrs. Stead's daughter, Mrs. Allen, of Somerset street, where she has been making her home for some time.

Mrs. Stead was born in Hunterdon county in 1798 and lived there for years. Later she was married to Thomas Stead. They lived at Washtonville for over fifty years. Mr Stead died in 1872. For over seventy-five years Mrs. Stead has been a member of the Baptist church, and for the most part of that time of the First Baptist church, of this city. She is a woman of rare Christian quality and at her age enjoys fairly good health. Yesterday she was about the house and thoroughly enjoyed singing a favorite hymn. At the celebration this afternoon she sang another hymn.

The house is prettily decorated for the occasion. In a parlor on a table there is arranged a large cake mounted, and one hundred candles brilliantly lighted, stand as monuments to the years of usefulness lived by Mrs. Stead. The colors red, white and blue are prominently displayed. Overehead there hangs a picture of Mrs. Stead, Mrs. Harrison Coddington, Mrs. Allen and Allen Coddington, representing four generations. There is also displayed an American flag and the figures 1798 1898.

In the dining room the table is artistically decorated with flowers and fruit and lots of good things to eat. The delightful repast was served while the hostess was receiving the congratulations of her relatives and friends. Mrs. Stead is fully enjoying her celebration and is perfectly happy in knowing that she has lived to complete the one hundredth year of her life. Aside from a slight affection of the hearing and eyesight she is apparently in the best of health.

During the afternoon she occupied an old-fashioned chair in the parlor and held a bunch of choice roses. She frequently nodded her assent to the pleasure and happiness experienced by all present.

Crossed the Brook Too Quick

An attempted rape assault was committed last Saturday on Emma Risberg, 9 year old daughter of Fitz Risberg, who lives in the West End The young girl was going home from the grocery store when she was accosted by a colored man. She was knocked down and her clothes were almost torn off her. A man named McBavitt saw the attempted assault and he frightened the man away.

Yesterday the same man made his appearance and Chief Marshal Wilson was notified. The man he was pursuing saw that he was losing ground, and when he came to the brook he jumped in, making his escape to the city side. The name of the man is not known, and the chances are that he will not be caught.

OLD COURT CRIER DEAD.

JAMES A. RITCHIE PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME IN SCOTCH PLAINS.

A Familiar Figure in Union County Courts for Many Years—Was an Ardent Democrat, but Liked by Everybody.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, May 3—A familiar figure for many years in the courts of Union county has passed away. Early this morning, at 1:30 o'clock, James A. Ritchie, one of the landmarks of the Democratic party in Union county, died at his home in this place.

James Ritchie had lived a good life for four score years. He was early identified with the Democratic party of the county and was considered one of the best known of his party. He was a hard-working, energetic party man, and he numbered among his friends not only all the prominent Democrats of the county and State, but many of his political opponents as well. Forty years ago he and his wife moved to Scotch Plains where they have resided ever since.

Ten years ago, Mr. Ritchie was appointed court crier at Elizabeth. There he has remained ever since until his feeble health compelled him to give it up. He was appointed during a Democratic administration but the Republians never made an effort to oust him and he remained steadily at his his post undisturbed by the tumult in political waters.

It was only recently that Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. His widow survives him, also one daughter, Mrs. Joseph Pithian, of Bridgeton, N. J.

Mr. Ritchie was nominated for Assemblyman by the Democrats several years ago, and was postmaster at Scotch Plains under President Cleveland's first term.

WARDE'S SCHOOL CLOSED

ITS DISGRACED PROPRIETOR LEFT TOO MANY DEBTS.

Percy Robert Colwell Finds That There Are $500 in Claims to Be Settled—He Considered Them Too Heavy to Assume

The New Jersey Military Academy is no more. The blow it received in the sudden departure of its superintendent, Dr. A. D. Warde, with a heavy cloud hanging over his head, stirred it to its foundations. Percy Robert Colwell, a member of the faculty, determined to go on with it. He had been assured there was no indebtedness. Yesterday came the blow that resulted in the complete dissolution of the institution. Instead of the place being clear of debt, Colwell found that claims amounting to $500 were owing to various dealers about the city.

Colwell had hoped to finish the school year and had secured all but a few of the old pupils to continue the school with. When the first of the claims came in and, an investigation showed something of the full amount of the indebtedness. Colwell decided that he would not stand between the creditors and their just dues and so gave up all claims to the school.

Today was the last day in the history of the New Jersey Military Academy. The boys said good bye to their instructors, the boarding pupils packed up their effects and started for home while the sumptious furnishings of the building were turned over to the creditors, Colwell acting as temporary executor, if such he might be called. The boys carried home their school books and departed from the academy for ever.

Nothing more has been heard from the superintendent of the defunct school since his departure from the Clinton Avenue station. He has apparently left this part of the country far behind him.

SPORTS

GOLF.

The growth and popularity of golf has been so marked under the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club that the officers of the club are much perplexed as to the disposition of the large number of applications for membership made in excess of the limit allowed by the constitution of the organization. The applications are from people who generally would be a great credit to the club, and it seems rather a poor idea to keep them out of the club. Consequently a special meeting has been called for Friday evening for the purpose of considering an amendment to the constitution increasing the membership limit of the club.

BRITISH AROUSED NOW.

Three Warships Sent to Cuba to Protect Lives of Their Subjects.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 4, 10:50 a. m.—British subjects and property have now become the victims of Spanish violence on the island of Cuba. The feeling against the English has grown until the life of the British consul at Santiago de Cuba has been attempted and he was forced to use fire arms in self defense.

Reports of the serious condition of affairs at Santiago have reached this city for the past few days. The British consul sent word by the officers of the steamers that carried away the American and English refugees from that port, that his life was in danger, and calling upon the British authorities on this island to send him protection.

His requests for protection have become more and more importunate until a British man-of-war was ordered to direct its course to that port.

Today reports come of a serious uprising against the British colony at Santiago. The strong feeling against the British rose to such a pitch that a mob gathered in front of the consulate and threatened to kill the British Consul.

The Consul and his assistants entrenched themselves in the building and barricaded the doors and windows. The mob, tiring of of hurling epithets, began to use force and besieged the Consul and his little party.

At last some of the mob gained entrance to the place and the consul fired at them in self-defense. The mob retreated before the point of the revolver.

The Spanish authorities immediately sent a detachment to the consulate and arrested the consul for shooting at the mob. It is reported that he has been imprisoned.

Three British warships have been ordered to Santiago immediately to protect British subjects and property. It is understood that a force of marines and blue jackets will be landed and force will be used if necessary. British officers here are greatly excited over the news.

Reports of further disorder comes from the port of Santa Cruz, in the Province of Santa Clara. Refugees have flocked there and to other places on the coast in the hope of finding means to leave the island. There are some English and Americans reported to be among them.

There are no vessels there to carry away the refugees, and it is reported that the Spaniards are slaughtering them by the wholesale. Great excitement prevails.

MAY SEIZE PORTO RICO.

Important Conference of the Naval Stragetic Board Today.

Washington, May 4, 2 p. m—The Naval Stragetic Board is now considering the course to pursue with reference to the Spanish fleet that sailed westwrrd from the Cape Verde Islands.

They must either be met on the high seas and annihilated or we must seize Porto Rico, throwing Spain's base of supplies on the other side of the Atlantic.

It is understood that the Board has decided on the latter course.

A swift patrol will be established to notify the American fleet of the approach of the Spanish vessels, in order that our ships may give them battle.

There is still some nervousness felt over the possibility of the Spanish cruisers skirting the coast and damaging it since Spain despaired to cope with us in a face to face struggle.

Many efforts have been made to satisfactorily account for the failure of the first detachment of troops to start for Cuba according to the schedule. It is believed that there is a change in the plans.

Secretary of the Navy Long sent to the House today a deficiency estimate of twenty-one million dollars for the remainder of the fiscal year.

CECELIA CLUB SANG WITH MUCH SUCCESS.

SOME PATRIOTIC FEATURES.

E. J. FITZHUGH DIREBTED WITH MUSICAL SKILL.

Every Available Seat in the Hall Filled—The Songs Rendered With Spirit and Correctness by the Chorus, Which Had Been Carefully Trained—Mrs. Frank J. Smith Showed Talent in Her Readings—The Cantata Produced in a Creditable Manner—Hall Patriotically Decorated With Bunting.

The event of the year in local musical circles, the concert of the Cecelia Club, was given in Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening. The combined attractions of the programme and the promise of good music brought an audience that filled every available seat. While it was not on the programme, the patriotic demonstration that concluded the concert was one of the events of the evening.

Part first opened with the chorus, "Spring Song," by Chadwick. It was sung with spirit and enthusiasm. E. J. Fitzhugh, familiar to Plainfielders through his connection as leader of the Choral Society in the past, acted as conductor and directed its movement with a skill that brought out the beauty of each selection. Then followed a short chorus, "Grey Eyes are Sly."

It would be difficult to find a more pleasing entertainer than Mrs. Frank J. Smith. She gave as her first selection a scene from "Twelfth Night." She has a faculty of entering into the spirit of her readings with an ease and grace that gives new life and interest to the selections.

"My Polly Wog," a nonsense song, was a catchy air, and was sung with a spontaneity that was pleasing.

"Mr. Lofter's Ride," as recited by Mrs. Smith, was delightfully entertaining.

"Ecstacy," a ballad, was sung by the sopranos. "Snow Flakes" was then given by the entire club. "A Mother's Lullaby" proved the best of the club's different selections.

The first part ended with "The King's Command" by Mrs. Smith. A thrilling selection which offerred unusual opportunities for graceful movement. She was accompanied by Frank J. Smith on the piano.

Part two consisted of a cantata by the club. The cantata was the "Queen of the Sea." In it the club was assisted by Miss Adelaide Hoffman, soprano soloist as "Agneta," and by William Crane Andrews, tenor soloist, as the "Sea King." Incidental solos were sung by Mrs. H. E. Rider, Miss Beesie Blair and Miss Alice Carroll.

The cantata included a number of difficult choruses which were sung in a manner that showed long practice by the club, and careful training by the conductor. The voices blended well, and while some were not of great power, they combined in the grand harmony with pleasing effect.

Miss Hoffman, the soloist, was suffering from a severe cold, that prevented her from using her sweet and powerful voice to its best advantage. Mr. Andrews had a very distinct enunciation and his technique was good.

The concert closed with "The Star Spangled Banner," in which the audience joined in singing at the request of Mr. Fitzhugh.

The platform and stage were decorated in tri-colored bunting and with American flags.

Miss Grace Petrie had charge of the entrance and was assisted by Miss Eleanor T. Van Deventer, Miss Eleanor Williams, Miss Saidee Mae Howell and Miss Rita Pond as ushers.

Miss Newcomb is one of the most interesting speakers we have heard. Cake and chocolate were served and the meeting adjourned.

DEPEND ON THE DAILY PRESS FOR WAR NEWS.

The telegraphic news service, completely and correctly covering the momentous and thrilling events of the war, which THE DAILY PRESS serves its readers with is so much superior to anything in the same line that The News offers its patrons, that there is no need of comparing the merit of the two services.

Before and since the opening of hostilities THE DAILY PRESS has supplemented its general news with a telegraphic report furnished by the Union Associated Press, a concern that serves several hundred daily papers in all parts of the country with the current happenings as fast as they take place and can be disseminated by telegraph. The Union Associated Press possesses superior facilities for this work, and THE DAILY PRESS by special arrangement with them is supplied with a complete telegraphic service that commences at 10 o'clock, or earlier if the news warrants it, and continues until the important events of the day have been thoroughly covered for the information of the public.

THE DAILY PRESS enjoys this service exclusively in Plainfield, and DAILY PRESS readers can rest assured, without depending on any other paper, that they will get the latest and best service that any paper in Plainfield can possibly furnish.

In competition with New York afternoon papers THE DAILY PRESS prints news in its regular edition at 3 o'clock which the purchasers of metropolitan papers do not get until 6 o'clock. A comparison of THE DAILY PRESS and any New York afternoon paper will show this.

DR. WARDE'S DEALINGS.

IT IS SAID THAT HE TOOK $500 BELONGING TO A STUDENT.

Stewart Rickard's Father Gave the Professor $500 to Keep for His Son and the Money Cannot Be Found. The absence of Dr. A. D. Warde has caused a stir of activity among the several creditors about town. Those who have thus far put in a claim against the professor in Justice Mattison's court includes T. J. Carey, F. S. Runyon, C. H. Hand, A. L. Force, Geo. F. Brown, H. W. Marshall, Richard Menzell, Mulford Estil and Ralph Waldo Emerson. All of the claims are in the hands of Murphy & Blatz, with the exception of the one of Ralph Waldo Emerson. His claim is in the charge of Judge DeMeza.

Mr. Stewart, of Philadelphia, who made the uniforms for the students, has sent in a bill for $200. The other claims amount to about $400.

It is said that Dr. Warde took with him about $500 belonging to a student named Stewart Rickards, of Chicago. Rickards' father advanced the money to Dr. Warde in small amounts for his son, the same to be used as necessary. Rickards thought the money was in the bank for him, but has learned that Dr. Warde held the money and when he went away he took it with him. Rickards is still in this city, but will probably leave for home soon.

There are other claims, it is said, that will amount to several hundred dollars in addition to the above. It is also said that the receipts from the performance of "The Merchant of Venice," were kept by the absconding debtor, although he settled some of the bills. Mrs. Julia Peck, of New York, has had a distress warrant issued against the professor for rent.

King and Queen Entertained.

Mrs. Rudolph Spiegel, queen, and Adolph Berry, king, of the Independent Gun Club, gave a supper last Monday evening at the Crescent Hotel on Somerset street. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion, and the supper was all that could be desired. During the evening handsome medals were presented to Christian Stiglitz, Frank Schaeffer and W. Yaeger for making the first, second and third best scores during the season. Capt. J. A. Blatz made the presentation. The programme included recitations, songs, and dancing to music furnished by Prof. Frolich.

GROVER CLEVELAND AGAINST SQUIRE-LAW

Expressed an Adverse Opinion About Its Constitutionality.

HE MAY FIGHT IT IN COURT.

VISITED AND CONFERRED WITH BY CRANFORD MAN.

Center of Opposition to the County Trolley Seems to Come From Cranford Where Active Opposition is Being Made Against the Work of the County Engineers in Changing Route of the Principal Street—Mr. Cleveland Sees Grave Dangers in the Law as it Now Stands—What He Said About It.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, May 4.—The opponents of the plan to sell a trolley franchise between Elizabeth and Plainfield by the Board of Freeholders, as authorized under the provision of the Squire law passed at the last session of the Legislature, are prepaing to make a vigorous fight against what they claim is an invasion of personal rights. The center of the opposition is in Cranford, where it is proposed by the county engineers engaged in laying out the route for the proposed trolley road to change the course of the principal business street in order to secure a straight line for the route. The opponents are organizing under the title of the "Union County League," which is intended to bring the opposition under one concerted movement. William Drysdale, a large property owner in Cranford, is one of the leaders in the movement, and a few days ago Mr. Drysdale had an important conference with former President Grover Cleveland, in his home in Princeton, with a view of employing his legal efforts to fight the provisions of the Squire trolley franchise law.

While nothing definite has been arranged it is thought that the former President will be engaged to fight the law in the courts. Since Senator Voorhees signed the law it has been found that there is an important omission of an amendment passed by both houses of the legislature, which provided that a franchise should not be granted unless the majority of the abutting property owners should approve of the plan. The advocates of the law say that the omission was an error, but the opponents seem to believe that it was a subterfuge by which the franchise can be put in to effect irrespective of the protests of those interested. It is on this point that the stability of the law will hinge.

Mr. Drysdale has given out the following as a portion of the interview he had with former President Cleveland concerning this point of law:

"I can hardly conceive," Mr. Cleveland said, "that any public body or any board of freeholders would be willing to incur the fearful responsibility, both official and personal, of acting under the law in its present state. Suppose they should begin tomorrow to widen North avenue, cutting trees, demolishing houses and otherwise destroying property and you take the matter to the Court of Errors and Appeals and that court should say that the law was void. Do you see what a terrible position they would have placed themselves in. Having acted without the authority of law, they would not only make your county liable for enormous damages, but would also make themselves personally liable. No, I cannot believe that any board would assume any such responsibility."

Monday Afternoon Club Election.

At the business meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club, Monday, the following officers were elected to serve during the coming year: President, Mrs. Edward C. Perkins; vice-presidents, Mrs. Thomas H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. John M. Whiton; treasurer, Mrs. A. Stuart Patterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George M. Randall; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Reed. The subjects for study next year will be "Electricity," and "The Elizabethan Period in England."

Succeeding in the West.

The many friends of Will F. Dunn, who went to Seattle, Wash., about a year ago, for his health, will know for the first time that he has gone to Skykomish, King County, Washington, about one hundred miles from Seattle, and accepted a good position with the Tacony Mining Company. He reports his health as being good.

SPAIN STILL TO FIGHT

Will Throw Entire Naval Strength Against Cuban Squadron.

WANTS NO INTERVENTION

Authorities Have Determined to Avoid Isolated Combats on Unequal Terms—Neither Populace Nor Ministry Will Tolerate Idea of Surrender—Premier Sagasta Has Conference with Queen Regent.

London, May 4.—Dispatches from Madrid say the Spanish authorities intend to throw the whole naval strength of Spain into one united and supreme effort against the United States.

To Fight in Cuban Waters.

It is even stated at Madrid, by those who are responsible for the naval movements, that it has been determined to avoid isolated combats on unequal terms and with a superior enemy, and that they now intend to employ the whole naval strength of the nation in an effort to crush the American squadron in Cuban waters.

"Until this engagement is fought no proposals for intervention will be listened to."

Another dispatch from Madrid says that there is no idea of surrender there, either in ministerial circles or among the populace. On the contrary, it is added, the war is to be pursued with greater vigor.

Cabinet to Stay in Power.

The Madrid correspondent of the Evening News says:

"Although Premier Sagasta's conferences with the Queen Regent and liberal leaders, Montero and Rios, led to rumors of the formation of a national government, the facts are that Senor Sagasta placed the situation before the Queen Regent, explaining that the significance of the events in the Philippine Islands indicated certain possible solutions for the future. Thereupon the Queen expressed continued confidence in the Government, which will continue as now constituted, for the present.

"Senors Gamazo and Montero express the opinion that the present Cabinet should continue in power.

"The Ministers met at Senor Sagasta's residence last evening, and the Premier communicated to them the result of his interview with the Queen Regent.

"The Queen Regent," continues the correspondent of the Evening News, "and the Cabinet have agreed that the Cortes should continue in session.

The Philippine Disaster.

"Senor Salmeron has given notice that he will interpellate the Government on the events in the Philippine Islands, and Premier Sagasta will reply, voicing the intention of the Queen's Government to pursue the war to the bitter end.

"It is rumored that Senor Gasset will propose that the present Minister of Marine, Admiral Bermejo, and his predecessor, Admiral Beranger, be forced to assume responsibility for the Philippine disaster.

"The patriotic feeling here is increasing.

"The Spanish officials say that when Commodore Dewey demanded the surrender of the Spanish guns, torpedoes, etc., Governor-General Augusti replied: "Come and face them!"

MARTIAL LAW IN MADRID.

News Concerning the War Cannot Now Be Published.

Madrid, May 4.—The proclamation of martial law issued by the Governor-General expressly prohibits the publication of any news concerning the war or the movements of the ships of the Spanish navy.

The principal newspapers advise calmness, "so as to avoid an unpatriotic spectacle of disturbances when Spain's united energies are required to avenge her recent losses."

Much attention centers in the debates in the Chamber and Senate, which will be held by the Republicans and Carlists, who propose to hold the Government responsible for the country's present position.

Although the position of certain members of the Cabinet is regarded as untenable, it is a matter of difficulty to find men who are willing to succeed them under the present circumstances. All classes are demanding that a strong military attitude be taken up by men capable of coping with the present situation.

Nobody will listen to a proposal of peace until Spain has had another chance of measuring her strength with that of the United States.

SECOND SPANISH FLEET.

Reported that Five More Warships Will Leave Cadiz for Cuba.

London, May 4.—According to a dispatch from Cadiz to the Daily Chronicle, it is believed there that orders have been given for a fleet of five vessels to start for Cuba on May 15.

The second Spanish squadron, another Cadiz dispatch announces, consisting of the warships Pelayo, Alfonso XIII. and Vitoria and a number of smaller ships, has nearly completed its preparations for active service. It is reported, however, that great difficulty is experienced in fitting out the ships, owing to lack of money. The British engineers have refused to work on board of them, owing, it is said, to the belief that they are liable to heavy punishment under the Foreign Enlistment act.

The Fortification Bill.

Washington, May 4.—The Fortifications Appropriation bill has been agreed on in conference, carrying a total of $9,377,494. The Senate recedes from all its new legislation put in the bill, and the House recedes from disagreement to Senate increases.

Volunteer Army Centres.

Washington, May 4.—Chickamauga and Washington have been absolutely decided on as volunteer army concentration points. At least one other eastern point will be chosen, probably either in New York or Pennsylvania.

TO BE ADMIRAL DEWEY.

Secretary Long Says the Commodore Will Be Promoted by Executive.

Washington, May 4.—Secretary Long has announced that as soon as the department received an official report from Commodore Dewey confirming the press accounts of his victory, a cablegram of congratulation would be sent, and he would be designated by an executive order Acting Admiral, as was done in the case of Capt. Sampson. Later he will be nominated to the Senate for the rank of Rear Admiral.

There has been no word from either diplomatic or naval sources concerning the engagement. Naval officers realize that Commodore Dewey cannot spare one of his small fleet to use as a dispatch boat, and their main dependence is upon some merchant vessel which may be coming to Hong Kong from the islands.

COMMANDER DEWEY.

None of the stories coming from Spanish sources appear quite so ridiculous as the statement that Commodore Dewey fired petroleum bombs. There is no such weapon in the American navy, nor would there be any use for it. The ordinary service shell is very much more destructive and quite as capable of causing a fire in combustible material. This is plainly shown by the destruction of ships during the Japanese-Chinese war. It was a disclosure of the great danger to warships thus brought prominently forward that led Secretary Herbert to order reduced to a minimum all the woodword in American ships, and to have all of this wood fireproofed.

One of the very first results of the battle of Manila, therefore, is likely to be the cessation of the efforts to abandon the fireproof treatment of woodwork because of certain minor inconveniences from the wood so treated.

SAGASTA MINISTRY FALLING.

Madrid Clamoring for "War to the Bitter End."

London, May 4.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing Tuesday, says:

"There is no longer any doubt that the internal situation is causing the Government almost as much uneasiness as the external. Last night's demonstration was one of the most serious in some time, since those openly participating showed their revolutionary tendencies.

"Cries were raised of 'Down with the Bourbons!' 'Long live Don Carlos!' 'Long live the republic!' and 'Long live Weyler!'

"The first move of the demonstrators, over 1,000 strong, was to the house of Gen. Weyler, with the object of cheering him. He did not appear; and the crowd then went to the residence of Senor Sagasta, where the Ministers were in conference, and shouted for his resignation.

"Senor Aguilera, Civil Governor of Madrid, broke up the procession with the aid of the police, who were badly stoned and had to charge the crowd. The authorities thereupon met Senor Aguilera, who announced his intention of resigning, saying that it cost him great trouble to repress such manifestations and that he was not able to answer for order with the powers at his disposal.

"Thereupon the edict was issued placing Madrid under martial law, and the Military Governor, Gen. Daban, received stringent orders from Gen. Correa, the Minister of War, for the preservation of peace."

War Increases Immigration.

Washington, May 4.—Commissioner F. V. Powderly says that the anticipation of the present war seemed to have had the effect of increasing immigration to this country. Many of those who came believed that the enlisting of a great number of men in the army would leave vacant positions to be filled by others, and acknowledged they had come here expecting more chance of work because of the war. The figures for March show an increase in immigration for that month over 1897 of 6,000.

Troops for the Philippines.

Washington, May 4.—Gen. Miles has completed arrangements for transporting troops to the Philippines. The City of Pekin, the City of Rio de Janeiro and the City of Peru, of the Pacific Mail, will be used as auxiliary cruisers. Gen. H. C. Merriam, of the Department of the Pacific, has been ordered to push necessary work. The troops will be made up of regulars and volunteers.

China Will Be Neutral.

Washington, May 4.—The Chinese Government has notified the State Department of its intention to preserve strict neutrality between the United States and Spain. This may interfere with the delivery of coal purchased by Commodore Dewey at Chinese ports.

Greeks Want to Enlist in Our Navy.

Constantinople, May 4.—The United States Legation has received two thousand offers of volunteers in the American Navy, chiefly Greeks. Some declare they will pay their passage in gratitude for American aid in Greek war of independence.

War Will Not Last Long.

London, May 4.—The Stock Exchange here interprets the news from various points as meaning that the war will not last long. Consols show an improvement and money is plentiful.

NEXT STEP IN THE WAR

To Move on Cuba After Spain's Fleet Is Out of the Way.

GENERAL LEE AS GOVERNOR

If the Spanish Fleet Comes Over to Porto Rico It Will Be Engaged by Sampson's Vessels, After Which There Will Be a Military Invasion of Cuba—Expedition to Leave This Week.

Washington, May 4.—The next step of the War Department is to move on Cuba after the Spanish fleet is out of the way. The plans of the department have not been changed, and the expedition is expected to leave Tampa this week. The transports chartered are either at Tampa or on their way, while the troops are gathering there ready to embark.

It is the idea to send chiefly colored troops, and after the base of supplies is established and fortified, the regiment of immunes, under Gen. Wheeler, of Alabama, will be sent to Cuba, and will go at once to join the insurgent army. It is the intention to have these troops encamp near Havana to prevent the Spaniards from retreating into the country when the city is attacked.

It is hardly probable that Gen. Wheeler will remain with the immunes during the siege, but having established his troops on the island he may return.

The Administration will send with the army of invasion ammunition and guns for the Cubans, including 4,000,000 rounds of ammunition, 25,000 stands of arms, 1,400 horses and 500 mules. The arms will consist of rifles which have been used by our army and have been repaired at the Springfield arsenal, and are now in perfect condition.

If the Spanish fleet comes over to Porto Rico they will be engaged by the vessels of Captain Sampson's squadron, after which there will be a big military invasion of Cuba. It is also said to be the plan to make the Cubans and insurgents do the bulk of the land fighting, while our ships will sweep the sea.

After the Spanish have been cleared off the island of Cuba, General Fitzhugh Lee will, it is believed, be appointed provisional governor. He will also have the pay and rank of a major-general, which will give him a greater salary than he would receive as provisional governor. Lee is to remain on the island until a stable form of government is established there.

It is also said that in case Spain does not send a naval expedition to relieve her forces in Cuba, the next offensive move on our part will be to take Porto Rico. This is to be done by the warships of the North Atlantic squadron, while the auxiliary cruisers will be left to continue the blockade of Havana and other ports.

MONEY NEEDED FOR INVASION.

Congress Expected to Make the Necessary Appropriation Promptly.

Washington, May 4.—The Navy Department denies the statement that the department has declined to spare a couple of naval vessels to convoy the transports which will carry the troops from Florida to the Cuban port selected as the place for beginning the offensive campaign.

It is believed that the true explanation of the delay in sending out the military expedition is to be found in the letter of Gen. Miles read in the Senate, in which he declared that all the $50,000,000 war fund appropriation having been expended or allotted, there was absolutely no money at the disposal of the War Department to pay the necessary expenses of the expedition. In the expectation that Congress will promptly make the necessary appropriation the officials now look for the departure of the expedition within a very few days.

NEED OF ISSUING BONDS.

Secretary Gage Has a Hearing on the War Revenue Bill.

Washington, May 4.—The Senate Committee on Finance resumed its sitting yesterday, hearing Secretary Gage on the necessity for including in the war revenue bill authority for the issuance of bonds. The Secretary supplied the committee all the information in his possession as to the cost of the war up to date, and also the best estimates obtainable of future expenses.

Secretary Gage told the committee that the best estimates obtainable indicate that for the next two months the war will increase the governmental expenditure about $50,000,000. By that time the entire amount in the Treasury, with the exception of the gold reserve, would be exhausted, and $30,000,000 of the reserve also taken. Mr. Gage said it was his opinion that the revenues would decrease on account of the war. He considered authorization for the issuance of bonds necessary. He said no estimate had been made of the cost of the war for a year hence, as no one could say how long it would continue.

OUR FLEET LEAVES HAVANA.

The Entire Squadron Has Left, Presumably for Key West.

Madrid, May 4.—An official dispatch from Havana says the entire American squadron has sailed, presumably in the direction of Key West.

To Escort Men to Cuba?

Washington, May 4.—It is understood here that the dispatches from Key West, saying that Admiral Sampson's fleet has sailed toward Key West, mean that the warships are coming back to the United States to meet and escort the transports and troops of the army of invasion to Cuba.

It is expected that the troops will leave Tampa to-day or to-morrow.

Spaniards Made Inquiries.

Santa Cruz, Cal., May 4.—The Coroner has learned that two Spaniards called at certain houses here on the day of the fatal explosion and inquired the direction of the powder works. Operations at the works have been resumed. No one, not excepting employes, is allowed to enter without a pass. The works are now guarded day and night.

A Hundred Reasons

They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. They are pleasant to the taste.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half-digested food.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy, the successful physician of today is the specialist, the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt you, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Two Ounces of Blood Daily

We do no miracles; all we do is to cure people and give them two ounces of new blood daily when they take Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids. By enriching the blood they restore its natural iron or Hæmoglobin to it; it cures all the chronic blood diseases, among which may be mentioned anæmia, or paleness; chlorosis, or green sickness; palpitation, rickets, scrofula, consumption or tuberculosis, indigestion, amennorhœa, pains in the head or back, and all monthly irregularities. Physicians will tell you that this is the only medicine in the world that can do this, and if they are up-to-date they prescribe them in all such cases.

TO HOLD PHILIPPINES.

Five Thousand Troops Will Be Sent from San Francisco.

Washington, May 4.—The President and the Cabinet have decided to be prepared to hold the Philippines now that Commodore Dewey has wiped the Spanish flag from the island. The President is assured that Commodore Dewey is able to take care of himself, and his fleet, but the Executive is anxious to give him all the support necessary to hold the islands after he has landed.

The anxiety to hear officially from the Commodore increases hourly, and although orders to send troops to Manila will not be issued until Commodore Dewey communicates with the Navy Department, it has been practically decided to mobilize the State troops and volunteers of California and other Western States at San Francisco and to have them ready to sail for the Philippines at any time.

It was decided that from five thousand to six thousand volunteers will be sent, and that they will be placed on fast steamers, as well as on the cruisers Charleston and Philadelphia, which are now being prepared at Mare Island, and then rushed across the Pacific at full speed. Supplies, ammunition and coal will also be sent.

This will be the first time that the United States has even sent troops to land in a foreign country, and the arrival of the United States volunteers will be a great surprise to Manila; but they go prepared to occupy the islands and hold them until the President and the Cabinet are ready to announce the disposition of them after the war.

The State troops will be called upon for this expedition, because there are not enough regulars on the Pacific coast to make up the number required. The California, Washington and Oregon troops will be first selected, and if these are not enough volunteers from other Western States will be called upon.

It has not been decided yet who will have command, but the name of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, who will be nominated to-day as major-general, has been mentioned. Gen. Merritt, who is in charge of the Department of the East, has been here in consultation with the President in regard to this matter, and his name has also been mentioned in connection with these forces, but it is understood he is to have better duty and he will not be sent to the Pacific against his will.

Pending the advices from Commodore Dewey, the preparations for this expedition will be made with all possible haste.

It is also understood that the Administration has sent dispatches to Commodore Dewey, conveying congratulations on his great victory and informing him of the intended expedition to aid him. It is thought that this message can be returned to Commodore Dewey on the dispatch boat which will bring his official account of the battle, or if he has taken possession of the cable it can be handed directly to him at Manila.

TO EXCHANGE ISLANDS.

Trade with Great Britain of Philippines for West Indies Suggested.

Washington, May 4.—What will be done with the Philippine Islands is still a subject of discussion in Administration circles and among Senators. There is a strong desire to have the islands pass into the possession of Great Britain. One suggestion made is to trade the Philippines for Jamaica, the Bermudas and the Bahamas. Whether England would consent to this transfer is, of course, a question to be determined later, but it is felt that the Philippines would be of far greater value to Great Britain than the small islands in and around the West Indies.

At the same time, any disposition which the United States makes of the islands is apt to prove disturbing to the peace of the world. Neither Germany nor Russia will see such an important strategical base as the Philippines pass into the possession of Great Britain without a protest.

It is expected, however, that if the islands go to Great Britain she will be fully able to take care of herself, Germany and Russia to the contrary notwithstanding.

Diplomat Says Peace.

Paris, May 4.—The Jour quotes "an American diplomat occupying an official position in Paris" as saying:

"I believe the victory at Manila will end the war. I am almost certain European intervention is going to occur, and this time the United States will be disposed to welcome any peace overtures of the powers. We will return the Philippine Islands and ask for no indemnity. We only want one thing, the recognition and independence of Cuba. On that basis and under these conditions we will lay down our arms. It is possible peace is near if Spain is reasonable."

War Has Cost $102,000,000.

Washington, May 4.—"The cost of the war is rapidly becoming manifest," said a Treasury official upon learning of the deficiency oppropriation requested by Secretary of the Navy Long. "During the past two months over $102,000,000 has been expended or will be in addition to the regular appropriations for the War and Navy Departments. The first call was for the $50,000,000 defense fund, which has been followed by a demand for $34,000,000 by Secretary Alger and yesterday Secretary Long requested $18,470,000."

Looks for a Quick Dash.

Washington, May 4.—Rear Admiral John G. Walker, retired, commenting on the Manila victory, said:

"The Spaniards have undoubtedly become desperate, and soon will have to do something to prop up their so-called honor and save the fast falling dynasty. For these reasons I think it is fair to assume that the Spanish navy will undertake some bold movement in the near future."

New York Harbor Is Impregnable.

Washington, May 4.—New York harbor is now considered impregnable by the army and navy experts. During the past six weeks $6,660,000 has been used in fortifying it. No Spanish vessel has such guns as are mounted at Sandy Hook, and no Spanish vessel could enter by way of Sandy Hook or Long Island Sound because of the network of submarine mines.

MANILA UNDER FIRE

Madrid Informed That Outlying Native Quarters Suffered.

A FEW HOUSES STRUCK

Advices to the Spanish Colonial Office Say that Up to the Time the Cable Was Cut Only a Few Shells Had Reached the Town Proper, Which Is Strongly Protected.

London, May 4.—A special dispatch from Madrid says the Spanish Colonial office had advices of the beginning of the bombardment of Manila before the cable was cut, which said:

"Thus far the American shells have not reached the town proper, which is strongly protected.

"Only the outlying native quarters have suffered. They are now in flames. Occasionally a shell fell in the European town, where a few houses were struck.

"The batteries of the Citadel, especially the six large guns, are vigorously replying to the American fire, and have inflicted considerable damage on the fleet."

Manila Cable Cut.

London, May 4.—Inquiries at the offices of the Eastern Telegraph Company show it to have been impossible for any word to have come from Manila since 10 o'clock Monday morning, London time, or 6 o'clock Monday evening Manila time, when the cable was cut.

The officials of the company say that, according to their tests from Hong Kong, the cable was cut fifty miles from Manila. They think a week, or even a fortnight, may elapse before it can be repaired, as there are no facilities there to repair the cable, while, in any event, it will be a difficult task to pick up the cable in deep water.

Say We Cut the Cable.

Paris, May 4.—It is reported here that an American warship cut the Manila cable and took an end on board for the purpose of communication.

No News Received at Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, China, May 4.—No news of any description in regard to the battle of Manila has been received here, with the exception of the information cabled here from London.

The insurgent leaders here are hoping provisionally to administer the Philippine Islands under American protection, but there are endless dissensions among them.

No Cable for Days, Maybe.

Washington, May 4.—Not a word has been received from Commodore Dewey yet, and official Washington is anxious—very anxious. Whether Manila has fallen or is still resisting attack by our fleet is not known, and cannot be known until news reaches Hong Kong or Singapore by means of a dispatch boat.

It cannot come by cable, officials say, as the Government has information from London that the Hong Kong cable has been cut miles out to sea, and it will take anywhere from a week to two weeks to locate the cut and make repairs.

NO OFFICIAL NEWS FROM DEWEY.

The President and Navy Department Still Without Advices.

Washington, May 4.—No official information has been received by the President or the Navy Department from Commodore Dewey. There are many rumors about the situation at Manila, but as the cable has been cut it is not likely that any authentic news has come from the Philippines.

There was talk at the Navy Department of the cable being cut by the Americans, and one end of the line being placed on an American man-of-war. But this is not credited, because the naval officials said that Commodore Dewey's men had no facilities for handling the cable or men to operate it.

The Commodore's victory is still the subject of discussion at the Navy and War Departments. The talk has taken a rather serious turn, and discussion of the condition of our officers, men and ships has succeeded the exchange of views regarding the engagement.

FRENCH EMBASSY'S ADVICE.

The Reina Maria and the Castillia Totally Burned.

Washington, May 4.—The French Ambassador, M. Jules Cambon, has received a dispatch from the Foreign Office in Paris stating that the French Ambassador at Madrid, M. Patenotre, has forwarded official details of the Spanish reverse at Manila. M. Patenotre's report stated that the Spanish cruisers Reina Maria Christina and Castillia were totally burned up after being set on fire by bombs from the enemy's (American) ships. Two of the smaller Spanish ships, the dispatch states, were sunk in order to avoid falling into the hands of the enemy. The other Spanish ships were half destroyed, and had taken refuge in Baker's Bay.

The British Embassy has received no reports of any character as to the Manila battle, so that there is no basis for the statements that the State Department has been informed by British officials here that Manila has surrendered to Commodore Dewey.

Dynamite for Illinois Troops.

Springfield, May 4.—Experts who have tested the contents of a package found in one of the company boxes of the Third Infantry, Illinois National Guard, pronounce it dynamite. Besides the Third Infantry the Sixth Regiment is also quartered in the building, 2,000 men in all. Many of the men believe they have narrowly escaped the fate of the sailors of the Maine.

The Queen to the Pope.

London, May 4.—According to special dispatches received here from Rome, the Queen Regent of Spain has telegraphed the Pope on the subject of the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Manila, saying:

"The Spanish nation is calm, but resolved to resist to the bitter end." Her Majesty also begs the Pontiff to bless the Spanish arms.

BANKER ABSCONDS.

Cartage, N. Y., May 4.—The following notice appeared on the doors of the First National Bank yesterday morning:

"Notice to Depositors:

"The president of this bank, E. H. Myers, has absconded, and the directors ascertained last night that his accounts are short. They have ordered the bank closed for a more thorough examination. Depositors will doubtless be paid at an early date.

"By order of the Board of Directors."

The news of the defalcation of Myers spread rapidly, and the greatest excitement prevails. The excitement caused a run on the Carthage Savings Bank.

Mr. Myers has been defrauding the bank for eight years, it has been discovered on investigation. The amount of the defalcation is estimated at $110,000.

Mr. Myers always has been identified with the best interests of the village, serving several terms as village president. It seems that a depositor informed the bank last week that he would draw $3,000 Monday. Mr. Myers has not been seen since, but the books do not show any such deposit. Depositors in the savings bank are drawing out their money as fast as possible and the bank is crowded, but the cashier has enough money on hand to meet all demands.

It is said that Myers placed fictitious names on the coupons and only deposited small amounts. It is also said that on Saturday a deposit coupon was presented calling for $3,000. On looking in the books it was found that there was no such name recorded, but that on that day there was a record of $100 being deposited, and a fictitious name evidently was used.

KILLED TWO CHILDREN.

John Graham Mortally Assaults Another and Tries to Kill Himself.

New York, May 4.—John Graham, of 76 Morton street, murdered two of his little children yesterday afternoon, mortally injured the third, and then tried to kill himself. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital with a big gash in his throat, and will probably die.

Graham, who is a laborer, 60 years old, suddenly attacked his family with an ax. He struck John, his 7-year-old son, first, and laid his skull open with the instrument. He will die.

Leaving him for dead, the father rushed at Ella, his 5-year-old daughter, who was in the room. He hit her a terrific blow over the head, killing her almost instantly. Then he attacked his infant son, Frank, whom he killed instantly in the same way. Finally he seized a knife and cut his own throat.

Prince Victor in New York.

New York, May 4.—Prince Victor Emanuel, Count of Turin, and a nephew of King Humbert of Italy, was a passenger on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which arrived at her dock in Hoboken at 7 o'clock last night. Prince Victor, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Count Carpenetti, was met at the wharf by Count Vinci, Italian Charge d'Affairs in Washington, and by Count G. Branchi, Italian Consul General in this city.

The prince will best be remembered as the vanquisher of Prince Henri of Orleans in a duel fought in the Bois de Marechaux, at Van Cresson, France, on the morning of Aug. 15, 1897.

Prince Victor Emanuel intends to make an extended tour of the United States. He was greatly surprised to hear that Commodore Dewey had destroyed Spain's Asiatic fleet. When asked if his sympathies were not with Spain, he would not talk on the subject, but said the Italian nation dearly loved the United States.

To Succeed Sir Julian Pauncefote.

London, May 4.—According to a report published here, the British Ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote, is to be succeeded by Sir Thomas H. Sanderson, K. C. B., K. C. M. G., the permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, one of the most experienced diplomatic officers in the British service.

To Stop Wheat Duties.

Paris, May 4.—The Council of Agriculture has decided to favor the suppression of wheat duties at French ports until July 1. The Premier, M. Meline, will submit the council's decision to the Cabinet, which is expected to adopt it immediately.

A dispatch from Rome says the Pope is prostrated by the news from Manila. He expressed horror at the loss of life, and says he could wish he had died before seeing such a war.

Patriotic Rich Americans.

One is glad to see that American millionaires are to some extent doing their share toward helping the country that made and preserves their riches for them. It is true it would have been the perfectly graceful thing if others than Frederick Schermerhorn had donated their swift and powerful pleasure yachts to their native land as a gift of patriotism instead of allowing these vessels to be bought for cash at the highest price by the government. Still a few of them have shown themselves patriots, enough perhaps to save the ranks of wealth from condemnation, so far as love of country is concerned.

Mr. John Jacob Astor, the American head of the family, has equipped at his own expense a battery of artillery and presented them with his compliments to President McKinley, promising to maintain them during the war. We have not observed, on the other hand, that the plutocratic name of Vanderbilt has as yet appeared among those millionaire patriots aiding their country, but it is not too late.

Best of all, however, we like the course of Theodore Roosevelt, late assistant secretary of the navy, now to be lieutenant colonel of a cowboy regiment. Roosevelt is a man of action, and, like all such, he chafed under the restraint of sitting at a desk when he longed to be afield. At last he was permitted to resign and fulfill the desire of his heart to go into active service. Theodore has a ranch of his own in the far west and he knows his friends the cowboys. Good luck to them and him! It is good blood, that of the Roosevelts.

Case of the Philippines.

A much more important role than is generally supposed will be played by the Philippine islands in the present war. Because Cuba is so near our shores it has blotted out of our eyes the Spanish islands in revolt against the old country in the far East Indies. The Philippines have a population of 7,000,000, three times as much as Cuba and Puerto Rico both put together.

Spain has put forward all her energies and her best guns and equipments to regain possession of Cuba. On the Philippines she has only antiquated fortifications and rusty old guns. Even the cannon on her cruisers there are mostly of ancient pattern, she having never taken into consideration the possibility of being attacked by any foreign warship at Manila. This will give the American squadron that sailed from Hongkong to attack the Philippines an advantage that only an unforeseen accident can counteract. Apparently it will be an easy task for our Asiatic fleet to capture the Philippines with the heavy fire in the rear movement which will be brought against Spain by the inhabitants of the islands. Never for one moment have these insurgents given up their plan of independence. They only delayed it a little. It will be their greatest joy and triumph to return and, aided by the American marines, drive Spain from their land and set up their own independent government.

The United States has now three squadrons in active operation. The commander of the Asiatic fleet at the Philippines is Commodore Dewey, of the fleet off Cuba Captain Sampson and of the flying squadron that is patrolling the New England and north Atlantic coast Commodore Schley.

Before the proclamation calling for 120,000 volunteers was issued President McKinley had received offers of military service from more than 600,000 men. This on our side. Spain on her side has fairly drafted her graveyards to get a few more soldiers.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

Com. Winfield Scott Schley, in his book, "The Rescue of Greely," thus describes the finding of the explorer and the other frozen and starved survivors of the Lady Franklin Bay Expedition in July, 1884:

"On his hands and knees was a dark man with a long, matted beard . . . and brilliant, staring eyes. As Lieutenant Colwell approached he raised himself a little and put on a pair of eyeglasses.

"'Who are you?' asked Colwell.

"The man made no answer, staring at him vacantly.

"'Who are you?' again.

"One of the men spoke up: 'This is the major—Major Greely.'

"Colwell took him by the hand, saying to him, 'Greely, is this you?'

"'Yes,' said Greely in a faint, broken voice, hesitating and shuffling with his words: 'Yes—seven of us left—here we are—dying—like men! Did what I came to do—beat the best record!'

"Then he fell back exhausted."

General Greely will contribute to The Youth's Companion for the week of May 19th a graphic, interesting article on "The Polar Bear," based on some personal experience in hunting the animal in the frozen north.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The great success of last season at Koster & Bial's New York Music Hall, "Gayest Manhattan," is announced. It is claimed to be an extravaganza, a burlesque and a comic opera, making its claims good in all. Simply told, the story merely presents the mishaps of a young lady from the wilds of Maine, accompanied by her father. It is not very elaborate, but in the course of the action pretty songs materialize; dances, many of them, and all good; bright sayings, special acts, beautiful scenery, lots of handsome girls, attractive costumes and a cast of players that includes Miss Twohey, a troupe of acrobatic dancers, a pickaninny band and novelties many and fine. Among the exclusive numbers of the piece are "The Rulers of Central Park," "I am a Gay Politician," "For Sweet Charity's Sake," "Deferred Ambition," "The Dandy Sparrow Cops," and "From Skowhegan, Maine, B'Gosh." "Gayest Manhattan" is the first of their elaborate productions ever put upon the road by Koster & Bial. But its triumphs were so great at their New York Music Hall, where it ran its course last winter and far into the summer, winning equal laurels for the balance of the heated spell at Midland Beach, a resort contiguous to the metropolis, it was thought other localities had a right to witness this merry combination of laughter, music, song, fun and every other element of amusement that could be crowded into its perpetual motion acts.

At the Broadway Theatre there is just coming to a close one of the greatest theatrical alliances recorded in thespian circles. It is the triple starring combination of Lillian Russell, Della Fox and Jefferson DeAngeles in "The Wedding Day." These three leading lights of comic opera fame are at the head of a company whose talent has been recognized and largely patronized by critical New York audiences and theatre-goers in all the principal cities of the country. There is only another week, however, to see the alliance, because the company's season closes next week at the Broadway and will not be resumed again on account of Miss Russell's engagement in Europe for the next two years. A number of Plainfield theatre parties have arranged to attend the last performances of "The Wedding Day."

MARRIED AN HEIRESS.

HENRY D. MORRISON WEDDED TO A CHARMING NEW YORK BELLE.

Miss Genevieve O'Day, Daughter of a Standard Oil Magnate, the Bride, —They Will Reside in London.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 4.—A fashionable wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon when Miss Genevieve O'Day, a daughter of Mr. Daniel O'Day, vice president of the Standard Oil Company, was married at the O'Day residence, No 128 West Seventy-second street, to Henry Dickson Morrison, a son of Mr. T. W. Morrison, of Plainfield, N. J.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Grace and Ruth O'Day, and the best man was Mr. Charles O'Day, of Pittsburg. Archbishop Corrigan, Mr. Chauncey M. Depew and former Police Commissioner Sheehan were among the guests at the large reception.

The marriage is the result of a brief but romantic courtship. The young people met a few months ago in London, where Mr. Morrison has business interests. They became interested in one another almost immediately, and Mr. Morrison travelled with Miss O'Day's family on the continent. By the time the party returned to London Miss O'Day and Mr. Morrison were engaged, and they came over here to be married.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison sail on Saturday for London, where they will reside.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—stretch like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly destroys odorizes whatever it touches. Destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

THE LAST TROLLEY LINK.

BOUND BROOK COUNCIL AT LAST GRANTS A FRANCHISE.

The Right Given to the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, Which is Directed by Brunswick People.

Bound Brook, May 4—The Council met last evening and finished up the business in connection with the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company by giving them a franchise to operate in the borough. The ordinance giving such right was adopted on the third reading and approved by the Mayor.

This is considered the last link in the long contest for trolley construction and means that there will be a direct line of trolley from Plainfield to New Brunswick and Raritan, touching New Market, Metuchen, Bonehamtown, Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Dunellen and Lincoln. Last week the Piscataway Township Committee adopted the ordinance on the third reading and the franchise was given to the company.

During the long fight for franchises there have been many small side issues to be considered, and it is now thought that everyone is satisfied.

The company will be known as the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, but the owners and officers are the ones that composed the Brunswick Traction Company. The latter company was willing to give up its name and take the name of the other company to satisfy a majority of the interested people.

It is expected that the work of construction will begin very soon and that before many months trolley cars will be running in all direction for the accommodation of the people, who for years have been obliged to put up with all sorts of inconveniences.

R Leonard; chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. A. C. Nickerson; postoffice mission secretary, Miss E. Reynolds; librarian, Miss Brown.

After the meeting a social time was enjoyed and tea was served by the entertainment committee. The meetings have now been discontinued until next fall when announcement of the date, subjects, etc., will be made.

The sentiment of the members was expressed at the meeting yesterday through the display of an American flag about the platform stand.

—The annual meeting of the Children's Home Association for the choice of officers will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlor tomorrow at 3 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

The thick winter coats and frocks which the children have been wearing are now too warm and cumbersome for the daily runs in the park and the brisk walks to school and back. A coat that is sufficiently warm for present wear, and that will be useful for donning over a thin frock on cool summer evenings is what is wanted.

For the child of three or four there is a quaint little coat of reseda green cashmere, with collar and cuffs of a darker shade of velvet and trimmings of velvet buttons and green cord. For the school girl from ten to fifteen years of age, the reefer costume is suitable and stylish looking. It would be most serviceable of navy blue serge, with removable collar of violet or green linen. A pretty brown or green serge would be uncommon and the collar could then be of white hem-stitched lawn.

A sensible school girls' frock of gray vicuna, trimmed with braid, has a yoke and belt of green velveteen and fastens at the left side. An artistic little gown for the small girl, could be carried out in old rose cashmere, with velvet yoke, belt and sleeve bands. This dress has quite a Kate Greenaway effect, being short waisted, and is very dainty for dressy wear.

The little French blouse costume would be pretty in either linen or serge. A tabac brown linen, fashioned in this style would make a smart frock for school wear, if worn with removable guimpes of tucked cambric or lawn. The buttons could be of linen and the belt, which is held up at the waist by means of narrow straps stitched to the sides, of white kid.

The more up-to-date frocks for little girls are worn quite short. The little maiden wearing the large hat, has her hair tied with ribbons on either side of her head in the now modish style.

Evening Waist of Silk Crepe.

Crinkled goods and silk crepes bid fair to be very popular for evening and theater wear. These dainty materials come in every imaginable color and make up beautifully.

An effective model of turquoise blue crepe was cut quite low in the neck, the decolettage outlined with a full

Neat Walking Gown.

The first requirement of the early season is a smart walking gown which will look well in bright weather, but not be so delicate as to be spoilt by a shower. A neat tailor-made gown is the most suitable garment for this purpose, and these are as popular as ever for morning wear.

A perfectly simple dress of good material, well cut and finished can be made to serve many purposes by changing the shirts and fronts with which it is worn, and a smart chiffon vest is quite sufficient to render a plain coat and skirt suitable for unceremonious calls, especially when a stylish hat is worn with it. A costume of black and white cheviot, with white broadcloth revers, makes a neat suit.

Styles of Long Ago.

The longest train on record was that of Catherine de Medici on the occasion of her marriage. It was forty-three yards, and borne by ten pairs of pages.

Henry II. of France ordered that no woman beneath the rank of princess should wear crimson, and that no velvet should be worn save by ladies of the Court or of the nobility.

In 1461 a fashion of gold collars came in. They were of solid gold, and enclosed the neck, fastening with a padlock in front. Some of them weighed as much as a pound.

The Gallic women wore a white woolen gown trailing on the ground, and a purple cloak, with white scarf thrown over the head; the hair was usually arranged in one long braid.

Very long skirts were introduced in France by the daughters of St. Louis. They had very large feet, which they wished to conceal, and so adopted the skirt to hide their pedal deformity.

The most changeable period of feminine fashion was in France between the outbreak of the Revolution, and the Restoration in 1815. During this time 289 different styles are recorded.

During the social reign of Catherine de Medici the ladies never washed their faces. There was an idea that water injured the complexion, and the face was wiped with a rag dipped in milk.

A Handy Wardrobe.

For the girl whose city bedroom boasts no wardrobe, and only a single closet to hold her every-day garments, it is necessary to utilize any recess there is. To do this, get a board the width of the recess and as high as can be conveniently reached. Have screw hooks placed upon it for the waists. Against the wall stretch a length of cretonne or muslin; let this hang down just twice the length of the recess. Under the headboard have a six-inch board with screw hooks on it for the skirts; then, on the very front edge of the headboard, have very small hooks screwed in, and correspondingly tiny rings on the extreme edge of the long piece of cretonne. When the skirts and bodices are hung on their respective pegs, turn up this cretonne and catch the rings into the hooks, thus, as it were, enclosing the dresses in a loose bag. Outside of this recess, a few inches higher than the headboard, have a little brass rod fastened, on which, by rings, one can hang a pretty curtain, which will conceal the cretonne bag.

Hot Water Replaces Tea.

Fashionable women have this season discovered how to obviate the necessity of taking too much tea and yet to preserve the aspect of sociability as they make the rounds of the five-o'clock affairs. This is by taking plain hot water, flavored with a little of the lemon or cordial that is an invariable accompaniment to the fashionable tea service. There has been a decided tendency to vary the usual wafers by some sort of fresh warm bread. At some houses delightful Sally Lunn is handed round, and miniature tea biscuits, too, hot, and to be eaten with butter, have been often seen. Small fresh round sponge-cakes, often the work of the hostess herself, are offered at some studio afternoons, and there is a universal suppression of sandwiches. These are no longer deemed necessary or even desirable.

Princesse Party Frock.

A quaint and pretty frock for a little girl is the gown fashioned after the princesse model. An artistic little dress seen recently at a children's party was carried out in old rose cashmere, with yoke of white mull. The short body was made perfectly plain, except for a narrow beading around the yoke; from this depended the gathered skirt, which was finished at the bottom with a pinked ruffle of the material. The epaulettes were of the material, while the sash was of old rose silk, tying in a bow at the back. A house or school frock after this pattern would make up very prettily in blue serge, with guimp of red silk.

Ready for the Theatre.

A chic theater corsage for a dainty brunette, is of rose colored flowered satin, made with a fitted basque piece. The front which is decolette has a pointed plastron of white chiffon, bordered on either side with revers of the material edged with chiffon ruches and trimmed with straps at even distances of black velvet ribbon, shirred chiffon sleeves and ceinture of black velvet.

Gestures of Royalty.

Berlin. In dem Prozeß gegen den Posthilfsboten Stutzky, den Friseur Perplies und die Frau Stutzky wegen Unterschlagung und Aneignung zweier, an die hiesige Firma Wolf gerichteter Checks der Londoner Nationalbank im Gesammtbetrage von 36,000 Mark wurde Perplies zu zwei Jahren Gefängniß und drei Jahren Ehrverlust verurtheilt. Frau Stutzky wurde wegen Mangels hinreichender Beweise freigesprochen. Gegen Stutzky wurde die Verhandlung ausgesetzt, da der Angeklagte geistesgestört ist.—Am 20. Mai wird der 100. Geburtstag des Stenographen Wilhelm Stolze mit einer Gedenkfeier im königlichen Joachimsthal'schen Gymnasium begangen werden.—Gelegentlich des 27. Kongresses der deutschen Gesellschaft für Chirurgie, der hier stattfand und von etwa 300 Theilnehmern besucht wurde, stiftete die Familie Langenbeck 50,000 Mark zur Sammlung kriegschirurgischer Erfahrungen in Feldzügen, wobei Deutschland unbetheiligt bleibt.

Potsdam. Zwei hiesige Fischermeister, die Gebrüder Heese, sind kürzlich auf der Havel ertrunken. Bei dem Herumwerfen des Segels verlor der eine Bruder das Gleichgewicht und stürzte kopfüber in's Wasser, und bei dem Versuch, ihn herauszuziehen, fiel auch der andere Bruder über Bord. Da keine Hilfe in der Nähe war, ertranken Beide in ihrer schweren Fischerkleidung.

Spandau. Ein Einjährig-Freiwilliger des Trainbataillons Nr. 3 dahier, der Sohn einer angesehenen Berliner Familie, wurde neulich durch Mannschaften seiner Truppe im Militärarrestlokal abgeliefert. Er soll es unterlassen haben, von einem ihm bewilligten Urlaub zu seinem Truppentheil zurückzukehren, und ist außerhalb ergriffen worden.

Bütow. Einen bedenklichen Entschluß faßte der hiesige Kreistag. Derselbe bewilligte aus den Mitteln der Kreiskommunalverwaltung den Betrag von 150 Mark zur Unterstützung des „Vaterlands-Vereins" zwecks Vertheilung von Flugblättern, welche dem Treiben der Sozialdemokratie entgegentreten sollen. Hier wird also in durchaus unzulässiger Weise aus Kreismitteln Politik getrieben.

Bedroom Suits--
Another very unusual "happening" for you.

It's about the same as the bedroom suit event we startled you with a week or so ago, except that more suits are in the sale. They're not rejected patterns but the cream of our '98 arrivals. You cannot meet another snap like it anywhere.

Suits exactly like cut, well carved--liberal dresser and washstand--bevelled mirror--a $25 suit--at $14.95.

A Curly Birch Suit--French plate, bevelled mirror, very large bureau and stand, brass trimmings, cheap at $45--now $30.

Some 8-piece Quartered Oak Suits, elegant, "impressive," unusual--instead of $50, it's $35.

A 200 ft. Carpet Floor
--Light, Pleasant, Well-Stocked.
It is not by "chance" we'll meet your carpet whims. The stock is far too big, varied and too new to just "happen" to hit your taste.

TYPES OF NAVAL VESSELS.

Battleships, Cruisers, Gunboats and Torpedo Boat Destroyers Described.

A torpedo boat is used to destroy war vessels, particularly battleships, and torpedo-boat destroyers are made to destroy the torpedo boats, as their name signifies. Torpedo boats are small vessels fitted with powerful engines that drive them through the water at a high rate of speed. They are lightly constructed, and carry small arms in addition to their torpedoes. The torpedo-boat destroyers are larger than the torpedo boats, and in their construction, as in the smaller boats, everything is sacrificed so that their powerful engines will be able to send them through the water at a great rate of speed for a short distance. Their armament is sufficiently powerful to disable or destroy the torpedo boats when they come up with them. Torpedo-boat destroyers carry no torpedoes and they depend entirely on their speed and their guns.

Battleships are fighting ships, they are classified according to their armament. A battleship is used for bombarding forts, and for doing heavy fighting work. A gunboat is a small battleship, and after a battleship has partly demolished a fort the gunboats, on account of their light draught, run in close to finish the work or protect the other vessels of the fleet while marines are being landed. Cruisers are commerce destroyers, or, in other words, legalized pirates. They do not carry as heavy guns as battleships do, and they have speed enough to overtake the trade ships of the enemy.

Torpedo boats attack big ships usually at night. When these destructive boats are being speeded they bury themselves in the water, and almost all that can be seen of them is a streak of foam. They are painted a color that is not distinguishable on the water, and the most perfect range-finders will not distinguish them sufficiently for the guns of big ships to be trained on them. They approach a warship head-on, thus presenting as small a mark as possible, and take a zig-zag course. When within striking distance, which is about 600 yards, they launch their torpedoes and get away. In the daytime they steam along under protection of a battleship, keeping the battleship between them and the enemy, and when a favorable opportunity arrives dart out and make their attack. They are so lightly constructed that if the boat they attack can hit them, the torpedo boats are ruined. At night time the big vessels keep their searchlights at work to discover the torpedo boats, and thus to protect themselves.

REVENGE OF A SNAKE AND ITS MATE

A gentleman riding along a plantation path, followed by a negro on a mule struck a large cottonmouth with his whip lash as it glided across the road. As soon as under cover and out of reach of the whip the snake raised its head above the bushes, standing almost upright on its tail and glaring at him with flashing eyes, at the same time hissing fiercely and exposing its fangs.

"Yo' ort'n ter 'a done dat, Maws Joe!" exclaimed the negro.

"Why not, Pomp?"

"Pshaw, Pomp! I don't take any stock in such nonsense. More likely he'll take care to keep out of reach of my whip. I wish, though, I had killed the beast!"

"Dat would 'a' bin er sight wusser, Maws Joe, 'case de mate would jes' foller tel hit cotch't yo'; an' when er cottonmouf's mate hits, yo' goes dead powrful quick."

"All nonsens, Pomp! There isn't any mate, or if there is, it doesn't know more than other dumb creatures. A man may be hit, of course, but not more often by the mate of a snake he has killed than by some other that just happens in striking distance."

"Leastways, Maws Joe," urged Pomp, "yo'd beter not happen erlong dis pat any more dis year, 'ceptin' on hoss back!"

This good advice fell on heedless ears. The next afternoon Maws Joe followed the path on foot, probably without any thought of what had occurred the day before and when passing the spot where he had lashed the snake the day before he was struck at the same instant by two cottonmouths one from each side of the path. He managed to get home but died soon after.

The negroes in that neighborhood, and many white people, too, are firm believers in the cottonmouth's mate and its vicious intelligence.—Galveston News.

Slightly Absent Minded

Professor W., a well-known Edinburgh professor, is accustomed to take a daily walk with another old professor, when they discuss matters quite beyond the comprehension of ordinary mortals.

One day when the walking was exceedingly bad, Professor W. was on his way to the corner at which he and his friend always met, when he encountered a young student whose face he recognized dimly, having seen it every day for several weeks in the class-room. He accordingly hailed his pupil, who was wading through the mud to get across the street.

"Have you seen Professor S.?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," replied the student, pausing respectfully, in the midst of a mud-puddle, to remove his cap. "He is at the corner below, waiting for you."

"Good, very good!" responded the professor, looking over his spectacles with his class-room air, when well pleased with a student. "I thank you. You may be seated."

Volunteers to Man the Badger.

The Battalion of the East, New Jersey Naval Militia, assembled on board the Portsmouth at Hoboken last night in response to a special call. Commander Irving read a communication from the Navy Department calling for a detail to man the Badger. The call explained that the men must obtain leave of absence from the militia for one year and enlist in the regular navy for for that term. Commander Irving said he was willing to go, and asked who else. Of the 285 men, 243 responded. Some of the others said they would decide today. Particular Habits of Eels.

"Despite assertions to the contrary," said an old fisherman the other day, "an eel is the cleanest fish that swims. Some persons have an idea that eels feed upon the bodies of persons who have been drowned and upon other refuse.

"Such is not the case, however. I have made a study of eels all my life. I have watched them in all kinds of water. They are more particular about their food than trout. It's only the nicest sort of bait that will bring an eel to a hook unless he happens to be very hungry."

Mr. Holliday—So you think you would like to take the position of superintendent of the works? Don't you think it better for you to seek a more humble place at first?

Rollo—Why, sir, you have told me that there is always plenty of room at the top. Surely, you would not have me crowd the worthy men who are lower down.—Boston Transcript.

MISSION WOMEN MEET.

SEMI-ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies of the Elizabeth District, Newark Conference, of Methodist Episcopal churches, was held yesterday in Vincent chapel. The chapel was tastefully decorated with flags and flowers, and there was a good number of delegates in attendance.

The morning session began at 10:30, with a devotional hour, conducted by Mrs. Robert Moore. The pastor's greeting, by Rev. W. C. Snodgdass, was responded to by Mrs. B. F. Ham. A short time was occupied by routine business, then followed several short addresses. "Our District Box," by Miss M. E. Tanghn, told of the box packed for a missionary in India, and "My Visit to Room 13," by Mrs. W. S. Piercey, was an account of a call at the New York room devoted to the interests of the societies. Mrs. Dr. J. H. Knowles spoke upon "Our Literature," and Mrs. G. C. Morehouse read a paper discussing "Young People's Work."

At the close of the morning session a basket luncheon was enjoyed.

The officers of the conference and districts are as follows: Conference secretary, Mrs. Dr. J. H. Knowles; conference and district treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Stevens; recording secretary, Miss E. T. Morehouse; district secretary, Miss E. T. Strong. Miss Stevens had charge of the literature table at the meeting.

The afternoon session was very interesting and enjoyable. After the basket luncheon, which occupied the time between the two sessions, the delegates reassembled and were led in devotional exercises by Mrs. J. H. Knowles, the secretary of the Conference. The address of the afternoon, on "The Miss Dr. Sahib," by Miss Mary E. Bryan, M. D., was of great interest. Miss Harriet Budd's words concerning "The Thank Offering" were also much enjoyed. Music was a very pleasant feature of the afternoon session. Both sessions were well attended, and the meeting was in every way a very successful one.

TO UNFURL A LARGE FLAG.

Patriotic Celebration to Take Place at South Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, May 4—The largest flag in Bound Brook is to be swung to the breeze tomorrow afternoon amid general rejoicings. The demonstration has been arranged by the employes of the American Engine Company, whose works are located in South Bound Brook. Their efforts have been greatly aided by the superintendent, F. H. Ball, of Plainfield.

A large pole has been placed in front of the works and a flag, 20 feet by 30 feet, is to be unfurled amid a general patriotic outburst. The celebration will be held at 4:50 o'clock, and in honor of the event all the men have been given a half holiday.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, will deliver a patriotic address. There will be fireworks and a salute.

The City's Health.

The regular meeting of the Plainfield Board of Health was held last evening. The report of Health Inspector Addis was received. He reported that there had been four cases of contagious disease under quarantine at the last report. Four had been reported during the month and four had been relieved, leaving four cases in quarantine at present. He had made 201 house visits and inspections. He reported his inspection of the Methodist cemetery and told of finding the bodies of six children and one grown person buried at less than the required depth. He suggested that they should be disinterred and reburied at the required depth.

A Matter of Selection.

Mrs. Cleveland, so it is authoritively stated, selects all of Mr. Cleveland's wardrobe for him. Most men prefer to do this for themselves. There are certain articles of wear, however, they should never select, among which may be remembered eye glasses and spectacles. These, if you wish to aid and not injure your eyes, should always be chosen by an expert optician, such as you will find at Collier's, 103 Park avenue.

Dr. J. F. Berg, of 122 East Fifth street, is ill.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Joseph E. Morse, of Franklin place, has just purchased a '98 model Cleveland wheel of the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company.

The bicycle squad of the Local Christian Endeavor Union will continue its runs this summer. They will probably start next month.

Wheelmen who ride over the Stelton road at night are warned to look out for the ruts in the roadway which are quite bad in some places. They are dangerous things for a wheelman to meet with at night and are apt to cause unpleasant falls.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Another large consignment of young quail was received and liberated by the Union, Somerset and Middlesex Game Protective Association on the preserves Saturday. The association has now stocked all the territory under their protection and favorable reports comes from all sections, with the exception of the damage done by dogs that are permitted to run at large. As the farmers are likewise complaining of the dogs killing their chickens, it is hoped the owners of dogs will see that they are securely fastened and kept at home, or they will surely otherwise be shot.

A JOLLY SERENADE.

Fine Time Enjoyed by the Germans Last Evening.

The members of the Gesang and Turn Verein had a jolly good time last evening when they called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Kellar, and serenaded them. Mr. and Mrs. Kellar were recently married. The guests assembled in front of the house about 9:30 and sang several of their favorite selections. While this was going on, the bride and groom appeared at the door and invited their friends inside. An evening of sociability and music was the pleasure of all, and a bountiful supper was served by the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellar received the heartiest congratulations of all present, and when the guests departed they left their best wishes for a happy and successful journey through life. The affair was arranged by Henry Haurand, brother of Mrs. Kellar, and was in every particular a great success.

BRITISH AROUSED NOW.

Three Warships Sent to Cuba to Protect Lives of Their Subjects.

Kingston, Jamacia, May 4, 10:50 a. m.—British subjects and property have now become the victims of Spanish violence on the island of Cuba. The feeling against the English has grown until the life of the British consul at Santiago de Cuba has been attempted and he was forced to use fire arms in self defense.

Reports of the serious condition of affairs at Santiago have reached this city for the past few days. The British consul sent word by the officers of the steamers that carried away the American and English refugees from that port, that his life was in danger, and calling upon the British authorities on this island to send him protection.

His requests for protection have become more and more importunate until a British man-of-war was ordered to direct its course to that port.

Today reports come of a serious uprising against the British colony at Santiago. The strong feeling against the British rose to such a pitch that a mob gathered in front of the consulate and threatened to kill the British Consul.

The Consul and his assistants entrenched themselves in the building and barricaded the doors and windows. The mob, tiring of of hurling epithets, began to use force and besieged the Consul and his little party.

At last some of the mob gained entrance to the place and the consul fired at them in self-defense. The mob retreated before the point of the revolver.

The Spanish authorities immediately sent a detachment to the consulate and arrested the consul for shooting at the mob. It is reported that he has been imprisoned.

Three British warships have been ordered to Santiago immediately to protect British subjects and property. It is understood that a force of marines and blue jackets will be landed and force will be used if necessary. British officers here are greatly excited over the news.

Reports of further disorder comes from the port of Santa Cruz, in the Province of Santa Clara. Refugees have flocked there and to other places on the coast in the hope of finding means to leave the island. There are some English and Americans reported to be among them.

There are no vessels there to carry away the refugees, and it is reported that the Spaniards are slaughtering them by the wholesale. Great excitement prevails.

MAY SEIZE PORTO RICO.

Important Conference of the Naval Stragetic Board Today.

Washington, May 4, 2 p. m—The Naval Stragetic Board is now considering the course to pursue with reference to the Spanish fleet that sailed westwrrd from the Cape Verde Islands.

They must either be met on the high seas and annihilated or we must seize Porto Rico, throwing Spain's base of supplies on the other side of the Atlantic.

It is understood that the Board has decided on the latter course.

A swift patrol will be established to notify the American fleet of the approach of the Spanish vessels, in order that our ships may give them battle.

There is still some nervousness felt over the possibility of the Spanish cruisers skirting the coast and damaging it since Spain despaired to cope with us in a face to face struggle.

Many efforts have been made to satisfactorily account for the failure of the first detachment of troops to start for Cuba according to the schedule. It is believed that there is a change in the plans.

DEWEY'S REPORT.

It Has Reached Washington at Last.

Washington, May 4, 4 p. m.—Washington is jubilant, for Dewey's report has arrived and it tells of a great American victory in the East.

The report in the shape of a long cipher cablegram arrived here during the morning.

Captain Crowninshield immediately began the work of deciphering it. The report is voluminous.

Its complete text will not be ready for publication for several hours.

Vice President Hobart was at the White House while the message was being deciphered.

He says that the report states that Commodore Dewey annihilated the Spanish fleet off Manila.

CECELIA CLUB SANG WITH MUCH SUCCESS.

SOME PATRIOTIC FEATURES.

E. J. FITZHUGH DIREBTED WITH MUSICAL SKILL.

Every Available Seat in the Hall Filled—The Songs Rendered With Spirit and Correctness by the Chorus, Which Had Been Carefully Trained—Mrs. Frank J. Smith Showed Talent in Her Readings—The Cantata Produced in a Creditable Manner—Hall Patriotically Decorated With Bunting.

The event of the year in local musical circles, the concert of the Cecelia Club, was given in Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening. The combined attractions of the programme and the promise of good music brought an audience that filled every available seat. While it was not on the programme, the patriotic demonstration that concluded the concert was one of the events of the evening.

Part first opened with the chorus, "Spring Song," by Chadwick. It was sung with spirit and enthusiasm. E. J. Fitzhugh, familiar to Plainfielders through his connection as leader of the Choral Society in the past, acted as conductor and directed its movement with a skill that brought out the beauty of each selection. Then followed a short chorus, "Grey Eyes are Sly."

It would be difficult to find a more pleasing entertainer than Mrs. Frank J. Smith. She gave as her first selection a scene from "Twelfth Night." She has a faculty of entering into the spirit of her readings with an ease and grace that gives new life and interest to the selections.

"My Polly Wog," a nonsense song, was a catchy air, and was sung with a spontaneity that was pleasing.

"Mr. Lofter's Ride," as recited by Mrs. Smith, was delightfully entertaining

"Ecstacy," a ballad, was sung by the sopranos. "Snow Flakes" was then given by the entire club. "A Mother's Lullaby" proved the best of the club's different selections.

The first part ended with "The King's Command" by Mrs. Smith. A thrilling selection which offerred unusual opportunities for graceful movement. She was accompanied by Frank J. Smith on the piano.

Part two consisted of a cantata by the club. The cantata was the "Queen of the Sea." In it the club was assisted by Miss Adelaide Hoffman, soprano soloist as "Agneta," and by William Crane Andrews, tenor soloist, as the "Sea King." Incidental solos were sung by Mrs. H. E. Rider, Miss Bessie Blair and Miss Alice Carroll.

The cantata included a number of difficult choruses which were sung in a manner that showed long practice by the club, and careful training by the conductor. The voices blended well, and while some were not of great power, they combined in the grand harmony with pleasing effect.

Miss Hoffman, the soloist, was suffering from a severe cold, that prevented her from using her sweet and powerful voice to its best advantage. Mr. Andrews had a very distinct enunciation and his technique was good.

The concert closed with "The Star Spangled Banner," in which the audience joined in singing at the request of Mr. Fitzhugh.

The platform and stage were decorated in tri-colored bunting and with American flags.

Miss Grace Petrie had charge of the entrance and was assisted by Miss Eleanor T. Van Deventer, Miss Eleanor Williams, Miss Saidee Mae Howell and Miss Rita Pond as ushers.

DEPEND ON THE DAILY PRESS FOR WAR NEWS.

The telegraphic news service, completely and correctly covering the momentous and thrilling events of the war, which THE DAILY PRESS serves its readers with is so much superior to anything in the same line that The News offers its patrons, that there is no need of comparing the merit of the two services.

Before and since the opening of hostilities THE DAILY PRESS has supplemented its general news with a telegraphic report furnished by the Union Associated Press, a concern that serves several hundred daily papers in all parts of the country with the current happenings as fast as they take place and can be disseminated by telegraph. The Union Associated Press possesses superior facilities for this work, and THE DAILY PRESS by special arrangement with them is supplied with a complete telegraphic service that commences at 10 o'clock, or earlier if the news warrants it, and continues until the important events of the day have been thoroughly covered for the information of the public.

In competition with New York afternoon papers THE DAILY PRESS prints news in its regular edition at 3 o'clock which the purchasers of metropolitan papers do not get until 6 o'clock. A comparison of THE DAILY PRESS and any New York afternoon paper will show this.

THE DAILY PRESS enjoys this service exclusively in Plainfield, and DAILY PRESS readers can rest assured, without depending on any other paper, that they will get the latest and best service that any paper in Plainfield can possibly furnish.

DR. WARDE'S DEALINGS

Stewart Rickard's Father Gave the Professor $500 to Keep for His Son and the Money Cannot Be Found.

The absence of Dr. A. D. Warde has caused a stir of activity among the several creditors about town. Those who have thus far put in a claim against the professor in Justice Mattison's court includes T. J. Carey, F. S. Runyon, C. H. Hand, A. L. Force, Geo. F. Brown, H. W. Marshall, Richard Menzell, Mulford Estil and Ralph Waldo Emerson. All of the claims are in the hands of Murphy & Blatz, with the exception of the one of Ralph Waldo Emerson. His claim is in the charge of Judge DeMeza.

Mr. Stewart, of Philadelphia, who made the uniforms for the students, has sent in a bill for $200. The other claims amount to about $400.

It is said that Dr. Warde took with him about $500 belonging to a student named Stewart Rickards, of Chicago. Rickards' father advanced the money to Dr. Warde in small amounts for his son, the same to be used as necessary. Rickards thought the money was in the bank for him, but has learned that Dr. Warde held the money and when he went away he took it with him. Rickards is still in this city, but will probably leave for home soon.

There are other claims, it is said, that will amount to several hundred dollars in addition to the above. It is also said that the receipts from the performance of "The Merchant of Venice," were kept by the absconding debtor, although he settled some of the bills. Mrs. Julia Peck, of New York, has had a distress warrant issued against the professor for rent.

King and Queen Entertained.

Mrs. Rudolph Spiegel, queen, and Adolph Berry, king, of the Independent Gun Club, gave a supper last Monday evening at the Crescent Hotel on Somerset street. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion, and the supper was all that could be desired. During the evening handsome medals were presented to Christian Stiglitz, Frank Schaeffer and W. Yaeger for making the first, second and third best scores during the season. Capt. J. A. Blatz made the presentation. The programme included recitations, songs, and dancing to music furnished by Prof. Frolich.

Expressed an Adverse Opinion About Its Constitutionality.

HE MAY FIGHT IT IN COURT.

VISITED AND CONFERRED WITH BY CRANFORD MAN.

Center of Opposition to the County Trolley Seems to Come From Cranford Where Active Opposition is Being Made Against the Work of the County Engineers in Changing Route of the Principal Street—Mr. Cleveland Sees Grave Dangers in the Law as it Now Stands—What He Said About It.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, May 4.—The opponents of the plan to sell a trolley franchise between Elizabeth and Plainfield by the Board of Freeholders, as authorized under the provision of the Squire law passed at the last session of the Legislature, are prepaing to make a vigorous fight against what they claim is an invasion of personal rights. The center of the opposition is in Cranford, where it is proposed by the county engineers engaged in laying out the route for the proposed trolley road to change the course of the principal business street in order to secure a straight line for the route. The opponents are organizing under the title of the "Union County League," which is intended to bring the opposition under one concerted movement. William Drysdale, a large property owner in Cranford, is one of the leaders in the movement, and a few days ago Mr. Drysdale had an important conference with former President Grover Cleveland, in his home in Princeton, with a view of employing his legal efforts to fight the provisions of the Squire trolley franchise law.

While nothing definite has been arranged it is thought that the former President will be engaged to fight the law in the courts. Since Senator Voorhees signed the law it has been found that there is an important omission of an amendment passed by both houses of the legislature, which provided that a franchise should not be granted unless the majority of the abutting property owners should approve of the plan. The advocates of the law say that the omission was an error, but the opponents seem to believe that it was a subterfuge by which the franchise can be put in to effect irrespective of the protests of those interested. It is on this point that the stability of the law will hinge.

Mr. Drysdale has given out the following as a portion of the interview he had with former President Cleveland concerning this point of law:

"I can hardly conceive," Mr. Cleveland said, "that any public body or any board of freeholders would be willing to incur the fearful responsipility, both official and personal, of acting under the law in its present state. Suppose they should begin tomorrow to widen North avenue, cutting trees, demolishing hounes and otherwise destroying property and you take the matter to the Court of Errors and Appeals and that court should say that the law was void. Do you see what a terrible position they would have placed themselves in. Having acted without the authority of law, they would not only make your county liable for enormous damages, but would also make themselves personally liable. No, I cannot believe that any board would assume any such responsibility."

Monday Afternoon Club Election.

At the business meeting of the Monday Afternoon Club, Monday, the following officers were elected to serve during the coming year: President, Mrs. Edward C. Perkins; vice-presidents, Mrs. Thomas H. Tomlinson, Mrs. Howard Fleming, Mrs. John M. Whiton; treasurer, Mrs. A. Stuart Patterson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George M. Randall; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles A. Reed. The subjects for study next year will be "Electricity," and "The Elizabethan Period in England."

Succeeding in the West.

The many friends of Will F. Dunn, who went to Seattle, Wash., about a year ago, for his health, will know for the first time that he has gone to Skykomish, King County, Washington, about one hundred miles from Seattle, and accepted a good position with the Tacony Mining Company. He reports his health as being good.

SPAIN STILL TO FIGHT

Will Throw Entire Naval Strength Against Cuban Squadron.

WANTS NO INTERVENTION

Authorities Have Determined to Avoid Isolated Combats on Unequal Terms—Neither Populace Nor Ministry Will Tolerate Idea of Surrender—Premier Sagasta Has Conference with Queen Regent.

London, May 4.—Dispatches from Madrid say the Spanish authorities intend to throw the whole naval strength of Spain into one united and supreme effort against the United States.

To Fight in Cuban Waters.

It is even stated at Madrid, by those who are responsible for the naval movements, that it has been determined to avoid isolated combats on unequal terms and with a superior enemy, and that they now intend to employ the whole naval strength of the nation in an effort to crush the American squadron in Cuban waters.

"Until this engagement is fought no propositions for intervention will be listened to."

Another dispatch from Madrid says that there is no idea of surrender there, either in ministerial circles or among the populace. On the contrary, it is added, the war is to be pursued with greater vigor.

Cabinet to Stay in Power.

The Madrid correspondent of the Evening News says:

"Although Premier Sagasta's conferences with the Queen Regent and liberal leaders, Montero and Rios, led to rumors of the formation of a national government, the facts are that Senor Sagasta placed the situation before the Queen Regent, explaining that the significance of the events in the Philippine Islands indicated certain possible solutions for the future. Thereupon the Queen expressed continued confidence in the Government, which will continue as now constituted, for the present.

"Senors Gamazo and Montero express the opinion that the present Cabinet should continue in power.

"The Ministers met at Senor Sagasta's residence last evening, and the Premier communicated to them the result of his interview with the Queen Regent.

"The Queen Regent," continues the correspondent of the Evening News, "and the Cabinet have agreed that the Cortes should continue in session.

The Philippine Disaster.

"Senor Salmeron has given notice that he will interpellate the Government on the events in the Philippine Islands, and Premier Sagasta will reply, voicing the intention of the Queen's Government to pursue the war to the bitter end.

"It is rumored that Senor Gasset will propose that the present Minister of Marine, Admiral Bermejo, and his predecessor, Admiral Beranger, be forced to assume responsibility for the Philippine disaster.

"The patriotic feeling here is increasing.

"The Spanish officials say that when Commodore Dewey demanded the surrender of the Spanish guns, torpedoes, etc., Governor-General Augusti replied: "Come and face them!"

MARTIAL LAW IN MADRID.

News Concerning the War Cannot Now Be Published.

Madrid, May 4.—The proclamation of martial law issued by the Governor-General expressly prohibits the publication of any news concerning the war or the movements of the ships of the Spanish navy.

The principal newspapers advise calmness, "so as to avoid an unpatriotic spectacle of disturbances when Spain's united energies are required to avenge her recent losses."

Much attention centers in the debates in the Chamber and Senate, which will be held by the Republicans and Carlists, who propose to hold the Government responsible for the country's present position.

Although the position of certain members of the Cabinet is regarded as untenable, it is a matter of difficulty to find men who are willing to succeed them under the present circumstances. All classes are demanding that a strong military attitude be taken up by men capable of coping with the present situation.

Nobody will listen to a proposal of peace until Spain has had another chance of measuring her strength with that of the United States.

SECOND SPANISH FLEET.

Reported that Five More Warships Will Leave Cadiz for Cuba.

London, May 4.—According to a dispatch from Cadiz to the Daily Chronicle, it is believed there that orders have been given for a fleet of five vessels to start for Cuba on May 15.

The second Spanish squadron, another Cadiz dispatch announces, consisting of the warships Pelayo, Alfonso XIII. and Vitoria and a number of smaller ships, has nearly completed its preparations for active service. It is reported, however, that great difficulty is experienced in fitting out the ships, owing to lack of money. The British engineers have refused to work on board of them, owing, it is said, to the belief that they are liable to heavy punishment under the Foreign Enlistment act.

The Fortification Bill.

Washington, May 4.—The Fortifications Appropriation bill has been agreed on in conference, carrying a total of $9,377,494. The Senate recedes from all its new legislation put in the bill, and the House recedes from disagreement to Senate increases.

Volunteer Army Centres.

Washington, May 4.—Chickamauga and Washington have been absolutely decided on as volunteer army concentration points. At least one other eastern point will be chosen, probably either in New York or Pennsylvania.

TO BE ADMIRAL DEWEY.

Secretary Long Says the Commodore Will Be Promoted by Executive.

Washington, May 4.—Secretary Long has announced that as soon as the department received an official report from Commodore Dewey confirming the press accounts of his victory, a cablegram of congratulation would be sent, and he would be designated by an executive order Acting Admiral, as was done in the case of Capt. Sampson. Later he will be nominated to the Senate for the rank of Rear Admiral.

There has been no word from either diplomatic or naval sources concerning the engagement. Naval officers realize that Commodore Dewey cannot spare one of his small fleet to use as a dispatch boat, and their main dependence is upon some merchant vessel which may be coming to Hong Kong from the islands.

COMMANDER DEWEY.

None of the stories coming from Spanish sources appear quite so ridiculous as the statement that Commodore Dewey fired petroleum bombs. There is no such weapon in the American navy, nor would there be any use for it. The ordinary srevice shell is very much more destructive and quite as capable of causing a fire in combustible material. This is plainly shown by the destruction of ships during the Japanese-Chinese war. It was a disclosure of the great danger to warships thus brought prominently forward that led Secretary Herbert to order reduced to a minimum all the woodword in American ships, and to have all of this wood fireproofed.

One of the very first results of the battle of Manila, therefore, is likely to be the cessation of the efforts to abandon the fireproof treatment of woodwork because of certain minor inconveniences from the wood so treated.

SAGASTA MINISTRY FALLING.

London, May 4.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing Tuesday, says:

"There is no longer any doubt that the internal situation is causing the Government almost as much uneasiness as the external. Last night's demonstration was one of the most serious in some time, since those openly participating showed their revolutionary tendencies.

"Cries were raised of 'Down with the Bourbons!' 'Long live Don Carlos!' 'Long live the republic!' and 'Long live Weyler!'

"The first move of the demonstrators, over 1,000 strong, was to the house of Gen. Weyler, with the object of cheering him. He did not appear; and the crowd then went to the residence of Senor Sagasta, where the Ministers were in conference, and shouted for his resignation.

"Senor Aguilera, Civil Governor of Madrid, broke up the procession with the aid of the police, who were badly stoned and had to charge the crowd. The authorities thereupon met Senor Aguilera, who announced his intention of resigning, saying that it cost him great trouble to repress such manifestations and that he was not able to answer for order with the powers at his disposal.

"Thereupon the edict was issued placing Madrid under martial law, and the Military Governor, Gen. Daban, received stringent orders from Gen. Correa, the Minister of War, for the preservation of peace."

War Increases Immigration.

Washington, May 4.—Commissioner F. V. Powderly says that the anticipation of the present war seemed to have had the effect of increasing immigration to this country. Many of those who came believed that the enlisting of a great number of men in the army would leave vacant positions to be filled by others, and acknowledged they had come here expecting more chance of work because of the war. The figures for March show an increase in immigration for that month over 1897 of 6,000.

Troops for the Philippines.

Washington, May 4.—Gen. Miles has completed arrangements for transporting troops to the Philippines. The City of Pekin, the City of Rio de Janeiro and the City of Peru, of the Pacific Mail, will be used as auxiliary cruisers. Gen. H. C. Merriam, of the Department of the Pacific, has been ordered to push necessary work. The troops will be made up of regulars and volunteers.

China Will Be Neutral.

Washington, May 4.—The Chinese Government has notified the State Department of its intention to preserve strict neutrality between the United States and Spain. This may interfere with the delivery of coal purchased by Commodore Dewey at Chinese ports.

Greeks Want to Enlist in Our Navy.

Constantinople, May 4.—The United States Legation has received two thousand offers of volunteers in the American Navy, chiefly Greeks. Some declare they will pay their passage in gratitude for American aid in Greek war of independence.

War Will Not Last Long.

London, May 4.—The Stock Exchange here interprets the news from various points as meaning that the war will not last long. Consols show an improvement and money is plentiful.

NEXT STEP IN THE WAR

To Move on Cuba After Spain's Fleet Is Out of the Way.

GENERAL LEE AS GOVERNOR

If the Spanish Fleet Comes Over to Porto Rico It Will Be Engaged by Sampson's Vessels, After Which There Will Be a Military Invasion of Cuba—Expedition to Leave This Week.

Washington, May 4.—The next step of the War Department is to move on Cuba after the Spanish fleet is out of the way. The plans of the department have not been changed, and the expedition is expected to leave Tampa this week. The transports chartered are either at Tampa or on their way, while the troops are gathering there ready to embark.

It is the idea to send chiefly colored troops, and after the base of supplies is established and fortified, the regiment of immunes, under Gen. Wheeler, of Alabama, will be sent to Cuba, and will go at once to join the insurgent army. It is the intention to have these troops encamp near Havana to prevent the Spaniards from retreating into the country when the city is attacked.

It is hardly probable that Gen. Wheeler will remain with the immunes during the siege, but having established his troops on the island he may return.

The Administration will send with the army of invasion ammunition and guns for the Cubans, including 4,000,000 rounds of ammunition, 25,000 stands of arms, 1,400 horses and 500 mules. The arms will consist of rifles which have been used by our army and have been repaired at the Springfield arsenal, and are now in perfect condition.

If the Spanish fleet comes over to Porto Rico they will be engaged by the vessels of Captain Sampson's squadron, after which there will be a big military invasion of Cuba. It is also said to be the plan to make the Cubans and insurgents do the bulk of the land fighting, while our ships will sweep the sea.

After the Spanish have been cleared off the island of Cuba, General Fitzhugh Lee will, it is believed, be appointed provisional governor. He will also have the pay and rank of a major-general, which will give him a greater salary than he would receive as provisional governor. Lee is to remain on the island until a stable form of government is established there.

It is also said that in case Spain does not send a naval expedition to relieve her forces in Cuba, the next offensive move on our part will be to take Porto Rico. This is to be done by the warships of the North Atlantic squadron, while the auxiliary cruisers will be left to continue the blockade of Havana and other ports.

MONEY NEEDED FOR INVASION.

Congress Expected to Make the Necessary Appropriation Promptly.

Washington, May 4.—The Navy Department denies the statement that the department has declined to spare a couple of naval vessels to convoy the transports which will carry the troops from Florida to the Cuban port selected as the place for beginning the offensive campaign.

It is believed that the true explanation of the delay in sending out the military expedition is to be found in the letter of Gen. Miles read in the Senate, in which he declared that all the $50,000,000 war fund appropriation having been expended or allotted, there was absolutely no money at the disposal of the War Department to pay the necessary expenses of the expedition. In the expectation that Congress will promptly make the necessary appropriation the officials now look for the departure of the expedition within a very few days.

NEED OF ISSUING BONDS.

Secretary Gage Has a Hearing on the War Revenue Bill.

Washington, May 4.—The Senate Committee on Finance resumed its sitting yesterday, hearing Secretary Gage on the necessity for including in the war revenue bill authority for the issuance of bonds. The Secretary supplied the committee all the information in his possession as to the cost of the war up to date, and also the best estimates obtainable of future expenses.

Secretary Gage told the committee that the best estimates obtainable indicate that for the next two months the war will increase the governmental expenditure about $50,000,000. By that time the entire amount in the Treasury, with the exception of the gold reserve, would be exhausted, and $30,000,000 of the reserve also taken. Mr. Gage said it was his opinion that the revenues would decrease on account of the war. He considered authorization for the issuance of bonds necessary. He said no estimate had been made of the cost of the war for a year hence, as no one could say how long it would continue.

OUR FLEET LEAVES HAVANA.

The Entire Squadron Has Left, Presumably for Key West.

Madrid, May 4.—An official dispatch from Havana says the entire American squadron has sailed, presumably in the direction of Key West.

To Escort Men to Cuba?

Washington, May 4.—It is understood here that the dispatches from Key West, saying that Admiral Sampson's fleet has sailed toward Key West, mean that the warships are coming back to the United States to meet and escort the transports and troops of the army of invasion to Cuba.

It is expected that the troops will leave Tampa to-day or to-morrow.

Spaniards Made Inquiries.

Santa Cruz, Cal., May 4.—The Coroner has learned that two Spaniards called at certain houses here on the day of the fatal explosion and inquired the direction of the powder works. Operations at the works have been resumed. No one, not excepting employes, is allowed to enter without a pass. The works are now guarded day and night.

A Hundred Reasons

They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. They are pleasant to the taste.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half-digested food.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy, the successful physician of today is the specialist, the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt you, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Two Ounces of Blood Daily

We do no miracles; all we do is to cure people and give them two ounces of new blood daily when they take Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids. By enriching the blood they restore its natural iron or Hæmoglobin to it; it cures all the chronic blood diseases, among which may be mentioned anæmia, or paleness; chlorosis, or green sickness; palpitation, rickets, scrofula, consumption or tuberculosis, indigestion, amennorhœa, pains in the head or back, and all monthly irregularities. Physicians will tell you that this is the only medicine in the world that can do this, and if they are up-to-date they prescribe them in all such cases.

TO HOLD PHILIPPINES.

Five Thousand Troops Will Be Sent from San Francisco.

Washington, May 4.—The President and the Cabinet have decided to be prepared to hold the Philippines now that Commodore Dewey has wiped the Spanish flag from the island. The President is assured that Commodore Dewey is able to take care of himself, and his fleet, but the Executive is anxious to give him all the support necessary to hold the islands after he has landed.

The anxiety to hear officially from the Commodore increases hourly, and although orders to send troops to Manila will not be issued until Commodore Dewey communicates with the Navy Department, it has been practically decided to mobilize the State troops and volunteers of California and other Western States at San Francisco and to have them ready to sail for the Philippines at any time.

It was decided that from five thousand to six thousand volunteers will be sent, and that they will be placed on fast steamers, as well as on the cruisers Charleston and Philadelphia, which are now being prepared at Mare Island, and then rushed across the Pacific at full speed. Supplies, ammunition and coal will also be sent.

This will be the first time that the United States has ever sent troops to land in a foreign country, and the arrival of the United States volunteers will be a great surprise to Manila; but they go prepared to occupy the islands and hold them until the President and the Cabinet are ready to announce the disposition of them after the war.

The State troops will be called upon for this expedition, because there are not enough regulars on the Pacific coast to make up the number required. The California, Washington and Oregon troops will be first selected, and if these are not enough volunteers from other Western States will be called upon.

It has not been decided yet who will have command, but the name of Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, who will be nominated to-day as major-general, has been mentioned. Gen. Merritt, who is in charge of the Department of the East, has been here in consultation with the President in regard to this matter, and his name has also been mentioned in connection with these forces, but it is understood he is to have better duty and he will not be sent to the Pacific against his will.

Pending the advices from Commodore Dewey, the preparations for this expedition will be made with all possible haste.

It is also understood that the Administration has sent dispatches to Commodore Dewey, conveying congratulations on his great victory, and informing him of the intended expedition to aid him. It is thought that this message can be returned to Commodore Dewey on the dispatch boat which will bring his official account of the battle, or if he has taken possession of the cable it can be handed directly to him at Manila.

TO EXCHANGE ISLANDS.

Trade with Great Britain of Philippines for West Indies Suggested.

Washington, May 4.—What will be done with the Philippine Islands is still a subject of discussion in Administration circles and among Senators. There is a strong desire to have the islands pass into the possession of Great Britain. One suggestion made is to trade the Philippines for Jamaica, the Bermudas and the Bahamas. Whether England would consent to this transfer is, of course, a question to be determined later, but it is felt that the Philippines would be of far greater value to Great Britain than the small islands in and around the West Indies.

At the same time, any disposition which the United States makes of the islands is apt to prove disturbing to the peace of the world. Neither Germany nor Russia will see such an important strategical base as the Philippines pass into the possession of Great Britain without a protest.

It is expected, however, that if the islands go to Great Britain she will be fully able to take care of herself. Germany and Russia to the contrary notwithstanding.

Diplomat Says Peace.

Paris, May 4.—The Jour quotes "an American diplomat occupying an official position in Paris" as saying:

"I believe the victory at Manila will end the war. I am almost certain European intervention is going to occur, and this time the United States will be disposed to welcome any peace overtures of the powers. We will return the Philippine Islands and ask for no indemnity. We only want one thing, the recognition and independence of Cuba. On that basis and under these conditions we will lay down our arms. It is possible peace is near if Spain is reasonable."

War Has Cost $102,000,000.

Washington, May 4.—"The cost of the war is rapidly becoming manifest," said a Treasury official upon learning of the deficiency oppropriation requested by Secretary of the Navy Long. "During the past two months over $102,000,000 has been expended or will be in addition to the regular appropriations for the War and Navy Departments. The first call was for the $50,000,000 defense fund, which has been followed by a demand for $34,000,000 by Secretary Alger and yesterday Secretary Long requested $18,470,000."

Looks for a Quick Dash.

Washington, May 4.—Rear Admiral John G. Walker, retired, commenting on the Manila victory, said:

"The Spaniards have undoubtedly become desperate, and soon will have to do something to prop up their so-called honor and save the fast falling dynasty. For these reasons I think it is fair to assume that the Spanish navy will undertake some bold movement in the near future."

New York Harbor Is Impregnable.

Washington, May 4.—New York harbor is now considered impregnable by the army and navy experts. During the past six weeks $6,660,000 has been used in fortifying it. No Spanish vessel has such guns as are mounted at Sandy Hook, and no Spanish vessel could enter by way of Sandy Hook or Long Island Sound because of the network of submarine mines.

MANILA UNDER FIRE

Madrid Informed That Outlying Native Quarters Suffered.

A FEW HOUSES STRUCK

Advices to the Spanish Colonial Office Say that Up to the Time the Cable Was Cut Only a Few Shells Had Reached the Town Proper, Which Is Strongly Protected.

London, May 4.—A special dispatch from Madrid says the Spanish Colonial Office had advices of the beginning of the bombardment of Manila before the cable was cut, which said:

"Thus far the American shells have not reached the town proper, which is strongly protected.

"Only the outlying native quarters have suffered. They are now in flames. Occasionally a shell fell in the European town, where a few houses were struck.

"The batteries of the Citadel, especially the six large guns, are vigorously replying to the American fire, and have inflicted considerable damage on the fleet."

Manila Cable Cut.

London, May 4.—Inquiries at the offices of the Eastern Telegraph Company show it to have been impossible for any word to have come from Manila since 10 o'clock Monday morning, London time, or 6 o'clock Monday evening Manila time, when the cable was cut.

The officials of the company say that, according to their tests from Hong Kong, the cable was cut fifty miles from Manila. They think a week, or even a fortnight, may elapse before it can be repaired, as there are no facilities there to repair the cable, while, in any event, it will be a difficult task to pick up the cable in deep water.

Say We Cut the Cable.

Paris, May 4.—It is reported here that an American warship cut the Manila cable and took an end on board for the purpose of communication.

No News Received at Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, China, May 4.—No news of any description in regard to the battle of Manila has been received here, with the exception of the information cabled here from London.

The insurgent leaders here are hoping provisionally to administer the Philippine Islands under American protection, but there are endless dissensions among them.

No Cable for Days, Maybe.

Washington, May 4.—Not a word has been received from Commodore Dewey yet, and official Washington is anxious—very anxious. Whether Manila has fallen or is still resisting attack by our fleet is not known, and cannot be known until news reaches Hong Kong or Singapore by means of a dispatch boat.

It cannot come by cable, officials say, as the Government has information from London that the Hong Kong cable has been cut miles out to sea, and it will take anywhere from a week to two weeks to locate the cut and make repairs.

NO OFFICIAL NEWS FROM DEWEY.

The President and Navy Department Still Without Advices.

Washington, May 4.—No official information has been received by the President or the Navy Department from Commodore Dewey. There are many rumors about the situation at Manila, but as the cable has been cut it is not likely that any authentic news has come from the Philippines.

There was talk at the Navy Department of the cable being cut by the Americans, and one end of the line being placed on an American man-of-war. But this is not credited, because the naval officials said that Commodore Dewey's men had no facilities for handling the cable or men to operate it.

The Commodore's victory is still the subject of discussion at the Navy and War Departments. The talk has taken a rather serious turn, and discussion of the condition of our officers, men and ships has succeeded the exchange of views regarding the engagement.

FRENCH EMBASSY'S ADVICE.

The Reina Maria and the Castillia Totally Burned.

Washington, May 4.—The French Ambassador, M. Jules Cambon, has received a dispatch from the Foreign Office in Paris stating that the French Ambassador at Madrid, M. Patenotre, has forwarded official details of the Spanish reverse at Manila. M. Patenotre's report stated that the Spanish cruisers Reina Maria Christina and Castillia were totally burned up after being set on fire by bombs from the enemy's (American) ships. Two of the smaller Spanish ships, the dispatch states, were sunk in order to avoid falling into the hands of the enemy. The other Spanish ships were half destroyed, and had taken refuge in Baker's Bay.

The British Embassy has received no reports of any character as to the Manila battle, so that there is no basis for the statements that the State Department has been informed by British officials here that Manila has surrendered to Commodore Dewey.

Dynamite for Illinois Troops.

Springfield, May 4.—Experts who have tested the contents of a package found in one of the company boxes of the Third Infantry, Illinois National Guard, pronounce it dynamite. Besides the Third Infantry the Sixth Regiment is also quartered in the building, 2,000 men in all. Many of the men believe they have narrowly escaped the fate of the sailors of the Maine.

The Queen to the Pope.

London, May 4.—According to special dispatches received here from Rome, the Queen Regent of Spain has telegraphed the Pope on the subject of the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Manila, saying:

"The Spanish nation is calm, but resolved to resist to the bitter end." Her Majesty also begs the Pontiff to bless the Spanish arms.

BANKER ABSCONDS.

Cartage, N. Y., May 4.—The following notice appeared on the doors of the First National Bank yesterday morning:

'Notice to Depositors:

"The president of this bank, E. H. Myers, has absconded, and the directors ascertained last night that his accounts are short. They have ordered the bank closed for a more thorough examination. Depositors will doubtless be paid at an early date.

"By order of the Board of Directors."

The news of the defalcation of Myers spread rapidly, and the greatest excitement prevails. The excitement caused a run on the Carthage Savings Bank.

Mr. Myers has been defrauding the bank for eight years, it has been discovered on investigation. The amount of the defalcation is estimated at $110,000.

Mr. Myers always has been identified with the best interests of the village, serving several terms as village president. It seems that a depositor informed the bank last week that he would draw $3,000 Monday. Mr. Myers has not been seen since, but the books do not show any such deposit. Depositors in the savings bank are drawing out their money as fast as possible and the bank is crowded, but the cashier has enough money on hand to meet all demands.

It is said that Myers placed fictitious names on the coupons and only deposited small amounts. It is also said that on Saturday a deposit coupon was presented calling for $3,000. On looking in the books it was found that there was no such name recorded, but that on that day there was a record of $100 being deposited, and a fictitious name evidently was used.

KILLED TWO CHILDREN.

John Graham Mortally Assaults Another and Tries to Kill Himself.

New York, May 4.—John Graham, of 76 Morton street, murdered two of his little children yesterday afternoon, mortally injured the third, and then tried to kill himself. He was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital with a big gash in his throat, and will probably die.

Graham, who is a laborer, 60 years old, suddenly attacked his family with an ax. He struck John, his 7-year-old son, first, and laid his skull open with the instrument. He will die.

Leaving him for dead, the father rushed at Ella, his 5-year-old daughter, who was in the room. He hit her a terrific blow over the head, killing her almost instantly. Then he attacked his infant son, Frank, whom he killed instantly in the same way. Finally he seized a knife and cut his own throat.

Prince Victor in New York.

New York, May 4.—Prince Victor Emanuel, Count of Turin, and a nephew of King Humbert of Italy, was a passenger on the North German Lloyd liner Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which arrived at her dock in Hoboken at 7 o'clock last night. Prince Victor, accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Count Carpenetti, was met at the wharf by Count Vinci, Italian Charge d'Affairs in Washington, and by Count G. Branchi, Italian Consul General in this city.

The prince will best be remembered as the vanquisher of Prince Henri of Orleans in a duel fought in the Bois de Marechaux, at Van Cresson, France, on the morning of Aug. 15, 1897.

Prince Victor Emanuel intends to make an extended tour of the United States. He was greatly surprised to hear that Commodore Dewey had destroyed Spain's Asiatic fleet. When asked if his sympathies were not with Spain, he would not talk on the subject, but said the Italian nation dearly loved the United States.

To Succeed Sir Julian Pauncefote.

London, May 4.—According to a report published here, the British Ambassador, Sir Julian Pauncefote, is to be succeeded by Sir Thomas H. Sanderson, K. C. B., K. C. M. G., the permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, one of the most experienced diplomatic officers in the British service.

To Stop Wheat Duties.

Paris, May 4.—The Council of Agriculture has decided to favor the suppression of wheat duties at French ports until July 1. The Premier, M. Meline, will submit the council's decision to the Cabinet, which is expected to adopt it immediately.

A dispatch from Rome says the Pope is prostrated by the news from Manila. He expressed horror at the loss of life, and says he could wish he had died before seeing such a war.

Patriotic Rich Americans.

One is glad to see that American millionaires are to some extent doing their share toward helping the country that made and preserves their riches for them. It is true it would have been the perfectly graceful thing if others than Frederick Schermerhorn had donated their swift and powerful pleasure yachts to their native land as a gift of patriotism instead of allowing these vessels to be bought for cash at the highest price by the government. Still a few of them have shown themselves patriots, enough perhaps to save the ranks of wealth from condemnation, so far as love of country is concerned.

Mr. John Jacob Astor, the American head of the family, has equipped at his own expense a battery of artillery and presented them with his compliments to President McKinley, promising to maintain them during the war. We have not observed, on the other hand, that the plutocratic name of Vanderbilt has as yet appeared among those millionaire patriots aiding their country, but it is not too late.

Best of all, however, we like the course of Theodore Roosevelt, late assistant secretary of the navy, now to be lieutenant colonel of a cowboy regiment. Roosevelt is a man of action, and, like all such, he chafed under the restraint of sitting at a desk when he longed to be afield. At last he was permitted to resign and fulfill the desire of his heart to go into active service. Theodore has a ranch of his own in the far west and he knows his friends the cowboys. Good luck to them and him! It is good blood, that of the Roosevelts.

Case of the Philippines.

A much more important role than is generally supposed will be played by the Philippine islands in the present war. Because Cuba is so near our shores it has blotted out of our eyes the Spanish islands in revolt against the old country in the far East Indies. The Philippines have a population of 7,000,000, three times as much as Cuba and Puerto Rico both put together.

Spain has put forward all her energies and her best guns and equipments to regain possession of Cuba. On the Philippines she has only antiquated fortifications and rusty old guns. Even the cannon on her cruisers there are mostly of ancient pattern, she having never taken into consideration the possibility of being attacked by any foreign warship at Manila. This will give the American squadron that sailed from Hongkong to attack the Philippines an advantage that only an unforeseen accident can counteract. Apparently it will be an easy task for our Asiatic fleet to capture the Philippines with the heavy fire in the rear movement which will be brought against Spain by the inhabitants of the islands. Never for one moment have these insurgents given up their plan of independence. They only delayed it a little. It will be their greatest joy and triumph to return and, aided by the American marines, drive Spain from their land and set up their own independent government.

The United States has now three squadrons in active operation. The commander of the Asiatic fleet at the Philippines is Commodore Dewey, of the fleet off Cuba Captain Sampson and of the flying squadron that is patrolling the New England and north Atlantic coast Commodore Schley.

Before the proclamation calling for 120,000 volunteers was issued President McKinley had received offers of military service from more than 600,000 men. This on our side. Spain on her side has fairly drafted her graveyards to get a few more soldiers.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

Com. Winfield Scott Schley, in his book, "The Rescue of Greely," thus describes the finding of the explorer and the other frozen and starved survivors of the Lady Franklin Bay Expedition in July, 1884:

"On his hands and knees was a dark man with a long, matted beard . . . and brilliant, staring eyes. As Lieutenant Colwell approached he raised himself a little and put on a pair of eveglasses.

"'Who are you?' asked Colwell.

"The man made no answer, staring at him vacantly.

"'Who are you?' again.

"Colwell took him by the hand, saying to him, 'Greely, is this you?'

"'Yes,' said Greely in a faint, broken voice, hesitating and shuffling with his words: 'Yes—seven of us left—here we are—dying—like men! Did what I came to do—beat the best record!'

"Then he fell back exhausted."

General Greely will contribute to The Youth's Companion for the week of May 19th a graphic, interesting article on "The Polar Bear," based on some personal experience in hunting the animal in the frozen north.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The great success of last season at Koster & Bial's New York Music Hall, "Gayest Manhattan," is announced. It is claimed to be an extravaganza, a burlesque and a comic opera, making its claims good in all. Simply told, the story merely presents the mishaps of a young lady from the wilds of Maine, accompanied by her father. It is not very elaborate, but in the course of the action pretty songs materialize; dances, many of them, and all good; bright sayings, special acts, beautiful scenery, lots of handsome girls, attractive costumes and a cast of players that includes Miss Twohey, a troupe of acrobatic dancers, a pickaninny band and novelties many and fine. Among the exclusive numbers of the piece are "The Rulers of Central Park," "I am a Gay Politician," "For Sweet Charity's Sake," "Deferred Ambition," "The Dandy Sparrow Cops," and "From Skowhegan, Maine, B'Gosh." "Gayest Manhattan" is the first of their elaborate productions ever put upon the road by Koster & Bial. But its triumphs were so great at their New York Music Hall, where it ran its course last winter and far into the summer, winning equal laurels for the balance of the heated spell at Midland Beach, a resort contiguous to the metropolis, it was thought other localities had a right to witness this merry combination of laughter, music, song, fun and every other element of amusement that could be crowded into its perpetual motion acts.

At the Broadway Theatre there is just coming to a close one of the greatest theatrical alliances recorded in thespian circles. It is the triple starring combination of Lillian Russell, Della Fox and Jefferson DeAngelis in "The Wedding Day." These three leading lights of comic opera fame are at the head of a company whose talent has been recognized and largely patronized by critical New York audiences and theatre-goers in all the principal cities of the country. There is only another week, however, to see the alliance, because the company's season closes next week at the Broadway and will not be resumed again on account of Miss Russell's engagement in Europe for the next two years. A number of Plainfield theatre parties have arranged to attend the last performances of "The Wedding Day."

MARRIED AN HEIRESS.

Miss Genevieve O'Day, Daughter of a Standard Oil Magnate, the Bride. —They Will Reside in London.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 4.—A fashionable wedding was celebrated yesterday afternoon when Miss Genevieve O'Day, a daughter of Mr. Daniel O'Day, vice president of the Standard Oil Company, was married at the O'Day residence, No 128 West Seventy-second street, to Henry Dickson Morrison, a son of Mr. T. W. Morrison, of Plainfield, N. J.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Grace and Ruth O'Day, and the best man was Mr. Charles O'Day, of Pittsburg. Archbishop Corrigan, Mr. Chauncey M. Depew and former Police Commissioner Sheehan were among the guests at the large reception.

The marriage is the result of a brief but romantic courtship. The young people met a few months ago in London, where Mr. Morrisoh has business interests. They became interested in one another almost immediately, and Mr. Morrison travelled with Miss O'Day's family on the continent. By the time the party returned to London Miss O'Day and Mr. Morrison were engaged, and they came over here to be married.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrison sail on Saturday for London, where they will reside.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly deodorizes whatever it touches. Destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

THE LAST TROLLEY LINK.

BOUND BROOK COUNCIL AT LAST GRANTS A FRANCHISE.

The Right Given to the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, Which is Directed by Brunswick People.

[Special to The Daily Press.]

Bonnd Brook, May 4—The Council met last evening and finished up the business in connection with the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company by giving them a franchise to operate in the borough. The ordinance giving such right was adopted on the third reading and approved by the Mayor.

This is considered the last link in the long contest for trolley construction and means that there will be a direct line of trolley from Plainfield to New Brunswick and Raritan, touching New Market, Metuchen, Bonehamtown, Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, Dunellen and Lincoln. Last week the Piscataway Township Committee adopted the ordinance on the third reading and the franchise was given to the company.

During the long fight for franchises there have been many small side issues to be considered, and it is now thought that everyone is satisfied.

The company will be known as the New York and Philadelphia Traction Company, but the owners and officers are the ones that composed the Brunswick Traction Company. The latter company was willing to give up its name and take the name of the other company to satisfy a majority of the interested people.

It is expected that the work of construction will begin very soon and that before many months trolley cars will be running in all direction for the accommodation of the people, who for years have been obliged to put up with all sorts of inconveniences.

Leonard; chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. A. C. Nickerson; postoffice mission secretary, Miss E. Reynolds; librarian, Miss Brown.

After the meeting a social time was enjoyed and tea was served by the entertainment committee. The meetings have now been discontinued until next fall when announcement of the date, subjects, etc., will be made.

The sentiment of the members was expressed at the meeting yesterday through the display of an American flag about the platform stand.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

The thick winter coats and frocks which the children have been wearing are now too warm and cumbersome for the daily runs in the park and the brisk walks to school and back. A coat that is sufficiently warm for present wear, and that will be useful for donning over a thin frock on cool summer evenings is what is wanted.

For the child of three or four there is a quaint little coat of reseda green cashmere, with collar and cuffs of a darker shade of velvet and trimmings of velvet buttons and green cord. For the school girl from ten to fifteen years of age, the reefer costume is suitable and stylish looking. It would be most serviceable of navy blue serge, with removable collar of violet or green linen. A pretty brown or green serge would be uncommon and the collar could then be of white hem-stitched lawn.

A sensible school girls' frock of gray vicuna, trimmed with braid, has a yoke and belt of green velveteen and fastens at the left side. An artistic little gown for the small girl, could be carried out in old rose cashmere, with velvet yoke, belt and sleeve bands. This dress has quite a Kate Greenaway effect, being short waisted, and is very dainty for dressy wear.

The little French blouse costume would be pretty in either linen or serge. A tabac brown linen, fashioned in this style would make a smart frock for school wear, if worn with removable guimpes of tucked cambric or lawn. The buttons could be of linen and the belt, which is held up at the waist by means of narrow straps stitched to the sides, of white kid.

The more up-to-date frocks for little girls are worn quite short. The little maiden wearing the large hat, has her hair tied with ribbons on either side of her head in the now modish style.

Evening Waist of Silk Crepe.

Crinkled goods and silk crepes bid fair to be very popular for evening and theater wear. These dainty materials come in every imaginable color and make up beautifully.

An effective model of turquoise blue crepe was cut quite low in the neck, the decolettage outlined with a full

Neat Walking Gown.

The first requirement of the early season is a smart walking gown which will look well in bright weather, but not be so delicate as to be spoilt by a shower. A neat tailor-made gown is the most suitable garment for this purpose, and these are as popular as ever for morning wear.

A perfectly simple dress of good material, well cut and finished can be made to serve many purposes by changing the shirts and fronts with which it is worn, and a smart chiffon vest is quite sufficient to render a plain coat and skirt suitable for unceremonious calls, especially when a stylish hat is worn with it. A costume of black and white cheviot, with white broadcloth revers, makes a neat suit.

Styles of Long Ago.

The longest train on record was that of Catherine de Medici on the occasion of her marriage. It was forty-three yards, and borne by ten pairs of pages.

Henry II. of France ordered that no woman beneath the rank of princess should wear crimson, and that no velvet should be worn save by ladies of the Court or of the nobility.

In 1461 a fashion of gold collars came in. They were of solid gold, and enclosed the neck, fastening with a padlock in front. Some of them weighed as much as a pound.

The Gallic women wore a white woolen gown trailing on the ground, and a purple cloak, with white scarf thrown over the head; the hair was usually arranged in one long braid.

Very long skirts were introduced in France by the daughters of St. Louis. They had very large feet, which they wished to conceal, and so adopted the skirt to hide their pedal deformity.

The most changeable period of feminine fashion was in France between the outbreak of the Revolution, and the Restoration in 1815. During this time 289 different styles are recorded. During the social reign of Catherine de Medici the ladies never washed their faces. There was an idea that water injured the complexion, and the face was wiped with a rag dipped in milk.

A Handy Wardrobe.

For the girl whose city bedroom boasts no wardrobe, and only a single closet to hold her every-day garments, it is necessary to utilize any recess there is. To do this, get a board the width of the recess and as high as can be conveniently reached. Have screw hooks placed upon it for the waists. Against the wall stretch a length of cretonne or muslin; let this hang down just twice the length of the recess. Under the headboard have a six-inch board with screw hooks on it for the skirts; then, on the very front edge of the headboard, have very small hooks screwed in, and correspondingly tiny rings on the extreme edge of the long piece of cretonne. When the skirts and bodices are hung on their respective pegs, turn up this cretonne and catch the rings into the hooks, thus, as it were, enclosing the dresses in a loose bag. Outside of this recess, a few inches higher than the headboard, have a little brass rod fastened, on which, by rings, one can hang a pretty curtain, which will conceal the cretonne bag.

Hot Water Replaces Tea.

Fashionable women have this season discovered how to obviate the necessity of taking too much tea and yet to preserve the aspect of sociability as they make the rounds of the five-o'clock affairs. This is by taking plain hot water, flavored with a little of the lemon or cordial that is an invariable accompaniment to the fashionable tea service. There has been a decided tendency to vary the usual wafers by some sort of fresh warm bread. At some houses delightful Sally Lunn is handed round, and miniature tea biscuits, too, hot, and to be eaten with butter, have been often seen. Small fresh round sponge-cakes, often the work of the hostess herself, are offered at some studio afternoons, and there is a universal suppression of sandwiches. These are no longer deemed necessary or even desirable.

Princesse Party Frock.

Ready for the Theatre.

A chic theater corsage for a dainty brunette, is of rose colored flowered satin, made with a fitted basque piece. The front which is decolette has a pointed plastron of white chiffon, bordered on either side with revers of the material edged with chiffon ruches and trimmed with straps at even distances of black velvet ribbon, shirred chiffon sleeves and ceinture of black velvet.

Gestures of Royalty.

Berlin. In dem Prozeß gegen den Posthilfsboten Stutzky, den Friseur Perplies und die Frau Stutzky wegen Unterschlagung und Aneignung zweier, an die hiesige Firma Wolf gerichteter Checks der Londoner Nationalbank im Gesammtbetrage von 36,000 Mark wurde Perplies zu zwei Jahren Gefängniß und drei Jahren Ehrverlust verurtheilt. Frau Stutzky wurde wegen Mangels hinreichender Beweise freigesprochen. Gegen Stutzky wurde die Verhandlung ausgesetzt, da der Angeklagte geistesgestört ist.—Am 20. Mai wird der 100. Geburtstag des Stenographen Wilhelm Stolze mit einer Gedenkfeier im königlichen Joachimsthal'schen Gymnasium begangen werden.—Gelegentlich des 27. Kongresses der deutschen Gesellschaft für Chirurgie, der hier stattfand und von etwa 300 Theilnehmern besucht wurde, stiftete die Familie Langenbeck 50,000 Mark zur Sammlung kriegschirurgischer Erfahrungen in Feldzügen, wobei Deutschland unbetheiligt bleibt.

Potsdam. Zwei hiesige Fischermeister, die Gebrüder Heese, sind kürzlich auf der Havel ertrunken. Bei dem Herumwerfen des Segels verlor der eine Bruder das Gleichgewicht und stürzte kopfüber in's Wasser, und bei dem Versuch, ihn herauszuziehen, fiel auch der andere Bruder über Bord. Da keine Hilfe in der Nähe war, ertranken Beide in ihrer schweren Fischerkleidung.

Spandau. Ein Einjährig-Freiwilliger des Trainbataillons Nr. 3 dahier, der Sohn einer angesehenen Berliner Familie, wurde neulich durch Mannschaften seiner Truppe im Militärarrestlokal abgeliefert. Er soll es unterlassen haben, von einem ihm bewilligten Urlaub zu seinem Truppentheil zurückzukehren, und ist außerhalb ergriffen worden.

Frankfurt. Die Reinigung der hiesigen Wolfsgangstraße lag durch Vertrag bislang der Stadt ob, trotzdem diese Straße Privateigenthum ist. Nach zehnjähriger Dauer unterblieb die Reinigung. Die Polizei bestrafte die Hauseigenthümer. Hiergegen haben sämmtliche Betroffenen richterliche Entscheidung angerufen. Das Schöffengericht verwarf den Einspruch, die Strafkammer hob jedoch das Urtheil auf und erkannte auf Freisprechung, da die Stadt für die Reinigung verantwortlich sei.

Bütow. Einen bedenklichen Entschluß faßte der hiesige Kreistag. Derselbe bewilligte aus den Mitteln der Kreiskommunalverwaltung den Betrag von 150 Mark zur Unterstützung des „Vaterlands-Vereins" zwecks Vertheilung von Flugblättern, welche dem Treiben der Sozialdemokratie entgegentreten sollen. Hier wird also in durchaus unzulässiger Weise aus Kreismitteln Politik getrieben.

Provinz Posen.

TYPES OF NAVAL VESSELS.

Battleships, Cruisers, Gunboats and Torpedo Boat Destroyers Described.

A torpedo boat is used to destroy war vessels, particularly battleships, and torpedo-boat destroyers are made to destroy the torpedo boats, as their name signifies. Torpedo boats are small vessels fitted with powerful engines that drive them through the water atahigh rate of speed. They are lightly constructed, and carry small arms in addition to their torpedoes. The torpedo-boat destroyers are larger than the torpedo boats, and in their construction, as in the smaller boats, everything is sacrificed so that their powerful engines will be able to send them through the water at a great rate of speed for a short distance. Their armament is sufficiently powerful to disable or destroy the torpedo boats when they come up with them. Torpedo-boat destroyers carry no torpedoes and they depend entirely on their speed and their guns.

Battleships are fighting ships, they are classified according to their armament. A battleship is used for bombarding forts, and for doing heavy fighting work. A gunboat is a small battleship, and after a battleship has partly demolished a fort the gunboats, on account of their light draught, run in close to finish the work or protect the other vessels of the fleet while marines are being landed. Cruisers are commerce destroyers, or, in other words, legalized pirates. They do not carry as heavy guns as battleships do, and they have speed enough to overtake the trade ships of the enemy.

Torpedo boats attack big ships usually at night. When these destructive boats are being speeded they bury themselves in the water, and almost all that can be seen of them is a streak of foam. They are painted a color that is not distinguishable on the water, and the most perfect range-finders will not distinguish them sufficiently for the guns of big ships to be trained on them. They approach a warship head-on, thus presenting as small a mark as possible, and take a zig-zag course. When within striking distance, which is about 600 yards, they launch their torpedoes and get away. In the daytime they steam along under protection of a battleship, keeping the battleship between them and the enemy, and when a favorable opportunity arrives dart out and make their attack. They are so lightly constructed that if the boat they attack can hit them, the torpedo boats are ruined. At night time the big vessels keep their searchlights at work to discover the torpedo boats, and thus to protect themselves.

A gentleman riding along a plantation path, followed by a negro on a mule struck a large cottonmouth with his whip lash as it glided across the road. As soon as under cover and out of reach of the whip the snake raised its head above the bushes, standing almost upright on its tail and glaring at him with flashing eyes, at the same time hissing fiercely and exposing its fangs.

"Pshaw, Pomp! I don't take any stock in such nonsense. More likely he'll take care to keep out of reach of my whip. I wish, though, I had killed the beast!"

"Dat would 'a' bin er sight wusser, Maws Joe, case de mate would jes' foller tel hit cotch't yo'; an' when er cottonmouf's mate hits, yo' goes dead powrful quick."

"All nonsens, Pomp! There isn't any mate, or if there is, it doesn't know more than other dumb creatures. A man may be hit, of course, but not more often by the mate of a snake he has killed than by some other that just happens in striking distance."

"Leastways, Maws Joe," urged Pomp, "yo'd beter not happen erlong dis paf any more dis year, 'ceptin' on hoss-back!"

This good advice fell on heedless ears. The next afternoon Maws Joe followed the path on foot, probably without any thought of what had occurred the day before and when passing the spot where he had lashed the snake the day before he was struck at the same instant by two cottonmouths one from each side of the path. He managed to get home but died soon after.

The negroes in that neighborhood, and many white people, too, are firm believers in the cottonmouth's mate and its vicious intelligence.—Galveston News.

Slightly Absent Minded

Professor W., a well-known Edinburgh professor, is accustomed to take a daily walk with another old professor, when they discuss matters quite beyond the comprehension of ordinary mortals.

One day when the walking was exceedingly bad, Professor W. was on his way to the corner at which he and his friend always met, when he encountered a young student whose face he recognised dimly, having seen it every day for several weeks in the classroom. He accordingly hailed his pupil, who was wading through the mud to get across the street.

"Have you seen Professor S.?" he asked.

"Yes, sir," replied the student, pausing respectfully, in the midst of a mud-puddle, to remove his cap. "He is at the corner below, waiting for you."

"Good, very good!" responded the professor, looking over his spectacles with his class-room air, when well pleased with a student. "I thank you. You may be seated."

Volunteers to Man the Badger.

The Battalion of the East, New Jersey Naval Militia, assembled on board the Portsmouth at Hoboken last night in response to a special call. Commander Irving read a communication from the Navy Department calling for a detail to man the Badger. The call explained that the men must obtain leave of absence from the militia for one year and enlist in the regular navy for for that term. Commander Irving said he was willing to go, and asked who else. Of the 285 men, 243 responded. Some of the others said they would decide today. Particular Habits of Eels.

"Despite assertions to the contrary," said an old fisherman the other day, "an eel is the cleanest fish that swims. Some persons have an idea that eels feed upon the bodies of persons who have been drowned and upon other refuse.

"Such is not the case, however. I have made a study of eels all my life. I have watched them in all kinds of water. They are more particular about their food than trout. It's only the nicest sort of bait that will bring an eel to a hook unless he happens to be very hungry."

Mr. Holliday—So you think you would like to take the position of superintendent of the works? Don't you think it better for you to seek a more humble place at first?

Rollo—Why, sir, you have told me that there is always plenty of room at the top. Surely, you would not have me crowd the worthy men who are lower down.—Boston Transcript.

MISSION WOMEN MEET.

SEMI-ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETIES.

The semi-annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies of the Elizabeth District, Newark Conference, of Methodist Episcopal churches, was held yesterday in Vincent chapel. The chapel was tastefully decorated with flags and flowers, and there was a good number of delegates in attendance.

The morning session began at 10:30, with a devotional hour, conducted by Mrs. Robert Moore. The pastor's greeting, by Rev. W. C. Snodgdass, was responded to by Mrs. B. F. Ham. A short time was occupied by routine business, then followed several short addresses. "Our District Box," by Miss M. E. Tanghn, told of the box packed for a missionary in India, and "My Visit to Room 13," by Mrs. W. S. Piercey, was an account of a call at the New York room devoted to the interests of the societies. Mrs. Dr. J. H. Knowles spoke upon "Our Literature," and Mrs. G. C. Morehouse read a paper discussing "Young People's Work."

At the close of the morning session a basket luncheon was enjoyed.

The officers of the conference and districts are as follows: Conference secretary, Mrs. Dr. J. H. Knowles; conference and district treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Stevens; recording secretary, Miss E. T. Morehouse; district secretary, Miss E. T. Strong. Miss Stevens had charge of the literature table at the meeting.

The afternoon session was very interesting and enjoyable. After the basket luncheon, which occupied the time between the two sessions, the delegates reassembled and were led in devotional exercises by Mrs. J. H. Knowles, the secretary of the Conference. The address of the afternoon, on "The Miss Dr. Sahib," by Miss Mary E. Bryan, M. D., was of great interest. Miss Harriet Budd's words concerning "The Thank Offering" were also much enjoyed. Music was a very pleasant feature of the afternoon session. Both sessions were well attended, and the meeting was in every way a very successful one.

TO UNFURL A LARGE FLAG.

Patriotic Celebration to Take Place at South Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, May 4—The largest flag in Bound Brook is to be swung to the breeze tomorrow afternoon amid general rejoicings. The demonstration has been arranged by the employes of the American Engine Company, whose works are located in South Bound Brook. Their efforts have been greatly aided by the superintendent, F. H. Ball, of Plainfield.

A large pole has been placed in front of the works and a flag, 20 feet by 30 feet, is to be unfurled amid a general patriotic outburst. The celebration will be held at 4:30 o'clock, and in honor of the event all the men have been given a half holiday.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, will deliver a patriotic address. There will be fireworks and a salute.

The City's Health.

The regular meeting of the Plainfield Board of Health was held last evening. The report of Health Inspector Addis was received. He reported that there had been four cases of contagious disease under quarantine at the last report. Four had been reported during the month and four had been relieved, leaving four cases in quarantine at present. He had made 201 house visits and inspections. He reported his inspection of the Methodist cemetery and told of finding the bodies of six children and one grown person buried at less than the required depth. He suggested that they should be disinterred and reburied at the required depth.

A Hatter's of Selection.

Mrs. Cleveland, so it is authoritively stated, selects all of Mr. Cleveland's wardrobe for him. Most men prefer to do this for themselves. There are certain articles of wear, however, they should never select, among which may be remembered eye glasses and spectacles. These, if you wish to aid and not injure your eyes, should always be chosen by an expert optician, such as you will find at Collier's, 103 Park avenue.

Dr. J. F. Berg, of 122 East Fifth street, is ill.

The bicycle squad of the Local Christian Endeavor Union will continue its runs this summer. They will probably start next month.

Wheelmen who ride over the Stelton road at night are warned to look out for the ruts in the roadway which are quite bad in some places. They are dangerous things for a wheelman to meet with at night and are apt to cause unpleasant falls.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Another large consignment of young quail was received and liberated by the Union, Somerset and Middlesex Game Protective Association on the preserves Saturday. The association has now stocked all the territory under their protection and favorable reports comes from all sections, with the exception of the damage done by dogs that are permitted to run at large. As the farmers are likewise complaining of the dogs killing their chickens, it is hoped the owners of dogs will see that they are securely fastened and kept at home, or they will surely otherwise be shot.

A JOLLY SERENADE.

Fine Time Enjoyed by the Germans Last Evening.

The members of the Gesang and Turn Verein had a jolly good time last evening when they called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Kellar, and serenaded them. Mr. and Mrs. Kellar were recently married. The guests assembled in front of the house about 9:30 and sang several of their favorite selections. While this was going on, the bride and groom appeared at the door and invited their friends inside. An evening of sociability and music was the pleasure of all, and a bountiful supper was served by the bride and groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Kellar received the heartiest congratulations of all present, and when the guests departed they left their best wishes for a happy and successful journey through life. The affair was arranged by Henry Haurand, brother of Mrs. Kellar, and was in every particular a great success.

U. S. TROOPS LANDED ON CUBAN LAND AND SPANISH SOLDIERS ROUTED.

FORCES LANDED IN CUBA.

Spanish Soldiers Were Driven Back in a Disastrous Way.

Key West, May 5, 11 a. m—The van guard of the invading force that is destined to capture Cuba has been landed on Cuban shores under the protection of the guns of the American men-of-war.

Several days ago, the ocean tug Leyden left this city with two parties of Cubans on board, bound for Cuba to join the insurgent army and carry them news of the projected invasion and a supply of arms and ammunition.

This morning the Leyden returned to this port after having safely landed its passengers and cargo. The crew of the tug had a very interesting story to tell of the expedition.

The first expedition was landed on the coast of the province of Santa Clara. Nothing was seen of the Spaniards when the tug came close to the shore and a small party of Cubans were landed without incident. They carried despatches to General Gomez. They hurried into the interior of the island at once.

The second expedition was landed on the coast between Havana and Mariel. The United States gunboat Wilmington accompanied the tug close to the shore. The intentions of the tug to effect a landing were discovered by a troop of Spanish cavalry patrolling the shore.

The Spanish cavalrymen opened fire on the tug and the Wilmington immediately replied by sending several shells into the midst of the Spaniards. In the meantime the small boats conveyed the Cuban patriots to the shore, where they formed ranks and unfurled the American and Cuban flags.

Then, according to the stories of the sailors of the Leyden, they charged furiously on the Spanish troopers, who retreated in disorder under the fire of the American gunboat. The Spaniards are reported as having retired toward Havana, bearing with them sixty wounded and leaving sixteen of their number dead on the field.

A large consignment of arms and ammunition for the Cuban forces was then landed and taken to the insurgent army by the Cuban expedition.

Governor Appealed to Spain for Aid.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 5, 11:15 a. m.—It is reported here that the Spanish governor of the island of Porto Rico has appealed to the home government of Spain to quell the riots on the island.

EXCITING TIMES IN MADRID.

Official Conduct of War Not Pleasing to the Populace.

Madrid, May 5, 12:30 p. m—The situation in this city and throughout Spain as well is growing rapidly worse every day. The most startling occurrence of to-day is the enormous run on the Spanish banks. The depositors are panic stricken, for they do not know where it will end.

The session of the Cortes today was decidedly sensational. The Cortes passed a resolution censuring Senor Bermeja Rabledo.

The proposed autominy for Cuba was denounced. It was declared that Spain would not give another soldier or peseta to support it.

Admiral Camara has been ordered to take command of the Spanish fleet. The British ambassador held a hasty conference with Minister Gillon, of the Spanish Cabinet. Its full import is not known.

The army will not support any repressive measures, while the Carlists and Republicans throughout the country are openly inciting the soldiers to revolt.

Rioting is reported from many cities throughout the kingdom. The fall of the present dynasty is considered imminent.

British Minds Disturbed.

London, May 5, 12:25 p. m.—Spanish agents are distributing countless circulars though out this city headed, "Why America is Warring with Spain." In the circular, ex-Minister Phelps is quoted to prove that America was legally unjustified to bring on the war. It is asserted in the circular that America is menacing British interests. It ends by denouncing everything American. The object is to turn popular opinion against the United States.

Sighted Spanish Vessels.

Philadelphia, May 5, 12:40 p. m.—One of the steamers of the Allen Line which has just arrived in port reports sighting four Spanish vessels off Newfoundland last Sunday.

A German tramp steamer reports being chased by a Spanish warship while bound for this port. Escape was made under cover of darkness.

St. Paul Taking on Ammunition.

Philadelphia, May 5, 1:45 p. m—The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul left Cramp's shipyard this morning and steamed down to the League Island Navy Yard, where she dropped anchor and began taking aboard ammunition.

After coaling she will proceed to sea and patrol the middle Atlantic coast.

Cable Still Closed.

London, May 5, 11:20 a. m—The Eastern Telegraph Company still reports that nothing has yet been heard from Commodore Dewey and that the cable still remains closed.

St. Paul to Sail.

Camden, May 5, 11:25 a. m—The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, now at Cramp's ship yards, has been ordered to sail immddiately.

ANXIETY IN WASHINGTON.

Impression That Dewey's Message is in the Hands of the President.

Washington, May 5, 1:55 a. m.—Anxiety is slowly growing here over the non-arrival of any news from Commodore Dewey's fleet at the Phillippine Islands. Secretary Long, of the Navy Department, announces that nothing has been received from him as yet.

There is an impression that is gradually gaining ground that Dewey's message is in President McKinley's hands and is being withheld for reasons of State.

A boat leaving Manila Monday night should have reached Hong Kong yesterday. There is much wonderment why it did not arrive.

It has been semi-officially intimated that Porto Rico will be the next point to be attacked by the American forces.

This report has gained credence from a remark made by Senator Burroughs this morning.

As he was leaving the Executive Mansion after a conference with the President, he remarked, "We ought to have Porto Rico tomorrow or Saturday.

This remark was thought to have been inspired by official sources. It is surmised that Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet was ordered there.

All day yesterday rumors were in circulation that a report from the Commodore had been received at the Bureau of Navigation and was being translated for the use of the President and Secretary of the Navy Long. Many of these rumors came from such apparently reliable sources that they were generally accepted as correct.

Supplies for Troops.

Valiejo, Cal., May 5, 2 p. m—Admiral Kirtland has received a telegram from the Navy Department at Washington to prepare supplies for two thousand troops for four months.

It is supposed that the supplies will be used to equip the Charleston and her consorts for the trip to relieve Commodore Dewey at Manila.

JERSEY WOMAN PATRIOT.

Widow of a Civil War Hero Will go to Cuba as a Nurse.

New York, May 5, 1:10 p. m.—Mrs. Juliet Opie Ayres, of Montclair, N. J., is here preparing to go to Cuba as an army nurse.

She is the widow of the late General Romeyn B. Ayres, of the United States army. He distinguished himself in the Army of the Patomac during the Civil War and was brevetted major-general of volunteers for gallantry during the Appomattax campaign.

Mrs. Ayres is the daughter of the late Mrs. A. F. Hopkins, of Mobile, Alabama, who was familiarly known as the Florence Nightingale of the Confederacy. Mrs. Hopkins established the army hospital service of the Peculiar Position Taken by Scotch Plains Principal.

CAMP HAND WILL NOT GO.

THE ANNUAL VISIT OF SONS OF VETERANS NOT APPRECIATED.

The Grave of the Valorous John Hand Will Not be Honored With Patriotic Exercises on Decoration Day This Year as Formerly—Principal Morey Says he Don't Care Whether or Not They Come to the Plains, and Even if They Did the Scholars Would Not Join With them as in the Past.

The heretofore harmonious feeling that has existed between the members of John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, of this city, and certain people in Scotch Plains who have had charge of the exercises Decoration Day in that village, is now somewhat disturded, and the prospects are that there will be no demonstration at Scotch Plains this year as heretofore since the camp of young men has been organized.

The trouble, which is of recent date, was caused by John R. Morey, principal of the public schools at that place, and he informs the Sons of Veterans through their committee that this year the school children will not turn out, that their parents do not wish them to, and as far as he is concerned it makes little difference to him whether the Sons of Veterans come to his place or not.

Mr. Morey says that last year the celebration at Scotch Plains was a failure and that it was due to the Sons of Veterans that it was. He claims that the school children were kept waiting about the streets for a long time because the Sons of Veterans did not keep their word and arrive at the appointed hour. For this reason, he claims that the parents object to having their children in the parade.

On the other hand, it is said, that Mr. Morey was put out because a committee did not come and notify him when the Sons of Veterans arrived, and he was therefore unaware of their coming. All sorts of things have been said and the consequence is that the members of the Sons of Veterns have no disposition to go to Scotch Plains, if they are not wanted there.

The matter was brought up last Tuesday evening at a meeting of the camp and the committee in charge stated that they had called on Mr. Morey twice and had received no satisfaction from him, other than that he would not let the children participate this year. This incensed the committee and by a vote of the members of the camp the question of going to Scotch Plains was left with the committee.

Owing to the fact that the grave of the late John Hand is located in the Baptist cemetery at that place, the Sons of Veterans feel a peculiar interest in seeing that the grave is decorated, and the grave will be decorated this year as usual, but by a detail instead of the whole camp.

In regard to Mr. Morey's assertions about last year's celebration, the Sons of Veterans claim that the failure was due to Mr. Morey and that it was his fault that there was unnecessary delay. The outcome of the affair will be watched with interest by all interested, as the members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. and the fire company have made arrangements to turn out and the Township Committee appropriated the usual amount of $10 for the celebration.

HOSE HOUSE FOR WEST END.

Councilman Runyon Has Plans for the Building.

It is the intention of the fire and building committee of the Council to place a new hose wagon in the new fire house to be erected in the west end. At the next meeting of the Council Mr. Runyon, of the comittee, expects to present to the Council plans and specifications for a new hose house in the west end. It has not yet been decided just where the house will been located. The committee deem it wise that a new carriage be purchased, as they think that three hose carriages should be in the central portion of the city all of the time.

MAYOR TO OPEN GAME.

MR. FISK WILL PITCH THE FIRST BALL ACROSS THE PLATE.

Baseball season to Open Saturday Afternoon on the Crescent Oval—Seventh Regiment Players Coming

After three years of existence as the bicycle track of the now defunct Crescent Wheelmen, of this city, the Crescent Oval will start its career Saturday afternoon as the site of the baseball diamond of the Plainfield Crescents. In order that the grounds may be given a good start, Mayor Charles J. Fisk is going to personally open the season by throwing the first ball over the new home plate.

For the last few years baseball has lost much of its attraction for the good folk of Plainfield. Last year Manager Mumford placed the Crescents on the field and played through the season, meeting with good luck. While the support at first was poor, the people began to appreciate that they were having good baseball here and the interest increased rapidly.

Now Manager Mumford has made many improvements in his team, has secured new and enclosed grounds and has promised to give Plainfield the strongest team she has ever had.

Saturday afternoon the season opens with a game with the famous team from the Seventh Regiment of New York. It is the real Seventh Regiment, too, which was only defeated last Saturday by the Orange Athletic Club by a score of 5 to 3.

The game will be played on the Crescent Oval, which has now been thoroughly overhauled and a new diamond laid out. The commodious grandstand and bleachers furnish a good view of the field. Stages will run from the North Avenue station to convey the patrons of the game to the field.

Manager Mumford has been hustling about to secure a strong team and he has one now. McLarty and Vroom, last year's battery, will open Saturday's game in their old positions. Mac is reported to have considerably increased his effectiveness this year. Mike Cavanaugh, of the Newark A. C., will cover first. Clarence Vroom, of the Staten Island A. C., brother of the veteran catcher, will play at second. John Cooney, of this city, will play his usual game at third bag. A new man at short is Stemitz, who comes here from the Atlantic League. Collins and O'Brien, two of the crack players from Manhattan College, will play in centre and left field respectively. Arthur Lederer, captain of the Plainfield High School team, is down for right field.

The umpires will be Larry McCue, of the Eastern League, and Edward Erikson, of this city, who served so efficiently last year.

The game is scheduled to begin at 3:30 o'clock.

COUNTY TROLLEY SCHEME

Ten Maps for Westfield Avenue Improvement Ready.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, May 5—The Board of Freeholders will meet this afternoon to hear the report of the committee on the proposed widening of Westfield avenue. The committee will give an estimate of the cost, and it is probable some new bids for the trolley franchise will be submitted.

The maps prepared by County Engineer Bauer and Director Hubbard will be in readiness for the Board. The series consists of twelve maps, 5x2½ feet each, and show one mile of the avenue on each map, with the houses marked at their present locations. The maps show an extension of 60 feet beyond the route as proposed by the original Bergen plan.

Italians Pitiable Condition.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, May 5.—Overseer of the Poor Decker, of Westfield, had his attention called yesterday to the condition of Sylvester Vincenzio, an Italian living on Spring street. The man is confined to his bed with rheumatism, and his wife can get no work. They were in a starving condition, and had been without food for two days when their plight was discovered. The Overseer will give them assistance until the man is able to work.

Will Pay Soldiers' Dues.

At a recent meeting of Somerset Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., the members decided by a vote that any one of their number enlisting for the present war would have their dues paid while absent, and that if they have families the Council would look after them while the husband is away. This action was taken in view of the fact that a number of the members belong to military organizations and they are likely to be called.

—Roundsman Flynn is now doing night duty and Roundsman Frederickson has returned to day duty.

TO PUT WARDE IN JAIL.

SOMERSET AUTHORITIES WILL TRY TO LOCATE HIM.

Attachments Continue to Pile Up on the Property of the School—No Trace of the Missing Man as Yet.

The troubles of the absent superintendent of the defunct New Jersey Military Academy are not yet over. Every day brings in new attachments against the property of the departed Dr. A. D. Warde. Beside the pecuniary obligations that are piling up against him, the authorities of Somerset county are preparing to take a hand in the prosecution.

Now that all the affidavits and evidence have been placed in the hands of the assistant prosecutor of Somerset county, it is understood that every effort possible will be made to lay hands on the missing doctor and bring him to justice. Severel vague rumors have gained credence about town to the effect that he had been located, but they have been proved to be without foundation.

Murphy & Blatz, who have had charge of the bringing of most of the attachments against Dr. Warde's property, added two new ones yesterday. Miss Anna D. Cooper, of Westfield, who taught elocution at the Academy, has gotten out an attachment for $24.50 alleged to be due for her services. Boice, Bunyon & Company secured an attachment on the goods for $14. Codington & Swackhamer brought a writ of attachment for C. H. Rugg amounting to $17.60.

There are now sixteen writs of attachment on the property at the Academy, together with one distress warrant. They amount in all to $630.84. The property at the school is worth not over $300. Then there are bills amounting to several hundred dollars more that have not made any attempt to attach the property.

Miss Susan Glass has laid claim to two pictures and roll-top desk at the Academy which she claims she loaned to Dr. Warde to furnish the building. She was formerly associated with Dr. Warde at the North Plainfield High School.

DUNELLEN SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Board of Education Were Not in Harmony Over the Matter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, May 5—At a meeting of the Board of Education held Tuesday evening last the engaging of teachers for another year was the principal topic of interest. It was thought that Prof. Whitney, the present superintendent of schools, would not be hired for another year, but things took a different course and a question of compromise presented itself for consideration. The result was that Mr. Whitney was engaged for next year, and Miss Imogene Smith was replaced by Miss Weatherwak, of Lakewood. Certain members of the Board were willing to vote for Miss Weatherwak, providing Mr. Whitney should be kept, and that was the result of the meeting.

The corps of teachers for the coming year will be Principal Whitney, Miss Clara M. Davis, Miss Weatherwak, Miss Fisher and Miss Lloyd at the Whittier school. Miss Fanny Smith and Miss Fulper at the Lincoln school.

Miss Imogene Smith did not present her resignation as requested, but she will now be obliged to look for another place. Mr. Whitney will accept the appointment for another year. It was the expectation of the Board to engage Prof. Weeks, of Carteret, but the compromise changes the slate. The meeting of the Board was not altogether harmonious.

In Honor of Birthday Celebration

A few friends of C. J. Mackoy, of East Third street, gave him a surprise last evening in honor of the celebration of his birthday. The evening was passed in a social manner and supper was served at midnight. Mr. Mackoy received a number of useful presents from his friends. Mrs. Mackoy, wife of the celebrant, made the affair very enjoyable for all present. Those in attendasce were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowzer, Miss Florence Bowzer, Miss Addie Trueman, Mr. and Mrs. Tucker Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Johnson, Miss Ada Johnson, Mr. and Mrs Binn, Miss Belle Flanagan, Mr. Still, R. A. Hill and daughter, Miss Stella Hill.

Enlisted in the Navy.

Sworn in as Justice.

Justice Mosher went to Elizabeth yesterday to be sworn in as a Justice. His term expired yesterday and this action was necessary.

MAY BE A SECOND MRS. NACK AND THORN CASE.

Double Murder Trial Commenced in Elizabeth.

FIGHT FOR EACH ONE'S LIFE.

DEFENSE OF THE TWO IS CONFLICTING AND ANTAGONISTIC.

B. A. Barnes, of Plainfield, Selected as Foreman of the Jury—Former Prosecutor Marsh Rehearsed the Crime of Killing of the Old Farmer and the Evidence That Fastened the Guilt on the Prisoners—A Number of Witnesses Were Heard—Manshanda Put on the Stand—Craig A. Marsh will Defend Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, May 5.—It looks as though the murder trials of Louis Roesel and George Manshanda, charged with killing William Pitts, the old farmer living between Scotch Plains and Summit, were going to develop into a second Thorn and Mrs. Nack case, so far as the lawyers go to clear the men.

The men were arraigned in court for trial yesterday morning. The first thing was to secure a jury, and after an hour the following were accepted:

The jurors selected were: Foreman, B. T. Barnes, Plainfield; Benjamin A. Lawrence, Elizabeth; Henry B. Adell, Elizabeth; William E. Ming, Roselle; Adolph Ganzel, Westfield; Augustus Brown, Westfield; Elias C. Winant, Elizabeth; William Ross, Rahway; J. C. Husband, Elizabeth; J. J. Ferrelly, Elizabeth; William A. Miller, Rahway; Morris M. Matson, Elizabeth.

Lawyers Frank Bergen and Edward Nugent, representing Roesel, wanted to have both men tried at the same time. Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, counsel for Manshanda, immediately jumped up and protested. He said that it would be an injustice to his client, as the defense in each case is antagonistic to the other.

Though common report puts the crime equally on the shoulders of each man, it will be a big fight between the lawyers to save the neck of their client irrespective of the fate of the other.

Prosecutor English is assisted by former Prosecutor Marsh, under whom the case was first started. Judge VanSyckel decided to give each prisoner a separate trial.

The trial began shortly before noon and will last about two days. There are about thirty witnesses.

Prosecutor Marsh narrated the story of the crime. Farmer Pitts was nearly 80 years old and a bachelor. He lived on the Stony Hill road, near Summit. The only other occupant of the place was his aged colored housekeeper, Mary Davis. Roesel worked ten months on the dairy farm of Mr. Woodruff, adjoining Farmer Pitts. Roesel, he said, first met Manshanda on Gould's Island, near Newport, last June, and afterward on Staten Island. They planned to rob Pitts and went to Summit, but Manshanda weakened and after spending the night in Pitts' barn they returned to New York. The next Thursday night they went to the place armed with a revolver and wearing black masks.

When Farmer Pitts, hearing the men moving about the house, opened the door, he was struck a blow on the head by Roesel with the club. He fell dead. His housekeeper was beaten by Roesel and left for dead, but she has since recovered. Her screams alarmed the men and they fled without securing any of the thousands of dollars they supposed Farmer Pitts had concealed in the house.

In their flight they threw away the pistol, balestick, masks and even the railroad tickets they bought in New York to return from Summit.

George Manshanda was arrested in October in Irvington by County Detective Keron, Roesel was captured on Staten Isand by detective Edward B. Kelly, of Summit, and Captain of Police Stewart, of Summit.

Manshanda, when he heard Roesel was in custody, made a confession, in which he threw all on Roesel. Manshanda afterward attempted to commit suicide in the jail by turning on the gas. He has since been closely watched.

The witnesses examined yesterday were Former City Surveyor Queen, of Elizabeth; William Schultz, the Summit photographer; Dr. Lawrence, of Summit, and Dr. Cooper, of Westfield, who made the autopsy. Both testified that death resulted from concussion of brain, caused by a blow on the head.

TO ATTACK PORTO RICO

Sampson's Biggest Fighting Ships Leave Key West.

BIG BATTLE EXPECTED SOON

Among the Warships that Sailed Were the New York, Iowa, Indiana, Detroit, Marblehead, Puritan and Mayflower—The Plan Is to Capture San Juan Before Spain's Fleet Can Reach It.

London, May 5.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Key West, sent by way of Tampa in order to escape censorship, asserts of positive knowledge that Real Admiral Sampson's fleet will steam at full speed to Porto Rico either to destroy or to occupy the coaling station as a naval base before the Spanish squadron arrives and then put to sea and try to engage the Cape Verde fleet.

Key West, Fla., May 5.—This harbor is again empty. Admiral Sampson's fleet has sailed and the situation is one of expectancy. There is a strong impression prevailing that the next news from the fleet will be an important engagement of the same character as the Asiatic squadron's Manila victory. Until then no interesting developments are expected, except possibly the bringing in of new prizes.

The warships which left here yesterday were the New York, Iowa, Indiana, Detroit, Marblehead, Puritan and the Mayflower. An extra quantity of coal was taken aboard here, the battleships taking in full bunker capacity as well as deck loads. Rumors are to the effect that Porto Rico is the destination of the fleet, and that San Juan will be captured to prevent the Spanish fleet, now supposed to be coming west from Cape de Verde, from making that island a base of operations. The blockade of Cuban ports will be maintained without the vessels already named.

The plan of the American campaign is to have a naval depot at Porto Rico with a coal station, etc. It will be either destroyed or occupied by our men before the Spanish fleet arrives.

After establishing or destroying the base of supplies, the American flotilla will put to sea and try to engage the Spanish fleet, which it hopes to meet in the vicinity of Porto Rico.

Before it became known that they would steam away army and navy officers seemed disappointed over the apprehension of a possible early closing of the war. American citizens and Cubans in this city were likewise worried to think that the brutal and hated volunteers of Havana would escape a severe punishment at the hands of Admiral Sampson's vessels, but these views were quickly abandoned when it became known that the fleet had left.

The departure of the warships caused great excitement here, and news of a naval engagement is anxiously awaited.

RETURNING TO CADIZ.

Reported that the Spanish Fleet Has Left Cape Verde for Home.

Lisbon, May 5.—News has been received here to the effect that the Spanish Cape Verde squadron has returned to join the Spanish fleet near Cadiz, which is nearly ready for sea. It is added that the combined fleets will shortly start for American waters.

The Spanish fleet which was at the Cape Verde Islands, consisting of the Vizcaya, Almirante Oquendo, Cristobal Colon and Maria Teresa (all first class cruisers), accompanied by the torpedo boat destroyers Furor, Terror and Pluton, left St. Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, on April 29, destination unknown. The distance from the Cape Verde Islands to the Canary Islands is about 876 miles, and the distance from the Canary Islands to Cadiz is about 700 miles, or 1,576 miles from the Cape Verde Islands to Cadiz. The Spanish squadron, being five days out from St. Vincent, could have made Cadiz by this time, steaming at the rate of about 300 miles a day, or a little over twelve knots an hour. But the Lisbon dispatch does not say distinctly that the squadron "has returned to join the Spanish fleet at Cadiz," which may mean that its news comes possibly from the Canary Islands, or from some source at Madrid.

At Cadiz the Spaniards are understood to be fitting out the battleship Pelayo and the first class cruisers Cardenal Cisneros, Emperador Carlos V., Giuseppe Garibaldi and Alfonso XIII., besides the warships Numancia, Victoria, Destructor and several auxiliary cruisers and a number of torpedo boats and torpedo gunboats.

BIG BATTLE AT HAND.

Enemy's Ships to Be Wiped Out Before the Oregon Is Attacked.

Washington, May 5.—A naval engagement of far greater magnitude than any recorded in modern history is imminent. It will occur in Southern waters within a few days. The naval strategists at Washington have planned for it and the sailing of the fleet from Key West is the first move.

The Spanish fleet from Cape Verde is coming across the Atlantic, and its base of operations is at Porto Rico. The enemy will cruise to the east of Porto Rico and north of Pernambuco and hope to intercept the Oregon and Marietta and dispose of them before engaging the fleet at Havana. This they believe would inspire their men and demoralize Sampson's crew.

This is the theory upon which the naval strategists are working. The most formidable and most powerful fleet that can be mustered from the vessels of the North Atlantic Squadron have been assembled to attack the Spanish warships.

The battleships Iowa, Indiana and Massachusetts, cruisers Brooklyn, New York; monitors Terror, Puritan and Amphitrite; the torpedo flotilla and such gunboats as may be necessary to strengthen the fighting fleet will be sent against the Spaniards. The Columbia, Minneapolis and other fleet cruisers will also take an important part.

If the Spaniards expect to find the Oregon and Marietta, however, steaming north of Pernambuco, they will be disappointed. When they left Rio Janeiro they sailed under orders by which a meeting with the enemy will be avoided. It is asserted that the two American ships will lie off Rio until the Spanish fleet must return to Porto Rico. The ships of the enemy cannot wait long for the battleships because of the coal supply.

Meanwhile it is hoped by the strategists that the Spanish fleet will have been sighted. Then the full strength of the North Atlantic fleet can be used to crush the Spaniards. The Oregon and Marietta will then proceed forth, and if the enemy is still unconquered the big battleships will lend a helping hand in the work of destruction.

There is little apprehension here as to results. No one doubts the ability of the North Atlantic Squadron to wipe out the seven vessels comprising the fleet en route here from Cape Verde Islands.

A council of war has been held by the commanders of the vessels of the fleet, and all have their instructions as to the part they are to take in the big naval battle.

It is believed here that the Lisbon report of the Cape Verde fleet to Cadiz is sent out to deceive the naval authorities at Washington.

FATAL BOILER EXPLOSION.

Two Men Killed and Three Others Seriously Injured.

Paterson, N. J., May 5.—A terrific and fatal explosion occurred in this city yesterday. The whole boiler house of the Passaic Rolling Mill company, which contained fourteen boilers, seemed to rise in the air, and then fell a mass of ruins. One boiler weighing twenty tons was thrown more than 500 feet. The noise was heard throughout the whole city. Two men were killed, Edward Couser, 25 years old, and William Sherlock, 50 years old. Both were unmarried. Their bodies were crushed. Three men were severely injured.

Of the fourteen boilers, but seven were in use. The others had been thoroughly inspected and the flues cleaned.

The part of the plant where the boilers were located was totally wrecked. In fact, most of the place was blown down. The damage to the company was about $75,000. The three men injured were struck with flying pieces of the boilers.

There was no warning of the explosion. The men were attending to their duties when the accident occurred. Just what caused it has not yet been ascertained. It is believed that water in the boilers was permitted to run too low.

Three hundred men will be thrown out of work for an indefinite period. The plant has been working night and day on an order for the Government.

SPEAKS OF DEATH.

Gladstone Constantly Thinks of His Approaching End.

London, May 5.—The Daily Chronicle says this morning:

"Mr. Gladstone's strength steadily declines, though there is, we blieeve, no prospect of an immediate end. The disease has not gained force enough to overcome the wonderful strength of his constitution, but a natural weakness now supervenes, and gains upon him, encouraged Mr. Gladstone's fervent desire for the rest which he has so richly earned.

Now and again his mind reverts to critical periods in his career and to the legislation which cost him the most anxiety, but the main thing that fills his thought is religion, and he speaks of death as his call."

Spain Would Give Up Cuba.

London, May 5.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"Those who are best informed as to the government's view allege that if the Spanish arms suffer another reverse like that at Manila the government would informally request the great powers to lend their services to arrange the best possible terms of peace. Many Liberals consider that Spain, having maintained her honor and justified her chivalry, can now afford to yield to superior force, but it is doubtful whether public opinion would approve this line of action.

Getting the Charleston Ready.

Vallejo, Cal., May 5.—It is reported at the Navy Yard that the cruiser Charleston will go into commission to-day and immediately get under way for the Philippines. She is expected to convoy to the Orient under all possible speed one or more of the fastest steamers that can be purchased in San Francisco, which will be loaded with ammunition, coal, food, clothing and troops.

Price of Paper May Be Affected.

New York, May 5.—The price of the cheaper grades of paper is likely to advance considerably unless the war ends soon or Spain removes the embargo she has placed on sulphur as contraband of war. Brimstone enters largely into the composition of the paper used for newspapers and magazines, and the amount in this country at present is extremely small.

Sanderson Story Pronounced Absurd.

London, May 5.—The British Foreign Office says the story that Sir Thomas H. Sanderson, permanent Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, is to replace Pauncefote is so preposterous that the Foreign Office does not think it worth while to contradict it. It is quite as preposterous as a report that the Prince of Wales was to replace Sir Julian.

To Bring Home Dewey's Wounded.

Washington, May 5.—The Government has chartered the Pacific mail steamship City of Pekin, at San Francisco, to bring back to the United States the wounded of Commodore Dewey's squadron. She will leave San Francisco about May 15, several days before her regular sailing day.

Japan Greatly Interested.

Yokohama, May 5.—The situation created by the defeat of the Spanish fleet at Manila is regarded as being deeply interesting to Japan, as it is taken for granted that it presages the downfall of Spanish power in the East and the freedom of the Philippine Islands.

Barb Wire Cutters to Level Trocha.

Washington, May 5.—The War Department has sent to New York an order for 2,500 barb wire cutters, to be delivered in Tampa Monday. The tools are to be used in demolishing Weyler's trocha.

CABLE STILL USELESS

The Reported Surrender of Manila Only a Conjecture,

BUT IT IS PROBABLY TRUE

The Dispatch Boat Hugh McCulloch, of Commodore Dewey's Fleet, Arrives at Mirs Bay, but It Is Said She Left Manila Before the Battle. Westminster Gazette's Views on the Philippine Question.

Hong Kong, May 4.—The United States dispatch boat Hugh McCulloch has arrived at Mirs Bay. It is said she left Manila before the battle.

CABLE NOT YET REPAIRED.

Reported Fall of City, While Probably True, Cannot Be Confirmed.

London, May 5.—Inquiries at the office of the Eastern Telegraph Company show that the Hong Kong-Manila cable is still interrupted. The reported surrender of Manila, while probably true, is yet conjecture.

The principal Manila merchants in London agree that the Philippine Islands will be pleased to have the revolt ended, and will view with equanimity America's future action there. They all gladly hail the end of a state of things which, the merchants say, is quite as bad as in Cuba.

The Westminster Gazette, discussing the Philippine question, quotes the assumption of American newspapers "that the United States can do precisely what she chooses with Manila or the Philippine Islands, return them, keep them, sell them or barter them, implying that America has only to speak and no one will venture to dispute her right to dispose of her lawful prize as she chooses." The Westminster Gazette says it much fears that "this view will entail disagreeable surprises," adding:

"In entering European politics, the United States will probably discover that these simple ideas of doing what you will with your own have become obsolete in Europe. The first symptoms are likely to be marked by an increase of the anti American pressure, which, if Great Britain could be counted on to join in it, would speedily lead to intervention in behalf of Spain."

After pointing out the futility of expecting Great Britain to join in such a movement, and the probability of attempts on the part of the Continental powers, at the close of the war, to prevent the United States from holding the Philippine Islands, the Westminster Gazette says:

"The natural tendency of all this is to bring the United States and Great Britain together, and we hope it will be fostered by the statesmen and by a revival of the arbitration treaty at the first opportunity."

Vice-Admiral Philip Howard Colomb, retired, the inventor of improved systems for signaling at sea and the author of a number of naval works, in an interview on the victory at Manila said:

"I doubt if there ever was such an extraordinary illustration of the influence of sea power. A superior fleet has attacked and beaten a Spanish fleet supported by batteries, and has taken up an unassailable position off Manila. The boldness of the American commander is beyond question. Henceforth he must be placed in the Valhalla of great naval commanders. Nothing can detract from the dash and vigor of the American exploit, or dim the glory which Dewey has shed upon the American navy. It may be bad for the world, for assuredly the American Navy will never accept a subordinate place after this exhibition of what it can do."

WAITING FOR THE NEWS.

Why the McCulloch Cannot Take Dispatches to Hong Kong.

Washington, May 5.—The Government is still without official news from Commodore Dewey. It was expected that dispatches would arrive during the night, giving full authentic news of the great naval operations in the East, but not a word of any kind has reached Washington except press dispatches.

Secretary Long fully understands the reason for the delay. He explained this morning why, although the revenue cutter, McCulloch, had been sighed off Mirs Bay, near Hong Kong, no word had come by cable. As the McCulloch is now a United States war ship, under the neutrality laws, if she entered Hong Kong harbor, she would not be able to leave it again. She could not go there at this time for supplies or coal, because she only left that port a few weeks ago, and under the neutrality laws cannot return within three months.

The McCulloch is supposed to be at Mirs Bay, forty miles from Hong Kong, and she will have to communicate with the city through the medium of a native boat or other means of transportation. The captain of the McCulloch cannot send one of his launches or gigs into the harbor, because it is part of the war vessel, and so the naval officer carrying the dispatches will have to make the forty miles in a hired vessel. He will then go as a private citizen, and not as a naval officer.

The State Department does not expect Consul Wildman to cable them before the captain of the McCulloch notifies the Navy Department. Undoubtedly, the Consul will arrange to meet the naval officer from the McCulloch, and facilitate the sending of the dispatches, but the first word will come to the Navy Department.

There is the greatest interest manifested in the State, War and Navy Departments over the arrival of the news, and crowds are waiting in the corridors to get the first information.

To Adopt Co-education.

Philadelphia, May 5.—The Board of Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania has decided to offer undergraduate courses for women in every way equal to those now open to men, and which are to lead to the same degrees. Col. Joseph M. Bennett has presented to the university four houses on Walnut street, adjoining Bennett Hall, valued altogether at $90,000. These buildings will be razed and in their place a hall is to be erected exclusively for women students, at a total cost of about $500,000.

WAITING FOR MONEY.

Invasion of Cuba Delayed by Slowness in Passing Emergency Bill.

Washington, May 5.—The War Department officials are claiming that Congress is responsible for the slight delay in sending the army of invasion to Cuba. The department has not yet the money for the expedition, and as soon as the Emergency bill shall have become a law, everything will be ready for a start. It is explained that there is no definite postponement of the embarkment of the troops from Tampa, and that the delay is merely from hour to hour, day to day, as the preparations drag. The delay is not consequent upon any change of plan, nor on any opposition from the Navy Department.

Information as to the terribly discordant state of affairs in Spain, the fall of the dynasty being threatened, is calculated to hasten operations on the part of the United States. While the Administration will not be led to take any step which has not been carefully considered, it is recognized here to be desirable that we should have possession of Cuba and Porto Rico before a collapse comes in Spain.

Should there be an overthrow of the Spanish dynasty and a new government of any sort should sue at once for peace, the terms of peace might not be so satisfactory if our offensive military operations had not begun and Cuba and Porto Rico were still in the possession of Spain. The intervention of the foreign powers would not be recognized by this Government, and war would have to be continued until there had been a surrender. But, at the same time, it would be a very unsatisfactory situation if this Government, in order to accomplish what it has set out to accomplish, had to make war upon a nation without any responsible head, and torn by internal strife.

AMMUNITION FOR DEWEY'S FLEET.

Large Quantities to Be Shipped as Quickly as Possible.

Washington, May 5.—Large quantities of ammunition will be sent to Commodore Dewey to replenish the magazines of his ships. Shipments will be expedited, as the American squadron would be in a bad way if an attack were made on it by the Spanish shore forces.

Ordnance officers say that the vessels under Dewey had full magazines, and even carried fixed ammunition on deck. They will not tell how much the magazines contained, but is pretty certain that none of the American ships had more than a couple of hundred rounds of powder and projectiles for its largest guns.

In an engagement lasting two hours half of this must have been shot away, according to the officers not in the Ordnance Bureau, and they maintain that Dewey is badly in need of more supplies for the magazines.

As for coal, not so much concern is felt. There is every confidence expressed that Dewey will get all the Spanish coal in the Philippines. It is currently reported that these supplies aggregate 80,000 tons, enough to last the American vessels for a year, provided not much cruising is done.

Before leaving Hong Kong Commodore Dewey had made arrangements for getting all the coal he needed. In order that there would be no trouble over the neutrality laws it is pretty certain that Commodore Dewey made contracts for the delivery of the coal on the high seas.

Naval officers say that this was undoubtedly done by Dewey, as he realized the difficulties placed in his way by the neutrality proclamations and went away fully prepared to carry on a long blockade of Manila.

WHAT WAR WILL COST US.

Expenses for First Six Months Swell Deficiency Bill to $120,000,000.

Washington, May 5.—It is expected that the war expenditures for the first six months of the coming fiscal year will make the General Deficiency Appropriation bill, now being held in the House Committee on Appropriations, reach an aggregate of about $120,000,000. This is the rough calculation of Chairman Cannon, assuming that all these expenditures will be provided for in a single deficiency bill, instead of earlier separate bills.

The General Deficiency bill has been in readiness to report to the House for several weeks, but now will not be reported until just before the adjournment of Congress, which many of the leaders, including Chairman Dingley and Chairman Cannon, believe will be reached about the middle of next month. Between now and then the War Department will submit its war estimates for the first part of the next fiscal year covering expenditures to be made until a month after Congress reconvenes. On a rough reckoning something over $80,000,000 is expected to be asked for.

SPY ON THE ST. PAUL.

A Spanish Oiler Caught Tampering with Cruiser's Magazine.

Philadelphia, May 5.—The report that a supposed Spanish spy had been captured aboard the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, at Cramps' Ship Yard, has been confirmed. Who the man is Capt. Sigsbee refuses to state, and all that is known of him is that his father is a Spaniard and that his mother was born on Cuban soil. The suspected man enlisted some days ago as an oiler, and almost from the time of his enlistment was under suspicion, on account of his peculiar actions.

Late Tuesday night a marine on watch below decks near the powder magazine discovered the man acting in a suspicious way around the magazine. The marine lost no time in bringing the man to the ground, and a short and severe fight followed. The guard overpowered him, but not before the suspect had received a great gash on the right side of his face.

Weeps with Spain.

Three Rivers, Que., May 5.—Le Trifluvian, the organ of Archbishop Lefische, in an editorial, says: "The Spaniards have sustained a disaster at Manila. We will weep with them at the lessening of the influence which will result from the defeat, especially as it attaches to the arms of a Catholic power. God appears to have not yet finished giving the devil free play. Let us still hope, however, that the last word has not been said."

CRISIS NEAR IN SPAIN

REVOLUTION IS AT HAND

All Valencia in State of Siege—Martial Law Proclaimed Throughout Province and Further Disturbances Reported—Pillage Threatened at Gijon on the Bay of Biscay—Riots at Caceres Suppressed.

Madrid, May 5.—It is believed that the resignation of the Spanish Cabinet is imminent.

A dispatch from Talavera (Talavera de la Reyna, about thirty-seven miles from Toledo) announces that rioters there have committed serious disorders. They have attacked and seized the railroad station, burned the cars and then set fire to several private houses and a cafe.

After that the rioters tried to break into the prison and release the convicts. The civil guards prevented them from releasing the prisoners. Many arrests were made.

A state of siege has been declared at Gijon, a fortified seaport on the Bay of Biscay, pillage being threatened.

Riots have occurred at Caceres, but they are said to have been suppressed by the gendarmes.

Martial law has been declared throughout the Province of Valencia. Further disturbances are reported.

A dispatch from Valencia says that a band of twelve armed men has been formed at Catalan, but it is not yet known whether any political significance attaches to this movement. Gendarmes have been sent in pursuit.

A riot has broken out at Zolavera in consequence of the rise of bread.

SAGASTA'S SPEECH.

Madrid, May 5.—In the course of the debate in the Cortes, Premier Sagasta said that in twenty-five years Spain had expended the sum of 3,500,000,000 pesetas ($100,000,000) upon fortifications. In her dealings with Spain, Senor Sagasta declared, the United States had been pursuing a contemptible policy the like of which had never been seen before.

The American Republic did not dare to make war upon Spain face to face. It had sought to harm Spain indirectly. He was certain that the United States would be delighted if the Republicans should cause disorder in Spain. At this utterance, the Republican deputies protested vigorously and the Conservatives cheered and applauded loudly.

Senor Flornes (Carlist) read a letter saying that no kind of defenses existed at Manila.

Gen. Correa, Minister of War, said that the enemy would not set foot in Manila, as the garrison there was strong enough to repel them.

SUNK A SPANISH BOAT.

The Converted Yacht Eagle Made Havoc at Cienfuegos.

Key West, Fla., May 5.—The crew of the converted yacht Eagle say here that in the engagement at Cienfuegos on Friday they are positive that one Spanish gunboat went down and that a Spanish torpedo boat was so badly damaged that it could scarcely take refuge in that bay. The sea was perfectly smooth and the firing on each side was well directed.

One of the officers of the Eagle said: "We were surprised at the accuracy of the Spaniards' aim. Their gunnery was a revelation. One of their shots struck within a few feet of the Eagle's bowsprit, while two went over the deck, eight feet in the air. The Eagle at one time was pitted against about ten gunboats. The little ship edged up to them as close as possible and finally drove the Spaniards back."

It is understood that this city will be placed under martial law to-morrow, and that the first step of the military will be to arrest half a dozen Americans who are known to be in the employ of Spain.

A semi official statement is to the effect that the blockade off Cuba has been more or less a failure, and that a number of small craft have succeeded in reaching both Havana and Matanzas with supplies.

An officer of the Iowa says that we have proof that the Italian man of war Giovanni Bausan was seen landing ammunition in Havana.

INSULT TO ENGLISHMAN.

A British Steam Yacht Stoned by a Spanish Mob.

Gibraltar, May 5.—A British steam yatch, the Lady of Clemell, owned by a Mr. Wilkinson, of London, has just arrived here from Malaga, Spain, from which port she was obliged to depart suddenly, owing to the Spaniards mobbing and stoning her.

A dispatch received from Madrid makes no mention of the alleged assassinations of Senor Moret, the Minister for the Colonies, and Marshal Martinez de Campos, the former captain general of Cuba. But it says that great excitement prevails at the Spanish capital.

TO TRANSFER HAWAII.

President Dole Offers Us the Islands for War Purposes.

Honolulu, April 27, via San Francisco, May 5.—President Dole has sent a long communication to President McKinley, offering to transfer the Hawaiian Islands to the United States for the purpose of its war with Spain and to furnish the American ships of war in Pacific waters with large quantities of coal, supplies and ammunition.

This action was taken by the Executive after a conference of the Hawaiian Cabinet called to discuss the position to be assumed toward the two belligerents.

Disturbances in Porto Rico.

St. Thomas, West Indies, May 5.—The latest advices from Porto Rico show that the disturbed condition of the island continues. People are leaving and political arrests are being made. The United States authorities are negotiating for more coal here.

PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS IN LINE.

Three Brigades, Numbering Nearly 9,000 Men, Faced the Governor.

Mount Gretna, Pa., May 5.—The formal enrollment of the Pennsylvania militiamen for the volunteer service of the United States was completed yesterday, when Gen. Gobens' regiments, comprising the Third Brigade, were successfully formed upon the field at Camp Hastings, and each officer and man was asked individually for his answer. Five regiments, a battery and a cavalry troop comprise the brigade, and make up a total of 2,723 officers and men on the field under arms.

When the ceremony was over it was found that 2,266 enlisted men, 123 company officers, and 61 regimental officers had agreed to volunteer. But 258 enlisted men refused and 5 officers were unable to go. As near as can be approximated at present over 90 per cent. of the National Guard of the State volunteered, and when the official numbers are made public the percentage will, it is thought, be above 90.

In the three brigades 8,546 officers and men faced the Inspector General and Gov. Hastings and staff, and 7,729 of these volunteered. Of that number 568 were officers and 7,171 were enlisted men. Those who declined were 13 officers and 794 men. The majority of the declinations were due to physical disability or because of family conditions.

The general phyical examination of the men will begin to-day, and the mustering in will come as soon as possible thereafter. The men of Batteries A and C were examined yesterday. Both these batteries will move to-morrow. The destination will be Newport News. The cavalry will be examined to-day, and probably be mustered in and move soon thereafter.

Queen Regent May Resign.

London, May 5.—The Madrid correspondent of the Morning Post says: "The Government is aware that it cannot rely upon the army. It is an open secret that a society has been formed within its ranks to put an end to the humiliation Spain has suffered at the hands of her incompetent ministers. Judging by what one hears, very terrible things may shortly happen."

The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "The idea of the resignation of the Regency by Queen Maria Cristina is being seriously reconsidered by the members of the imperial family of Austria, with a view of averting an anti dynastic movement and saving the throne. An exchange of ideas on the subject is going on between the Queen Regent and her Austrian family, but its most influential members are decidedly opposed."

Flags.

A stranger dropping upon us from a far country would conclude that we were decked out for a week's national festivities and rejoicings, so gay is our land with many colored bunting. From north to south, from east to west, it flutters upon the spring winds, our own red, white and blue banner mostly, with the flags of other nations friendly to us intertwined here and there. Close together upon the same building in our large cities are seen at one side the British union jack draped with the United States flag, while on the other side the stars and stripes and the green flag of Erin with its harp of gold wave out through cloud and sunshine.

At the seat of the Canadian government, Ottawa, when recently the St. George's society held a banquet, one of the most notable decorations in their hall was the flags of Great Britain and the United States intertwined and the most honored guest of the occasion was the United States consul general at Ottawa, Colonel C. E. Turner. Even Irishmen, who have cause enough, heaven knows, for a grudge at Great Britain, are inclined to cease gibing her for the present because she is friendly to the United States, which welcomes as our truest citizens the sons of Erin and makes them policemen to guard the peace of our large cities.

And ever in the midst of the sea of bunting that rolls over our land flashes in and out most notable of all the beautiful flag of free Cuba, with its five blue and white stripes and its own brilliant star upon the red ground, emblem of the glory and the suffering of the patriot island, its white purity of purpose, its blue steadfast fidelity to that purpose, its red the blood the patriots have shed to win their liberty.

For us of the United States, next to the glory of being the nation to make Cuba free, is the satisfaction of knowing that the flags of so many other countries are intertwined with ours in sincere friendship and good will at this moment. It is the best evidence that we are a nation of peace and that we wish well to all peoples who love liberty.

The Spanish squadron at Manilla numbered four times as many vessels as the American fleet that went from Hongkong. The Spaniard had 6 cruisers and 20 gunboats. We had 4 cruisers and 2 gunboats. Our fleet is, however, thoroughly up to date in every respect, while the Spanish Philippine squadron in vessels and equipment is antiquated and ragtag.

The three volunteer cavalry regiments authorized under the new law will compare with the best troops of horsemen in any army of the world. These regiments are to be made up entirely of volunteer western border men, unerring marksmen, unflinching in their nerve and endurance, experienced in perils and knowing not fear.

Portugal is indirectly interested in this war from the fact that the Spanish squadron and likewise the torpedo flotilla remained so long in her harbor at St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands.

In order to cover all war seizures on the ocean and make things entirely clear and legal the president's proclamation dated back, so to speak, the beginning of the war to April 21.

Sumter was fired on on Friday, April 15, President Lincoln was assassinated on Friday, April 14, and the first shot in the present war with Spain was fired on Friday, April 22.

Many persons think they are reasoning when they are only giving expression to their prejudices.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Senate Door Keeper Fred N. Brown, of North Plainfield borough, was recently appointed school census enumerator. Office sits easy on Mr. Brown's brow and he thinks he will enter enter the race for the Republican shrievalty nomination next fall. The hit he made in the Senate last winter did not turn his head; his mental box is all right, chock full of gray matter and always working to get office for some fellow. Mr. Brown is a bachelor and a temperance orator of no mean ability.—Tilden Democrat in State Center.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

When William Drysdale, of Cranford, had a talk with former President Cleveland, at Princeton, a few days ago, Mr. Drysdale suggested that, happy as he was to meet Mr. Cleveland anywhere, he would have been better pleased, in the present state of National affairs, to meet him in the White House.

"Thank you," said Mr. Cleveland, with a suggestive laugh, leaning back in his big chair. "I find it very comfortable here in Princeton!"

* * * * *

It has definitely been settled that the new flag of the city, the gift of Edward White, the West Front street merchant, will wave from the centre of the business section, the corner of Park and North avenues. The pole will arrive here in a day or two and the work of preparing it for the erection will be started at once. Details for the celebration that is to follow the placing of the pole and the hoisting of Old Glory have not yet been made.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

"Way Down East," at the Manhattan in New York, is easily outlasting in favor any other production in New York, and will complete the season without any effort to merely kill time. The success of this sympathetic, picturesque and richly humorous drama of American rural life has been of the most positive and convincing kind. Its fame has been heralded far and wide, but its phenomenal hit is due to its greatest intrinsic value, the superb acting of Phœbe Davies and the unusual all around excellence of a cast in which even the smallest part is made an artistic character hit. Mrs. McKinley's recent visit, and the extraordinary enthusiasm which resulted gave "Way Down East" a fresh boom, but it was scarcely needed for the play has a hold upon popular fancy that nothing but very hot weather can shake off.

The first experiment in the way of a road organization to be attempted by the famous music hall amusement purveyors, Koster & Bial, will be presented at Music Hall, Saturday matinee and night. It is a musical extravaganza entitled, "Gayest Manhattan," which ran continuously through the winter season in New York. The story hinges upon a stage-infatuated maiden who, aided and abbetted by a rich, fond and foolish father, comes to New York to study for the stage. Of course, a musical extravaganza like "Gayest Manhattan" would fall flat without a chorus of pretty girls They are considered an all important adjunct in every burlesque to enliven things when the scene approaches dullness, and to add chic and color to everything. The merry maidens in "Gayest Manhattan" have been selected with the greatest care, regarding both voice and shape. While the dialogue of "Gayest Manhattan" is at all times snappy and bright, and the action as swift as a whirlwind, Mr. Harley, the manager, assures the public that nothing in the piece can be found offensive to the most fastidious.

Ladies and children will be offered opportunity to see "Gayest Manhattan" at Music Hall Saturday. There will be a grand bargain matinee that day. Reserved seats will be sold.

REMEMBER THOSE HEROES.

Remember the heroes,
Who died on the Maine.
Who died with intense
Sorrow and pain.

Who were doing their duty
To save the souls
Of the poor starving Cubans
One night in the cold.

Who were killed by the Spaniards
On those dark waters deep,
And sank to the bottom
In a watery grave to sleep.

This causes the excitement
O'er the United States,
And that hurries other heroes
To enlist at great rate.

To fight the cruel Spaniards
Who think they are smart.
But, who we find out,
Have no shame in their hearts.

Then up with your guns
And your bullets hard,
And off for Havana
Which we will bombard.

And if we can get
This great city, you'll see
Cuba will have her share
Of peace and liberty.

BERGEN IS GETTING MAD

INDULGES IN STRONG TALK ABOUT COUNTY TROLLEY OBJECTORS.

He Calls A. B. Bigelow a Chronic Kicker, and Says He is Jealous On Account of Proposed Trolley Route.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, May 5.—Frank Bergen, speaking of the attack on the trolley franchise project by Cranford men, said that William Drysdale, who is at the head of the "kickers," is the son-in-law of Alden B. Bigelow.

"Bigelow," remarked Mr. Bergen, "is known as Cranford's chronic kicker. He has opposed every improvement introduced in the town since he has lived there, including the electric lights, water supply and telephone service. In conjunction with a few other kickers, who live on the south side of the town, and who are mad because the trolley is not to run along their property, so as to increase the value of their building lots, he is raising a big howl.

"The great majority of the respectable property owners of Cranford," continued Mr. Bergen, "are heartily in favor of the county trolley road despite the noise made by Bigelow and his selfish coterie. Their screaming, however, will not do them any good, as the projected improvement of Westfield avenue will go ahead just the same, no matter kow much they rant. No opposition was made to the proposed improvement by residents of Cranford at the big public meeting held in Elizabeth to explain the plan to the people of Union County. The only opposition to the scheme in Fanwood is made by a person named Babcock, a man whom I spanked in public some time ago, and he has never forgiven or forgotten the dressing down I gave him on that occasion. Now he is trying to get even by desperately endeavoring to foment, in conjunction with Bigelow and Drysdale, antagonism in Union County to the county trolley road. But, outside of what they are doing, no opposition has been developed to the improvements in any other part of the county."

PRICES OF FLAGS GOING UP.

Demand by Citizens for Bunting Likely to Exceed Supply.

The demand by patriotic citizens for flags and bunting to decorate offices, stores and houses has been so great that the supply is running short, and prices have gone up with a rush. Although the factories have been making bunting as fast as they can, the demand from almost all directions has fully kept pace with the supply, and from present indications it will soon exceed the present output.

Orders from the country districts are just beginning to come in, and city dealers say there are calls for tens of thousands of flags. The Government, it is said, has the first call on the bunting now being made, and until that is supplied private citizens will probably soon have to pay an advance of one hundred per cent. on the prices that ruled ten days ago.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

PRIZED RELICS FOR OLD FIRE FIGHTERS.

Presentation Made at the Meeting of Exempts.

A PATRIOTIC RESOLUTION.

MEMBERS WHO ENLIST WILL RECEIVE BENEFITS.

The Resolutions Unanimously Adopted—A Brass Cannon to Decorate the Rooms, as Well as a Piece of Cannon That Exploded in 1861 and Killed a Man—Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year—Old Hand Engine Now Used at Scotch Plains Given to the Exempts—Will be Preserved by Them.

The members of the Exempt Firemen's Association held a lively and patriotic meeting last evening, at which time there were several presentations, election of officers and a patriotic declaration on behalf of the members who may enlist in the present war. The resolution adopted by the members will explain itself. It is as follows:

Whereas, War exists between these United States and Spain, and,

Whereas, Said war is carried on by the United States in the cause of humanity for a downtrodden, persecuted and starved people, and the destruction of the Battleship Maine and the loss of 266 lives; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Exempt Firemen's Association, of the city of Plainfield, will and hereby do agree to pay from the general fund the dues and assessments of any of its members who may volunteer and serve in said war during the time said members are enrolled in the army or navy of the State of New Jersey or that of the United States.

The above resolutions were adopted unanimously and with three cheers for the United States.

During the evening there were three presentations to the Association. One was a brass cannon owned by Thomas McDonald, of the borough. The gift was accepted and will be put in ornamental condition to be placed in the rooms. It weighs nearly five hundred pounds. The other two gifts were from Gazelle Engine Company, No. 1. One was a relic of the cannon that burst when discharged in front of the North Avenue station in 1861. The explosion killed a man named Jennings. The other presentation was that of the old hand fire engine now used by the Scotch Plains department. Action on the latter presentation was taken at the meeting of the company last Monday evening, when it was decided to give the old engine to the Exempts. The provisions are that it is not to be disposed of in any way without the consent of the donors, and that the recipients are to keep it while the association is a collective body.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Auguste Saltzman; vice-president, Alex. Titsworth; recording secretary, G. Thorn; financial secretary, G. W. Clark; treasurer, E. M. Laing; trustees, D. W. Littell, E. M. Laing, W. A. Woodruff, J. A. Hubbard, E. A. Vermeule; representatives to Relief Association, Auguste Saltzman, G Thorn; representatives to State Association, W. A. Woodruff, E M. Laing, J. E. Flannery, E. A. Vermeule, E. M. Mosher; representative to visiting committee, G. W. Clark.

PLANS FOR THE ACADEMY'S GOLDEN JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

It Will Last Three Days—Noted Catholic Clergymen Will Be Present—Former Pupils Intend to Attend the Exercises and Will Form an Alumnæ Association.

Preparations are being made on an elaborate scale for the celebration of the golden jubilee of Mount de Chantal, the famous institution of learning near Wheeling, which will take place on June 7, 8 and 9. At the academy everything shows activity. Preparations are being made for further illuminating the grounds. Arc lights are to be attached to the dynamo now in use at the academy, which will give a final effect to the already well lighted grounds.

The celebration will not only attract all the former pupils who can be present, but there will be an assemblage of distinguished Catholic clergymen, several of whom will make addresses. His excellency the Most Rev. Sebastian Martinelli, D. D., has accepted an invitation to be present at the jubilee.

On Tuesday, the first day, the exercises will open with a solemn pontifical mass of thanksgiving in the chapel, with the Right Rev. P. J. Donahue, D. D., as celebrant. The sermon will be preached by the Most Rev. John J. Kain, D. D., archbishop of St. Louis. In the evening there will be a dramatic entertainment by the present pupils of the academy in the hall.

At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning solemn pontifical requiem mass will be celebrated in the chapel for the late lamented Right Rev. R. V. Whelan, first bishop of Wheeling. The sermon will be preached by Rev. F. T. McCarthy, a prominent Jesuit. The fiftieth annual commencement exercises will take place in the hall at 8 o'clock in the evening.

On Thursday will be alumnæ day. At 10 o'clock a meeting for organization will be held in the music hall. The Rev. Joseph Stenger of Charleston, the first chaplain of the Mount, will deliver an address. A banquet will follow in the evening.

At the request of the sisters the following ladies constituted themselves a committee to look after the arrangements for the meeting to be held for the purpose of organizing an alumnæ association: Mrs. Howard Simpson, Mrs. Platoff Zane, Mrs. Martha Whitaker, Mrs. Jacob Grubb, Misses Delia Carr, Augusta Handlan, Tillie Riley, Martha Medill, Anna Reymann, Helen Devries, Emma Johnson and Amy Nash. Any one who has been for a year a pupil of the Visitation academy while located in Wheeling or at Mount de Chantal will be eligible to membership in the association.

Every day letters are received expressing delight at the hope of again visiting the Mount. Pupils of 1848 and 1857 write that they feel young and girlish again at the very thought of renewing the associations of their childhood and again meeting the sisters whom they all love so dearly. Meetings are also being held in several cities.—Wheeling Register.

Chaplain Chidwick's Gold Chalice.

The gold chalice of Chaplain Chidwick was recently recovered from the wreck of the Maine, to the delight of that good man. It was presented to him by the crew of the Maine, who revered him as a priest and admired him as a man. The chalice was studded with diamonds and was valuable. Although the chaplain valued the gift highly he had never asked any one to search for it, fearing to delay the work of recovering the dead imprisoned beneath the wreck.—Boston Herald.

NOTES OF THE CATHOLICS.

There are 250 Roman Catholic orphan asylums in the United States.

During the nine years of its existence the Catholic University of America at Washington has educated over 200 priests.

It is stated that the French Roman Catholics in Budda, west of Lake Victoria, in Africa, estimate their proselytes at 20,000.

A month's mind requiem mass for the repose of the souls of the sailors of the battleship Maine was recently celebrated at St. Francis Xavier's church, New York city.

Father Rene, prefect apostolic of Alaska, has gone to Paris to obtain funds for the furtherance of mission work among the miners. He requires ten more assistants.

The Jesuits have a church, hospital and school in Dawson City. At last accounts the hospital had 26 patients, nursed by miners, the regular nurses not having arrived from Montreal.

The pope, though not able to sleep more than two hours in a night, often dictates in his waking hours to his secretary, or for diversion composes verses in Latin. His mind is said to be perfectly clear.

The kindly feeling between the Roman Catholics and Protestants of Andover was shown several years ago when the Catholic church was burned. Every parish in town offered the use of its church to the burned-out congregation.

A little volume by Laura Bride Powers recently published in San Francisco makes an earnest plea for the preservation of buildings of the California mission as memorials of the piety and zeal of the early Catholic fathers on the Pacific slope.

The Society For the Propagation of the Faith of New York city was recently incorporated, the object being to perform missionary work for the Catholic church. The trustees are Archbishop Corrigan, Bishop John Farley, Very Rev. Joseph F. Mooney and other noted Catholic divines.

WORK OF POPE LEO XIII.

One of the most adequate tributes to the life and work of Pope Leo XIII, says the Boston Pilot, is the following brief extract from an address recently delivered by Mgr. Donato Sbarretti, auditor of the apostolic delegation:

"The person of Leo stands gigantic and shining as light in dark places, as a bright sun in our restless and turbulent age. The loftiness of his intellect, the integrity of his life, the purity of his purposes, the nobility of his enterprises, the youthlike enthusiasm for good to all Christendom and mankind command and win the esteem and admiration even of the enemies of our holy church. He is the Mæcenas of fine arts and sciences; he is a poet, a philosopher, a theologian, a statesman. His power and determination of will are indomitable—combined, however, with exquisite meekness and gentleness of heart. He personifies in himself all the rare and high qualities of pontiff, king and father. He studied all needs and faced and solved the most trying problems.

"With the keen penetration of his mind, he saw that the principal dangers of our age were postivism and materialism in philosophy, and their consequences anarchism in the family and in civil society. He offers as a substantial remedy the return to Christian philosophy under the safe guidance of "The Angelic Doctor." To overthrow the teachings of anarchy, he points out the holiness and indissolubility of the marriage tie, the source and foundation of the family; the mutual rights and duties between subjects and rulers, and in an admirable encyclical he points out the relations between labor and capital with so much love of justice and so much affection and interest for the laboring classes as to win from them the glorious title of 'The Pope of the Laborer.' But he perceives at the same time that the full solution of every social question consists in seeking first the kingdom of God. Therefore, as another St. Paul, he invites all to the unity of faith, knowing with certainly that this is the victory which conquers the world—our faith."

AN ORIENTAL PRELATE.

Bishop Anzer Has Thirty Thousand Christian Chinese Under His Charge.

Bishop Anzer, the celebrated Catholic prelate of northern China, who on various occasions has been honored by the Chinese government, arrived in San Francisco recently and went directly to the parochial residence connected with the church of St. Boniface.

Bishop Anzer's diocese in China has developed from German missionary work, which proved very fruitful. The bishop has under his charge 30,000 Christian Chinese, whom he regards as models of Christian virtue. He says that their daily life resembles that followed in religious orders. They attend mass every day, even when obliged to travel long distances to do so, and say their morning and evening prayers. His experience has led him to consider that the people as a whole are ripe to receive the truths of Christianity. About 3,000 Protestant missionaries are already in the field seeking converts.

The bishop has under his jurisdiction 35 priests, 8 religious brothers and 150 teachers. These are all supported and chapels built from the funds advanced by the Society For the Propagation of the Faith. But the moneys received, he says, are totally inadequate to meet the necessary expenses. There are, including those in the dependencies, 1,200,000 native Catholics, 600 European priests and 450 native priests. The work of Christianizing he does not consider can be carried on as encouragingly here as in China. The very fact that the people are here only temporarily makes the effort less promising in results.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Story From the Vatican.

Prince Massimo, who represents the oldest princely family in Rome, tracing his descent from the Cæsars, was on his way in his state carriage to pay his respects and offer his congratulations to the pope on the occasion of one of several papal anniversaries which have taken place this year, when the officer in charge of the guard at the castle of San Angelo, seeing the gilded chariot lumbering across the bridge, thought it was the king, and, calling out his men, the guard presented arms as Prince Massimo, who is one of the pope's stanchest supporters, drove past. This piquant mistake had already reached the pope's ears when the prince entered the audience chamber, and Leo XIII was much amused and joked the prince on his being mistaken for the king. "But I, too, have the blood of the house of Savoy in my veins," said Prince Massimo. "And very good blood, too," answered the pope.—London Post.

A Youthful Contributor.

The Savannah News says that the first contributor to the fund for the new Roman Catholic cathedral to be erected in Savannah was the 6-year-old son of the Rev. Robb White, rector of Christ Episcopal church, in Savannah. The little fellow had been frugal with his savings, and he had accumulated $5. This he converted into a gold piece, and in a manly fashion carried it to a member of the cathedral congregation and tendered it as a starter for the rebuilding fund. The gentleman accepted the little fellow's contribution and added $500 to it on his own account.

A Cathedral Telephone.

In a hospital at Morristown, N. J., each Roman Catholic patient has at the head of his bed on Sunday a telephonic receptor connected with the cathedral. He can, therefore, while lying in bed hear the service and the sermon.—New York Journal.

A ROMANTIC ENGLISHMAN.

Sir Edwin Arnold's Life in the Flowery Kingdom.

Sir Edwin Arnold, who legalized his union with a fascinating Japanese widow by an English marriage service was always cosmopolitan in his ideas. Surely no Englishman born and bred has ever succeeded in merging his own individuality into that of other people's as the author of "The Light of Asia," and "The Light of the World" has done. When he was in India in his young days his work showed his intense sympathy with the Buddhists, and in the preface to "The Light of Asia" he wrote: "This book was written by one who loved India and the Indian people."

For two score of years he was English to the core of his heart in the editorials he wrote for the London Telegraph, and in 1890 he came to America, seemed quite able to understand us (as few of his countrymen could do), and then he went on to Japan and immediately began to live a la Japonais.

He lived in a native house, left his shoes at his door, slept on a thick quilt and, they say, ate in true Japanese style. In his bed room he had a cheap European washstand, two Japanese chests of drawers of white wood and black ironwork, and the usual sliding cupboards, into which his bed was put when it was rolled up in the daytime.

The walls of the room were of tissue paper panels, powdered with silver maple leaves, and a clear glass belt ran around the room "at a height inconducive to propriety," as one correspondent of the day remarked.

The drawing room was glass-paneled from floor to ceiling, and the only thing in the whole house that hinted at other civilizations was an American stove, which stood in one of the corners.

With such surroundings it is not much wonder that the impressionable poet found himself going through the ceremony of tea drinking with his charming companion of the hour, and that he was content to accept the ceremony as a bona fide marriage is tribute to his kinship with genius that since the world began has ever flaunted a little the staid laws and regulations that ordinary folk find necessary to comfortable existence.

It was in Japan, by the way, that Sir Edwin began "The Light of the World," and, indeed, completed it, too, during his stay of several years.

He says himself that he was in a tea garden one night surrounded by music, flowers, handsome dressing and all the delicate luxuries which Japan knows so well how to combine, when suddenly he began to write. So absorbed was he that he was unconscious of his companion until one said: "Be quiet, Dana Sama is writing," and then he found he had put on paper the first lines of his beautiful lyric:

Peace beginning to be
Deep as the sleep of the sea
When the stars their radiance glass
In its blue tranquility.

THE VALUE OF KELP.

Iodine Obtained from It—Once the Source of Soda.

The most valuable sea vegetable is the seaweed from which kelp, iodine and other useful substances are obtained. Kelp is a crude alkaline matter, produced by the combustion of seaweeds. These are dried in the sun, and then burned in shallow excavations at a low heat. About twenty or twenty-four tons of seaweed yield one ton of kelp.

Kelp is composed of chloride of sodium, carbonate of soda, sulphates of soda and potash, chloride of potassium, iodide of potassium or sodium, insoluble salts and coloring matter. It used to be the great source of soda, but a better quality is now obtained from the decomposition of sea salt.

A ton of good kelp will yield about 8 pounds of iodine, large quantities of chloride of potassium, and also, by destructive distillation, a large quantity of volatile oil, from four to fifteen gallons of paraffin oil, three or four gallons of naphtha and from one and a half to four hundredweight of sulphate of ammonia.

There are twelve factories in Scotland, chiefly in Glasgow, and two in Ireland, producing togther one hundred and thirty tons of iodine annually from this source, and ten or twelve in Finisterre, the northwesternmost department of France, that produces fifty tons.—Golden Days.

CAN'T DENY IT.

When the Facts Are Brought Home to Us, and By Our Neighbors, Too—They Are Plainfield Facts.

A wholesome suspicion is one of our characteristics as a people. In matters worthy of investigation we want real, tangible facts regarding it. The word of those we know, the nearby evidence obtainable, are generally what we most desire. When we call on a neighbor, a man of business at that, and say, "You have had some experience with so-and so, what do you think of it?" and he answers "Just the thing, I know because I have tried it." It goes a long way in helping our decision. This is always the way with Doane's Kidney Pills. Everybody who has used them for any kidney complaint will tell you, "they are just the thing." Why? Because they do the work every time and in all disordered conditions of the kidneys. The proof lies with your neighbors. Many have been cured in Plainfield and are ready to tell you or anyone enquiring.

Mr. Robert Love, of 44 Duer street, member of the firm of Love Bros, Grocers, at 267 West Front street, says: "I suffered from kidney complaint for the last 8 or 9 years. My chief trouble was pain across the back and a lameness over the kidneys. Colds always settled there and aggravated the pain and lameness. At last my back grew weaker and heavy lifting or too much standing or sitting gave me additional pain. In the mornings my back bothered me greatly until I moved about and took some exercise, when it became better to a certain extent. I doctored and used different kinds of so-called kidney cures, but it was like throwing my money away. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills highly recommended in our paper and being in bad shape at the time, I got a box from L. W. Randolph's drug store. Before taking half of it my condition was greatly improved, and continuing their use all the pain left me. I have felt slight signs of it since but a few doses of Doane's Kidney Pills always drives it away. I always keep them on hand to use if occasion requires. I consider Doane's Kidney Pills a grand medicine for kidney trouble and it gives me pleasure to recommend them whenever an opportunity presents itself.

Remember the name Doan's and take no substitute.

INVENTOR OF LEAD PIPE.

First Suggested by Robert Seydell of Pennsylvania in 1830.

There was born in Milton, Pa., in 1790 a man of wonderful genius, it is said. His name was Robert Seydell and he died in 1847.

Mr. Seydell was a coppersmith and was almost continuously working out some device connected with the machinery in his factory. To him, it is related by some of the oldest citizens of this place, belongs the discovery of the process of making lead pipe, and like many other inventors, the idea of making the same was stolen from him and further developed to its present form of manufacture.

It was in the latter part of the thirties that the idea suggested itself to him, and the following is the way he wrought it out: He first took a slug or casting of lead, placing it on a mandrel, or rod of steel, about sixteen feet long and one inch in diameter; the mandrel was highly polished, and upon this he drew, or rolled out, the lead to the full length of the rod, thus giving him an inch bore, and the material was rolled, it is said, to one-fourth inch, making a total diameter one and one-half inches for the pipe. After completing several sections of the length of the mandrel, he soldered them together, making the pipe of whatever length he desired.

He put it to practical use by fastening it to pump heads, and also running it from springs to connect watering troughs and spring houses in the country round about here. Being greatly pleased with his discovery, and receiving the most flattering of comments from his friends and neighbors in this section, he concluded to make his invention more widely known, and hence made a visit to Philadelphia, taking his device with him.

At the Franklin Institute in that city he gave his first exhibition to quite a number of inventors, artisans and mechanics. As it is now related, every one who witnessed it was more than delighted, and so expressed themselves in his immediate presence. It was not long that he was allowed to remain in a condition of supreme happiness over his invention, for a short time after he made a disclosure of his discovery, and while yet in Philadelphia, he found out that by the persons to whom he had given an exhibition of the process of making lead pipe his idea had been used and improved upon.

CHURCH OF THE HOLY SEPULCHRE.

The Place Where Christ Laid No Longer a Rough-Hewn Cave.

It has been built over and lined with marble and hung with lamps, etc., till it is no longer a rough-hewn cave; but on entering it (a task of considerable difficulty through the narrow, low arch roughly hewn out in the rock) and on seeing the rocky slab on which lay the body of our Lord, you feel it is the true site, for it conveys the impression that it is just the sort of a cave that would be used for sepulchre purposes and these alone, and not ashrine built to accommodate the thousands of pilgrims who flock there annually. Within it the slab of rough-hewn rock lies altar-wise against the side of the cave, and is about the width and length that would be filled by a dead body; the top of it is now covered with a marble slab to protect it from the kisses of the pilgrims, which would long ere this have worn away the stone. There is just room in front of this slab for about four persons to kneel; all the sides of the caves are hung with lights, jeweled icons, and pictures.

To attempt to describe the feelings evoked in the Christian soul when adoring at such a spot would be beyond human pen. The Russian pilgrims have a touching liabit of bringing their bundle of grave clothes and laying them on this holy slab in order to bless them for their future use. Of course there is always a Greek ecclesiastic present within the holy shrine, to watch over it. Just outside the cave is a small alabaster ornament marking the traditional spot where the angels stood as they announced "He is not here, but He is risen."—Pall Mall Magazine.

PARENT'S TITLES.

A Family of Children That Dropped Papa and Mamma for Father and Mother

"I was brought up," said a fond father, "to say father and mother. I never dreamed of saying papa and mamma when I was a child, and I should have made awkward work of it if I had tried. My children until lately have always said papa and mamma. I don't know how they got started that way, but at the outset and for a long time they never thought of saying anything else. Then the older ones took to saying father and mother. They liked these titles better, and they thought they were better form, too, and they taught the younger children also to say father and mother, and now they all say father and mother.

"The older children soon accustomed themselves to the change; the younger children were a little shy over it at first, but they soon got pretty well used to it, and now we rarely hear in my house papa and mamma; it is father and mother.

"And I must say I like it better. And I don't think it is because that is the way I was brought up, though these titles certainly do have to me an old and familiar and affectionate sound that is very pleasant; but I think I like father and mother better anyway."

His Arithmetic.

Mrs. O'Flynn—Och murther! Here's an account av how two min fell four sthories.

Mr. O'Flynn—Shure an' ut isn't as bad as ut sames ut all. If two min fell four sthories wan man could only hov fallen two begorra.

THE TROOPS AT SEA GIRT.

Not Over Three Per Cent of the First Regiment Found Unfit for Service.

Sea Girt, N. J., May 5—The third day at the State camp found the soldiers pretty well accustomed to the condition of things. The weather has not been the best, but everyone is hoping for a clear spell soon. Some restrictions have been placed over the camp, but they are not severe enough to keep out visitors, who are pouring in here by the hundreds every day.

The work of examining the guardsmen is going on as fast as possible. Remarkably few of those examined have been rejected. Out of over one thousand men in the First Regiment it is said that not more than 3 per cent will be found physically unfit for army duty.

There is much rejoicing over the appointment by the President of United States Senator Sewell as Major-General of the volunteer army. Yesterday Governor Voorhees sent the following telegram to Gen. Sewell:

"New Jersey extends to you its congratulations upon your appointment as Major General. Its citizens and its soldiers greatly appreciate this distinguished mark of confidence."

Since this honor has been conferred on Gen. Sewell everyone is asking what Major-Gen. Plume of the New Jersey National Guard would receive. Gov. Voorhees said yesterday that he would not be surprised if Gen. Plume was appointed a Brigadier-General.

The advantages of the Sea Girt camp ground, which is considered one of the finest in the country, has prompted Governor Voorhees to send the following telegram to Secretary of War Alger:

"I desire officially to offer the camp ground at Sea Girt and the property adjoining as a military post. It has sufficient encampment for 20,000 troops. Will be glad to receive any officer whom you may detail to inspect the ground."

They were met by a force of troops. The soldiers opened fire on them, killing and wounding many. The mob was finally repulsed and compelled to retreat.

The rioting is rapidly extending all over the country. The mobs are trying to burn the railroads and public buildings at Marcia.

Spain to Take Duty Off Food.

London, May 5.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing Wednesday night, says:

"The Cortes will to-morrow approve the measure prohibiting the exportation of corn, flour, rye, maize and potatoes, and suppressing the duty on the importation of those articles. This, it is hoped, will prevent the bread riots which are constantly breaking out. Many poor people are on the verge of starvation because of the high tax on imported food products, there being a scant supply raised at home."

The pall bearers were John Kerron, of Elizabeth; Hon. Addison Clarke, of Westfield; George Nichol, of Scotch Plains, James Clark, Dr. Leveridge and James E. Martine, of Plainfield. HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL TEAM PUT UP A POOR GAME.

Newark Boys Had a Strong Infield, Which Enabled Them to Win—Game Witnessed by a Big Crowd Yesterday.

The baseball players of the Plainfield High School suffered defeat yesterday afternoon at the hands of the Newark High School boys after a decidedly exciting game. The game was played in this city on the La-Grande avenue grounds before several hundred spectators.

It was not until the last inning that the Plainfield boys were beaten. The final score was 12 to 10 in favor of the Newark team.

The Newark boys played a far superior game in the field to their local opponents. The Plainfield players were very slow in the infield work. Fisher, at short, one of the most reliable players on the team, had an off day and managed to drop and juggle the ball quite discouragingly. Edwards pitched a good game and at no time was he batted freely. The lack of good support in the infield was discouraging. The outfield was well looked after. Radford, in particular, distinguished himself.

The Highland Golf Club opened the new grounds on Prospect avenue last Saturday afternoon. The grounds are now in fine condition and the members will play there every fair day. It is expected that several matches will be arranged during the season.

There will be a meeting of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club Friday evening next to consider an amendment to the constitution, increasing the limit of membership to 250. Should the proposition prevail the trustees will hold a meeting the same evening for the election of members. All those who contemplate joining the club, therefore, should send in their application at once.

The first competition for the "Mrs. Charles J. Fisk Cup" takes place Saturday, May 7th, at 3 p. m. This competition is open to all active members of the club. Entries closed this evening for the season's play, and no entries will be received after that date. It is therefore important that anyone desirieg to compete for this cup at any time during the year should either send his entry by mail or drop it in the mail box in the clubhouse on May 5th. The member's last three gross scores must be in the hands of the golf committee before he can play. No entrance fee is required.

The Board of Trustees of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club met Monday evening and elected the following associate members: Mrs. C. A Marsh, Mrs. J. K. Myers, R. S. Waring, E. J. Waring, Robert H. CYCLING COMMENT.

Horace Martin, Jr., of the borough, has accepted a position at F. L. C. Martin's cycle store on Park avenue.

JOHN KEAN'S CANDIDACY.

He is Already Preparing His Campaign for Smith's Seat in the Senate.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, May 5.—It is not believed by well-posted New Jersey men that John Kean, ex-member of Congress and a prominent candidate to succeed James Smith as United Senator, comes to Washington entirely because of his interest in preparations for the war with Spain. Nor does he, as formerly, come occasionally in order to visit his personal friends in Congress. It is said here that the intentions of Mr. Kean are to strengthen his chances for the Senatorship. He is in close touch with the leading Republicans from the State in Congress, a number of whom are his personal friends and well-wishers. When he comes to the National Capitol he always sees these men.

The contest for Senator cannot be shelved entirely, even in the midst of active operations on sea and land. Mr, Kean is an old campaigner, although not by any means an old man, and he prepares his lines of battle in good time. His friends declare that he is going to be a formidable candidate for the Republican nomination for the United States Senate. That the Republican nominee will be chosen is generally predicted by the New Jersey men here. Some of the shrewdest men in the delegation have said this since the municipal elections. Local dissensions in some cities have been instrumental, they say, in converting Republican into Democratic majorities, but the causes were temporary and will disappear. The State, it is asserted with confidence, is safely Republican, and the party will continue to keep a large majority in the Legislature and will gain a United States Senator. Mr. Kean's candidacy is an interesting factor in the tomorrow of New Jersey politics.

Martin Act Report Tomorrow.

Tomorrow at Elizabeth the report of the Martin Act Commissioners will be taken up by the court for the purpose of confirming or rejecting the same. The chances are that there will be a strong opposition to confirmation, as Lawyer W. R. Codington will appear before the court with a long list of names of people who have rights that the court is bound to respect.

Endeavor Officers.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of Warren chapel last Tuesday evening: President, Theo. Martin; vice-president, Miss Maggie Sheppard; secretary, Miss Diecke; treasurer, Mrs. E y. The committees will be appointed at the next meeting of the society.

A Bust of Mr. Cleveland.

A regular meeting of the board of directors of the Public Library was held Tuesday evening. A bust of ex-President Cleveland having been presented by B. R. Western, the secretary was directed to extend to him the thanks of the Board for the same.

Can't Come Too Quick.

The chances for the permanent improvement of Park avenue are very good. The matter is now under consideration by the streets and sewers committee and at an early date they will report to the Council regarding the improvement.

On the evening of May 12th the members of the Plainfield Catholic Club will give a reception to the honorary members of the club. Thomas Cumeford is chairman of the committe of arrangements.

FRENCH STEAMER SEIZED; NO WORD FROM DEWEY.

Lafayette Tried to Run Blockade with Help for Spanish.

International Aspect of the Affair—Tales of Spanish Cruelty From Porto Rico—General Sewell's Command.

THE LATEST.

Three O'Clock.

SPECIAL TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY PRESS FROM UNION ASSOCIATED PRESS.

[The figures of time following the date in each dispatch indicate the time of its receipt in Plainfield, and will afford readers a better understanding and appreciation of the order in which the events have happened, and their relative importance to each other.]

CAUGHT A FRENCH VESSEL.

Lafayette Was Carrying Spanish Officers and Supplies.

Washington, May 6, 11 a. m.—International complications are feared as a result of a capture made by one of the American men-of-war in the blockading fleet off Cuba last night.

A French steamer, Lafayette, attempted to run the blockade during the night but fell a prey to the gunboat Annapolis, which was doing duty along the Cuban coast.

The Lafayette carried a hundred and sixty-one Spaniards and twelve Spanish officers. In the hold was stored a considerable amount of arms and ammunition intended for the use of General Blanco's troops.

The Lafayette mounts several rapid-firing guns and belongs to the French Naval Reserve. She is a fast steamer and particularly adapted to blockade running.

It is believed here that France has entered a protest against the capture of the Lafayette, and will demand that she be released.

WITH THE BLOCKADERS.

Hornet Ordered to Destroy Spanish Fortifications Just Put Up.

On Board the Dispatch Boat Off Havana, May 6, 1:30 p. m—The monotony of the blockade is wearing both officers and men. There is a great rejoicing over Commodore Dewey's victory in the East.

The Hornet, one of the converted yachts, has reported that the Spanish flag has been raised on a sand pit on the east entrance of Matanzas harbor and that two guns have been mounted there.

The Hornet has been ordered to open fire on the battery at sunrise and stop the work there. Many cane fields are reported to be on fire between Matanzas and Havana.

TALES FROM PORTO RICO.

Spanish Cruelty and Oppression on the Residents of the Island.

New York, May 6, 1:20 p. m—The steamship Abydos, of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship Company, arrived here this morning. She sailed from St. John, Porto Rico, April 30th.

As passengers she brought several Americans, who have terrible stories to tell of their treatment by the Spanish authorities at Porto Rico.

The party consisted of William Borda, his wife and two sons and Mario Gauthier, his clerk. Borda is an American and owns a large stock farm and sugar plantation two miles from St. John.

The Spanish authorities quartered a large detachment of soldiers at Borda's plantation and laughed at his demands for reimbursement.

His cattle and other live stock were killed to feed the Spanish troops, and he and his family were subjected to all sorts of indignities. At last they fled to they ship for safety. Borda wants to recovor indemnity for all that he has suffered.

IN WASHINGTON.

Dewey's Report to be Published as Soon as it is Received.

Washington, May 6, 1:30 p. m—Congress is now waiting for the Democratic Senators to frame the revised Dingley war revenue bill.

It is hoped that the joint resolution on the annexation of Hawaii will be adopted at once.

The Cabinet assembled at 11 o'clock this morning. It was decided to publish Commodore Dewey's report the moment it is received, no matter what the hour.

A JAPANESE VIEW.

It Confirms the Report of Disastrous Work by Commodore Dewey's Fleet.

London, May 6, 1:40 p. m—A despatch from Shanghai, published here today, purports to give the Japanese report of the battle of Manila, received via Formosa.

It says that Commodore Dewey, after completely defeating the Spanish fleet and silencing the Spanish batteries at Cavite, bombarded Manila.

The city is reported to have soon been ablaze everywhere as the result of the work of the insurgents.

Great fatality among the Spanish troops and residents is reported.

BRITISH ADVISED TO GO.

Otherwise They May Get Shot by Admiral Sampson's Bombardment.

London, May 6, 1:25 p. m—The British Admirality has been officially advised by the authorities at Washington to remove British subjects from the Canary Islands as Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet is expected to attack them.

NEWS FROM MANILA.

It Comes to Washington From United States Consul at Hong Kong.

Washington, May 6, 12:25 p. m—It is reported here that the first despatch since the battle of Mainila to be received from American Consul Wildman, at Hong Kong, has reached the State Department.

It is reported to say that Cortes, Rasaria, Danzaga and Basa, the wealthiest families in Manila, have tendered their allegiance to the United States, and have petitioned for privileges and rights of citizenship.

This is generally accepted as meaning that Commodore Dewey and his fleet are safe and that they have captured Manila. The message is not claimed to tell anything of the battle or of the capture of the Philippine Islands.

SEWELL'S COMMAND.

Will Head the Volunteers to be Mobolized at Washington.

Washington, May 6, 2:05 p. m.—The different commands for the major generals of volunteers have been settled on. General Sewell will command the volunteers mobilized at Washington. General Wheeler will command another corps of volunteers, and General Lee will lead the first corps that goes into Cuba.

A Foolish Story.

London, May 6, 1:15 p. m.—Very little confidence is placed in a dispatch that has just been received from Madrid. The dispatch says that the Spanish authorities are intimating that Commodore Dewey's American fleet is entrapped by Spanish gunboats that were concealed in the outer harbor.

The report is believed here to be a foolish attempt to delude the infuriated populace who are so enraged at the result of the naval battle.

British Won't Interfere.

London, May 6, 1 p. m.—It is not likely that any of the continental powers will intervene for the present in the war between the United States and Spain. A movement among several of the powers, advocating intervention was snubbed this morning by the foreign office.

Ready for an Attack.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 6, 1 p. m—The mining of this harbor has been completed. This morning thirty submarine mines, each containing a hundred and fifty pounds of gun cotton, were placed in the harbor. The gunboat, Essex, has been placed on the dry dock for repairs.

Private Advices Confirm Dewey's Victory.

London, May 6, 1:25 p. m—A private despatch from Singapore confirms the story of Commodore Dewey's capture of Manila.

Two More Prizes.

Key West, May 6, 12:30 p. m—Two Spanish schooners, loaded with supplies for General Blanco's army in Cuba, were brought in this morning. They were captured by the blockading fleet last night.

Simply a Repetition.

London, May 6, 11:30 a. m.—The report that the vessels of Commodore Dewey's fleet had bombarded Manila and killed many Spaniards was repeated this morning by the Shanghai cable. There was nothing to prove the authenticity of the report however.

Cable Still Closed.

Hong Kong, May 6, 1:45 p. m.—Cable communication with Manila still remains closed.

Mutiny Quelled.

Key West, May 6, 1:20 p. m—A mutiny occurred this morning among the firemen on the coaler, Alama, which is carrying the detachment of engineers sent from West Point to Cuba. It was quickly suppressed.

Movements of Warships.

Newport News, May 6, 11:40 a. m.—The United States cruiser Newark has been ordered into commission. Captain Baker will command her.

Washington, May 6, 11:45 a. m.—The new cruiser Topeka has been ordered to sail tomorrow.

Spanish Gunboat Sailed.

Buenos Ayres, May 6, 12:45 p. m—The Spanish gunboat that has been at this port for some time, has sailed.

Rioters Killed In Spain.

Rome, Isaly, May 6, 1 p. m—It is reported here that the Spanish troops killed four bread rioters at Sesto Spain, in their efforts to quell the riots.

Couldn't Get Up the Harbor.

New York, May 6, 12:20 p. m—The first shot to be fired in New York Harbor during the war was heard last night by the garrison at Fort Hamilton, at the entrance to the Narrows.

There was another man who heard the shot. He was the captain of a three masted schooner who tried to enter New York harbor last evening. He also heard the shot whistle through the air not many yards away.

The shot did not really amount to anything, but when the people of New York heard of it, it gave a feeling of

SHE SOUGHT DEATH BY SELF CREMATION.

Horrible Manner in Which Mrs. Frazee Committed Suicide.

COVERED HERSELF WITH OIL

FOUND IN FLAMES BY HER HUSBAND ON CELLAR STAIRS.

The Woman Had Been Ill and Despondent for Sometime, and it is Believed That She Grew Tired of Life—Got up at 5 o'clock This Morning and a Few Minutes After Her Husband Saw a Terrible Sight—Died in a Few Minutes — County Physician Wagoner Granted a Burial Permit.

What may be a deliberate case of suicide occurred this morning on Catalpa avenue, in the borough, when Mrs. Alexander Frazee was most terribly burned to death about the body and head. For sometime past Mrs. Frazee has been unwell and has been very despondent. She has been treated by Drs. Long and Jenkins. Her mind appeared to be weak, and little hope was entertained of her recovery.

Last evening, however, she seemed to be in fairly good health, and she remained up quite late playing cards with her husband. When they retired for the night everything seemed to be all right.

This morning about 5 o'clock Mrs. Frazee awoke and after putting on a dress went down stairs. Her husband was awake at the time, but thought little about his wife getting up. In fact he thought she was going to prepare to get breakfast.

She had been absent but a few minutes when Mr. Frazee heard a terrible scream. He jumped out of bed with his night clothes on and hastened down stairs. When he reached the first floor he saw nothing of his wife. He then went to the cellar. When he reached the kitchen the room was filled with smoke and the odor was offensive. At first he thought his wife had set fire to the house, but when he reached the cellar a most horrible sight greeted his eyes. There was his wife enveloped in flames and the flesh was burning to a crisp. In fact his wife was being roasted alive.

He removed his clothes and attempted to smother the flames. This had very little effect and he secured a pail of water which he threw over her. This did not extinguish the fire, and his wife was by this time unconscious.

In a very short time Mrs. Frazee was dead, and the quickness of her death was hastened by her inhaling the fumes of the fire and smoke into her lungs. When Mrs. Frazee was overcome with the fire she dropped on the cellar floor close by the steps leading to the kitchen. She was so left until Mr. Frazee sent for Dr. Jenkins. When the physican arrived he found that life was extinct. From the waist upward the flesh was burned to a crisp. The features of the face was almost removed, and was scarcely recognizable. A portion of one leg was burned for a short distance.

Close beside the dead woman was a lamp. The entire top was removed and about half of the oil used. The supposition is that Mrs. Frazee poured the oil inside of her dress and then set fire to it with a match. All the evidence is strongly in favor of that way.

Chief Marshal Wilson was notified concerning the terrible affair and he notified County Physician Wagoner, of Somerville. The latter came to North Plainfield and viewed the remains. He then gave a permit for burial.

The husband and children of the dead woman are grief-stricken over the affair and can give no good reason why Mrs. Frazee should have thus taken her own life.

After County Physician Wagoner viewed the remains he determined that it was a case of suicide.

Mrs. Frazee was born in New York and was 40 years of age. She leaves a husband and two daughters. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Harvey Smith, of Prospect avenue. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and will be private.

Oak is the Choice.

Voting for the State Tree on Arbor Day showed a preference among the children for the oak, the maple, the elm, and the chestnut. The votes for these trees were as follows: oak, 408; maple, 200; elm, 104; chestnut, 74. Among other trees for which votes were cast were the pine, the willow, the birch, the tulip, the poplar and the walnut.

PLANS FOR WIDENING COUNTY ROAD FOR TROLLEY.

A Special Meeting of the Board of Freeholders Held Last Night and Action Deferred Again for Two Weeks.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, May 6 — The Union County Board of Freeholders held a special mieting last evening to take up the matter of the county trolley road from Elizabeth to Plainfield. The road committee reported that, while two civil engineers has the twelve maps of the route, each showing one mile of the road, ready to be exhibited to the Board, they had not completed the estimate of the cost of the work. Action was deferred for two weeks.

The plans provide for cutting a new street in Cranford 100 feet wide, in the rear of the opera house block, or for a 66 foot street in front of the block. In Westfield a large building occupied by a newspaper and printing company, which stands in the way of the widening, will have to be torn down or moved back.

It is said that the present plan, because of the expense involved, may be abandoned, and a new road cut through, for which property holders will be asked to give the land. The cost of widening the present twelve miles will, it is believed, be $250,000, which by the new law will have to be taken from the amount received for the franchise. One hundred thousand dollars had already been bid by by John Kean, with no opposition as yet.

Good Y. M. C. A. Work.

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening. Some interesting facts gathered from the reports are as follows: Attendance at young men's meeting on Sunday afternoons for April showed an increase of 92 per cent. over the corresponding month last year, the Bible Training class also showed some increase. On two occasions, noon meetings were held at two machine shops. The association has been instrumental during the month in securing eight positions through its employment bureau.

Arranging for an Anniversary.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Park Avenue Baptist church was held last evening at the home of Miss Wyckoff, corner of East Sixth street and Franklin place. A committee of five was appointed to arrange for the tenth anniversary of the organization of the society in November. The committee was composed of Mrs. D. M. Runyon, chairman; Miss Emma V. Fish, Miss May D. Thompson, Frank Clarkson and Arthur Heath.

Installed as Eminent Commander.

Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerset county, who has been stopping at Ashville, N. C., for his health, returned last Tuesday, and last evening he came to Plainfield to be installed as commander of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T. The work was performed by William H. Sebring, one of the highest State officers of the Commandery. Mr. Dungan remained in Plainfield over night and today he is looking after some business interests in the city.

Residental Changes.

H. M. Humphrey, of New York, has rented Miss Laura Boorman's house on Belvidere avenue, and will take possession next Monday. Mrs. L. P. Cropsey, of Montclair, has rented the house at 417 East Fifth street, and takes possession May 19th. Edward Richards, of Bowley's drug store, has leased the John M. Lewis house at 131 Duer street, and moves today. These changes have been made through the E. C. Mulford real estate agency.

To Go After the Old Engine.

Chief T. O Doane, B. R. Rogers and J. A. Moore have been appointed a committee to go to Scotch Plains next Monday afternoon and bring the old fire hand engine to Plainfield for the Exempt Firemen's Association. Mr. Findlay, of East Second street, has given his permission to have the engine temporarily stored in his restaurant.

Congregational Committees.

A meeting of the trustees of the Congregational church was held in the church parlors last evening. Routine business was transacted. The committees for the year were appointed as follows: Pews and sittings, Joseph E. Morse, Ellsworth Dwight and Louis I. VanAlstyne; music, M. C. VanArsdale, J. E. Stewart and George W. Rockfellow; church property and repairs, George W. Rockfellow, J. E. Stewart and J. A. Powlison.

A Gruesome Reminder.

One year ago yesterday Sheriff Wyckoff, of Somerville, performed the unpleasant duty of hanging Rev. Jacob Johnson, the colored preacher.

WHIST TEA AT PARK CLUB

AFTER FASCINATING PLAYING, TEA AND CHAT FOLLOWED.

The Game Was Duplicate Whist, Divided Into Four Sections—How the Sections Were Made up—The Score.

The ladies of the Park Club were entertained at the club house yesterday afternoon with a "whist tea." It proved a most enjoyable occasion to those who ventured out in the storm to attend it.

As was evident by the name, whist was the attraction of the afternoon. There were sixteen tables which were all filled. After spending most of the afternoon at the fascinating game, the tables were cleared away and tea was served while the guests enjoyed a social chat.

The game was duplicate whist, and the guests were divided into the north and south section and the east and west section. The north and south section finally won with a total average of 136 to 124, the total average for the east and west section. Miss Ball and Miss Long scored the most, nine points, for the north and south section. The Misses Wood were second with an average of seven. In the other section, Miss Rushmore and Miss Clapp had the highest average, ten, and Miss H. French and Mrs. J. Hallock were second with six points.

The sections were made up of the following:

North and South Section—Mrs. Ruggles, Miss Coleman; Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Fleming; Mrs. Corwin, Mrs. Staples; Mrs. Clay, Mrs. Kleinicke; Mrs. Mason, Mrs. Gilbert; Mrs. Cooley, Mrs. Dupee; Miss Cook, Miss Uuderhill; Mrs. G. Hallock, Mrs. Runyon; Mrs. VanDeventer, Mrs. VanDeventer; Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Chapman; Mrs. Dupee, Mrs. Drayton; Mrs. P. M. French, Miss M. French; Miss Ball, Miss Long; Miss Wood, Miss Wood; Mrs. Williams, Miss Mary French; Mrs. Waring, Mrs. Biglow.

East and West Section—Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Townsend; Mrs. Hatch, Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Howell; Mrs. Haven, Mrs. Wallace; Mrs. Ostrom, Mrs. Woodward, Miss Marsh, Mrs. Kimball; Miss Stockton, Miss Elsberg; Miss Northrop, Mrs. Stevens; Miss Hyde, Mrs. L. Brown; Miss Murphy, Mrs. VanVleit; Miss Woltman, Mrs. Laing; Miss H. French, Mrs. J. Hallock; Mrs. Barlow, Mrs. Douglas; Miss Rushmore, Miss Clapp; Mrs. Lyman, Mrs. Western; Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Clapp.

At the tea table, Mrs. Walter M. McGee and Mrs. F. O. Ball presided. The table was prettily decorated in pink.

The affair was arranged by Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, who were complimented by all on the successful result of their efforts.

Flag Unfurled at Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.

Bound Brook, May 6—The largest flag in Bound Brook was flung to the breeze yesterday afternoon in front of the American Engine Company works. It was made the occasion of a patriotic demonstration, and was attended by a large crowd despite the rain. F. H. Ball, of Plainfield, the vice-president and general manager of the company, introduced the speakers, who were Rev. Mr. Cleaver, Rev. Mr. Wilson and Rev. T. E. Davis, of Bound Brook. The employes of the Engine Company had all been given a half-holiday in honor of the event. The flag is the largest now in Bound Brook. It is thirty feet long and twenty feet wide.

Operation to Improve Hearing.

Amelia Carbone, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carbone, of North avenue, went to Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon to have an operation performed on her throat. Ever since the young girl was born there was a growth in the throat and it was very gradually affecting the hearing. The operation was performed by Dr. Long and Dr. Ard and was very successful.

In City Court.

There was a quartette of offenders arraigned before City Judge DeMeza this morning. John Wilson, for being drunk and disorderly, was fined $5. Sentence was suspended on John Rodgers for the same charge. Frank Lewis was fined $3 for indecent exposure. John Williams, the man accused of assaulting Patrolman Jerry Cash with rocks, was fined $15.

Another Attachment.

Another attachment has been issued by Justice Mattison against the property of the former superintendent of the defunct New Jersey Military Academy, Dr. A. D. Warde. The writ was issued for Stewart, of Philadelphia, to whom Dr. Warde owed $140 for the cadet uniforms.

ROESEL WILL HANG FOR KILLING PITTS.

Mashanda Turns State's Evidence to Save His Neck.

ACTS LIKE MRS. NACK DID.

SAYS THAT HE WAS INDUCED TO GO AGAINST HIS WILL.

Roesel's Lawyer's Considerably Surprised Over the Confession of Manshanda and There Seems a Strong Likelihood That Craig A. Marsh's Client Will Save His Neck—Manshanda Gave a Graphic Description of How the Crime Was Committed—Large Number of Witnesses Heard.

[Special to The Daily Press.]

Elizabeth, May 6—The jury in the case of the State against Louis Roesel, charging the murder of J. C. Pitts, came in this afternoon after a half-hour's deliberation, with a verdict of guilty in the first degree.

Judge Vail consumed about a half hour in charging the jury, and his charge was considered to be against the prisoner. Lawyer Frank Bergen summed up for the condemned man, and Fred C. Marsh appeared for the State.

The trial of Meshanda, who was implicated with Roesel, will be held next week.

Elizabeth, May 6.—As outlined in these despatches yesterday, the double murder trials of George Manshanda and Louis Roesel, charged with cruelly slaying old farmer Pitts to get a portion of his wealth, have developed into a second Martin Thorn and Mrs. Nack case—Manshanda playing the role of the latter. Like the celebrated New York case, Manshanda, as the State's witness, was heard first and has told all that he knows of the murder, throwing the principal blame upon his partner in crime. Now Roesel's lawyers are hard-pressed to invent a defense that will save the neck of their client—all of which is a reproduction of proceedings that marked the trial in which Mrs. Nack got off with an easy sentence while her lover awaits his doom in the death-house at Sing Sing.

According to Manshanda it was Roesel who made all these purchases, except the masks, and he also paid for the whiskey they drank. When they reached the Pitts house they peered in through a window and saw the old man sitting at a table reading a newspaper, while the housekeeper was lying on a lounge.

The noise they made outside was heard by Mr. Pitts, who came to the door, opened it and stuck his head out. No sooner had he done this than he was felled by the deadly blow dealt him by Roesel. The housekeep screamed and then, Manshanda said, Roesel struck her with the club that he had in his left hand, while he carried the revolver in his right. Manshanda said he fled from the house when the woman screamed and left Roesel behind.

When Manshanda was recalled for cross-examination yesterday morning Lawyer Bergen tried to confuse the witness, but Manshanda stuck persistently to the story he told Wednesday. All the lawyer's efforts to shake his testimouy on the material parts of his evidence were ineffectual. Mr. Bergen asked the witness if he had not, while locked up in the Union county jail, made a statement to persons there that he and not Roesel was the man that dealt Pitts the fatal blow.

The witness said he had no recollection of making any such statement, and qualified this by saying that at times since he has been confined in prison he was out of his mind from worrying over the position he was in. At such times he did not know nor was he responsible for anything.

When the court opened after recess, the Prosecutor declared that with Detective Keron's testimony the State would rest. To the surprise of the State, Lawyer Bergen did not make any opening address for the defense, but started at once to call his witnesses.

The first one was John Smith, Deputy Warden of the county jail, who swore that on two occasions, April 4th and April 25th last, George Manshanda told him (Smith) that he had struck the blow which killed Farmer Pitts. Mr. Smith's testimony on this point was not shaken.

Roesel was called to the stand and the only question his lawyer asked him was, "Did you on the night of September 9th or at any other time strike James C. Pitts with any kind of a weapon?" The prisoner in a firm voice replied, "I did not." Then Roesel was turned over to the Prosecutor for cross-examination. His

TO SEIZE PORTO RICO

Our Fleet Is Now Moving Toward That Island.

THE TROOPS WILL FOLLOW

Admiral Sampson's Three Missions—One Is to Take Porto Rico, One to Destroy the Spanish Fleet, and One to Protect the Oregon—All May Be Combined Into One.

Washington, May 6.—The Navy and War departments will give no information about the movements of the fleet or troops. The best Congressional authorities, however, say that the better part of the squadron is moving toward Porto Rico to carry out the President's plan of seizing that island.

It is also hinted that all the troops gathering at Tampa and other Southern ports will not be sent to Cuba, but that a good number will be taken to Porto Rico to hold that place after Admiral Sampson has seized it. It would be of little avail to take the island without having a force to land and occupy it. The Administration does not wish to leave Admiral Sampson in any such predicament as Commodore Dewey, who, after capturing the Philippines, has no army of occupation. After the troops are landed at Porto Rico, Admiral Sampson will be able to take his fleet and follow the rest of his instructions by destroying the Spanish ships supposed to be coming from Cape Verde or being reinformed at the Canaries by the whole Spanish fleet.

To Wait for the Troops.

Admiral Sampson will have to wait perhaps a day or so for troops for Porto Rico before the attack is made, and this will give plenty of time for the Navy Department here to discover exactly where the Spanish fleet is, whether it has turned back to Cadiz, or is coming across to these waters, as at first intimated.

Apparently the Navy Department is not as anxious about the Oregon as common gossip would indicate. It is reasoned that for Spain to send four cruisers to capture or destroy the Oregon would be a very foolish move—too foolish even for Spanish conception.

If the movement were successful the destruction of one of our fine ships would be all that could be accomplished, and that not without serious loss on the Spanish side. Naval experts say that in a battle with the four Spanish cruisers the Oregon would probably destroy two and inflict serious damage upon the others before she was destroyed herself. The result of such a battle would more seriously injure the Spanish navy than it would us. At the same time steps have been taken to protect the Oregon.

Sampson's Three Missions.

Out of the conflicting opinions and statements one thing that appears clear to-day is that Admiral Sampson has been given wider discretion than heretofore. He has been given three missions. One is to take Porto Rico; one to destroy the Spanish fleet if it can be located on this side of the Atlantic, and lastly, to protect the Oregon.

As to the method of procedure he is given discretion. His course is to be determined by developments as he proceeds. It is understood to be the expectation of the President that Porto Rico will be taken at once. A study of the map will show how these three missions may be fitted into one, if the Spanish fleet is bound either for Porto Rico, Havana or to intercept the Oregon.

For information as to the approach of the Spanish fleet Admiral Sampson will, it is said, rely upon his fast scout boats. These vessels will sail far southward, so as to cover the path of the Spanish fleet, and to report its approach. The course and the rate of speed of Sampson's fleet will be known to these scout vessels, so that they will know about where to intercept him at any time.

The Admiral's Plan.

If the Spanish fleet is not come across within a certain time after Sampson's fleet has arrived in the vicinity of Porto Rico, the attack on that place will probably be made as the first move, and the port be held to deprive the Spanish of a base of supplies. If, however, it is discovered that the Spanish fleet has sailed further south, and is aiming to intercept the Oregon, Admiral Sampson's fleet will put out after the Spanish at once, with almost a certainty of running up with them by the time they have come up with the Oregon. It is said that the Oregon will so time her course as not to arrive at the point where she would be intercepted by the Spanish until Sampson's fleet has opportunity to reach the scene of action.

Will Occupy Cuban Port.

The occupancy of a Cuban port in accordance with the plans already fully outlined in these dispatches, is to be taken at once. There is the highest authority for the statement that this expedition will be put in motion as speedily as possible, and the inference was suggested that troops might be embarked within a day or two. It is intimated that a larger body of troops than at first contemplated may have to be sent, on account of the Gomez army not showing as large a force as was expected.

There has apparently been a broadening of all plans, and the advancement of some that it had been intended to put into operation later. The situation of affairs in Spain, rather than the battle of Manila, is apparently hurrying matters.

Preparations are about completed for sending troops, supplies and ammunition, as well as hospital ships, to Commodore Dewey, and the expedition will leave as soon as official word comes from Dewey. As yet nothing has been received from him.

Fear Ericsson Has Been Sunk.

Washington, May 6.—Anxiety is felt for the torpedo boat Ericsson, now on blockade duty. The little vessel has not been heard of for five or six days, and fears are entertained that while patrolling the Cuban coast she has been sunk by a Spanish battery. It may be, however, that she has broken down while out of reach of communication and is repairing her damages.

QUEEN READY TO QUIT SPAIN.

Lack of Ammunition May Have Compelled Cape Verde Fleet to Return.

London, May 6.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "Apartments have been reserved at a hotel here for the Queen Regent of Spain, in case she arrives before apartments have been prepared for her in her brother's palace. Telegrams from the Austrian Ambassador at Madrid (Count Dubsky) indicate that the Queen Regent is only waiting for a suitable moment to quit Spain without detriment to the interests of her son."

The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "I hear on indisputable authority that five of the Spanish warships, including the battleship Pelayo and the cruiser Alfonso XIII., have not yet been supplied with ammunition. This was the cause of the delay in the sailing of the Cape Verde fleet and will probably compel it to return to Cadiz."

Expects a Republic in Spain.

Berlin, May 6.—Leading diplomatists here are so confident that the war between Spain and the United States will soon be over that they even predict that not another big battle will be fought. These predictions are based upon the internal crisis in Spain, which is on the brink of an irrepressible revolution and the overthrow of the present dynasty. It is argued that the establishment of a republic there would lead Spain to sue for peace at once. The Powers are already exchanging notes, discussing their attitude in case of a sudden change in the form of government.

The Dynasty Doomed.

London, May 6.—A letter, dated May 2, just received from Madrid, says Gen. Weyler and Senor Romero y Robledo, the former Minister of Justice, are bound to come to the front now as "a military furor has taken possession of the nation, and the Spanish dynasty, as well as the Government, is doomed."

SPAIN'S SHIPS TURNED BACK.

The President, Positive of This, Has Ordered Blow at Spain's Supplies.

Washington, May 6.—It can be stated on the highest authority that President McKinley does not believe that the Spanish fleet which left the Cape Verde Islands is coming to this side. He holds the opinion that it has returned to Cadiz and will remain there for the present at least. The dispatch stating that the fleet had been sighted near Cadiz came from the agents of the Lloyd's, and is believed to be true by the Administration.

This accounts for the movements of the American fleet toward Porto Rico. All the information coming from the Executive Mansion is to the effect that a part of Sampson's fleet is now on its way to take Porto Rico and destroy Spain's base of supplies.

A Cabinet officer, in discussing the movement of the Cape Verde fleet, said: "Gen. Grant used to say that he always tried to avoid doing what the enemy wished him to do. In this instance we are very anxious to have the enemy come over, and it is reasonable to suppose that the Spanish strategists will not do exactly as we desire."

Persons who from their official position might be supposed to share the confidence of the Administration, assert also that Admiral Sampson has gone to seize Porto Rico, and this statement is made after conference with the Executive. On the other hand, it is asserted with almost equal positiveness that the fleet has gone to meet the Oregon and bring her in safely to the North. Still another report is to the effect that the Admiral has gone to seize Matanzas, to be used as a base of operations.

HAS APPEALED TO EUROPE.

Queen Regent Pleads for Intervention to Save Her Country.

London, May 6.—Your correspondent has obtained official confirmation of the statement that the Queen Regent of Spain is suing for the intervention of the powers, and of the fact that she has been continuously doing so since the outbreak of the war.

The only response she has received has come from Austria. The Queen does not offer a basis of settlement, nor does she suggest any concessions. She wishes the foundation of peace to be discussed after the cessation of hostilities.

All of the powers, including Austria, know officially that any terms are impossible without the evacuation of Cuba, and consequently there has not been any diplomatic movement in compliance with Queen Christina's pleadings. The war party is still too strong to let the Queen have a free hand.

The situation is illustrated by a loyal member of the Spanish Naval Commission in London, who said: "We know that Cuba is lost to Spain. We are now fighting for the monarchy."

What Dewey Told His Men.

Atchison, May 6.—In a letter just received, dated Hong Kong, April 3, Louie Ostertag, a sailor on Commodore Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, tells his parents of the instructions given by Commodore Dewey to his men after orders had been received from Washington, to be in readiness to move at any time. The Commodore assembled his men on the flagship and told them in case of an engagement to "keep perfectly cool and pay attention to nothing but orders." The sailor wrote that all the vessels of the fleet were kept coaled to their fullest capacity, and that a transport was loaded with an immense amount of fuel.

Mules for the Army.

St. Louis, Mo., May 6.—Quartermaster G. C. Smith has received orders from Washington to purchase all the mules possible until further orders. Acting under instructions, Capt. Smith has already bought 2,800 pack mules. The total number of mules purchased at this point is now 7,000, with the probability that it will run up to the 10,000 before the week is over.

To Raise the Spanish Ships.

Washington, May 6.—A force of ships' carpenters, wreckers and other workmen will be sent to Manila on the City of Pekin to attempt to raise the Spanish ships sunk by Dewey. The work will be in charge of Naval Constructor Capps.

NO NEWS FROM DEWEY

Long Has Had No Communication From the Phillipines.

FALSE REPORTS DENIED

London Telegraph Company, Over Whose Wires Any Message from Manila or Hong Kong Must Come, Says Not a Word of Dewey's Movements Has Been Transmitted

London, May 6.—The officials of the Eastern Telegraph Company, when questioned regarding the report that a dispatch from Commodore Dewey had reached Washington, said:

"Neither President McKinley nor any one else has received a message from Commodore Dewey."

Such a message, it was explained, must necessarily be transmitted over their lines, either from Manila or from Hong Kong. But the company knows of no communication from Manila emanating from either of the above offices since the cable was cut. The company has been watching all points for Manila intelligence, being anxious regarding the safety of its staff and property.

NO NEWS EXPECTED YET.

Navy Department Officials Not Surprised at Lack of Dispatches.

Washington, May 6.—The conclusion has been reached in Washington after forty-eight hours' of anxious waiting for news from Commodore Dewey at Manila that it will be some time before any word is received. Secretary Long and the officers of the Bureau of Navigation are not surprised at not receiving advices from the Commodore. They say he would hardly send one of his vessels with dispatches to Hong Kong until he had completed his work in the Philippines. They believe that he would not dispatch a vessel of his fleet until he has occupied Manila, and they deny most emphatically the reports that news has been received. It is also stated that Commodore Dewey undoubtedly started in to make a good job of the fight at Manila, and will complete his work under his first instructions, acting according to circumstances without being hampered by dispatches from the department.

The dispatches from Hong Kong announcing the arrival of the McCulloch are now utterly discredited. It is calculated that it was not possible for the cutter to have got there from Manila, and the theory is advanced as very probable that the McCulloch was not in a condition at the end of the naval battle to put to sea with dispatches. She is too light a craft to have escaped injury in the engagement, and it is hardly probable that she was held in reserve by Commodore Dewey, since she had been equipped with heavy armament for her size and was capable of doing good service. The chances are that she was in the thick of the fight and did not escape injury. Upon this theory it is calculated that there should be no surprise if a communication from Commodore Dewey is delayed until either the cable is repaired or communication may be had through some foreign vessel from the Philippines to Hong Kong.

There need be no apprehension on the part of the public that any news that is received from Commodore Dewey will be withheld from it. Secretary Long has stated in the most emphatic manner that he regards it as his duty to make the people acquainted with the facts as soon as he knows them himself. He believes this is only just to the relatives and friends of the sailors of Dewey's fleet. Therefore, the many statements and rumors that are constantly circulating to the effect that the Navy Department has received mysterious cablegrams from Hong Kong, which it has sedulously concealed, may be set down as pure moonshine.

Secretary Long said that he felt no apprehension over the lack of news from Commodore Dewey, because, in the first place, reports were not expected with the cable from Manilla cut, and, furthermore, no fears were entertained as to Commodore Dewey's ability to maintain his position.

HURRYING TROOPS TO 'FRISCO.

Six Thousand Men Expected at the Presidio Reservation Soon.

San Francisco, May 6.—San Francisco will at once become the base of important military and naval operations. Six thousand men will be encamped in the Presidio reservation shortly. The Fourteenth Infantry, now stationed in the Department of the Columbia, has been ordered to San Francisco. It is believed all the organizations of the Fourth United States Cavalry will be concentrated at the Presidio.

Major Gen. H. C. Merriam, commanding the Department of California and the Columbia, and Col. Louis T. Morris, commanding the post at the Presidio, have been instructed to select locations for the encampment of 6,000 volunteers from Oregon, Washington and California. About 500 men, it is said, can be cared for on Angel Island.

Col. Morrison says that some of the men manning the batteries of heavy artillery here will be sent to Manila to man light batteries, and their places will be filled from among the California volunteers.

Work at the Union Iron Works on the battleship Wisconsin is delayed by the non-arrival of her armor plates. Otherwise the completion of the vessel is being rushed with all possible speed. There are over 3,000 men employed in the yard, working night and day shifts.

Senate May Kill Bond Issue.

Washington, May 6.—There is now a doubt that there will be a majority in the Senate Finance Committee against the bond feature, as Senator Jones, of Nevada, has taken a position against it, and Senator Wolcott has indicated that he will oppose it if an acceptable substitute can be secured.

Cannibals Eat Eighteen Men.

Brisbane, Queensland, May 6.—A terrible story of cannibalism is reported from New Guinea. Fourteen escaped prisoners from Manamana attacked a friendly village, killing and eating eighteen men.

There must be a cause!

There must be a reason for our unique position in New Jersey. With countless competitors in the field, you would expect that the business of one or two of them would nearly approach in size the business of the largest, but the truth is that ours is many times larger than any other single one.

One of the causes is that we sell Pianos that we know are the seven best, in their different grades, that America produces—CHICKERINGS, GABLERS, HARDMANS, VOSES, STERLINGS, STANDARDS and HUNTINGTONS. These names are a cause unto themselves.

OUR FLAG OVER MANILA.

Commodore Dewey Is Directing the Government of the Philippine Islands.

(Special Cable Dispatch to the World.)

London, May 6.—Commodore Dewey has followed up his first victory with a second. The Americans are in control of the Philippines. Manila has been captured by the American fleet. The Government is now being carried on by Commodore Dewey.

This news reached London in a private dispatch from Hong Kong. It is the first news from Manila that does not bear the stamp of Spanish authorship.

How the news reached there is not stated, but it is possible that it came over in some swift merchantman which was lying in the harbor during the engagement and which set sail before Dewey started his dispatch boat.

This private telegram confirms the news of the destruction of the Spanish fleet and the sinking of the flagship Reina Cristina.

From the same source it is learned that Gen. Alejardrino, the rebel leader who was taken over from Hong Kong by the American commander, landed on the coast from one of the American transports, taking with him a quantity of ammunition and arms for the insurgent forces that hovered about the capital city.

It is thought that these insurgents lent a brave hand when Dewey attacked the defenses of the city and helped to bring about a speedy end.

THREE KILLED IN A MINE.

Falling Timber Crushes Platform on Which They Stood, Hurling Them Below.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 6.—The Halstead mine, at Duryea, which caved in on Friday last and in which two men were entombed alive, was the scene last evening of a dreadful accident in which three met with horrible deaths.

Owing to a severe squeeze during the cave in the mine had been twisted out of shape and it was impossible to use the cage. A corps of men were at work putting down guides to the line of the shaft. About twenty feet down there were men on a temporary platform to whom the guides were lowered. Two men at the head attached a heavy guide, a timber about a foot square and twenty feet long, to a rope, and began to gradually lower it, when suddenly the timber slipped and struck the platform with great force, smashing it and precipitating the men down the shaft, a distance of 300 feet.

The mine was entered through an opening a half mile distant, and the bodies of the men, crushed almost beyond recognition, were brought to the surface. The men were John Monaghan, John Titus, and Stephen Jenkins. The latter leaves a wife and several children.

Concentrating Spanish Troops.

Kingston, Jamaica, May 6.—Senor Manuel Carre, a Manzanillo merchant who left there six days ago and has just arrived by the schooner Governor Blake, says that Gen. Pando ordered all the garrisons in eastern Cuba to concentrate in Manzanillo, Nuevitas, Guantanamo and Santiago de Cuba. All other places have been evacuated. Some speculators in Manzanillo who had ordered a cargo of food sent from Montego Bay cabled the agent, Richard Thompson, to-day, not to ship it, as it was supposed the food would be seized by the Spaniards.

Americans Shun Paris.

Paris, May 6.—The savage attacks on Americans in the Paris newspapers and the strong anti-American feeling here has resulted in a marked diminution of the number of American tourists. There is also a report that some American firms have withdrawn their applications for space at the 1900 exposition. This has hit the tender Parisian pocket nerve and a change of newspaper comment is already noticeable.

A Hundred Reasons

They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. They are pleasant to the taste.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half-digested food.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh-forming foods.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy, the successful physician of today is the specialist, the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt you, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

WHEAT GOES UP TO $1.50.

Yesterday a Record Breaking Day in the Chicago Market.

New York, May 6.—Wheat sold at $1.50 a bushel in the Chicago market yesterday for the May delivery, and $1.45 a bushel in the local market for the same delivery, thus establishing new records. On both markets the dealings were of the most sensational character.

The advances were made amid great excitement, and other deliveries participated in the boom, though to a less extent.

There was a wild rush by the bears to cover their short contracts which developed almost into a panic. The advance was incited by a further big improvement for wheat in the Liverpool market, and reflected a combination of bullish announcements. These included the removal by both France and Italy of import duties on wheat. Spain, it was announced, had also removed her duty and prohibited exports.

Flour prices sympathized with the advance in wheat values. Spring patents were quoted this afternoon at $6.50@6.85 a barrel, against $6.20@6.50 on Tuesday. Cash wheat, No. 2 red, free on board, was quoted at $1.47 a bushel, against $1.25½ on Tuesday.

Refugees at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 6.—The British freight steamship Lucilene, Capt. Tucker, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Havana with 112 Cuban refugees on board. The Lucilene brings a full cargo of molasses and sugar. She left Havana April 25, three days after the blockade was initiated. Many of the refugees are prominent Cubans, and among them are lawyers, doctors, bankers and planters. Some of them are said to have been millionaires before the insurrection started in Cuba. The Danish Consul at Havana and the former Mayor of San Nicholas, Cuba, are among the passengers. All the passengers were well and apparently none the worse for their hurried departure from Cuba.

Pennsylvania Guard Gets Muster Orders.

Harrisburg, May 6.—General orders have been issued from National Guard headquarters designating the formation of the fifteen regiments of the Pennsylvania division for muster into the United States service, as agreed upon at a conference in Washington between Adjutant Gen. Stewart and Secretary of War Alger. The organizations remain as they are now constituted, except the Sixth Regiment, which has been increased to twelve companies by the addition of the State Fencibles battalion. All enlisted men in the Guard who enter the United States service will receive honorable discharges.

Mimic Battle Ends in Death

Baltimore, May 6.—As a result of a mimic battle between the United States and Spain by American and Polish boys, from 12 to 16 years old, in Canton a day or two ago, John Keprofsky is dead, and eleven youngsters are locked up on the charge of causing his death. The boys organized two forces, the Poles representing Spain in charge of a fortress. Keprofsky was sent out to reconnoitre. He was called upon by the storming party to surrender, but refused, and was shot in the abdomen by one of the American boys. The bullet that caused his death was from a large-sized cat rifle.

College for Women.

Philadelphia, May 6.—The statement is made officially by the authorities of the University of Pennsylvania that the report that the university intends to adopt the coeducation plan is incorrect. It is, however, their purpose to establish a separate college for women, modeled upon the plan of either Radcliff or Barnard, which are operated in conjunction with Harvard University and Columbia University, respectively.

Triple Tragedy in Erie, Pa.

Erie, Pa., May 6.—Peter Schucher of Venango Township, this county, shot and fatally wounded two men, George Henderson, a path master, and Edward Skinner, yesterday, and then committed suicide. The shooting was caused by a dispute over cutting down a ditch in front of the murderer's property.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Rear Admiral Camara has been appointed commander in chief of the reserve fleet at Cadiz.

The oiler on the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, who is supposed to be a Spanish spy, is still in irons in the brig of the ship. He says his name is Howard Hanau.

The New York Chamber of Commerce adopted resolutions supporting the Government in the war, and a committee was appointed to tender the assistance of the Chamber.

A report just submitted by United States Sanitary Inspector Dr. W. F. Bruner, states that fully 35,000 Spanish soldiers have died from yellow fever and other diseases in Cuba.

The price of wheat advanced again yesterday and precipitated almost a panic in the New York Produce Exchange. May wheat advanced to the highest legitimate price ever known, and the July option advanced to over one dollar a bushel.

AN EXPEDITION LANDED

SPANIARDS FIRE ON HER

Lieut. Acosta and Other Daring Cubans Met by Insurgents on Matanzas Beach—The Wilmington Knocked to Pieces a Spanish Block House on the Shore, with About Fifty Soldiers In It.

Key West, May 6.—The naval dispatch tug Leyden has returned here after successfully landing arms, ammunition and some Cuban officers and guides in the province of Matanzas.

The Leyden had to get assistance from the gunboat Wilmington to land the expedition and the Wilmington had to fire a number of shells to drive off Spanish troops who were attacking the landing party.

Lieut. Col. Baldomero Acosta, his secretary, N. Leon, two guides and two horses, and Major Laureano Prado and Pilot Ambrosio Diaz were landed in Cuba.

The tug left Key West Monday afternoon. At daybreak Wednesday her men made the first attempt to land an interpreter to confer with a party of Cuban insurgents who were waiting on the beach. While this conversation was being held the people of the Leyden discovered about fifty Spanish cavalrymen coming down from a hill toward the shore, as if reconnoitering.

The Leyden signaled danger to the insurgents, and the latter took to the bushes. Up to that time eight cases of Winchester rifles had been landed.

Seeing the cavalrymen, the Leyden's boat returned alongside, lying about a quarter of a mile off shore. The cavalrymen leveled rifles at the tug, but hesitated about firing.

The insurgents in the meantime had spread in the bushes and opened fire, driving the cavalry back up the hill, the latter firing as they fled.

The cavalry returned shortly with reinforcements, but failed to make an impression on the insurgents concealed in the bushes.

The cavalry paid no attention to the insurgents, but began a sharp fusillade at the tug. Bullets flew around the tug so fast that the lookout aloft came down.

The Leyden, seeing no chance to land the ammunition just then, picked up the man she had landed and steamed back to the flagship off Havana, reporting it would be impossible to land the cargo unless protected.

The gunboat Wilmington was immediately ordered to help the Leyden. On returning to the landing point, the Wilmington held off shore about a mile and a half, the Leyden going in close to the beach.

The tug was signaled by the insurgents that the coast was clear. Manned by four men a boat then left the Leyden with ammunition and two large boxes of dynamite. When a short distance from the beach a man aloft on the Leyden sang out that the cavalry were coming down to the beach again in strong force.

The Leyden then signaled the Wilmington, and the latter came a trifle closer to shore, and with stern facing the beach fired four rattling good shots from her four-inch rapid fire gun.

All the shots landed by the cavalry, but none was killed. The cavalrymen took to their heels, and the Leyden's crew think they are running yet. The boat's cargo was then landed.

While waiting for her attack on the cavalrymen the Wilmington fired at a block house farther down the beach. There were some fifty Spanish regulars sitting on top of this block house watching the Leyden and the insurgents at work.

The Wilmington's first shot went wild. The twelfth and last shot was a bull's eye. When the smoke cleared away the block house, the men and all had disappeared as though swallowed up.

The Spanish colors that had flown from the house were seen high up in a tree, flaunting away, where a shot had driven them.

The guns used were the Colt's automatic four-inch and a three-pounder.

The Leyden and Wilmington returned to the flagship, and the former then came here. There are dozens of holes in the tug's smokestack from the cavalrymen's bullets.

Guarding New York's Aqueduct.

New York, May 6.—The Commissioner of Water Supply, fearing that some Spaniard or Spanish sympathizer might interfere with the city water or with the Croton aqueduct, has detailed men to patrol the entire system and warn off intruders. In addition to this precautionary measure, men have been stationed at all reservoirs and at the principal sources of supply, and any suspicious characters found in the vicinity will be required to give an account of themselves.

Sympathy for the President.

London, May 6.—At the next meeting of the Congregational Union a resolution will be proposed regretting the war between the United States and Spain and expressing sympathy with President McKinley and the American people in their efforts to terminate speedily the injustice and persecution which have long been practiced upon Cuba by Spain.

Call for Engineers.

Washington, May 6.—The War Department has decided to call upon the country at large for 3,500 army engineers. They will be provided for in a special act of Congress. Reports received at the War Department from recruiting officers show that this work is progressing very satisfactorily. The men offering themselves are of a high order.

Hawaii in Congress.

Washington, May 6.—The House Committee on Foreign Affairs met yesterday and considered various bills and resolutions relating to the annexation of Hawaii by legislative action. The committee took no definite action, adjourning until next Tuesday. It is claimed that a majority of the committee favor annexation.

The Best News Service.

The Daily Press is certain, and its readers are given evidence of that fact every day, that it has a much more complete and in every way better telegraphic news service than that supported by The News.

Compare the two—yesterday, the day before or any day during the past four weeks—and it can be readily seen that when the Daily Press makes this claim, it is backing it up by actual performance.

The Union Associated Press, serving several hundred papers in all sections of the United States, furnishas The Daily Press exclusively in Plainfield, and, in fact, for Northern New Jersey, with the best service by special telegraphic dispatches. The Union Associated Press applies itself to the work of supplying telegraphic news reports—and that alone—and it has superior and exceptional facilities for doing this work in competition with any other news-gathering force in the country. The Daily Press has been and will continue to furnish the best telegraphic service of any newspaper in Plainfield.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

If there is to be any opposition to the renomination of Congressman Fowler, it has not yet manifested itself. The convention will not have cause to consider any other name, for if ever a representative has done his duty in straight lines that one is our present Congressman. He has not only been faithful in his attendance upon the sessions of Congress but he has voted right every time, and has not been afraid to give a reason for action. In the committee room he has shown the most careful discrimination and in caring for the interests of his district and constituents no one could be more faithful. By all means Charles Nelson Fowler must succeed himself.—Westfield Leader.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Under the management of John F. Harley, "Gayest Manhattan" will be presented tomorrow night at Music Hall. Much is guaranteed for this production, and from its success much may be expected. It was originally produced at Koster & Bial's Music Hall, New York City, last winter, and continued the main attraction there throughout the season. The fact that "Gayest Manhattan" was played at Koster & Bials's is a reasonable assurance that it its production was attended with stage settings and a cast of exceptional excellence. The same scenery and costumes and practically the same cast will be presented in Plainfield. Among the musical gems of the burlesque may be mentioned the following: "The Rulers of Central Park," "I Am a Gay Politician," "For Sweet Charity's Sake," "Deferred Ambitions," "Good Old Palmy Days," "My Little One," "The Modern School." "Life is What we Make it" and "That's What the Mermaids are Saying." Besides a chorus of forty voices, the following well-known vaudeville performers will appear in their specialty performance: Richard Gorman, Jean McIlmoyle, Thomas Kiernan, Marie Twohey, Matt Alexander, Alta D. Kerman, Gus Pixley and Robert Watson.

Reserved seats for the bargain matinee performance of "Gayest Manhattan" at Music Hall tomorrow afternoon, can be secured at box office. To accommodate all desiring to secure seats for both, or either matinee or night performance, Manager Maze Edwards will keep office open until 9 o'clock this evening.

MR. WHITE ENTERTAINED

MUSIC AND COMEDY HEARD IN A DRY GOODS STORE.

A Thousand People Visited the Mercantile Centre to Enjoy the Programme Arranged for Their Pleasure.

All roads led to Edward White's big store on West Front street last evening. Despite the rain and dampness the people turned out en masse to attend the opening of his new stores. The opening lasted from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock, and during that time there must have been over 1,000 men, women and children that passed in and out of the store. The arrangement of the two new stores that have now been thrown in with Mr. White's former establishment has already been noted in these columns.

A platform had been erected in one of the new stores close to the stairway. The Queen City Band was present and occupied the platform for part of the time. They played patriotic and other selections and did exceedingly well. Then there was a cornet solo by Prof. Bartow, of Bound Brook.

The feature of the evening's entertainment, however, was the appearance of the two famous leaders of minstrelsy, George Thatcher and his old friend, Edward Marble. They had a new string of jokes and gags already for the occasion, and they kept their hearers in a perfect roar of delight. They rattled off funny stories for twenty minutes, and then said good evening amid a grand burst of applause.

The store was decorated with tricolored bunting and American and Cuban flags. The various commodities are also arranged about the counters in a tasteful display.

lawyer and Judge VanSyckel would not allow him to answer any incriminating questions.

Mr. Marsh asked the witness, "Do you know who struck Pitts?"

"Don't answer that!" exclaimed Judge VanSyckel, but Roesel had blurted out, "Yes, I do."

After that he was kept well in check by his lawyers.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly deodorizes whatever it touches. Destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning May 8. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Things my denomination has accomplished.—Ps. lxxxvii, 1-7; Eph. v, 25-27. (To be led by the pastor or some other church officer.)

Christian Endeavor has always magnified and emphasized denominational loyalty. It stands not only for Christ, but also for His church and for His church as composed of various Christian denominations. It has never made light of denominational ties. It has always striven to tighten them. It has never been undenominational, but always interdenominational. Not the least important of all its great works has been the interesting of young people in the history and work of their denominations. That these things are facts and that they have been fully appreciated by the Christian denominations is abundantly testified to by the fact that there are Christian Endeavor societies in 40 different Christian denominations today.

It is impossible to be a loyal Endeavorer and not to be loyal to our denominations and our local churches. The pledge makes this impossible. It distinctly says, "I promise Him (Christ) * * * that I will make it the rule of my life * * * to support my own church in every way, especially by attending all her regular Sunday and midweek services." Thus it is impossible to be an Endeavorer and to be faithless to church or denomination.

The topical references suggest two reasons why Christian Endeavor has done well to emphasize the importance of the church:

1. God,'s love for the church, represented by His love for Zion, which typified the church (Ps. lxxxvii, 1-7). "The Lord," says the psalmist, "loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob." God loves His church with a deep affection, with an everlasting love. He loves Zion with a special and distinguishing love, not only as compared with the other nations of the world, but even with other parts of the Holy Land itself. If God loves His church so dearly, His love embracing all branches of it, surely those who are God's should also love it and realize its importance. Particularly should we love and serve that branch of the church in which we have been born and raised perhaps or in which at least we have found Christ and been born into His kingdom.

2. Christ's love for the church, proved by His death for it, Eph. v, 25-27. "Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for it that He might sanctify and cleanse it." What a wondrous love that would bleed and die in the stead of the church! So should we love Christ's church and be willing to make sacrifices for its prosperity and its success. And how can we better show this love than by being intensely interested in it, studying up carefully what our part of the church has done in saving souls, in distributing charity, in sending the gospel of Christ to all the world?

Bible Readings.—Ps. xlviii, 1-14; lxxviii, 67, 68; cxxii, 1-9; cxxxvii, 1-6; Math. v, 13-16; x, 5-15; xvi, 13-20; xviii, 15-18; xxviii, 19, 20; Acts ii, 41-47; xx, 28; I Cor. i, 1-3; x, 32, 33; xiv, 1-5; Eph. v, 29; Col. i, 18.

Taking Stock.

Merchants take account of stock, and business generally is reviewed for making an annual inventory. We cannot have such a running account in our spiritual relations, but each one should wisely take a survey for self examination and improvement. Blessings, mercies, benefits, deliverances and responsibilities, duties, promises, pledges, vows and failures, shortcomings, transgressions and sins—these belong to the year now ending. Are you willing thus to make up the record sealed for the eternal judgment? God's infinite grace alone can cure the defects and make your standing for the great day perfect and complete in Jesus Christ.—Reformed Church Messenger.

Begging and Asking.

There is too much begging done and too little asking. There are two things Christians must ever keep in mind. One is that the Lord is not a beggar. He asks for but a small part of what He has so bountifully given. The other is that those who ask in His name are not beggars either. They simply do what the Lord commands. When Christians do a great deal of asking from the Lord, they never call it begging when the Lord asks of them.—Lutheran.

Take Heed.

It is of the utmost importance that men should take heed how and what they hear. The gracious invitation is, "He that hath ears to hear let him hear." But would it not be well for professing Christians, before they go to receive the good seed, either by hearing the word or by reading it, to seek divine strength to cast out the thorns or cares and worldly inclinations lest the seed should be choked?—Churchman.

Answering the Child.

The child is very near to nature's heart. He is gifted usually with observation. If all his spontaneous inquiries into the phenomena by which he is surrounded are slightingly and indifferently treated, his observing and reasoning faculties will be defrauded of their natural right to grow and wax strong with his years.—Churchman.

Life's Duty.

Great deeds are trumpted, loud bells are rung,
And men turn round to hear
The high peaks echo to the peans sung,
And some great victor cheer, and yet great deeds are few.
The mightiest men find opportunities but now and then.

The sweetest lives are those to duty wed.
The world may sound no trumpets, ring no bells.
The Book of Life the shining record tells.

God help us mothers all to live aright,
And may our homes all truth and love enfold,
Since life for us no loftier aims can hold
Than leading little children in the light.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Lesson For the Week Beginning May 8. Comment by Rev. W. J. Yates, A. M. Topic, Taking Things Patiently.

SCRIPTURE READING.—I Pet. ii, 20; Luke xxi, 19; Rom. v, 3.

Patience is not born with us, but is made by us. Indifference and stupidity, carelessness and lack of sensibility, may be natural, but no one was ever truly patient without effort and experience. This is one of the virtues which require trials and sufferings and disappointments to bring them to perfection. It is more than quietness of soul; more than contentment of mind. It is peace in waiting when waiting is hard to bear, but it is more than this; it has its basis in expectation and is firmly bound to faith. The patient soul trusts, hopes and can wait.

Why are we so often impatient?

Mostly because we are unreasonable and wish to reach some end quickly when it can only be done at expense of much time and labor.

Or we are willful and want to go in our own way when it is certain that is not the best way and should not be followed.

Or we are resentful because we have been in the wrong and are now corrected.

We tug against the leading strings and they choke and hurt us.

We ought to go in the right way. We ought to go willingly. We ought to go gladly. We ought to go at just such a pace as is best. We must learn how fast, how far and all the rest by going. We must practice. If we meet restraint, we must slow down. If we are spurred on, we must go faster. If one path ends, we must find another. If one plan fails, another must be devised. If pain comes, we must cure it or bear it, not fret because of it. If a fault is found in our work or ourselves, it must be corrected. We may feel sorrow and shame, but should never feel resentment and anger against the one who showed us the fault. Much less should we become impatient at the truth and the right.

Still more difficult is it to endure criticism and censure and injury when we have done right. Yet this is the work of patience. Jesus leads us here also and the spirit can be calm and sweet and joyous even under persecution. Surely this Christian patience is a gem of value. Possess it!

Our New Bottles.

That a new spirit is taking hold of the young people of Christendom is clear. Not long ago the wail went up on all sides, "Where are the young people? They are not in the churches. What becomes of our probationers? They do not stay in the church." Now, the young life of the land is enlisting for advanced work in the fields of Christian activity. The young people's movement is found in all denominations. It is a movement of life. It shows activity. Of necessity, many of the old things must change under this new impulse. New wine cannot safely be put in the old wine skins. They can't stand the strain. New channels of church work will be planned. New bottles for the new wine will be made. Perhaps the old have fully served their purpose and ought to have been laid aside before. Certainly they cannot hold the new fermenting life of the times.

Social life must be cultivated, not in the worldly, frivolous manner, but in a bright, pure, genuine Christian way. Literary taste and skill must be secured. The ignorance that posed as devotion is doomed. God says, "Let there be light," and light is. The form of devotional services must in some respects be modified. The form must be shaped by the spirit of the new life.

Cost and Compensation.

Many are asking: "What is the good of these monster meetings of the League and Endeavor society? Don't they cost more than they come to?" They are of great value, and the results amply repay all the outlay. The uplift given to thousands by the Toronto and San Francisco conventions, the acquaintances formed, the broadening of mind and soul by travel and contact with the best minds and hearts of the world, the quickening of the pulses of the religious life by song and prayer and speech, the very enthusiasm of numbers, make these great gatherings of incalculable value. They appeal to men by their very size and compel respect for the church in an age when men gauge things largely by their sense qualities. The Pacific slope has had an object lesson of the power and size and spirit of the young life of the church which it will not soon forget. It could have been given in no other way. It has led to the request that the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church hold its next session in the far west and if possible in the city of San Francisco. It costs, but it pays well to gather the tribes of Israel occasionally together.

Food and Exercise.

These are the two essentials for healthy development of the body. So they are needed in the life of the spirit. Feed on God's word as the bread of life. Read the Bible. Then do all you can to help somebody. These are the two essentials to growth as a Christian.

The Lesser Ministries.

A flower upon my threshold laid,
A little kindness wrought unseen;
I know not who love's tribute paid;
I only know that it has made
Life's pathway smooth, life's borders green.

God bless the gracious hands that e'er
Such tender ministries essay,
Dear hands that help the pilgrim bear
His load of weariness and care
More bravely up the toilsome way.

Oh, what a little thing can turn
A heavy heart from sighs to song!
A smile can make the world less stern.
A word can cause the soul to burn
With glow of heaven all night long.

It needs not that love's gift be great—
Some splendid jewel of the soul
For which a king might supplicate.
Nay, true love's least, at love's true rate,
Is tithe the most royal of the whole.

—Churchman.

PEARLS AND PEARL SHELLS.

Treasures That Are Taken from the Indian Ocean and Persian Gulf.

In St. Nicholas Capt. H. D. Smith of the United States revenue cutter service tells of his experiences, "Hunting for Shells," from the Island of Ceylon to the Dry Tortugas. Capt. Smith says:

Pearl shells are valuable, and fine specimens are hard to obtain. They are found in the Treamotee, Gambier and Tribual groups of islands. The choicest come from Macassar; these are the white-edged shells, worth $800 a ton, and from these the finest pearl buttons are manufactured.

The most celebrated pearl fisheries lie near the coast of Ceylon, the Persian Gulf and in the waters of Java and Sumatra. The Australian coast in the neighborhood of Shank's bay and at Roebuck bay furnishes some very large shells, some of them weighing from two to three younds each. The fisheries of Baja, Gulf of California, are very rich, France controlling the gems procured there. The meat of the pearl oyster is readily bought by the Chinamen, who dry the leathery little bivalves or seal them up in cans and ship them to their countrymen in San Francisco. The pearl shells readly sell upon the spot at from $1.50 to $5 per pound.

Pearls are of various colors, and in India the red pearls were highly prized by the Buddhists, who used them in adorning their temples. Pearls are formed to protect the shell fish. They are due to a secretion of a shelly substance around some irritaing particle, and their composition is the same as that of mother-of-pearl.

A FISH STORY.

It Was Homesick for Old Friends and Moped Without Them.

Among a lot of golden trout from Sunapee Lake received at the New York Aquarium in December last, there was one fine big brook trout taken from the same water. At the Aquarium the golden trout were placed in a tank by themselves; the brook trout was put into a tank of lake trout from the interior of New York state.

The golden trout from Sunapee thrived; the brook trout that came with them, now in with the lake trout, did not. It held aloof from the other fish in the tank, and never fed well, and was not interested in anything.

Two or three weeks ago the tank that the lake trout were in was needed for something else, and the fish in it were shifted. The brook trout from Sunapee was put into the tank with the golden trout with which it had been received. From that day it was another fish. It no longer moped away the time off in one corner by itself, but it lined up with the golden trout, and slashed around the tank with them, and pranced around on its own account quite at home. It fed well, and was as chipper as a fish could be, and has been so ever since.

A New Subscriber.

"Say, kernel," he said, as he walked into the editor's office and stamped about forty pounds of mud off his boots against the legs of the stove, "I sorter thought I'd take your paper if you'd do the square thing."

"Why, of course; we are always glad to accommodate our subscribers."

"Well, here's a little obituary of Aunt Kaline—hit's jes' ten pages o' foolscap, an' won't make much, I reckon."

"We'll print it."

"An' you'll send forty copies of the paper to this 'ere list o' relatives, won't you?"

"Yes."

"An' next week my daughter Serilly is goin' to get married. I reckon you'll print a hull lot about that."

"Of course; that's news."

"An' say, I've got one of the finest young shotes you ever have saw. I want you to come out some day and write up hit."

"I shall be glad to do so."

"You hain't got a dozen or two old magazines whut you's done read a-lyin' eround handy, hev you?"

"Yes; here's three or four."

Oriental Pile Driving.

In Japan and China, women drive piles for houses and bridges. Their method is interesting. Attached to the hammer block are twenty-seven ropes, carried up to the top of the frame and on the outside looking very much like the old-fashioned May-pole. Twenty-seven women hold the ends of the ropes, and with a sing-song all together pull down; up travels the hammer until at a scream, all let go, and down it comes on top of the pile, which is unprotected by a band or ring. This May-pole driver is in general use throughout Japan and China.

Equal to the Occasion.

An old lawyer in Paris had instructed his client to weep every time he struck the desk with his hand, but forgot and struck the desk at the wrong moment. She promptly fell to sobbing and crying.

"What is the matter with you?" asked the judge.

"Well, he told me to cry as often as he struck the table."

"Gentlemen of the jury," cried the unabashed lawyer, "let me ask you how you can reconcile the idea of crime in connection with such candor and simplicity?"—L'Illustration.

GOV. VOORHEES AT SEA GIRT

The Men Cheer Him and Call For a Speech, But He Declined to Respond.

Sea Girt, May 6—Since the soldiers went into camp Monday there has been only one period of sunshine and that lasted only ten minutes. Yesterday afternoon it was intended to take out many of the awkward squads for drill, but the rain interfered. However, dress parade was ordered at 5:45, and the three regiments turned out. New men are coming into the camp every day. When the Third Regiment arrived on Monday it had 962 men. It now has 1,015 men. Nothing but the best of food is served, and it is served in such liberal quantities that there is often a great deal of waste. The regular army allowance is 1,250 pounds of meat for every 1,000 men, but the apportionment here is 1,850 pounds, and sometimes a ton, or nearly two pounds to every man.

The regular army officers are busy mustering in the soldiers of the First Regiment. They are taken in companies to the mess hall, where the men's weight and height are taken, and then follows a rigorous medical examination. Governor Voorhees arrived in camp about noon and went at once to his headquarters in the "White House." Later, with Col. Oliphant, his aide, and Col. Olcott, the quartermaster on duty, he inspected the camp unofficially. He found everything in good shape, and complimented the boys for the excellent condition of their tents. The Governor was cheered all along the line. Speeches were also called for, but he modestly declined.

The Governor sent this telegram to United States Senator Sewell, who has been appointed Major-General by President McKinley:

"It would afford all in camp great pleasure to receive the honor of a visit from you at your convenience.

The regimental officers will not be commissioned until mustered into the regular service, according to seniority. Col. Campbell is the ranking officer, with Col. Lee, of the Third Regiment, entitled to second honors. Private John Boyce, of Company G, Third Regiment, of Keyport, who attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon by cutting his throat, is still under the surgeon's care, but is reported out of danger. The United States Government has issued to every man a knife, fork, spoon, tin cup, and a combination plate and saucepan, such as are used in the regular army service. Each article is stamped "U. S."

EXPERT FORAGERS.

Plainfield Boys Heard From at Camp Voorhees at Sea Girt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

State Camp at Sea Girt, N. J., May 6—The regiments of the New Jersey Militia are now settled down here for active work. Drills are almost continuous. Among the members of the crack Company E of the Third Regiment, are three Plainfield boys, Sergeant John Dixon, Herbert Overbaugh and Mark J. Doud. The Plainfield boys are considered the most expert foragers in the Third Regiment, and will give a good account of themselves when they get to the front.

Wednesday they were visited by Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, and Hon. John Kean, of Elizabeth, who had a good word for them and assured them that Plainfield was getting along all right.

TO BUY THE EAGLE.

Patriotic Contributions to Be Made by the Scholars.

Superintendent Maxson, of the public schools, has sent the following letter to the teachers under him:

On top of the liberty pole that is to be erected by the city on Front street, opposite Park avenue, there is to be a large eagle, and it has been suggested that it would give the boys and girls a chance to focus their patriotism on something definite if the school children were allowed to contribute the money to purchase the eagle.

I heartily approve the suggestion and, with the consent of the president of the Board, I appoint next Wednesday as collection day. Announce it to your pupils Monday, and on Wednesday morning let each teacher receive from her children what they wish to give, taking the collection herself, so that no child shall know what another gives. We need to raise $55. If each pupil gave 3 cents it would be enough. As some may not be able to do that, those who are able would better give a nickel or a dime, but everyone who only gives a cent will own a share in the eagle. If the collection is more than $55 the surplus will be used to help the Cuban sufferers.

NO AMERICANS ON DEWEY'S FLEET WERE KILLED AT MANILLA.

The Spaniards Had 300 Men Killed and 400 Injured by American Shots.

First Official News Received This Morning from a Lieutenant Who Went to Hong Kong—The Spanish Fleet Annihilated and American Vessels Uninjured—Great Rejoicing All Over.

THE LATEST.

Twelve O'Clock.

SPECIAL TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY PRESS FROM UNION ASSOCIATED PRESS.

[The figures of time following the date in each dispatch indicate the time of its receipt in Plainfield, and will afford readers a better understanding and appreciation of the order in which the events have happened, and their relative importance to each other.]

COMMANDER DEWEY.

Hong Kong, May 7, 10 a. m.—The long-watched for report from Commodore Dewey and the American fleet at Manila has arrived.

With it comes the story in full detail of a great victory for American arms. The most enthusiastic rumors of the battle of Manila are confirmed.

Even the Americans are surprised at the very slight loss on the part of the American fleet and the terrific damage that its guns accomplished.

The office of the Eastern Telegraph Company in this city has been crowded with those who are anxious to learn as soon as possible of the resumption of communication with the Phillippine Islands.

Reports have reached from Japanese and other sources telling of the great victory of the American fleet, but there was no confirmation of the news.

At an early hour this morning the lookouts at the harbor sighted a small steamer bearing toward the city and flying the American flag.

The rumor went forth that Commodore Dewey's despatch boat, the revenue cutter, Hugh McCullogh, was approaching. The boat was considered already over due if she left the fleet after the battle of Manila.

Her nearer approach proved her to be the long looked-for messenger from the American commodore. She steemed into the harbor and was anxiously received.

On board the Hugh McCollough was Lieutenant Bundy, the flag-lieutenant of Commodore Dewey. He had to tell of a great victory for the American fleet and the utter annilation of the Spanish fleet.

The ships of the Spanish fleet at Manila, he reported, were gone, either destroyed by the fire of the American ships or sunk by the Spaniards. The American fleet was unharmed.

His story of the losses of the combatants was even more remarkable. On the Spanish side, three hundred men were killed and four hundred wounded. There was not a fatality in the entire American fleet. Eleven of the American sailors were wounded by the fire from the Spanish ships and batteries.

Both the Spanish ships and the Spanish land batteries took part in the engagement but the fire from the American fleet not only annihilated the Spanish warships but silenced the guns in the fortifications.

Bundy is now cabling a complete report of the engagement to the authorities at Washington.

His story of the conflict as it occurred is very exciting.

The battle began at daybreak Sunday, Commodore Dewey having taken the fleet through the mine fields and past the batteries on Corregidor Island during the night without disaster.

The challenge to battle was flung out by the Spanish flagship Reina Christina, which opened fire on the advancing American squadron.

The Olympia, Dewey's flagship, which led the van, replied to the shot from the Spaniard.

Immediately afterward, the entire American fleet began firing on the Spanish fleet. The latter replied heavily. Then the batteries of Cavite opened a murderous raking fire on the American ships.

Soon the Spanish flag-ship burst into flames and the Spanish Admiral Montijo transferred his flag to the transport Isla de Cuba.

Ten minutes later the Spanish cruiser Castilla burst into flames and her crew were compelled to desert her

Repeatedly the hot fire from the American ships drove the gunners from the heavy guns, and compelled them to take refuge in the bomb-proofs at Cavite.

The bomb-proofs offered but slight resistance to the terrible American gunnery and many were killed in them.

Dewey's battle line was led by his flagship, the Olympia. The cruiser Raleigh followed a cable's length behind.

The Batimore, Boston, Concord, Petrel and McCullough, followed in the order named under easy maneuvering speed.

The Spanish ships were formed in two lines flanking the Reina Christina.

During the entire action the American warships kept under way manœuvering about the enemy.

One after another the Spanish ships burst into flames or were run aground by their crews to save them from capture.

Eleven Spanish ships, the entire fleet, were destroyed during the engagement.

They were the Reina Christina, steel cruiser; Castella, wooden cruiser; Velasco, iron cruiser; Don Antonio de Ulloa, iron cruiser; Don Juan de Austria, iron cruiser; Isla de Cuba protected steel cruiser; Isla de Lozon, steel protected cruiser; Quieres, Velalobas, El Cano, and Manilena, steel gunboats.

Dewey fought until the last of the Spanish ships was destroyed and the shore batteries completely reduced.

He then despatched the Hugh McCullugh to this port with the news of the victory.

The Official Report.

Washington, May 7, 10:50 a. m—Secretary Long received Commodore Dewey's cipher report at 9:40 o'clock this morning.

It was delivered to President McKinley at once. Dewey informs the Government that no heavy projectiles hit the American ships.

The officials of the Bureau of Navigation are locked in their room deciphering the report. The only open word is Manila. The report consists of five lines of cipher.

MR. SPENCER SETTLES WITH THE BOROUGH

Final Report Made by the Special Committee.

THE COMMITTEE THANKED.

MAYOR WILSON SAID THEY SHOULD BE COMMENDED.

The Sum of $3,548.58 was Accepted by the Borough Council in Settlement of the Shortage in His Account, the Right Being Retained to Give Him the Benefit of Any of the Errors That Might be Cleared Away in the Future—Borough Has Secured Nearly $9,000 by the Investigation.

At last night's Borough Council meeting Councilman Burtis offered a resolution to the effect that the Council accept the settlement offered by former Collector Spencer, and still another resolution that if any errors are found in favor of Mr. Spencer that the latter receive full credit for the same. Both resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Mayor Wilson in discharging the special committee having the matter of Mr. Spencer's accounts in charge, thanked the committee for the very complete and satisfactory work accomplished.

The final report was as follows:

To the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield:

Some months ago a report was submitted to the Mayor and Council by Expert Accountants employed to audit and systematize the Borough Accounts. That report showed differences existing between the Collector's books and the amount due the Borough under the detailed statement as computed by the Expert Accountants and that report which was submitted to your committee, has been adjusted in the following manner, to wit:—

As has already been reported by your committee the Collector made good, during the time the experts were examining his accounts, $4,000 of the money collected which he had omitted to report to the Council at the time of its collection.

Between the date of the experts report which came down to January 1st, 1898, and the retirement of Mr. Spencer from office he reported an additional sum of $1,411.84 more than he collected during that period, as appears from the supplemental report of the experts covering that time, which your committee found it necessary to have made, in order to place the accounts and books, to be turned over to the new Collector, upon a proper basis.

During this supplemental examination your committee found that an additional sum of $855 for liquor license fees had been received by the Collector during various years which he had omitted to report upon and which was not included in the original report of the experts, there being no record of it except at Somerville.

This amount together with the balances shown by the experts report to be due from the Collector for cash collected by him during various years from other sources and for which he had not accounted, made up a total of $2,722.52 still remaining due from the Collector upon his retirement from office, exclusive of interest on any item and of any claims for liens lost.

Your committee considered that it was right to charge interest at the ordinary rate, 6 per cent., upon amounts which the Collector had collected and failed to report upon from the date of such collection. This item of interest amounted to $826.06, making a total balance of $3,548.58 due from the Collector for cash actually received by him, and interest thereon as stated for which he had failed to account. In addition to this there remains the item of interest on delinquent taxes in cases where the original amount of the tax bill only had been accounted for by the Collector, while interest should have been collected amounting to $3,736.86.

Your committee had several meetings with Mr. Spencer and submitted to him and to an accountant chosen by him all the facts and figures in the possession of your committee, and after carefully examining said accounts Mr. Spencer admitted his inability to find errors therein and showed a disposition to settle with the borough that amount which appeared due it for cash received by him. He finally offered to pay the borough the balance of $3,549.58, shown by the accounts to be due, provided the Council would release him from liability for the item $3,736.86 interest on delinquent taxes above mentioned, and for deductions from assessed valuations made by him without due authority. Your committee would respectfully recommend that the Mayor and Council accept from Mr. Spencer the said sum of $3,548.58 and forego any claim against him for interest on delinquent taxes and for deductions from assessed valuations made by him without authority, upon the understanding that if he should be able to show within a reasonable time that he is entitled to any credits that he has not not been allowed, then such amount shall be adjusted with him by the borough. On the other hand Mr. Spencer shall remain liable for any further amounts which it may hereafter be discovered he has received and which have not yet appeared by the books to have been paid to him. Your committee considers that the borough will be justified in settling with Mr. Spencer in this way, by which he will account for only the money which he has actually received; and such settlement shall be satisfactory to the borough under all circumstances.

Finally, if the settlement, as recommended is made, the borough will have received nearly $9,000 as the result of the examination begun in November last.

Your committee realizes that the lesson is hereby taught that the most systematic and thorough business methods are always necessary in public as well as private affairs.

Undoubtedly some of the discrepancies in the collector's accounts were the result of carelessness. With the modern system, now adopted in our borough, it is hoped such a condition cannot occur again.

A Few Facts Telling Why THE DAILY PRESS Is a Better Paper Than The News.

THE DAILY PRESS is proud of its telegraphic service. It welcomes all the criticism that a jealous and lagging competitor can bestow upon it, because if people are interested at all in the merit of the service of THE DAILY PRESS as differing with The News, it will induce a comparison of the efforts and expense the two papers make to serve the people who read newspapers in Plainfield and adjoining towns. In such a comparison there is one result sure to follow—the selection of THE DAILY PRESS as far superior to The News.

THE DAILY PRESS is receiving the best service that the Union Associated Press can furnish by special telegraphic messages. If there is anything worth printing THE DAILY PRESS GETS IT, whether it be much or little. On the other hand, The News is receiving somewhere between fifty and one hundred words by telegraph—divided up into a half-dozen short messages inadequately covering the actual current news.

The subterfuge which the editor of The News resorts to to fool the general public is very shallow. Fully seventy-five per cent of the war news which he prints on his first page, double-leaded and captioned with black type to bring it out prominently, is clipped from the big daily papers which are received by The News. The principal paper which the editor of The News culls for this stuff is the Philadelphia Record. He takes The Record because he knows that there are comparatively few sold in Plainfield and that his "cribbing" tactics will be less likely to be found out. But that does not preclude his trick being shown up in its true light.

If anyone doubts this statement let the man, or the woman, or the child, buy or borrow a Philadelphia Record of Friday morning and then compare the news in The Record with the war items in The News the same evening, which are printed ostensibly as special despatches. In many instances they will be found word for word the same.

ALL THE NEWS WHICH THE DAILY PRESS publishes on its first page prominently—and which is usually carried over to the eighth page—is received by wire direct from the Union Associated Press.

THE DAILY PRESS is pre-eminently the best paper in Plainfield.

NETHERWOOD STARTLED.

H. C. TALMADGE'S GAS-MAKING APPARATUS EXPLODED.

The Accident Occurred at 2 o'Clock This Morning and Made a Loud Report—Fire Department Called Out.

The aristocratic residents of Netherwood were startled out of their slumbers at 2 o'clock this morning by a loud explosion. Visions of warring armies of Americans and Spaniards meeting on the Heights, and discharging awful carnage into the ranks of each other were suggested to the minds of the peaceably inclined. Some may have stuffed the bed clothes into their ears to keep out the din of the battle, but those who were brave enough to get up and investigate noticed a glaring sheet of flames leaping up from a small building near the house of H. C. Talmadge on Belvidere avenue.

Patrolman Lunger was at the Netherwood station at the time of the loud report, and he was considerably startled by the terrific noise. Looking towards the Talmadge home he saw the flames leaping up into the air. He hurried to Box 29 and sent in a fire alarm. The general gong failed to sound, but the gongs in the fire houses worked all right and in a few minutes the department was on the scene.

It was found that the trouble had been caused by the explosion of the apparatus with which Mr. Talmadge manufactures illuminating gas from gasoline for his residence. For some unaccountable reason the volatile fluid became ignited and exploded with a loud report, and enveloped the small house in which it is kept in flames.

The family of Mr. Talmadge was frightened over the explosion, but when they saw what it was they felt that there was not much serious danger in prospect.

The firemen turned on a stream from the chemical engine and in a few minutes had subdued the fire that had been raging. The loss will probably be about $100 to the building, but Mr. Talmadge will suffer considerable loss by reason of the destruction of the illuminating system for his residence.

This was the second time that the gas house had exploded and startled Netherwood residents.

Mrs. Fellows, of East Front street, has moved to Westervelt avenue.

MAY HAVE NO RECEPTION

AN IMPORTANT FEATURE OF COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES LAGS.

The Graduates of '96 and '97 Have Not Taken Any Steps to Arrange for a Greeting to This Year's Class.

Unless some action is taken at once, it is probable that there will be no alumni reception at commencement time at the Plainfield High School this year. It has been the custom for many years that the two classes graduating last should take charge of the reception which is tendered to the graduates.

This year, the presidents of the classes of '96 and '97 are out of town and will not return until late in June, if then. A preliminary meeting is usually called at the Easter vacation to start the preparations and the reception is usually placed in the hands of a committee which takes complete charge. There has been no preliminary meeting as yet and there is no prospects of one.

The members of the graduating class are very anxious about the matter as they have always considered the commencement reception as part of the graduating ceremonies. There was some talk among the members of the older classes of organizing an alumni association to take charge, but nothing has yet been done in the matter.

It is understood that the Board of Education would have no objection to allowing the reception to be held in the gymnasium in the Whittier building which would considerably reduce the expenses.

There is still considerable work to be done besides arranging where the reception shall be held and none of the members of the classes of '96 and '97 have shown any willingness to take the matter in hand.

Their Spring Meeting.

The spring meeting of the Plainfield City Union of The King's Daughters will be held in the First Baptist church Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be the election of officers and other important business.

The Misses Shreve, of Mt. Holly, are visiting at the home of their brother, B. J. Shreve, of Grove street.

The Misses Yerkes, daughters of the Rev. Dr. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, are entertaining a cousin from Pittsburg.

THE APPOINTMENT OF AN OVERSEER OF POOR

Why It Was Necessary to Present a Minority Report.

A DIFFERENCE ABOUT PAY.

FIRST AGREEMENT WAS NOT KEPT BY REPUBLICANS.

In the Alms Committee When the Master was First Considered it was Agreed That I. D. TenEyck Should be Named, to Receive $100 in Excess of Salary as Alms House Keeper—The Sudden Change of Mind Made by Mayor Fisk Mixed Things Things and the Citizens' Councilmen Wouldn't Concede It.

Regarding the appointment of Christian Hansen, of 312 West Second street, as overseer of the poor, there are certain things that have not been been published and they should be know in justice to the alms committee.

Before the appointment was made it was generally understood by the Alms Committee, Messrs. Andrews, Hetfield and Leifke, that there were three candidates for the position. The three persons were I. D. TenEyck, George Marx and Mr. Rockafellow, the latter a brother of Constable Rockafellow. While all three men were first-class and well-adapted to fill the office, it was the sense of the committee that Mr. TenEyck should be appointed. The committee held several conferences regarding the matter and it was supposed that Mr. TenEyck would be appointed.

It was also agreed between the members that the salary for the holder of the office should be $100. This was agreed to by Mayor Fisk and the committee. Nothing more was thought of the matter until the night of the appointment, when Mayor Fisk sent in the name of Christian Hansen. Messrs. Hetfield and Leifke were surprised. Neither of them knew Mr. Hansen and were unable to say anything about him, as was reported in the Council proceedings at that time. Mr. Andrews pressed the nomination and after much debate secured for Mr. Hansen the appointment in spite of the fact that the other two members of the committee desired to have the appointment laid over until the next meeting.

The matter passed along for a while and from time to time the question of fixing Mr. Hansen's salary was deferred until last Monday evening, when Mr. Andrews stated that he disliked very much to make a minority report, but he found it was impossible for him to agree with the other members of the committee regarding the salary. He then moved that the salary be fixed at $250, $50 less than the amount paid last year.

Mr. Hetfield stated that it had been agreed in committee meeting that the overseer of the poor was to receive $100, and he objected to the increase, and thought that the committee should abide by the agreement. This the other members, excepting Mr. Hetfield and Mr. Leifke, did not agree to, and Mr. Hansen's salary was made $250.

Mr. Hetfield says that Mr. Andrews secured the nomination of Mr. Hansen after the consideration of the other three candidates, and that $300 was promised him for salary, but to compromise matters the amount was reduced to $250. Mr. Hetfield and Mr. Leifke feel very much the slight accorded them in not being recognized in the appointment, and think it only fair that their side of the story be heard.

Patriotic Decorations.

The show windows of two local merchants are now decorated, with war relics. In the window of J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, is the full dress coat worn by Rear Admiral Norton when he was a midshipman. There is also the battle flag of the Third Vermont volunteers, carried at the battle of Cedar Creek. Then there is a group of other war relics.

A little bivouac has been arranged in the show window of Edward White, the West Front street merchant. About it are grouped part of the equipment carried by E. C. Morse, of the borough, while in the Civil War. There are other appropriate decorations. A small electric fan keeps the stars and stripes and the Cuban colors in a constant flutter.

Dinner for the Cranks.

After the baseball game this afternoon Manager Mumford will give a dinner to the players and officials at the Revere House.

Mrs. Emma Burr, of Scranton, Pa., who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Roberts, of North avenue, is now the guest of relatives in New York.

OFF FOR PORTO RICO

Admiral Sampson Instructed to Intercept the Spanish Fleet

BATTLE EXPECTED TO-DAY

Cuban Invasion Awaits the Action of the Fleet—Not Believed that the American Army Will Be Sent Until Admiral Sampson Has Taken Porto Rico—News Expected Very Soon.

Washington, May 7.—A member of the Cabinet has stated that Admiral Sampson's fleet is sailing toward Porto Rico with instructions to intercept the Spanish fleet, and in case the fleet does not show up, to capture Porto Rico.

The same official is authority for the statement that the reason Havana has not been bombarded is because our Government has an understanding with the English Government to the effect that unless Spain yields after the next naval battle the powers will intervene and compel her to make terms with the United States.

England, it seems, has strongly objected to the bombardment of Havana, because a great deal of valuable property there which would be destroyed by the bombardment is owned by English subjects.

LONG EXPECTS NEWS SOON.

Cuban Invasion to Be Postponed Until Porto Rico Is Taken.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Long informed the Cabinet yesterday that he would have something to report from Admiral Sampson's fleet to-morrow or Monday. The Secretary meant that Porto Rico would be seized either to-day or to-morrow, and that he would have word immediately.

The Cabinet discussed the situation, and it was decided that the troops would not be taken to Cuba until after Admiral Sampson finished his mission to Porto Rico. Small expeditions, to land ammunition and supplies for the Cubans, may continue, but until Admiral Sampson has seized Porto Rico and met the Spanish fleet, it is not probable that the troops will invade Cuba. This Government will send a number of expeditions conveying arms and ammunition and volunteer recruits for the Gomez army, to be received by the Cubans at designated places, the expeditions to be similar to the one reported yesterday.

This move is in accord with the plans of Gen. Miles, which contemplate postponement of an invasion until such time as a large army can be safely sent to Cuba to make the occupation complete.

In this connection it is asserted that the troops which will be sent with these various expeditions will be those which have volunteered for that particular purpose, and that the army of occupation sent late under the enlarged plan of Gen. Miles will be composed very largely under the call for 125,000 men, and that the army would be so large as to entirely possess the island within a very short time after landing.

The prospects are that if this plan should be followed the war will be over before the "Grand Army of Occupation" moves upon Cuba.

Naval Men Confident.

Washington, May 7.—"We expect important news from Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet about to-morrow night," said a member of the Cabinet last night. Rear Admiral Sampson, with a number of his ships, is rapidly sailing toward the Porto Rican coast.

The Spanish Cape Verde fleet, which is believed to be making for San Juan, Porto Rico, should make its appearance some time Sunday. Should the two powerful fleets meet, as now seems imminent, the greatest naval battle of the world will be fought.

The Spanish fleet is considered by the American authorities as presenting a very formidable array of fighting vessels, and the ability of its commander, Admiral Villomil, is well known. But the naval officials have no fears of the result of a battle between the two fleets.

TO ATTACK THE CANARIES?

Said We Advised British Government to Remove Its Subjects.

London, May 7.—A story is published here to the effect that the British Admiralty has been advised by the Washington Naval Strategy Board to remove British subjects from the Canary Islands.

It is added that this accounts for the second class cruiser Charybdis being ordered to Las Palmas, and leads to the conclusion that Rear Admiral Sampson may attack the Canary Islands, which would either draw the Spanish fleet out of Cadiz, or give the United States a naval basis from which to attack Spain.

AFFAIRS AT PORTO RICO.

Purser of the Steamer Abydos Relates Condition of Things There

New York, May 7.—In an interview with J. J. Radford, purser of the New York and Porto Rico line steamer Abydos, which arrived from Porto Rico yesterday, he said:

"The feeling at San Juan, the last port in Porto Rico from which we came, is intensely anti-American. In fact, that state of affairs prevails at nearly every seaport on the island. Martial law was in effect when we left San Juan, and I understand that the military authorities advised all foreigners to appear before the military boards, and every American and American sympathizer was told that it would be policy to leave the island.

"The amount of coal which has been stored at San Juan and other places, does not, in my opinion, reach 40,000 tons, as stated. I have traveled pretty extensively over the island, not only at the coast cities but in the interior, and at a rough estimate I should think that the amount stored for the use of the Spanish vessels will not exceed 10,000 tons. At the gas house at San Juan the authorities were informed that the coal in its possesion must be considered as Government property, and should not be used for illuminating purposes.

"The mounted civil guards patrol the streets of Ponce and other of the larger cities to preserve order and to act as a temporary police patrol. At Ponce there were several riots, during which the rioters were fired upon by the civil guards. At Yauco, the scene of last year's outbreak, mounted guards also patrol the streets.

"Not only is the feeling toward Americans very bitter in the minds of the Spanish people, but their animosity will be directed against all foreigners residing there, the feeling among the less intelligent being that all who are not Spanish must be Americans. They are especially bitter against the British residents. It has been said that the younger element of the Spanish residents, who have nearly all been educated in America, would not sympathize with the Government. This, I feel confident, is incorrect, as I have heard a number of students say that in case they are needed, they will gladly serve in the Spanish army.

"Food is decidedly high throughout the island, and for two weeks preceding our departure from there all prices had doubled on almost everything eatable. The currency, which is silver, is, of course, affected, and the rate of exchange rises with the increase of price in provisions, and is now proportionate. The business element of the island seem to think that America intends seizing the island and confiscating everything on it. Shippers are of the opinion that it is hardly safe to send goods here. The only town of importance on the island that is at all fortified is San Juan, and there the guns are of not very much use. I heard of, but did not see, the large number of rifles which are said to be stored there for the Spanish."

The purser further said that across the mouth of the harbor of San Juan is sunk the wreck of a Spanish steamer, the Cristobal Colon, and that he was informed that mines and torpedoes have been placed in the wreck for the purpose of blowing up any deep draught vessel that may attempt to enter.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

General Activity Follows War—Wheat Makes a New Record.

New York, May 7.—A state of war was so greatly dreaded by those who have seen nothing like it for more than thirty years that its coming has hurt less than its apprehension. Especially since the victory at Manila indicated superiority of the American navy, gun for gun, expectations that the war will not last long has influenced all markets, and stocks have advanced, the average of prices for railroads $2.79 per share. The general condition of business has been materially improved. One day's work by the officers and men at Manila has given many day's work to thousands of people at home of whom they knew nothing and has placed all American industries and interests on a stronger footing for any conceivable future. Millions living, as well as millions not yet born, owe to them a debt.

Considering only the business aspect of the week's news, its most important feature is the indication that, in any such form as to cause watchful defense of coasts and guarding against attack, the war is not likely to last long. Wherever the Spanish fleet may go, it can hardly escape such crippling that the country will soon be relieved from fear of attack. There has been distinct increase in demand for the products of all the chief industries, many who had delayed now coming forward with orders, while there has been material and most important relief in the ease of the money markets for industrial and commercial needs. The proportion of commercial loans made by ten of the leading banks has increased from 15 to 25 per cent. of the aggregate.

The most sensational of all changes, and the most practically important, has been the rise in wheat—13 cents during one day's session, 21½ cents from Tuesday to Thursday night, and 25½ cents for the week—throwing into the shade all past advances and all expectations, though reaction of 1½ cents naturally followed on Friday. Western receipts, after averaging less than 2,500,000 bushels per week for four months, have suddenly risen to more than 3,500,000 bushels. The remarkable rise on Thursday was largely due to the removal of duties by France, and to prohibition of exports by Russia, both showing the extraordinary needs abroad, so that the rise of 25½ cents for the week is not without excuse. Corn failed to advance correspondingly, though the exports were 3,000,000, against 2,725,043 last year, the aggregate since July 1 having been 178,000,000 bushels, larger than ever before to date, although wheat exports have also been larger than last year, far greater than in ordinary years, and nearly the largest on record.

Industries have received a wonderful stimulus from the conviction that hostilities will not last long, and from heavy Government orders.

It is not due to domestic conditions that orders from the Russian Government for two big war ships have been taken by the Cramps, and orders for rails from Mexico have given a good start to the rebuilt Colorado works. Four large merchant ships have been ordered from the Delaware works, plate mills are crowded, and at the same time one establishment far in the interior is bidding on a foreign order for 5,000 tons, while car and rail works continue to receive large orders, and demands for agricultural implements and fencing go beyond the ability of works in some cases.

Textile establishments have been receiving large orders within the past few days outside those from Government, so that the stoppage or reduction of time in four woolen mills early in the week may have been premature. No decline whatever appears in the prices of staple cloths or dress goods.

The railroads report better earnings by 17.5 per cent. for April than last year, and 11.0 per cent. better than in 1892. Failures in April, in spite of expectations of war, and during the last ten days' actual war, have been smaller than in the same month for four previous years, and the details by branches of business given to-day show that the improvement is general. Failures for the week have been 238 in the United States, against 221 last year, and 25 in Canada, against 36 last year.

Queen Not to Abdicate.

London, May 7.—The officials of the Spanish Embassy here have issued a catagorical denial of the reports in circulation here and elsewhere to the effect that the Queen Regent intends to abdicate the throne of Spain.

THE FIGHT AT MANILA

Formosa Dispatsh via Shanghai Says Dewey Bombarded City.

TOWN WAS SOON ON FIRE

Insurgents Were Chiefly Responsible for This Work—Many Spaniards Said to Have Been Killed—Cable Communication Is Still Interrupted—No News of the Engagement Received

London, May 7.—A special dispatch, dated Shanghai, purports to give Japanese reports of the fighting at Manila, received via the Island of Formosa.

It says that after disposing of the Spanish fleet and Cavite Commodore Dewey bombarded Manila itself.

The city, it appears, was soon on fire in many parts, the work, it is added, chiefly of the insurgents.

Great loss of life is reported to have occurred among the Spanish residents of the city.

Communication Still Interrupted.

Hong Kong, May 7.—Inquiries made at the office of the Eastern Telegraph Company show that the cable communication between Hong Kong and Manila has not yet been restored.

SAID DEWEY WAS TRAPPED.

Spanish Authorities Talk About Gunboats Concealed Outside Harbor.

London, May 7.—The Spanish authorities are intimating that Commodore Dewey has been entrapped by Spanish gunboats kept concealed outside the harbor.

It is believed, however, they are only trying to make as much as possible of the absence of news from the American fleet.

The Spanish allege that Admiral Montijo left these gunboats outside the bay to prevent any exit and, therefore, it is impossible for Commodore Dewey to send a dispatch boat to Hong Kong.

FIERCE FIGHTING AT CAVITE.

Three Hot Battles Have Been Probably Fought—Madrid Gets News.

Madrid, May 7.—The Imparcial says the officials of the German Embassy here have received a dispatch from Hong Kong announcing that the American commodore in Manila Bay is reported to have effected a landing at Cavite after a fresh bombardment of that place.

This news coming from Spanish sources is probably correct. It indicates that Commodore Dewey has had a hot time of it, and that very likely three actual engagements have taken place, that when the Spanish fleet was destroyed, and the subsequent bombardment of Cavite and Manila, and the bombardment mentioned. The wording of the dispatch would indicate that Manila itself has not yet succumbed.

It would be very easy for some German steamship to have brought this news to Hong Kong, and in view of Germany's attitude Madrid would get the first news.

NOT ANXIOUS ABOUT DEWEY.

Administration Has No Apprehension About His Entire Safety.

Washington, May 7.—No word has been received at the Navy Department from Commodore Dewey, nor has the State Department any confirmation from Consuls at Singapore or Shanghai of the reports said to have been brought there by merchant ships. There is some feeling of anxiety among some of the naval officers as to the silence of Commodore Dewey, but the President and the Cabinet feel assured that there is no need for apprehension. As a Cabinet member said this morning:

"Commodore Dewey knows what he is about, and he is not going to make half a report, while by waiting a day or two he can instruct the Navy Department as to his entire course, and its success. It is hardly possible that he would send a vessel to Hong Kong before he had taken possession of the islands, and there is no need for anxiety about him for several days yet."

The dispatch from Consul Wildman at Hong Kong, which contained no reference to Admiral Dewey, is considered by the President and the Cabinet as meaning that no word had been received there from Manila or from Commodore Dewey when the dispatch was sent. Had there been, Consul Wildman certainly would have mentioned it in his dispatch. The Cabinet had a great deal to discuss in regard to the fleets on the Atlantic.

The naval officers here do not take any stock in the report from Spain that part of the Spanish fleet at Cadiz is going to the Philippines to assist the Governor General. They say that it would take the fleet three weeks to make the voyage, or as long as it would take our fleet to go from San Francisco to Manila. The Spanish fleet could go through the Suez Canal, as the international regulations make it neutral and allow belligerents to use it, but prohibit fighting at either end, or in the canal.

But the most significant thing considered by the naval officers in regard to this rumor is the fact that the two battleships, Carlos V. and the Pelayo, are named as the vessels to convoy the gunboats. The naval officers say that it would be useless to send these two vessels, for lack of ammunition. The Pelayo may have ammunition, but the Carlos V. has not. Both of these vessels were built at Havre by the French, and their guns are of particular calibre and can only use shot and projectiles made by the French. This ammunition cannot be made in Spain and as France has declared neutrality, she cannot furnish it, and for this reason that vessel is practically useless to the Spaniards. She was only completed just before the war was declared.

Spain to Tell Powers Blockade Is a Bluff.

London, May 7.—The Copenhager correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Baron Wedel-Jarlsberg, the Scandinavian Minister at Madrid, telegraphs that Spain intends to protest to the powers against the infringement of international law involved in America's failure to make the Cuban blockade effective."

IN WOODFORD'S HONOR.

United States Minister to Spain Given a Hearty Welcome in New York.

New York, May 7.—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, recalled United States Minister to Spain, received a hearty greeting this morning in the lower bay from the members of the Union League Club and a committee from Grant Post, G. A. R. Mr. Woodford is a member of the Union League Club and Grant Post.

Mr. Woodford was a passenger on the steamship Touraine, of the French line. His friends went down the bay to meet him on the Government steamer Governor Flower. A band of music was aboard and played all the popular airs of the day.

MINISTER WOODFORD.

The greeting to the returning Minister was a hearty one, given in true American spirit. A reception has also been arranged, the date of which will be fixed to agree with the wishes and convenience of Mr. Woodford.

President McKeon, of the Committee on Reception, said this morning: "We will give him a reception, if the General will permit it, on lines broad enough to give all distinguished men of our State and city an opportunity to greet Gen. Woodford as an American of whom the country is proud."

NOW TO ANNEX HAWAII.

The Joint Resolution May Pass the House Next Week.

Washington, May 7.—Both Houses of Congress have adjourned until Monday because neither had any business of importance to transact. Congress is waiting for the Democrats of the Senate to frame their revised Dingley Revenue Tax bill. When that is ready the Senate will consider and dispose of it, pass the few necessary appropriation bills and will then be ready for final adjournment.

Whether they will adjourn when this work is done, however, depends altogether upon the war situation as it will stand when all legislative business is out of the way—say June 10. If the war shall have been ended by that time they will adjourn. If not, they may remain in session, "just to see what will happen," as one of the leaders expressed it yesterday.

There is a fair chance in the Senate that the Hawaiian treaty may be one of the measures enacted. If so, it will be a joint resolution providing for annexation. The House resolution will probably be favorably acted upon in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs to-morrow, and at once brought up for discussion in the House. Senator Davis, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, will make one more effort to secure the ratification of the pending treaty, but it is not believed that the opposition Senators will allow a vote to be taken.

WILL ALGER RESIGN?

Said in Washington that the Secretary Is About to Leave Cabinet.

Washington, May 7.—There are rumors again from authorities which cannot be questioned, that there will be another change in the Cabinet before many weeks.

The statement is made that Secretary Alger will retire from the War Department, and coupled with it is the report that he may not entirely leave official life, but may receive some high position in the Government service.

The reason given for the change is that there have been differences of opinion between the head of the department and the officers of the army, based on disagreements of some years back. The same authority which predicts the retirement says that the existing situation in the department cannot last much longer, and the easiest way to smooth out the matter would be the retirement of the Cabinet officer. This is not contemplated, however, for some days.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S SPEECH.

Says Germany Will Be Neutral, but Will Protect Its Commerce.

Berlin, May 7.—The Emperor, in his speech from the throne upon the occasion of the closing of the last session of the Reichstag yesterday, expressed pride that he had been able to place the German fleet upon a firm and permanent basis.

Referring to the war between the United States and Spain, His Majesty, in the speech, said: "The Government will fully fulfill the duties involved by its neutral position, but, on the other hand, it will protect so far as possible German navigation and commerce from molestation or injury."

Gold Shipped to America.

New York, May 7.—The total amount of gold secured by New York banking houses by import from England, Continental Europe and Cuba this season foots up a total of $73,206,350. The amount from Cuba alone was very nearly $3,000,000. It was on Feb. 25 last that the heavy gold tide set in toward the United States, and that it has not yet ceased is shown by the fact that $3,000,000 in gold was engaged in England this week for shipment to America.

Big Order for Army Guns.

Bethlehem, Pa., May 7.—The Government has placed an order with the Bethlehem Iron Company for thirty-five 5-inch rapid fire guns for the United States army. The guns are to be finished here, and when shipped to their destination will be ready for immediate use.

PLAN OF INTERVENTION

Powers Trying to Persuade England to Interfere in the War.

GREAT BRITAIN REFUSES

Austria and France the Leaders in a Movement to Save the Queen Regent and the King—The Former's Personal Appeal to Victoria and the Pressure Brought on the Vatican.

New York, May 7.—A cablegram has been received here from an English source so authoritative as to make the statements it contains practically official, stating that the European powers, outside of England, are determined upon intervention between the United States and Spain, and that this so called concert is trying to persuade England to join it in its proposed action. The greatest pressure is being brought to bear upon the British Foreign Office and upon Lord Salisbury personally. The Queen Regent of Spain has also sent messages of a personal nature to Queen Victoria, and has induced other sovereigns to do so, begging her to join with Europe in saving Spain, and, particularly, the present Spanish dynasty.

So far, however, these personal and official appeals have been unavailing, and it is stated with emphasis that Lord Salisbury will not yield, but, on the contrary, that England, while maintaining an absolute neutrality, will do all in her power to show her friendship for the United States, and her desire for an Anglo-Saxon alliance, which, in the opinion of English statesmen, is one of the certainties of the future.

The leaders in this movement are primarily Austria and France. The house of Hapsburg is bound by family ties to the Spanish dynasty, and it is well known that Franz Josef has been most outspoken in his efforts to prevent the defeat of Spain, which means either a republic, a return of the Carlists or a dictatorship under Weyler. At any rate, a defeat, or rather, the defeat (for that is a foregone conclusion) means the overthrow of the dynasty, and the European royal families are too closely bound together to view such an event with any degree of equanimity.

The position of France, the cablegram states, is less clear. Several days ago, L'Aurore, which is a sensational Paris sheet, published an article to the effect that the French fleet was being put into condition for active service. This report has never been confirmed, although the cable dispatch above referred to says a French fleet is being hurriedly put in condition for active sea service. The news from Key West of the capture of the French steamer Lafayette with contraband of war may be a commentary on the French position.

The cablegram also comments upon the use being made of the Pope in this matter. While believing, it says, in the sincerity of his desire for peace, England holds to the opinion that Leo XIII. has been made a catspaw with which to pull the Spanish dynasty out of the fire and for personal reasons almost entirely.

There is one other thing that might alarm Europe in the situation, and that is the victory of Admiral Dewey in the Philippines and possibility of a change of balance in the Chinese situation.

Europe, so the dispatch says, would view with great alarm any suggestion that the United States might give to England a hold on the Philippines in exchange for English possessions of more use to the United States.

England, however, and the ministry will remain firm and will resist any attempt at coercion by the powers. That these statements will all be denied, is, according to the dispatch, a foregone conclusion, but they are authoritative and may be relied on.

WANT TO INTERVENE.

Powers Want Another Attempt to Get England's Support.

London, May 7.—Certain powers, it has been learned by the Associated Press, have again made overtures to Great Britain looking to intervention in the war between Spain and the United States, but Great Britain has again refused to take part in any such movement.

It is a significant fact that the British naval authorities have decided to immediately commission two new battleships, just completed.

The Yorkshire Post, which is one of the best informed and most influential newspapers in the Kingdom, referring to the efforts of certain powers to induce Great Britain to reconsider her determination not to take part in any intervention between Spain and the United States, says:

"America would rightly resent any interference at all resembling Europe's interference with the Sultan. If the Continental powers attempted it, they would be confronted by an alliance between the United States and Great Britain. They are well aware of this, and Russia, which has always cultivated the friendship of the United States, which she hoped to enlist against Great Britain in case of need, is already anxiously regarding the action of the Marquis of Salisbury and President McKinley, asking herself what will be the change in the aspect of questions in the Far East if the United States departs from her traditional policy and is determined to retain possession of the Philippine Islands.

"It is, therefore, practically certain that the powers will not intervene for Spain unless this country acts in concert with them, and there will be no movement upon the Marquis of Salisbury's part without a complete prior understanding with President McKinley."

Mail for Soldiers in the Field.

Washington, May 7.—First Assistant Postmaster General Heath says that friends and relatives of soldiers in the field, in adressing letters to them, should mark plainly the company and regiment to which they belong, as, by doing so, the distribution of the mail will be facilitated. This applies to both the regular troops and the militia volunteers.

THE SEIZURE A MISTAKE.

French Liner Is Released on an Order from Washington.

Key West, Fla., May 7.—Because the captain refused to recognize the blockade of Cuba by the United States warships, after having been carefully warned of that fact, the French line steamship Lafayette, from Corunna, Spain, was made a prisoner of war Thursday by the gunboats Annapolis, Wilmington and Newport and the dispatch boat Morrill, and brought to this port. Subsequently she was released by an order from Washington.

Washington, May 7.—The seizure of the French steamer Lafayette was made under a misapprehension, and this Government has ordered her released.

The official explanation of the Administration is given in this statement, issued from the White House last night:

"The Lafayette was released in pursuance of orders which were issued by the Navy Department previous to her seizure, but which had not been received by the commanding officers of the vessels that made the capture. The facts are that on April 29 the French Embassy made an informal inquiry as to whether the Lafayette, which left Saint Nazaire, France, for Vera Cruz, by way of Havana, before war was declared, or information of the blockade received, would be allowed to land at Havana certain passengers, her mail bags and the dispatch bag of the Consulate General of France, and to take some French passengers on board. An assurance was given that, if this privilege should be granted, the steamer would be forbidden by the French Consul to land goods.

"The matter was duly considered and it was decided that, without regard to the strict law of blockade and as an act of courtesy, the request of the French Government should be acceded to. Orders were accordingly sent on the second day of May. When information was received of the capture of the steamer and of her having been brought to Key West those orders were communicated to the captors, with instructions to release the steamer and to see that the orders were duly delivered, so that they might be carried into effect. No demand was made either by or on behalf of the French Government, directly or indirectly, for the steamer's release.

"The Wilmington will escort the Lafayette to Havana to-night."

Paris Gets Excited.

London, May 7.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "The effect upon Paris of the seizure of the steamer Lafayette is clear enough. Already a rather bitter feeling against the United States had existed, and this incident will certainly not tend to diminish it. If it is demonstrated, eventually, that there was nothing to justify the seizure, the Government may be expected to make the very strongest protest. Some angry expressions are to be heard, and arrangements have been made with the Prefect of Police for the efficient protection of the United States Embassy. The place is well guarded by policemen and detectives, in view of any possible hostile demonstrations."

At the time this dispatch was sent to London, Paris, of course, did not know that the capture of the Lafayette was an error, which the United States Government speedily rectified.

Jeffries Whipped Sharkey.

San Francisco, May 7.—Jeffries defeated Sharkey in the eighteenth round at the Mechanics' Pavilion last night. It was a hard fought battle. Sharkey pursued his usual rushing and butting tactics in the ring. In the eighteenth and final round Sharkey was the aggressor and landed two terrific left hand swings on Jeffries' jaw as the men came together. Sharkey jabbed his left on Jeffries' face, and was inside on a right hand cross. Sharkey rushed and forced Jeffries against the ropes, lashing out with left and right. Sharkey sent in a good stiff left on Jeffries' nose, but Jeffries countered with some heavy body blows.

The men were fighting hard when the gong sounded, and the referee was compelled to drag them apart. Jeffries won the fight.

Not Worrying About the Oregon.

Washington, May 7.—The Cabinet is not worrying about the Oregon, for the Administration is confident that the instructions given Admiral Sampson cover everything, and that he will be able to give a good account of himself when the time comes. No postive word has been received here in regard to the Spanish fleet, but the general opinion is that it is coming this way, and Admiral Sampson is ready to meet it.

There are manifestations on the part of a few American militia regiments that look bad. The first duty of a soldier is obedience. When a would be soldier is unwilling to obey orders, it shows he is not trained for military service. In the arrangement of the national guardsmen into the three battalion formation it will be necessary to disband some of the regiments. Those on whom the lot falls to thus give up their particular little organization in order to be merged into a larger and more effective one show not only bad manners but absolute unfitness to be soldiers when they kick and squirm and burn officials in effigy and mutter and refuse to play at all if they cannot play in their own especial back yard. It is a great privilege to serve in the splendid United States army, no matter where a soldier is. Each man's valor and modest worth will be duly recognized in any case. Let us have no more kicking.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

We are glad to see that Union county is coming up to the mark. The County Board of Assessors has decided that assessments this year will be for full valuations. Somerset has been paying taxes on an honest assessment.—Somerville Unionist Gazette.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

Sheriff Kirk did not realize what a host of so called "friends" he had until yesterday when the announcement went forth that there was to be a hanging in Union county. Now there isn't anything particularly pleasing at a hanging, but nevertheless there are many people who are very anxious to witness the execution of Louis Roesel, who was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree.

Already there is a pile of applications a foot high on the Sheriff's desk asking for permission to be present at the hanging. They come from personal friends, politicial co-workers and newspaper men from all over the county.

According to the law governing the hanging of murderers, there are about forty in all—deputy sheriffs, witnesses and newspaper men—allowed to be present. Great pressure will be brought to bear on the Sheriff to secure those coveted positions.

It is thirty years since there has been a conviction for murder in the first degree in Union couuty. The last man executed in the county was Silvester Quiller, a negro. Only three hangings have taken place in the county since it was formed. The other two were William Grady, in March, and James Glennon, in April, 1896.

* * * *

Governor Voornees at Sea Girt yesterday was visited by a mother and father of a twenty-year-old boy. They asked that he allow their son to return home with them, as it would worry them to death if he had to go to the front. The Executive sent for the young man. The boy was anxious to enlist, and, after two hours of questioning, the Governor told the parents of the disgrace the boy would be subjected to in case he went home, and he was allowed to return to the company. Later on he was disqualified by the surgeon as being physically unable to be mustered in. He went home crying. In his hands he carried an honorable discharge.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

The Matter of Putting a Permanent Pavement on Somerset Street was Discussed by Councilmen and Mayor—Other Matters

The regular May meeting of the Borough Council was held last evening and all the members were present but Mr. Carey. The rooms of the Council, since the last meeting, have been newly carpeted, and new furniture has replaced most of the old, thereby presenting a very attractive place. The business considered during the evening was mostly along routine lines. The only item of great importance was the report of the special committee having in charge the accounts of former Collector Spencer. In another column their report appears. The other business of the evening transacted will be found below.

The report of Clerk Arnold was as follows: Borough balance, $1,772.47; lights, $1,134.39; roads, $1,369.86; fire department, $1,136.74; board of health, 55 cents; Watchung avenue account, $350.59; poor account, deficit, $389,96; paid county and State, $3,547.50; cash balance, $1,827.14. Fines, license fees, etc., to the amount of $199, was reported as being collected. The sum of $3,548.58 was reported as having been received from former Collector H. N. Spencer.

Collector Brown reported collections to the amount of $5,190.59, disbursements $3,034.24, leaving a balance of $2,156.35.

The officers-elect of the West End Hose Company and Warren Engine Company were submitted to the Council for comfirmation. The name of Thomas Melcher was dropped from the roll of Warren Engine Company, and the following firemen applied for exemption papers, as they have served seven years: David Bodine, Dr. Cooley, Henry Brokaw, Thomas McGann and W. T. Newman.

The G. A. R. memorial detail asked the Council to make the usual appropriation of $25 for Decoration Day use, and the same was granted.

A communication was received from the Board of Freeholders, notifying the Council that in order to open Union avenue, in Bound Brook, and Mountain avenue, in North Plainfield, for any purpose whatever, permission must first be obtained from the Board.

Residents of Rockview avenue, in a communication, agreed to pay one-half the cost for macadamizing the avenue to have the work done. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Mrs. Ellen Carney, of No. 37 Lincoln place, in a communication stated that she was entitled to $500 exemption, being a widow of a veteran of the late war, and she asked the Council to grant her the exemption.

Mr. Woolston, of the street committee, stated that during the past month, $437.56 was expended on street work, and that $1,390.56 has been expended thus far this year. The cost of macadamizing Somerset street was reported to be $358.90. Regarding the macadamizing of Rockview avenue, Mr. Woolston offered a resolution that the street committee be authorized to macadamize and grade Rockview avenue from Rockview terrace to West End avenue, at a depth of seven inches and a width of sixteen feet, and that the property owners pay an amount equal to 30 cents a running foot, and that in case it cost more the property-owners are to pay their proportionate share.

Mayor Wilson appointed John Stein, as pound keeper, and George Gunther, as special marshal, and the appointments were confirmed.

Mr. Burtis offered a resolution that warrants for special school tax, $72.20, and special Board of Health tax, $3.42, be drawn in favor of Collector Brown.

The question of locating a permanent pavement in front of the schoolhouse, on Somerset street, was introduced by Mr. Woolston, and he said that there was a car-load of vitrified brick in Plainfield, and he thought it would be well to place it at that point. The cost of such work would be about $2.200, and one-third of the amount would be paid by the street railway.

Mr. Reed stated that asphalt can now be purchased for $1.55 a foot and guaranteed for ten years.

Mayor Wilson thought it would be well to investigate the matter more fully and report at a future meeting. The matter was, therefore, temporarily suspended.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Valiant which provides that a bill of $33 presented by Augustus VanDeventer be investigated as to the charges on certain taxable property.

Mr. Burtis called up the tax ordinance on the third reading and it was adopted as a whole. The ordinance will take effect May 20th.

Mr Rogers offered a resolution that copies of the new ordinance on the collection and assessment of taxes be sent to the assessor, collector and commissioners of appeal. Mr. Valiant stirred the patriotism of every member when he suggested that the borough secure an American flag and pole, and that the borough show its patriotism. He asked the Mayor to take hold of the matter and see if such a display cannot be made. He cited the recent action of the Plainfield Council, and he expressed the opinion that the borough could do just as much.

A short executive session was taken at this time, and when Council reconvened Mr. Rogers offered a resolution confirming the election of W. W Mills as a member of the West End Hose Company, and Mr. MacLaughlin offered a resolution authorizing the drafting of a warrant for $160 in favor of G. W. Rowley for services rendered as delinquent tax collector. This concluded the business and the meeting adjourned.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

It is well known that Grimaldi, the great English clown, was subject to periodical fits of melancholia. On one of these occasions he consulted a physician, and after describing his symptoms and rejecting a half dozen recipes as useless, because already tried without effect, was told as a last resource to go and see Grimaldi. "Alas," replied the clown, who was unknown to the physician, "I am Grimaldi." The manager of "Gayest Manhattan," who tells this anecdote, supplements it with with a bet that the production he will present at Music Hall tonight will cure anyone of melancholia, at least temporarily, during the performance of the burlesque, no matter how obstinate or of how long standing.

Accepting the auspices under which "Gayest Manhattan" was olginally produced and the period of its successful run as a standard of its merits, he is not without reason in his boast The play was first enacted at Koster & Bial's theatre last season, and was kept as the leading attraction of the early summer. During the summer it was started on the road for a tour of the United States. The play will suffer nothing in its itinerary. The scenery properties and costumes as originally used in New York, have all been retouched and will be utilized on the tour. They are the very best of their kind. Necessarily they must have been so as to have stood the test of a production at Koster & Bial's. The company will be the same as took part in the original production. A chorus of over forty male and female accompanying the production while the principals comprise the best known performers on the vaudeville stage.

The approach of warm weather seems to have no terrors for Mr. Proctor's popular continuous vaudeville houses, where the programmes apparently increases in costliness and attractiveness as the weeks progress. At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre the bill this week is about the best of the season, judged by its stars. The effervescent Lew Dockstader, with a big collection of burnt-cork sallies heads the show, and he will doubtless contest for star honors with the Edison War-graph, which is to show half-a-dozen new Cuban views of patriotic strength. The war-graph has scored a solid hit at Proctor's, by the way, and cheers generally reward its thrilling views.

The "Circus Girl" frolicked before the public at Daly's Theatre in New York again Monday evening. There were enough of the old favorites in the cast to make the performance seem very familiar and insure it a popular reception. There were some new people on the stage. Irene Perry replaced Miss McIntosh in the title part. She made it a bit more frisky in deportment, but in dress it was demure as of old. Virginia Earle was sweetly piquant, and in her "Bit of String" song told how Uncle Sam had had Spain "on a little bit of string," and after the wrestle Powers called for another Turk "with a few Spaniards on the side," and, of course, won additional applause.

Mrs. Honeyman, who has been visiting at North Branch, has returned to Plainfield.

Miss Snyder, of West Front street, has returned from a visit with relatives at Easton, Pa.

Mr. Barker, formerly of Randolph's pharmacy, has secured a position at the Pond Tool Works.

Mrs. Rockwell and family, of East Front street, has returned from their long sojourn in New York City.

The young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wean, of Spooner avenue, has almost recovered from a slight illness.

Miss Grace E. Overton, of Rockview avenue, is home from the Emerson College of Oratory at Boston on her summer vacation.

"EVERYBODY!"

No doubt has heard of our remarkable removal sale. It is remarkable because of the wonderful LOW prices at which we are selling fine shoes and trunks. It is a positive fact that no such bargains in these grades have ever been offered in Plainfield before. As the people become aware of this fact more and more the interest in the sale increases. There is inducement enough to buy ahead of your present need, as such chances don't come every day.
We are having a brisk trade. Don't you want to save some money too?

Last Thursday evening, the members of the M. E. church gave their pastor, Rev. Alfred Jamison, a reception. The affair was largely attended and everyone present had a thoroughly good time. Township Committee.

At the meeting of the Township Committee held last evening, the bicycle ordinance was passed to a third reading and on motion adopted. It provides that lights shall be carried one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise. It also compels riders to carry bells and to ride at a rate not to exceed eight miles an hour. A fine of $5 for violations of this ordinance will be inflicted upon offenders. The clerk was instructed to have new electric lights at the following places: Two on Center street, Garwood; one each on First street, Rahway road; Clark street, North avenue, South avenue, Downer street and Cumberland street. Township Attorney Paul Q. Oliver sent a communication to the Committee stating that the Westfield fire department was not a lawful organization and that no money should be paid over to the fire department. A. A. Gaddis, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Railway Company, asked that the hearing on the petition for the trolley franchise be adjourned until Friday evening, May 20th. Granted.

The Westfield Water Company made a proposition to the committee to furnish 30 hydrants at a cost of $22 each, water for flushing sewers at a rate of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons. The company also agreed to keep a pressure of 75 pounds per inch at the corner of Broad and Elm streets. They also agreed to sell the plant to the township at any time within ten years at the cost of the plant with an addition of 5 per cent. This caused a great deal of discussion, Committeemen Warden and Dennis being in favor of signing a contract with the company, but Chairman Embree was very much against it. On motion of Committeeman Warden, the contract was made, Messrs. Warden and Dennis voting for it, and Mr. Embree against it.

TEA IN HONOR OF A GUEST.

A Pleasant Social Affair Given by George Wharton Edwards.

A delightful tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, in honor of the Misses Dodd, of New York, who are spending the spring months at "The Chestnuts," on West Seventh street. As the guests entered the house, they passed over a large Spanish flag which covered the floor of the hall, having been placed there that the guests might trample it under their feet. In patriotic contrast, the flags of the United States and of Cuba waved above the entrance to the drawing room.

The young women who assisted in the dining room were Miss Gertrude Walz, Miss Nella Whiton and Miss May Tracy. A number of the younger society women of this city were present during the afternoon to enjoy Mrs. Edwards' charming hospitality.

FROM LAW TO GOLD HUNTING.

Walter Gordon Williams, the young Plainfield lawyer who left here several months ago, is now located at Seattle, Washington. He is working with the Seattle and Lake Washington Waterway Company, for whom he soon will strike out into the gold fields of Alaska where he will locate several claims for the company. He has written to Plainfield friends telling of his success there, and is very anxious that some of them should enjoy some of the advantages there with him.

Crazy Over the War.

Simeon Perrine, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, whose home is at Cranbury, is a prisoner in the police station at Rahway. He is deranged over the war and thinks he is fighting Spaniards. He had to be taken off his train by force. He has lucid intervals during which he talks rationally, but then he afterward becomes violent. Last night he raved the greater part of the time. Chief of Police Wright is anxious to get the maniac off his hands and will send him today to the county jail at New Brunswick Perrine owns a nice property at Cranbury and has money in bank. He is married and is about 40 years old.

Harry Carey, of Central avenue, who has been confined to house for some time with injuries received by a horse kicking him, was able to be out yesterday for the first.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly deodorizes whatever it touches. Destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

IF WOMEN WERE IN CONGRESS.

What Their Presence There and in the Cortes Might Have Done.

Orange, May 7.—A proposed constitutional amendment providing for suffrage based upon educational qualifications was offered for adoption at a National and State Woman Suffrage conference begun yesterday afternoon in Union Hall. The proposed educational examination for would-be voters is the suggestion of Prof. Homer B. Sprague, of East Orange, and it will be referred to the next session of the National Suffrage Association. Prof. Sprague's proposition is as follows:

"On and after Jan. 1st, 1901, any citizen of the United States not then a voter, being upward of 21 years of age and of good moral character, shall be admitted to exercise the right of suffrage, provided, and it is hereby required, that he or she shall first have satisfactorily passed a thorough written examination in common arithmetic, the use of the English language, and in the geography, the history and the civil government of the United States."

Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell said that if Queen Maria Cristina and President McKinley could have met without other intervention, Cuba would have been freed without complications, had there been a half-dozen good women in Congress and the Spanish Cortes, and war would have been prevented without any sacrifice of honor.

Mrs. E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, has gone to Philadelphia to visit friends.

For the Tailor-Made Girl.

Close, trim and natty in effect are all of the new tailor gowns made by celebrated French artists. Skirts are narrowly gored, sleeves are carefully fitted, and very slightly trimmed, and yet, this season, these goods are more difficult than usual to describe, because the beauty of the models consists so much in the hang of the skirt, the draperies and trimmings of the bodice, and the artistic but indescribable blending of colors.

A Stylish Spring Suit.

Sage-gray, blue, green, brown, and black cloth, armurette, or ribbed-wool costumes are made with slashed blouse-waists, with under-blouses of soft, almond-colored vicuna, overlaid with narrow strips of the dress fabric, edged with fine gold cord. The skirt opens from belt to hem on each side, showing an underdress of the vicuna crossed all the way down with straps of the gold-corded fabric, about three inches of the foundation material showing between the straps. This makes a very stylish dress in black, with black braid and tailor buttons for trimming and a guimpe or underblouse of black and white checked, plaided, or dotted taffeta silk.

'Tis a bitter memory to think of the wrongs we have done and might have avoided.

What country is ruled by an interjection? Persia; because it is governed by a Shah—pshah.

DECORATIVE NEEDLE WORK A FAD.

Some Useful and Pretty Novelties in the Shape of Home Made Books.

It is always pleasant to find a new object upon which decorative needlework can be displayed, and during the warm weather particularly, fancy work of all kind appeals to nearly all women. Two novelties which have the additional recommendation of being distinctly useful as well as ornamental, are the new manuscript books for cooking recipes and the new blotting pads.

The former are nice, firm little books, about the size of an ordinary blotting-case, and good lined-paper pages, and thick enough to hold a generous supply of recipes; but it is with the embroidered covers that we especially have to deal. The foundation is usually made of art colored linen, and in some cases the designs are simply floral, and very much like other fancy work; but the daintiest are decorated with appropriate mottoes, such as "Now good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both," "A feast should be without a fault," "Bid them prepare dinner," or, more quaintly, still, "Too many cooks spoil the broth," or "How shall I feast him?" A recipe-book with the latter inscription upon it would be an excellent wedding present for a young housekeeper.

The corners and sides of these covers are filled in principally with arabesques or quaint devices. One of the latter, which had three conventional fishes very cleverly worked in shades of pearly-blue flax, to represent the scales, was particularly attractive and pretty.

The ordinary blotting pad is a useful article, but when not in actual use and lying with the soiled blotting paper upwards, it certainly is not an ornament to a dainty writing table. Therefore a good plan is to have a pretty case into which the blotting pads can be easily slipped, and to decorate the back of it with artistic embroidery.

No extra "fussiness" is given to the serviceable blotting-pad by this cover, but by simply placing it face downwards upon the table, the embroidered back comes fully into view, and instead of a blemish, it becomes an additional beauty.

For the decoration of these covers, the favorite motto embroidery is again very much in evidence, such sentences as "Thoughts that breathe and words that burn," "With thee conversing I forget all time," and "The pen is mightier than the sword," being particularly appropriate.

The Headdress Popular.

The headdress has apparently come to stay. It is the rarest thing nowadays to see a coiffure unaccompanied by its forest of feathers, not to speak of big bows of ribbon, flowers and buckles. A pompon of tulle, with a small paste ornament and one upriising plume in the centre, is among the latest novelties in head adornment. An erect triple spire of roses rising from a bow of satin is another popular decoration, as is also a gracefully arranged aigrette of orchids and violets. Black ospreys, mingled with diamond crescents, are suitable for elderly women, though they are worn by the youthful likewise. Flowers are the newest, though, and of flowers, scarlet geranium and white lilac are the acme of smartness. Ostrich plumes of the gayest colors are in high favor, such as cerise, purple and scarlet. Feathers spangled with diamonds and frosted leaves show the tendency to combine different novelties.

Spring Shades.

The spring shades of blue are Roman, hyacinth, silver, Napoleon, and barbeau, or blue-bottle. The greens are in many tints with fanciful titles that have clear emerald tints, and also the deep Russian green, becoming to so many women; willow, the golden green tint and leaf in three different shades. Gismonda again appears, the purple slightly deeper than that of Parma violet, and much like the amethyst are plum shades that have been so popular in costume cloths and millinery this winter.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die Regierung hat beschlossen, den Mitgliedern des Pferdezuchtvereins, die edle Pferde zur Züchtung von dem Verein beziehen wollen, den Ankaufspreis der Fohlen vorlagsweise und verzinslich zu bestreiten, und zwar derart, daß ein Drittel des Preises baar und der Rest in zwei jährlichen Raten von den Käufern der Fohlen zu bezahlen ist.

Mainz. Das Kind einer Obstfrau wollte eine Orange essen. Ein Kern der Frucht gerieth ihm dabei in die Luftröhre und bald darauf erstickte das Kind.

Biernheim. Die Hunde einer in der Nähe des Ortes lagernden Zigeunerbande hatten eine Anzahl Hühner todtgebissen, etwa 15 bis 20 Stück. Aus diesem Anlaß ließ der Bürgermeister Pfitzer sieben Männer der Bande durch die Polizei ziemlich unsanft in das Rathhaus bringen. Dort angelangt, wurde ein Barbier geholt, dessen Gehilfe einem der Zigeuner die Hälfte des Bartes abnehmen mußte. Den anderen wurde die Hälfte des Haupthaares geschoren. Nachher ließ man sie laufen. Ein Pferd wurde zurückbehalten, später aber freigegeben. Man würde diesen Vorgang nicht für möglich halten, wenn er nicht durch glaubwürdige Zeugen bestätigt wäre.

Bayern.

München. Die Staatsbahnverwaltung wird den Vorortverkehr zwischen München und Pasing elektrisch betreiben, um Erfahrungen im elektrischen Bahnbetriebe zu sammeln.—Das hiesige städtische Arbeitsamt hat auf Veranlassung verschiedener Regimenter mehrmals junge, um Arbeit nachfragende Handwerker veranlaßt, beim Militär einzutreten, um dort als Handwerker nach Bedarf verwendet zu werden. Das ist allerdings eine seltsame Thätigkeit des Arbeitsamtes.

Berneck. Der hier verstorbene Privatier Wilhelm Rother hat die Stadtgemeinde Berneck zur Universalerbin seines 400,000 Mark betragenden Baarvermögens und seines Anwesens eingesetzt.

Eichstätt. In Gaimersheim fiel das vierjährige Kind des Brauereibesitzers Baumann zum „Huberbräu" in die zum Zinnputzen hergerichtete heiße Lauge und erlitt derartige Brandwunden, daß es kurze Zeit darauf seinen Verletzungen erlag.

Kissingen. In dem armen Rhöndorf Oehringen sind dieser Tage neun Wohnhäuser, vier Scheunen und 13 kleinere Nebengebäude total niedergebrannt. Gerettet wurde fast nichts. Auch sind die Abgebrannten nur theilweise versichert. Von den 87 Einwohnern des Ortes sind 56 obdachlos. Prinz-Regent Luitpold hat für die Abgebrannten 600 Mark gespendet.

Nürnberg. Die Abgeordnetenkammer in München nahm die Regierungsvorlage über Umbau des Bahnhofs Nürnberg (Gesammtbedarf 30,832,000 Mark, davon erste Rate 12,000,000 Mark) einstimmig an.—Hier hat der Inhaber der bekannten Laufer'schen Farbenwerke seine Frau, seine Tochter und dann sich selbst erschossen. Er befand sich in finanziellen Schwierigkeiten.

Weiding. Hier hat sich ein bedauerlicher Unglücksfall zugetragen. Der Gütler Spranger war mit dem Ausrechen einer Wiese beschäftigt und zündete den zusammengetragenen Haufen Streu und Reisig an. Das vierjährige Mädchen des Spranger, das sich in der Nähe befand, kam in einem unbewachten Augenblick dem Feuer zu nahe und erlitt hierbei so schwere Brandwunden, daß es ihnen alsbald erlegen ist.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Altripp. Die Sachsengängerei scheint auch auf die Vorderpfalz ausgedehnt zu werden. Auf den hiesigen und benachbarten Ziegeleien sind gegen 100 Arbeiter aus Ost- und Westpreußen und Posen eingetroffen.

Bedroom Suits--

Another very unusual "happening" for you.

It's about the same as the bedroom suit event we startled you with a week or so ago, except that more suits are in the sale. They're not rejected patterns but the cream of our '98 arrivals. You cannot meet another snap like it anywhere.

Suits exactly like cut, well carved--liberal dresser and washstand--bevelled mirror--a $25 suit--at $14.95.

A Curly Birch Suit--French plate, bevelled mirror, very large bureau and stand, brass trimmings, cheap at $45--now $30.

Some 8-piece Quartered Oak Suits, elegant, "impressive," unusual--instead of $50, it's $35.

A FASCINATING ISLAND.

Where the Traveler Forgets Everything in Its Languorous Delight.

"Of all fascinating places under the sun," said a gentleman who has traveled much, "the island of Tahiti, one of the Society Islands, is the most fascinating. In that country a little earth lost in a vast ocean, nature has done everything to make indolent souls happy. The climate is temperate and even all the year round, the vegetation is luxuriant, the women beautiful, and the nights, full of perfume and mystical light, stir the most practical mind to love of meditation and dreaming. The influence of this dreamy, lazy life is very insidious. It is not necessary to work, as the island furnishes food without the labor of tillage. I know a number of Americans and French who have gone there for a visit, and have become so enraptured with the languorous existence that, like the visitors to lotus land, they lie down and forget friends, home, ambition and everything. I remember how I used to feel the influence steal upon me. Many a time I wished earnestly to cast my lot with those languorous people. I can look back now and see myself as I lay one night against a cocoanut tree in a sort of ecstacy of meditation. Overhead was a sky bright with a million stars. Sounds came to me in a strange fashion, blending into a murmur. A short distance away a group of natives, girls and men, were shouting the rhythmic chant of the upuupa dance. I thought of myself on this little isle, with ocean on every side and New Orleans so many miles distant. Nothing seemed real to me but that spot in which one could hear indistinctly the chant of the singers and the sobbing of the waves; a mysterious charm possessed me."—Mexican Herald.

HOW THEY RAILROAD IN CHINA.

Some of the Difficulties Under Which the Roads Are Conducted.

A missionary writing from China to a friend in this city recently described the difficulties under which the newly completed railroads are conducted in that country.

Passengers in the first-class coaches, he said, exhibited so strong a desire to carry off various articles from the cars as souvenirs of their trip that the coaches were speedily stripped of those things that contribute to the comfort of the passenger. They took away with them hat and bundle racks, mirrors, lamp brackets, hooks, small tables, and even doors. They were considerate enough to leave the car frame and wheels. And the purloiners were government officials and people belonging to the wealthy classes.

The stations along the railroad over which the writer traveled were rude sheds, very unclean, and without a chair or bench. The cars, too, were very dirty. While this was especially true of the second-class coaches, which were oftentimes crowded with half-naked, unwashed people, the first-class coaches also became very unclean in a short time. It soon became necessary to take out all the upholstery and replace it by plain seats.

When the railroads were being built reports were spread that the foreign contractors were stealing Chinese children and burying them in the roadbed so as to propitiate the god who rules over railroads. These reports greatly excited the people, and in one instance a mob attacked two missionaries near Pekin, and would have killed them had not a detachment of soldiers rescued them. Under guise of these reports children were really kidnapped and taken into the cities for immoral purposes.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A RAFFLE FOR SOULS.

A Peculiar Notice in a Catholic Church in Mexico.

The Rev. Francis S. Borton, a missionary in Pueblo, Mex., says, in the Christian Endeavor World, that he recently saw the following notice in a Roman Catholic church in Mexico:

"Raffle for Souls—At the last Raffle for Souls the following numbers obtained the prize, and the lucky holders may be assured that their loved ones are forever released from the flames of purgatory:

"Ticket 841—The soul of the lawyer James Vasquey is released from purgatory and ushered into heavenly joys.

"Ticket 762—The soul of the aged widow Francisca de Parras is forever released from the flames of purgatory.

"Another raffle for souls will be held at this same blessed Church of the Redeemer on January 1, at which four bleeding and tortured souls will be released from purgatory to heaven, according to the four highest tickets in this most holy lottery. Tickets, $1. To be had of the father in charge. Will you, for the poor sum of $1, leave your loved ones to burn in purgatory for ages?"

Considerate Arab Widow.

When an Arab woman is tired of widowhood and desires to marry again, she goes the night before the wedding to her husband's tomb and prays him not to be offended. To make quite sure of his forgiveness, she brings with her two large goatskins, filled with water, and with these she waters the grave, that the refreshing liquid may soak down to the defunct husband's bones. Having thus done all she can to propitiate his spirit, she goes off with a good courage to start life again as a wife.

Inclined to Fret.

It is a great misfortune to have a fretful disposition. It takes the fragrance out of one's life. The habit of fretting is one that grows rapidly, unless it be sternly repressed.

PHILLIP D ARMOUR'S GIFTS.

Has a Fancy for Bestowing Watches and Clothes Upon His Employes.

Phillip D. Armour, the great Chicago pork packer, has one peculiarity that is altogether agreeable to his employes. He has a weakness for making valuable presents at an opportune moment. For the last ten years whenever he has found it necessary to call one of his representatives from some distant point to the home office at Chicago he has always made it a practice to begin the conference with him at 7 o'clock, in his office at the stock yards. This is Mr. Armour's hour for going to work.

After the interview Mr. Armour looks his visitor over carefully and inquires whether or not he happens to have the time with him. If the employe replies that he does not carry a watch he is promptly presented with an order on a leading Chicago jeweller, with instructions to have the timepiece engraved as a gift from Phillip D. Armour to whatever his name may be.

If the fortunate one is possessed of a watch he is instructed to get a new suit of clothes or a brand new overcoat. For the first few years this plan was allowed to proceed on the lines laid down by Mr. Armour, but of late those of his men who prefer watches to overcoats have managed to leave their timepieces at home when they have been summoned to a conference.

It is stated as a fact that in no instance has the millionaire packer neglected to bestow an expensive gift on those of his employes whom he has called to Chicago on business. The watch preference among his men has come to be very noticeable, and Mr. Armour's custom is so generally known among Armour men that a call to Chicago generally brings out the remark: "That means a watch from the old man, and I can't get there too quick."—New York Journal.

BEST WAY TO ASCEND STAIRS

How a Tiresome Climb May Be Made With Greater Ease.

A physician, who declares that but very few people know how to walk up stairs properly, gives these instructions: Usually a person will tread on the ball of his foot in taking each step. This is very tiresome and wearing on the muscles, as it throws the entire suspended weight of the body on the muscles of the legs and feet. You should, in walking or climbing stairs, seek for the most equal distribution of the body's weight possible. In walking up stairs your feet should be placed squarely down on the step, heel and all, and then the work should be performed, slowly and deliberately. in this way there is no strain upon any particular muscle, but each one is doing its duty in a natural manner. The man who goes up stairs with a spring you may be sure is no philosopher, or, at least, his reasoning has not been directed to that subject. The doctor might have gone a little farther in the same line, and protested against the habit which many persons have of bending over half double when they ascend a flight of stairs. In exertion of this kind, when the heart is naturally excited to more rapid action, it is desirable that the lungs should have full play. But the crouching position interferes with their action, the blood is imperfectly aerated, and there is trouble right away. Give the lungs a chance to do their work everywhere and at all times—Good Housekeeping.

Sure the Second Time.

A Boston teacher had been giving a familiar talk on zoology to a class of ten-year-olds in a grammer school. To test their intelligence, he said, in the course of his remarks.

"Who can tell me the highest form of animal life?"

A little girl held up her hand.

"Well, Mary?"

"The hy-ena," shouted Mary, seriously but triumphantly.

Repressing a smile, the teacher said: "Is it Mary? Think again. Is a hyena the very highest? Don't answer too quickly; take your time."

"Oh, now I know," cried Mary; "it's the giraffe."—Harper's Bazar.

A RICH PRIZE.

Very Valuable Jersey Comes From Hood Farm to Plainfield.

L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, has purchased from Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass., Brown Bessie's Conqueror, one of the most promising Jersey bulls ever sent out from that famous establishment. He is by Brown Bessie's Son out of Tormentor's Fancy Wax. Brown Bessie's Son is at the head of the Hood Farm herd. He now has six daughters in the 14 lb. list and there are many more to follow. As his name indicates he is a son of the great Brown Bessie, owned at Hood Farm, and the winner of the 90 and 30 days butter tests at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893. She made more butter in a day, a week, a month and throughout the entire period of the test than any other cow and averaged over 40 pounds per day for the five months she was in Chicago. Brown Bessie's Son traces three times to all Combination and has 50 per cent. of the blood. Combination is the grandsire of Brown Bessie and also of the other great Hood Farm cow, Merry Maiden. These two cows were the greatest winners in the tests at the World's Fair and they were the only Jerseys that proved themselves superior to all other breeds in all three tests.

Tormentor's Fancy Wax, the dam of Brown Bessie's conqueror, has never been beaten in the show ring, neither has her dam. She carries one of the largest and finest udders imaginable, and her teats are long and well placed. She has a butter record of 15 pounds, 4½ ounces, which does not represent her full capacity. One of her sons is at the head of one of the choicest herds in the country, and although very young, he now has six daughters in the 14 pound list, and five of them made their reports with their first calves.

Tormentor's Fancy Wax is by the imported Tormentor, the sire of 42 in the 14 pound list. Tormetor is by Khedive, the sire of Princess second, test, 37 pounds, 12½ ounces, and he is a grandsire of Onan, of Riverside, 34 pounds 3 ounces, Ethleel second, 30 pounds, 15 ounces, and Toltee's Fancy, 27 pounds 5½ ounces. The dam of Tormentor's Fancy Wax is Fancy Wax, test, 19 pounds 3½ ounces with her first calf. She is the dam of three cows in the 14 pound list, and two of her sons have daughters with records. She is by Fancy's Harry, the sire of 37 in the 14 pound list, and is out of Beeswax, test, 17 pounds 5 ounces, and the dam of 5 in the 14 pound list.

MISTOOK HIM FOR A KING.

In the German Court Circles the Highest in Rank Walks on the Right.

A famous naval architect was the guest of a prince of the German imperial family, and, when out walking with his host, observed that the side of the path he occupied was smoother and easier than that upon which the latter was walking. Thinking it to be only ordinary politeness, he changed from the left to the right side. Then he noticed that the notables whom they met saluted the prince with profound respect, but stared at him as if they were very much surprised and wondered who he was. In a short time the prince said: Did you observe that after you changed to my right side the people whom we met looked at you in great surprise?"

"Yes," was the architect's reply; and then he explained why he had changed his position.

"Ah, yes! just so!" laughed the prince. "Well, I will explain why they looked so intently at you. It is a rule of the German court that the person of the highest rank shall occupy the right-hand side. All the people whom we met knew me, but when they saw you on my right-hand, they supposed you to be a king, and wondered who you could be."

The guest promptly got back to the left side.—Odds and Ends.

A Trolley Collection Box.

Chicago is said to have started what is known as the trolley church collection boxes. A wire is stretched from pew to pew, upon which little carriages are strung. This contrivance is operated by electricity, and the minister by merely touching a button located in front of him on the top of the pulpit releases these little cars simultaneously all over the church. The great advantage claimed for the trolley collection boxes is that it keeps the amount of each contribution a secret from those sitting in the vicinity. We hardly think this will prove an advantage in fashionable churches, for without the possibility of one's neighbor seeing the amount of a donation, the total collection would probably be considerably smaller than usual.—Electricity.

Chinese Lawyer for White Boys.

A Victorian gold fields town has a Chinese camp, also a Chinese solicitor. One evening lately, as the camp was busy driving out the devil (an interesting little propitiatory religious service), some boys spoilt the proceedings, first by throwing crackers into the flames and then by stoning the worshippers. Police court proceedings followed, and the Chinese lawyer was engaged for the defence, the first time this, in an Australian court, when a Chinese lawyer has been on one side appearing for Europeans, with Chinese principals on the other side.—Sydney Bulletin.

A Nice Question.

"His death was accidental, was it not?" asked the relative from the East.

THE TROTTING CIRCUIT.

PLANS NOW COMPLETED FOR SUCCESSFUL MEETS.

Judge Coddington, of Plainfield, is at the Head—Entries to be Accepted from Every Section of the State.

The Central New Jersey Trotting Association is now ready for work. After several weeks of preparation, the organization has been rendered complete. The last meeting of the association was held at Flemington, N. J., last Monday evening. At that meeting the following officers were elected.

Former Judge William A. Coddington was chosen as president of the organization. He has been one of the most enthusiastic workers and has taken a guiding interest in the formation of the association. One vice-President was elected from each of the four counties represented. Thomas Brantingham was chosen as the vice-president from Union county. William F. Williams was made secretary from Union county and Newton B. Smalley treasurer from the same county.

The executive committee will be composed of the president and two members from each county. John Osborne and Charles C. Brower were chosen to represent Union county on the committee. C. V. D. Corle and Sheriff William T. Kirk were made the Union county members of the reception committee.

There has been considerable discussion as to the advisibility of opening the meets to all the State rather than the four counties alone. Such action was taken at a previous meeting, but at the meeting Monday night there were some who were in favor of rescinding the action of the other meeting. The question was put to a vote and it was decided to let horses from all over the State take part in the races.

The settlement of dates and places for the circuit was left to the executive committee which will take action shortly. As soon as the dates are settled the committees in the different counties will take the initiative and begin preparations for the meets at once.

VARICUS SPORTS.

Joseph DeForeest, of the Plainfield High School, is a new candidate for honors in throwing the discus. He has gone into training in that event and will participate in the State games.

The Plainfield High School will have a strong team to represent it in the annual games of the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association, which will be held May 21st, at Bayonne. Carroll L. Runyon is almost certain of first place in throwing the hammer, as he is considered one of the three best men of the metropoliton district. Rhey T. Snodgrass will participate in the one hundred and two hundred and twenty yard dashes. He is a newcomer but is expected to make a good showing. Harry Cuming will ride in the one-mile bicycle race. Like his older brother, he is a speedy rider and will give Allen, of Montclair High, and McCully, of Pingry's School, a lively race for first. Walter L. Long will enter the high jump, in which he is considered proficient. His strongest opponent will be Moore, of Pingry's. Joseph DeForeest will enter the discus throwing contest. He is a new man but considered very good.

GOLF.

Lou Compton, of Leggett's pharmacy, is riding a new Eldridge wheel which he finds very satisfactory.

Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, of Fairview avenue, has received her new Eldridge wheel from the Eldridge Bicycle Company.

The past week has been an unsatisfactory one to wheelmen. The rain has prevented riding almost every day and when there was not rain the mud made riding next to impossible.

J. E. Morse, of Franklin place, has received his new Cleveland wheel from the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company. It is the first wheel in the city to be equipped with the new Burwell tires and Cleveland gear case.

Miss Ernestine Smith will again act as captain of the Christian Endeavor bicycle squad this year. She was appointed at the last meeting of the executive committee of the local union, and has decided to accept. The first of the runs will probably be to Dunellen and will occur sometime in June.

The young people of the Congregational church gave a bicycle run Wednesday afternoon. The party, numbering ten, rode to New Brunswick by the way of New Market and Stelton, and returned via Metuchen. The run was paced by Miss Sadie Mae Howell and John W. Kirkner. Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux acted as chaperone.

There was a movement earlier in the year on the part of some outside bicycle race meet promoters to secure the Crescent Oval for race meets this season. Arrangements were so made that the races would not conflict with the baseball games. The scheme seems to have fallen through, however, for nothing has been heard from it for some time.

The Bachelors' Club is organizing a cycling division which will hold several runs this summer. Almost all the members of the club are enthusiastic wheelmen and they have decided that wheeling is a pleasant manner to spend the summer evenings. The president of the club, Benjamin O. Bowers, Jr., is at the head of the movement.

Spalding $50. Crawford $50 & $35.

Now is the time to have your Wheel cleaned and put in order before the RUSH.

Pasteur's Forgetfulness.

The late Dr. Pasteur was as absent-minded as Edison. Even on the morning of his marriage he forgot all about the approaching ceremony and went off to his laboratory. The bride and the attendants went to the church, but no Pasteur turned up. A search was instituted and Pasteur was found deep in chemical experiments and utterly oblivious of the fact tht he was to be made a benedict that day.—Philadelphia Record.

DEWEY'S REPORT.

It is Brief, But Tells the Story, and We Like to Hear It.

Washington, May 7, 12:15 p. m.—Commodore Dewey's official report has been received by the Navy department. It reads:

"Squadron arrived daybreak Sunday. Immediately engaged enemy. Destroyed the following Spanish ships—cruisers Reina Cristina, Isla de Cuba, Castilla, Don Antonio de Ulloa, Don Juan de Austria; gunboats Gen. Lesa, Marquiae del Suer; armed transport Isla de Merdiano. American squadron uninjured. Few men slightly wounded. Only means of telegraphing through American Consul at Hong Kong. Shall communicate with him immediately." Dewey.

Hong Kong, May 7, 10 a. m.—The long-watched for report from Commodore Dewey and the American fleet at Manila has arrived.

With it comes the story in full detail of a great victory for American arms. The most enthusiastic rumors of the battle of Manila are confirmed.

Even the Americans are surprised at the very slight loss on the part of the American fleet and the terrific damage that its guns accomplished.

The office of the Eastern Telegraph Company in this city has been crowded with those who are anxious to learn as soon as possible of the resumption of communication with the Phillippine Islands.

Reports have reached from Japanese and other sources telling of the great victory of the American fleet, but there was no confirmation of the news.

At an early hour this morning the lookouts at the harbor sighted a small steamer bearing toward the city and flying the American flag.

The rumor went forth that Commodore Dewey's despatch boat, the revenue cutter, Hugh McCullogh, was approaching. The boat was considered already over due if she left the fleet after the battle of Manila.

Her nearer approach proved her to be the long looked-for messenger from the American commodore. She steemed into the harbor and was anxiously received.

On board the Hugh McCollough was Lieutenant Bundy, the flag-lieutenant of Commodore Dewey. He had to tell of a great victory for the American fleet and the utter annilation of the Spanish fleet.

The ships of the Spanish fleet at Manila, he reported, were gone, either destroyed by the fire of the American ships or sunk by the Spaniards. The American fleet was unharmed.

His story of the losses of the combatants was even more remarkable. On the Spanish side, three hundred men were killed and four hundred wounded. There was not a fatality in the entire American fleet. Eleven of the American sailors were wounded by the fire from the Spanish ships and batteries.

Both the Spanish ships and the Spanish land batteries took part in the engagement but the fire from the American fleet not only annihilated the Spanish warships but silenced the guns in the fortifications.

The challenge to battle was flung out by the Spanish flagship Reina Christina, which opened fire on the advancing American squadron.

The Olympia, Dewey's flagship, which led the van, replied to the shot from the Spaniard.

Immediately afterward, the entire American fleet began firing on the Spanish fleet. The latter replied heavily. Then the batteries of Cavite opened a murderous raking fire on the American ships.

Soon the Spanish flag-ship burst into flames and the Spanish Admiral Montijo transferred his flag to the transport Isla de Cuba.

Ten minutes later the Spanish cruiser Castilla burst into flames and her crew were compelled to desert her

Repeatedly the hot fire from the American ships drove the gunners from the heavy guns, and compelled them to take refuge in the bomb-proofs at Cavite.

The bomb-proofs offered but slight resistance to the terrible American gunnery and many were killed in them.

Dewey's battle line was led by his flagship, the Olympia. The cruiser Raleigh followed a cable's length behind.

The Batimore, Boston, Concord, Petrel and McCullough, followed in the order named under easy maneuvering speed.

The Spanish ships were formed in two lines flanking the Reina Christina.

During the entire action the American warships kept under way manœuvering about the enemy.

One after another the Spanish ships burst into flames or were run aground by their crews to save them from capture.

Eleven Spanish ships, the entire fleet, were destroyed during the engagement.

They were the Reina Christina, steel cruiser; Castella, wooden cruiser; Velasco, iron cruiser; Don Antonio de Ulloa, iron cruiser; Don Juan de Austria, iron cruiser; Isla de Cuba protected steel cruiser; Isla de Lozon, steel protected cruiser; Quieres, Vellalobas, El Cano, and Manilena, steel gunboats.

Dewey fought until the last of the Spanish ships was destroyed and the shore batteries completely reduced.

INVASION OF CUBA.

Regular United States Troops Now Embarking at Tampa.

Tampa, Fla., May 7, 1:50 p. m—The invasion of Cuba is now at hand. The work of embarking the first of the United States regular troops for the invasion of that island has begun.

This morning the orders came from the War Department in Washington ta embark the First Infantry in the transports that are lying in the port.

The work of embarkation was started without delay. Other regiments will follow today. It is evident that the War Department has decided to take active measures at last.

DEWEY IS SUPREME.

Manila is at His Mercy—He Does Not Need Help Just at Present.

Washington, May 7, 1:45 p. m—A second despatch from Commodore Dewey announces that he has taken the fortifications and has landed a force of marines at Cavite, the principal fort. He holds 256 wounded Spaniards as prisoners. Manila is at his mercy and he needs nothing at the present time.

DEWEY THANKED.

Official Congratulations Extended by President McKinley for the Nation.

Washington, May 7, 2:30 p. m—Under the directions of President McKinley, Secretary of the Navy Long sent the following cable message this afternoon:

"Dewey, Manila, The President in the name of the American people thanks you, your officers and men for your splended achievement.

"Your overwhelming victory is recognized and the President has appointed you acting Admiral. He will recommend that a vote of thanks be given you by Congress.

Long."

MR. SPENCER SETTLES WITH THE BOROUGH

Final Report Made by the Special Committee.

THE COMMITTEE THANKED.

MAYOR WILSON SAID THEY SHOULD BE COMMENDED.

The Sum of $3,548.58 was Accepted by the Borough Council in Settlement of the Shortage in His Account, the Right Being Retained to Give Him the Benefit of Any of the Errors That Might be Cleared Away in the Future—Borough Has Secured Nearly $9,000 by the Investigation.

At last night's Borough Council meeting Councilman Burtis offered a resolution to the effect that the Council accept the settlement offered by former Collector Spencer, and still another resolution that if any errors are found in favor of Mr. Spencer that the latter receive full credit for the same. Both resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Mayor Wilson in discharging the special committee having the matter of Mr. Spencer's accounts in charge, thanked the committee for the very complete and satisfactory work accomplished.

The final report was as follows:

To the Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield:

Some months ago a report was submitted to the Mayor and Council by Expert Accountants employed to audit and systematize the Borough Accounts. That report showed differences existing between the Collector's books and the amount due the Borough under the detailed statement as computed by the Expert Accountants and that report which was submitted to your committee, has been adjusted in the following manner, to wit:—

As has already been reported by your committee the Collector made good, during the time the experts were examining his accounts, $4,000 of the money collected which he had omitted to report to the Council at the time of its collection.

Between the date of the experts report which came down to January 1st, 1898, and the retirement of Mr. Spencer from office he reported an additional sum of $1,411.84 more than he collected during that period, as appears from the supplemental report of the experts covering that time, which your committee found it necessary to have made, in order to place the accounts and books, to be turned over to the new Collector, upon a proper basis.

During this supplemental examination your committee found that an additional sum of $855 for liquor license fees had been received by the Collector during various years which he had omitted to report upon and which was not included in the original report of the experts, there being no record of it except at Somerville.

This amount together with the balances shown by the experts report to be due from the Collector for cash collected by him during various years from other sources and for which he had not accounted, made up a total of $2,722.52 still remaining due from the Collector upon his retirement from office, exclusive of interest on any item and of any claims for liens lost.

Your committee considered that it was right to charge interest at the ordinary rate, 6 per cent., upon amounts which the Collector had collected and failed to report upon from the date of such collection. This item of interest amounted to $826.06, making a total balance of $3,548.58 due from the Collector for cash actually received by him, and interest thereon as stated for which he had failed to account. In addition to this there remains the item of interest on delinquent taxes in cases where the original amount of the tax bill only had been accounted for by the Collector, while interest should have been collected amounting to $3,736.86.

Your committee had several meetings with Mr. Spencer and submitted to him and to an accountant chosen by him all the facts and figures in the possession of your committee, and after carefully examining said accounts Mr. Spencer admitted his inability to find errors therein and showed a disposition to settle with the borough that amount which appeared due it for cash received by him. He finally offered to pay the borough the balance of $3,548.58, shown by the accounts to be due, provided the Council would release him from liability for the item $3,736.86 interest on delinquent taxes above mentioned, and for deductions from assessed valuations made by him without due authority. Your committee would respectfully recommend that the Mayor and Council accept from Mr. Spencer the said sum of $3,548.58 and forego any claim against him for interest on delinquent taxes and for deductions from assessed valuations made by him without authority, upon the understanding that if he should be able to show within a reasonable time that he is entitled to any credits that he has not not been allowed, then such amount shall be adjusted with him by the borough. On the other hand Mr. Spencer shall remain liable for any further amounts which it may hereafter be discovered he has received and which have not yet appeared by the books to have been paid to him. Your committee considers that the borough will be justified in settling with Mr. Spencer in this way, by which he will account for only the money which he has actually received; and such settlement shall be satisfactory to the borough under all circumstances.

Finally, if the settlement, as recommended is made, the borough will have received nearly $9,000 as the result of the examination begun in November last.

Your committee realizes that the lesson is hereby taught that the most systematic and thorough business methods are always necessary in public as well as private affairs.

Undoubtedly some of the discrepancies in the collector's accounts were the result of carelessness. With the modern system, now adopted in our borough, it is hoped such a condition cannot occur again.

A Few Facts Telling Why THE DAILY PRESS Is a Better Paper Than The News.

THE DAILY PRESS is proud of its telegraphic service. It welcomes all the criticism that a jealous and lagging competitor can bestow upon it, because if people are interested at all in the merit of the service of THE DAILY PRESS as differing with The News, it will induce a comparison of the efforts and expense the two papers make to serve the people who read newspapers in Plainfield and adjoining towns. In such a comparison there is one result sure to follow—the selection of THE DAILY PRESS as far superior to The News.

THE DAILY PRESS is receiving the best service that the Union Associated Press can furnish by special telegraphic messages. If there is anything worth printing THE DAILY PRESS GETS IT, whether it be much or little. On the other hand, The News is receiving somewhere between fifty and one hundred words by telegraph—divided up into a half-dozen short messages inadequately covering the actual current news.

The subterfuge which the editor of The News resorts to to fool the general public is very shallow. Fully seventy-five per cent of the war news which he prints on his first page, double-leaded and captioned with black type to bring it out prominently, is clipped from the big daily papers which are received by The News. The principal paper which the editor of The News culls for this stuff is the Philadelphia Record. He takes The Record because he knows that there are comparatively few sold in Plainfield and that his "cribbing" tactics will be less likely to be found out. But that does not preclude his trick being shown up in its true light.

If anyone doubts this statement let the man, or the woman, or the child, buy or borrow a Philadelphia Record of Friday morning and then compare the news in The Record with the war items in The News the same evening, which are printed ostensibly as special despatches. In many instances they will be found word for word the same.

ALL THE NEWS WHICH THE DAILY PRESS publishes on its first page prominently—and which is usually carried over to the eighth page—is received by wire direct from the Union Associated Press.

THE DAILY PRESS is pre-eminently the best paper in Plainfield.

NETHERWOOD STARTLED.

H. C. TALMADGE'S GAS-MAKING APPARATUS EXPLODED.

The Accident Occurred at 2 o'Clock This Morning and Made a Loud Report—Fire Department Called Out.

The aristocratic residents of Netherwood were startled out of their slumbers at 2 o'clock this morning by a loud explosion. Visions of warring armies of Americans and Spaniards meeting on the Heights, and discharging awful carnage into the ranks of each other were suggested to the minds of the peaceably inclined. Some may have stuffed the bed clothes into their ears to keep out the din of the battle, but those who were brave enough to get up and investigate noticed a glaring sheet of flames leaping up from a small building near the house of H. C. Talmadge on Belvidere avenue.

Patrolman Lunger was at the Netherwood station at the time of the loud report, and be was considerably startled by the terrific noise. Looking towards the Talmadge home he saw the flames leaping up into the air. He hurried to Box 29 and sent in a fire alarm. The general gong failed to sound, but the gongs in the fire houses worked all right and in a few minutes the department was on the scene.

It was found that the trouble had been caused by the explosion of the apparatus with which Mr. Talmadge manufactures illuminating gas from gasoline for his residence. For some unaccountable reason the volatile fluid became ignited and exploded with a loud report, and enveloped the small house in which it is kept in flames.

The family of Mr. Talmadge was frightened over the explosion, but when they saw what it was they felt that there was not much serious danger in prospect.

The firemen turned on a stream from the chemical engine and in a few minutes had subdued the fire that had been raging. The loss will probably be about $100 to the building, but Mr. Talmadge will suffer considerable loss by reason of the destruction of the illuminating system for his residence.

This was the second time that the gas house had exploded and startled Netherwood residents.

Mrs. Fellows, of East Front street, has moved to Westervelt avenue.

MAY HAVE NO RECEPTION

AN IMPORTANT FEATURE OF COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES LAGS.

The Graduates of '96 and '97 Have Not Taken Any Steps to Arrange for a Greeting to This Year's Class.

Unless some action is taken at once, it is probable that there will be no alumni reception at commencement time at the Plainfield High School this year. It has been the custom for many years that the two classes graduating last should take charge of the reception which is tendered to the graduates.

This year, the presidents of the classes of '96 and '97 are out of town and will not return until late in June, if then. A preliminary meeting is usually called at the Easter vacation to start the preparations and the reception is usually placed in the hands of a committee which takes complete charge. There has been no preliminary meeting as yet and there is no prospects of one.

The members of the graduating class are very anxious about the matter as they have always considered the commencement reception as part of the graduating ceremonies. There was some talk among the members of the older classes of organizing an alumni association to take charge, but nothing has yet been done in the matter.

It is understood that the Board of Education would have no objection to allowing the reception to be held in the gymnasium in the Whittier building which would considerably reduce the expenses.

There is still considerable work to be done besides arranging where the reception shall be held and none of the members of the classes of '96 and '97 have shown any willingness to take the matter in hand.

Trouble Over Dogs.

Mrs. Hamilton, of Verdon avenue called on Chief Marshal Wilson this morning and informed him that some of her nearby neighbors had threatened to shoot her two valuable dogs, if she did not keep them tied at home. The neighbors complaining, Mrs. Hamilton said, had no fence around their property and she asked the Chief if they had a right to shoot the dogs. The Chief informed Mrs. Hamilton that she could seek redress through the law, if any unnecesary proeedure was taken by her neighbors.

THE APPOINTMENT OF AN OVERSEER OF POOR

Why It Was Necessary to Present a Minority Report.

A DIFFERENCE ABOUT PAY.

FIRST AGREEMENT WAS NOT KEPT BY REPUBLICANS.

In the Alms Committee When the Master was First Considered it was Agreed That I. D. TenEyck Should be Named, to Receive $100 in Excess of Salary as Alms House Keeper—The Sudden Change of Mind Made by Mayor Fisk Mixed Things Things and the Citizens' Councilmen Wouldn't Concede It.

Regarding the appointment of Christian Hansen, of 312 West Second street, as overseer of the poor, there are certain things that have not been been published and they should be know in justice to the alms committee.

Before the appointment was made it was generally understood by the Alms Committee, Messrs. Andrews, Hetfield and Leifke, that there were three candidates for the position The three persons were I. D. TenEyck, George Marx and Mr. Rockafellow, the latter a brother of Constable Rockafellow. While all three men were first-class and well-adapted to fill the office, it was the sense of the committee that Mr. TenEyck should be appointed. The committee held several conferences regarding the matter and it was supposed that Mr. TenEyck would be appointed.

It was also agreed between the members that the salary for the holder of the office should be $100. This was agreed to by Mayor Fisk and the committee. Nothing more was thought of the matter until the night of the appointment, when Mayor Fisk sent in the name of Christian Hansen. Messrs. Hetfield and Leifke were surprised. Neither of them knew Mr. Hansen and were unable to say anything about him, as was reported in the Council proceedings at that time. Mr. Andrews pressed the nomination and after much debate secured for Mr. Hansen the appointment in spite of the fact that the other two members of the committee desired to have the appointment laid over until the next meeting.

The matter passed along for a while and from time to time the question of fixing Mr. Hansen's salary was deferred until last Monday evening, when Mr. Andrews stated that he disliked very much to make a minority report, but he found it was impossible for him to agree with the other members of the committee regarding the salary. He then moved that the salary be fixed at $250, $50 less than the amount paid last year.

Mr. Hetfield stated that it had been agreed in committee meeting that the overseer of the poor was to receive $100, and he objected to the increase, and thought that the committee should abide by the agreement. This the other members, excepting Mr. Hetfield and Mr. Leifke, did not agree to, and Mr. Hansen's salary was made $250.

Mr. Hetfield says that Mr. Andrews secured the nomination of Mr. Hansen after the consideration of the other three candidates, and that $300 was promised him for salary, but to compromise matters the amount was reduced to $250. Mr. Hetfield and Mr. Leifke feel very much the slight accorded them in not being recognized in the appointment, and think it only fair that their side of the story be heard.

TEA IN HONOR OF A GUEST.

A Pleasant Social Affair Given by George Wharton Edwards.

A delightful tea was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, in honor of the Misses Dodd, of New York, who are spending the spring months at "The Chestnuts," on West Seventh street. As the guests entered the house, they passed over a large Spanish flag which covered the floor of the hall, having been placed there that the guests might trample it under their feet. In patriotic contrast, the flags of the United States and of Cuba waved above the entrance to the drawing room.

The young women who assisted in the dining room were Miss Gertrude Walz, Miss Nella Whiton and Miss May Tracy. A number of the younger society women of this city were present during the afternoon to enjoy Mrs. Edwards' charming hospitality.

OFF FOR PORTO RICO

Admiral Sampson Instructed to Intercept the Spanish Fleet

BATTLE EXPECTED TO-DAY

Cuban Invasion Awaits the Action of the Fleet—Not Believed that the American Army Will Be Sent Until Admiral Sampson Has Taken Porto Rico—News Expected Very Soon.

Washington, May 7.—A member of the Cabinet has stated that Admiral Sampson's fleet is sailing toward Porto Rico with instructions to intercept the Spanish fleet, and in case the fleet does not show up, to capture Porto Rico.

The same official is authority for the statement that the reason Havana has not been bombarded is because our Government has an understanding with the English Government to the effect that unless Spain yields after the next naval battle the powers will intervene and compel her to make terms with the United States.

England, it seems, has strongly objected to the bombardment of Havana, because a great deal of valuable property there which would be destroyed by the bombardment is owned by English subjects.

LONG EXPECTS NEWS SOON.

Cuban Invasion to Be Postponed Until Porto Rico Is Taken.

Washington, May 7.—Secretary Long informed the Cabinet yesterday that he would have something to report from Admiral Sampson's fleet to-morrow or Monday. The Secretary meant that Porto Rico would be seized either to-day or to-morrow, and that he would have word immediately.

The Cabinet discussed the situation, and it was decided that the troops would not be taken to Cuba until after Admiral Sampson finished his mission to Porto Rico. Small expeditions, to land ammunition and supplies for the Cubans, may continue, but until Admiral Sampson has seized Porto Rico and met the Spanish fleet, it is not probable that the troops will invade Cuba. This Government will send a number of expeditions conveying arms and ammunition and volunteer recruits for the Gomez army, to be received by the Cubans at designated places, the expeditions to be similar to the one reported yesterday.

This move is in accord with the plans of Gen. Miles, which contemplate postponement of an invasion until such time as a large army can be safely sent to Cuba to make the occupation complete.

In this connection it is asserted that the troops which will be sent with these various expeditions will be those which have volunteered for that particular purpose, and that the army of occupation sent late under the enlarged plan of Gen. Miles will be composed very largely under the call for 125,000 men, and that the army would be so large as to entirely possess the island within a very short time after landing.

The prospects are that if this plan should be followed the war will be over before the "Grand Army of Occupation" moves upon Cuba.

Naval Men Confident.

Washington, May 7.—"We expect important news from Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet about to-morrow night," said a member of the Cabinet last night. Rear Admiral Sampson, with a number of his ships, is rapidly sailing toward the Porto Rican coast.

The Spanish Cape Verde fleet, which is believed to be making for San Juan, Porto Rico, should make its appearance some time Sunday. Should the two powerful fleets meet, as now seems imminent, the greatest naval battle of the world will be fought.

The Spanish fleet is considered by the American authorities as presenting a very formidable array of fighting vessels, and the ability of its commander, Admiral Villomil, is well known. But the naval officials have no fears of the result of a battle between the two fleets.

TO ATTACK THE CANARIES?

Said We Advised British Government to Remove Its Subjects.

London, May 7.—A story is published here to the effect that the British Admiralty has been advised by the Washington Naval Strategy Board to remove British subjects from the Canary Islands.

It is added that this accounts for the second class cruiser Charybdis being ordered to Las Palmas, and leads to the conclusion that Rear Admiral Sampson may attack the Canary Islands, which would either draw the Spanish fleet out of Cadiz, or give the United States a naval basis from which to attack Spain.

AFFAIRS AT PORTO RICO.

Purser of the Steamer Abydos Relates Condition of Things There

New York, May 7.—In an interview with J. J. Radford, purser of the New York and Porto Rico line steamer Abydos, which arrived from Porto Rico yesterday, he said:

"The feeling at San Juan, the last port in Porto Rico from which we came, is intensely anti-American. In fact, that state of affairs prevails at nearly every seaport on the island. Martial law was in effect when we left San Juan, and I understand that the military authorities advised all foreigners to appear before the military boards, and every American and American sympathizer was told that it would be policy to leave the island.

"The amount of coal which has been stored at San Juan and other places, does not, in my opinion, reach 40,000 tons, as stated. I have traveled pretty extensively over the island, not only at the coast cities but in the interior, and at a rough estimate I should think that the amount stored for the use of the Spanish vessels will not exceed 10,000 tons. At the gas house at San Juan the authorities were informed that the coal in its possesion must be considered as Government property, and should not be used for illuminating purposes.

"The mounted civil guards patrol the streets of Ponce and other of the larger cities to preserve order and to act as a temporary police patrol. At Ponce there were several riots, during which the rioters were fired upon by the civil guards. At Yauco, the scene of last year's outbreak, mounted guards also patrol the streets.

"Not only is the feeling toward Americans very bitter in the minds of the Spanish people, but their animosity will be directed against all foreigners residing there, the feeling among the less intelligent being that all who are not Spanish must be Americans. They are especially bitter against the British residents. It has been said that the younger element of the Spanish residents, who have nearly all been educated in America, would not sympathize with the Government. This, I feel confident, is incorrect, as I have heard a number of students say that in case they are needed, they will gladly serve in the Spanish army.

"Food is decidedly high throughout the island, and for two weeks preceding our departure from there all prices had doubled on almost everything eatable. The currency, which is silver, is, of course, affected, and the rate of exchange rises with the increase of price in provisions, and is now proportionate. The business element of the island seem to think that America intends seizing the island and confiscating everything on it. Shippers are of the opinion that it is hardly safe to send goods here. The only town of importance on the island that is at all fortified is San Juan, and there the guns are of not very much use. I heard of, but did not see, the large number of rifles which are said to be stored there for the Spanish."

The purser further said that across the mouth of the harbor of San Juan is sunk the wreck of a Spanish steamer, the Cristobal Colon, and that he was informed that mines and torpedoes have been placed in the wreck for the purpose of blowing up any deep draught vessel that may attempt to enter.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

General Activity Follows War—Wheat Makes a New Record.

New York, May 7.—A state of war was so greatly dreaded by those who have seen nothing like it for more than thirty years that its coming has hurt less than its apprehension. Especially since the victory at Manila indicated superiority of the American navy, gun for gun, expectations that the war will not last long has influenced all markets, and stocks have advanced, the average of prices for railroads $2.79 per share. The general condition of business has been materially improved. One day's work by the officers and men at Manila has given many day's work to thousands of people at home of whom they knew nothing and has placed all American industries and interests on a stronger footing for any conceivable future. Millions living, as well as millions not yet born, owe to them a debt.

Considering only the business aspect of the week's news, its most important feature is the indication that, in any such form as to cause watchful defense of coasts and guarding against attack, the war is not likely to last long. Wherever the Spanish fleet may go, it can hardly escape such crippling that the country will soon be relieved from fear of attack. There has been distinct increase in demand for the products of all the chief industries, many who had delayed now coming forward with orders, while there has been material and most important relief in the ease of the money markets for industrial and commercial needs. The proportion of commercial loans made by ten of the leading banks has increased from 15 to 25 per cent. of the aggregate.

The most sensational of all changes, and the most practically important, has been the rise in wheat—13 cents during one day's session, 21½ cents from Tuesday to Thursday night, and 25½ cents for the week—throwing into the shade all past advances and all expectations, though reaction of 1½ cents naturally followed on Friday. Western receipts, after averaging less than 2,500,000 bushels per week for four months, have suddenly risen to more than 3,500,000 bushels. The remarkable rise on Thursday was largely due to the removal of duties by France, and to prohibition of exports by Russia, both showing the extraordinary needs abroad, so that the rise of 25½ cents for the week is not without excuse. Corn failed to advance correspondingly, though the exports were 3,000,000, against 2,725,043 last year, the aggregate since July 1 having been 178,000,000 bushels, larger than ever before to date, although wheat exports have also been larger than last year, far greater than in ordinary years, and nearly the largest on record.

Industries have received a wonderful stimulus from the conviction that hostilities will not last long, and from heavy Government orders.

It is not due to domestic conditions that orders from the Russian Government for two big war ships have been taken by the Cramps, and orders for rails from Mexico have given a good start to the rebuilt Colorado works. Four large merchant ships have been ordered from the Delaware works, plate mills are crowded, and at the same time one establishment far in the interior is bidding on a foreign order for 5,000 tons, while car and rail works continue to receive large orders, and demands for agricultural implements and fencing go beyond the ability of works in some cases.

Textile establishments have been receiving large orders within the past few days outside those from Government, so that the stoppage or reduction of time in four woolen mills early in the week may have been premature. No decline whatever appears in the prices of staple cloths or dress goods.

The railroads report better earnings by 17.5 per cent. for April than last year, and 11.0 per cent. better than in 1892. Failures in April, in spite of expectations of war, and during the last ten days' actual war, have been smaller than in the same month for four previous years, and the details by branches of business given to-day show that the improvement is general. Failures for the week have been 238 in the United States, against 221 last year, and 25 in Canada, against 36 last year.

Queen Not to Abdicate.

London, May 7.—The officials of the Spanish Embassy here have issued a catagorical denial of the reports in circulation here and elsewhere to the effect that the Queen Regent intends to abdicate the throne of Spain.

THE FIGHT AT MANILA

TOWN WAS SOON ON FIRE

Insurgents Were Chiefly Responsible for This Work—Many Spaniards Said to Have Been Killed—Cable Communication Is Still Interrupted—No News of the Engagement Received

London, May 7.—A special dispatch, dated Shanghai, purports to give Japanese reports of the fighting at Manila, received via the Island of Formosa.

It says that after disposing of the Spanish fleet and Cavite Commodore Dewey bombarded Manila itself.

The city, it appears, was soon on fire in many parts, the work, it is added, chiefly of the insurgents.

Great loss of life is reported to have occurred among the Spanish residents of the city.

Communication Still Interrupted.

Hong Kong, May 7.—Inquiries made at the office of the Eastern Telegraph Company show that the cable communication between Hong Kong and Manila has not yet been restored.

SAID DEWEY WAS TRAPPED.

Spanish Authorities Talk About Gunboats Concealed Outside Harbor.

London, May 7.—The Spanish authorities are intimating that Commodore Dewey has been entrapped by Spanish gunboats kept concealed outside the harbor.

It is believed, however, they are only trying to make as much as possible of the absence of news from the American fleet.

The Spanish allege that Admiral Montijo left these gunboats outside the bay to prevent any exit and, therefore, it is impossible for Commodore Dewey to send a dispatch boat to Hong Kong.

FIERCE FIGHTING AT CAVITE.

Three Hot Battles Have Been Probably Fought—Madrid Gets News.

Madrid, May 7.—The Imparcial says the officials of the German Embassy here have received a dispatch from Hong Kong announcing that the American commodore in Manila Bay is reported to have effected a landing at Cavite after a fresh bombardment of that place.

This news coming from Spanish sources is probably correct. It indicates that Commodore Dewey has had a hot time of it, and that very likely three actual engagements have taken place, that when the Spanish fleet was destroyed, and the subsequent bombardment of Cavite and Manila, and the bombardment mentioned. The wording of the dispatch would indicate that Manila itself has not yet succumbed.

It would be very easy for some German steamship to have brought this news to Hong Kong, and in view of Germany's attitude Madrid would get the first news.

NOT ANXIOUS ABOUT DEWEY.

Administration Has No Apprehension About His Entire Safety.

Washington, May 7.—No word has been received at the Navy Department from Commodore Dewey, nor has the State Department any confirmation from Consuls at Singapore or Shanghai of the reports said to have been brought there by merchant ships. There is some feeling of anxiety among some of the naval officers as to the silence of Commodore Dewey, but the President and the Cabinet feel assured that there is no need for apprehension. As a Cabinet member said this morning:

"Commodore Dewey knows what he is about, and he is not going to make half a report, while by waiting a day or two he can instruct the Navy Department as to his entire course, and its success. It is hardly possible that he would send a vessel to Hong Kong before he had taken possession of the islands, and there is no need for anxiety about him for several days yet."

The dispatch from Consul Wildman at Hong Kong, which contained no reference to Admiral Dewey, is considered by the President and the Cabinet as meaning that no word had been received there from Manila or from Commodore Dewey when the dispatch was sent. Had there been, Consul Wildman certainly would have mentioned it in his dispatch. The Cabinet had a great deal to discuss in regard to the fleets on the Atlantic.

The naval officers here do not take any stock in the report from Spain that part of the Spanish fleet at Cadiz is going to the Philippines to assist the Governor General. They say that it would take the fleet three weeks to make the voyage, or as long as it would take our fleet to go from San Francisco to Manila. The Spanish fleet could go through the Suez Canal, as the international regulations make it neutral and allow belligerents to use it, but prohibit fighting at either end, or in the canal.

But the most significant thing considered by the naval officers in regard to this rumor is the fact that the two battleships, Carlos V. and the Pelayo, are named as the vessels to convoy the gunboats. The naval officers say that it would be useless to send these two vessels, for lack of ammunition. The Pelayo may have ammunition, but the Carlos V. has not. Both of these vessels were built at Havre by the French, and their guns are of particular calibre and can only use shot and projectiles made by the French. This ammunition cannot be made in Spain and as France has declared neutrality, she cannot furnish it, and for this reason that vessel is practically useless to the Spaniards. She was only completed just before the war was declared.

Spain to Tell Powers Blockade Is a Bluff.

London, May 7.—The Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Baron Wedel-Jarisberg, the Scandinavian Minister at Madrid, telegraphs that Spain intends to protest to the powers against the infringement of international law involved in America's failure to make the Cuban blockade effective."

IN WOODFORD'S HONOR.

New York, May 7.—Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, recalled United States Minister to Spain, received a hearty greeting this morning in the lower bay from the members of the Union League Club and a committee from Grant Post, G. A. R. Mr. Woodford is a member of the Union League Club and Grant Post.

Mr. Woodford was a passenger on the steamship Touraine, of the French line. His friends went down the bay to meet him on the Government steamer Governor Flower. A band of music was aboard and played all the popular airs of the day.

The greeting to the returning Minister was a hearty one, given in true American spirit. A reception has also been arranged, the date of which will be fixed to agree with the wishes and convenience of Mr. Woodford.

President McKeon, of the Committee on Reception, said this morning: "We will give him a reception, if the General will permit it, on lines broad enough to give all distinguished men of our State and city an opportunity to greet Gen. Woodford as an American of whom the country is proud."

NOW TO ANNEX HAWAII.

The Joint Resolution May Pass the House Next Week.

Washington, May 7.—Both Houses of Congress have adjourned until Monday because neither had any business of importance to transact. Congress is waiting for the Democrats of the Senate to frame their revised Dingley Revenue Tax bill. When that is ready the Senate will consider and dispose of it, pass the few necessary appropriation bills and will then be ready for final adjournment.

Whether they will adjourn when this work is done, however, depends altogether upon the war situation as it will stand when all legislative business is out of the way—say June 10. If the war shall have been ended by that time they will adjourn. If not, they may remain in session, "just to see what will happen," as one of the leaders expressed it yesterday.

There is a fair chance in the Senate that the Hawaiian treaty may be one of the measures enacted. If so, it will be a joint resolution providing for annexation. The House resolution will probably be favorably acted upon in the House Committee on Foreign Affairs to-morrow, and at once brought up for discussion in the House. Senator Davis, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, will make one more effort to secure the ratification of the pending treaty, but it is not believed that the opposition Senators will allow a vote to be taken.

WILL ALGER RESIGN?

Said in Washington that the Secretary Is About to Leave Cabinet.

Washington, May 7.—There are rumors again from authorities which cannot be questioned, that there will be another change in the Cabinet before many weeks.

The statement is made that Secretary Alger will retire from the War Department, and coupled with it is the report that he may not entirely leave official life, but may receive some high position in the Government service.

The reason given for the change is that there have been differences of opinion between the head of the department and the officers of the army, based on disagreements of some years back. The same authority which predicts the retirement says that the existing situation in the department cannot last much longer, and the easiest way to smooth out the matter would be the retirement of the Cabinet officer. This is not contemplated, however, for some days.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S SPEECH.

Says Germany Will Be Neutral, but Will Protect Its Commerce.

Berlin, May 7.—The Emperor, in his speech from the throne upon the occasion of the closing of the last session of the Reichstag yesterday, expressed pride that he had been able to place the German fleet upon a firm and permanent basis.

Referring to the war between the United States and Spain, His Majesty, in the speech, said: "The Government will fully fulfill the duties involved by its neutral position, but, on the other hand, it will protect so far as possible German navigation and commerce from molestation or injury."

Gold Shipped to America.

New York, May 7.—The total amount of gold secured by New York banking houses by import from England, Continental Europe and Cuba this season foots up a total of $73,206,350. The amount from Cuba alone was very nearly $3,000,000. It was on Feb. 25 last that the heavy gold tide set in toward the United States, and that it has not yet ceased is shown by the fact that $3,000,000 in gold was engaged in England this week for shipment to America.

Big Order for Army Guns.

Bethlehem, Pa., May 7.—The Government has placed an order with the Bethlehem Iron Company for thirty-five 5-inch rapid fire guns for the United States army. The guns are to be finished here, and when shipped to their destination will be ready for immediate use.

PLAN OF INTERVENTION

Powers Trying to Persuade England to Interfere in the War.

GREAT BRITAIN REFUSES

Austria and France the Leaders in a Movement to Save the Queen Regent and the King—The Former's Personal Appeal to Victoria and the Pressure Brought on the Vatican.

New York, May 7.—A cablegram has been received here from an English source so authoritative as to make the statements it contains practically official, stating that the European powers, outside of England, are determined upon intervention between the United States and Spain, and that this so called concert is trying to persuade England to join it in its proposed action. The greatest pressure is being brought to bear upon the British Foreign Office and upon Lord Salisbury personally. The Queen Regent of Spain has also sent messages of a personal nature to Queen Victoria, and has induced other sovereigns to do so, begging her to join with Europe in saving Spain, and, particularly, the present Spanish dynasty.

So far, however, these personal and official appeals have been unavailing, and it is stated with emphasis that Lord Salisbury will not yield, but, on the contrary, that England, while maintaining an absolute neutrality, will do all in her power to show her friendship for the United States, and her desire for an Anglo-Saxon alliance, which, in the opinion of English statesmen, is one of the certainties of the future.

The leaders in this movement are primarily Austria and France. The house of Hapsburg is bound by family ties to the Spanish dynasty, and it is well known that Franz Josef has been most outspoken in his efforts to prevent the defeat of Spain, which means either a republic, a return of the Carlists or a dictatorship under Weyler. At any rate, a defeat, or rather, the defeat (for that is a foregone conclusion) means the overthrow of the dynasty, and the European royal families are too closely bound together to view such an event with any degree of equanimity.

The position of France, the cablegram states, is less clear. Several days ago, L'Aurore, which is a sensational Paris sheet, published an article to the effect that the French fleet was being put into condition for active service. This report has never been confirmed, although the cable dispatch above referred to says a French fleet is being hurriedly put in condition for active sea service. The news from Key West of the capture of the French steamer Lafayette with contraband of war may be a commentary on the French position.

The cablegram also comments upon the use being made of the Pope in this matter. While believing, it says, in the sincerity of his desire for peace, England holds to the opinion that Leo XIII. has been made a catspaw with which to pull the Spanish dynasty out of the fire and for personal reasons almost entirely.

There is one other thing that might alarm Europe in the situation, and that is the victory of Admiral Dewey in the Philippines and possibility of a change of balance in the Chinese situation.

Europe, so the dispatch says, would view with great alarm any suggestion that the United States might give to England a hold on the Philippines in exchange for English possessions of more use to the United States.

England, however, and the ministry will remain firm and will resist any attempt at coercion by the powers. That these statements will all be denied, is, according to the dispatch, a foregone conclusion, but they are authoritative and may be relied on.

WANT TO INTERVENE.

Powers Want Another Attempt to Get England's Support.

London, May 7.—Certain powers, it has been learned by the Associated Press, have again made overtures to Great Britain looking to intervention in the war between Spain and the United States, but Great Britain has again refused to take part in any such movement.

It is a significant fact that the British naval authorities have decided to immediately commission two new battleships, just completed.

The Yorkshire Post, which is one of the best informed and most influential newspapers in the Kingdom, referring to the efforts of certain powers to induce Great Britain to reconsider her determination not to take part in any intervention between Spain and the United States, says:

"America would rightly resent any interference at all resembling Europe's interference with the Sultan. If the Continental powers attempted it, they would be confronted by an alliance between the United States and Great Britain. They are well aware of this, and Russia, which has always cultivated the friendship of the United States, which she hoped to enlist against Great Britain in case of need, is already anxiously regarding the action of the Marquis of Salisbury and President McKinley, asking herself what will be the change in the aspect of questions in the Far East if the United States departs from her traditional policy and is determined to retain possession of the Philippine Islands.

"It is, therefore, practically certain that the powers will not intervene for Spain unless this country acts in concert with them, and there will be no movement upon the Marquis of Salisbury's part without a complete prior understanding with President McKinley."

Mail for Soldiers in the Field.

Washington, May 7.—First Assistant Postmaster General Heath says that friends and relatives of soldiers in the field, in adressing letters to them, should mark plainly the company and regiment to which they belong, as, by doing so, the distribution of the mail will be facilitated. This applies to both the regular troops and the militia volunteers.

THE SEIZURE A MISTAKE.

French Liner Is Released on an Order from Washington.

Key West, Fla., May 7.—Because the captain refused to recognize the blockade of Cuba by the United States warships, after having been carefully warned of that fact, the French line steamship Lafayette, from Corunna, Spain, was made a prisoner of war Thursday by the gunboats Annapolis, Wilmington and Newport and the dispatch boat Morrill, and brought to this port. Subsequently she was released by an order from Washington.

Washington, May 7.—The seizure of the French steamer Lafayette was made under a misapprehension, and this Government has ordered her released.

The official explanation of the Administration is given in this statement, issued from the White House last night:

"The Lafayette was released in pursuance of orders which were issued by the Navy Department previous to her seizure, but which had not been received by the commanding officers of the vessels that made the capture. The facts are that on April 29 the French Embassy made an informal inquiry as to whether the Lafayette, which left Saint Nazaire, France, for Vera Cruz, by way of Havana, before war was declared, or information of the blockade received, would be allowed to land at Havana certain passengers, her mail bags and the dispatch bag of the Consulate General of France, and to take some French passengers on board. An assurance was given that, if this privilege should be granted, the steamer would be forbidden by the French Consul to land goods.

"The matter was duly considered and it was decided that, without regard to the strict law of blockade and as an act of courtesy, the request of the French Government should be acceded to. Orders were accordingly sent on the second day of May. When information was received of the capture of the steamer and of her having been brought to Key West those orders were communicated to the captors, with instructions to release the steamer and to see that the orders were duly delivered, so that they might be carried into effect. No demand was made either by or on behalf of the French Government, directly or indirectly, for the steamer's release.

Paris Gets Excited.

London, May 7.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "The effect upon Paris of the seizure of the steamer Lafayette is clear enough. Already a rather bitter feeling against the United States had existed, and this incident will certainly not tend to diminish it. If it is demonstrated, eventually, that there was nothing to justify the seizure, the Government may be expected to make the very strongest protest. Some angry expressions are to be heard, and arrangements have been made with the Prefect of Police for the efficient protection of the United States Embassy. The place is well guarded by policemen and detectives, in view of any possible hostile demonstrations."

At the time this dispatch was sent to London, Paris, of course, did not know that the capture of the Lafayette was an error, which the United States Government speedily rectified.

Jeffries Whipped Sharkey.

San Francisco, May 7.—Jeffries defeated Sharkey in the eighteenth round at the Mechanics' Pavilion last night. It was a hard fought battle. Sharkey pursued his usual rushing and butting tactics in the ring. In the eighteenth and final round Sharkey was the aggresor and landed two terrific left hand swings on Jeffries' jaw as the men came together. Sharkey jabbed his left on Jeffries' face, and was inside on a right hand cross. Sharkey rushed and forced Jeffries against the ropes, lashing out with left and right. Sharkey sent in a good stiff left on Jeffries' nose, but Jeffries countered with some heavy body blows.

The men were fighting hard when the gong sounded, and the referee was compelled to drag them apart. Jeffries won the fight.

Not Worrying About the Oregon.

Washington, May 7.—The Cabinet is not worrying about the Oregon, for the Administration is confident that the instructions given Admiral Sampson cover everything, and that he will be able to give a good account of himself when the time comes. No postive word has been received here in regard to the Spanish fleet, but the general opinion is that it is coming this way, and Admiral Sampson is ready to meet it.

It Was a Duty.

Though in certain quarters their motives have been impugned and their practices criticised, the Mayor and Councilmen of North Plainfield have resolutely gone forward in the work of straightening out the books and accounts of the former collector of the municipality until the matter has been settled satisfactorily.

The officials who have prosecuted this duty faithfully, notwithstanding the influences that have been brought to bear on them and in face of charges that they were needessly attacking the honesty and character of a man standing high in the estimation of the community, deserve the unstinted praise and commendation of good citizens. It was not a pleasant proceeding for anyone of the officials concerned in the investigation, but it was a duty that devolved upon them when they assumed the oath of office.

Unquestionably the borough has been benefited in more ways than one by reason of the investigation. Not only has the treasury been replenished with funds to the amount of several thousand dollars that were previously accounted as worthless, but the ac counts of the collector have been put on a business like basis, thus preventing in the future any more such discrepancies.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

Sheriff Kirk did not realize what a host of so called "friends" he had until yesterday when the announcement went forth that there was to be a hanging in Union county. Now there isn't anything particularly pleasing at a hanging, but nevertheless there are many people who are very anxious to witness the execution of Louis Boesel, who was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree.

Already there is a pile of applications a foot high on the Sheriff's desk asking for permission to be present at the hanging. They come from personal friends, politicial co-workers and newspaper men from all over the county.

According to the law governing the hanging of murderers, there are about forty in all—deputy sheriffs, witnesses and newspaper men—allowed to be present. Great pressure will be brought to bear on the Sheriff to secure those coveted positions.

It is thirty years since there has been a conviction for murder in the first degree in Union couuty. The last man executed in the county was Silvester Quiller, a negro. Only three hangings have taken place in the county since it was formed. The other two were William Grady, in March, and James Glennon, in April, 1866.

* * * *

Governor Voornees at Sea Girt yesterday was visited by a mother and father of a twenty-year-old boy. They asked that he allow their son to return home with them, as it would worry them to death if he had to go to the front. The Executive sent for the young man. The boy was anxious to enlist, and, after two hours of questioning, the Governor told the parents of the disgrace the boy would be subjected to in case he went home, and he was allowed to return to the company. Later on he was disqualified by the surgeon as being physically unable to be mustered in. He went home crying. In his hands he carried an honorable discharge.

THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

REGULAR MONTHLY MEETING HELD LAST EVENING.

The Matter of Putting a Permanent Pavement on Somerset Street was Discussed by Councilmen and Mayor—Other Matters

The regular May meeting of the Borough Council was held last evening and all the members were present but Mr. Carey. The rooms of the Council, since the last meeting, have been newly carpeted, and new furniture has replaced most of the old, thereby presenting a very attractive place. The business considered during the evening was mostly along routine lines. The only item of great importance was the report of the special committee having in charge the accounts of former Collector Spencer. In another column their report appears. The other business of the evening transacted will be found below.

The report of Clerk Arnold was as follows: Borough balance, $1,772 47; lights, $1.134.39; roads, $1,369.66; fire department, $1,136 74; board of health, 55 cents; Watchung avenue account, $350.59; poor account, deficit, $389,96; paid county and State, $3,547.50; cash balance, $1 827.14. Fines, license fees, etc., to the amount of $199, was reported as being collected. The sum of $3.548.58 was reported as having been received from former Collector H. N Spencer.

Collector Brown reported collections to the amount of $5.190 59, disbursements $3,034.24, leaving a balance of $2,156.35.

The officers-elect of the West End Hose Company and Warren Engine Company were submitted to the Council for comfirmation. The name of Thomas Melcher was dropped from the roll of Warren Engine Company, and the following firemen applied for exemption papers, as they have served seven years: David Bodine, Dr. Cooley, Henry Brokaw, Thomas McGann and W. T. Newman.

The G. A. R. memorial detail asked the Council to make the usual appropriation of $25 for Decoration Day use, and the same was granted.

A communication was received from the Board of Freeholders, notifying the Council that in order to open Union avenue, in Bound Brook, and Mountain avenue, in North Plainfield, for any purpose whatever, permission must first be obtained from the Board.

Residents of Rockview avenue, in a communication, agreed to pay one-half the cost for macadamizing the avenue to have the work done. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Mrs. Ellen Carney, of No. 37 Lincoln place, in a communication stated that she was entitled to $500 exemption, being a widow of a veteran of the late war, and she asked the Council to grant her the exemption.

Mr. Woolston, of the street committee, stated that during the past month, $437.56 was expended on street work, and that $1,390 56 has been expended thus far this year. The cost of macadamizing Somerset street was reported to be $358.90. Regarding the macadamizing of Rockview avenue, Mr. Woolston offered a resolution that the street committee be authorized to macadamize and grade Rockview avenue from Rockview terrace to West End avenue, at a depth of seven inches and a width of sixteen feet, and that the property owners pay an amount equal to 30 cents a running foot, and that in case it cost more the property-owners are to pay their proportionate share.

Mayor Wilson appointed John Stein, as pound keeper, and George Gunther, as special marshal, and the appointments were confirmed.

Mr. Burtis offered a resolution that warrants for special school tax, $72 20, and special Board of Health tax, $3 42, be drawn in favor of Collector Brown.

The question of locating a permanent pavement in front of the schoolhouse, on Somerset street, was introduced by Mr. Woolston, and he said that there was a car-load of vitrified brick in Plainfield, and he thought it would be well to place it at that point. The cost of such work would be about $2,200, and one-third of the amount would be paid by the street railway.

Mr. Reed stated that asphalt can now be purchased for $1.55 a foot and guaranteed for ten years.

Mayor Wilson thought it would be well to investigate the matter more fully and report at a future meeting. The matter was, therefore, temporarily suspended.

A resolution was offered by Mr. Valiant which provides that a bill of $33 presented by Augustus VanDeventer be investigated as to the charges on certain taxable property.

Mr. Burtis called up the tax ordinance on the third reading and it was adopted as a whole. The ordinance will take effect May 20th.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution that copies of the new ordinance on the collection and assessment of taxes be sent to the assessor, collector and commissioners of appeal. Mr. Valiant stirred the patriotism of every member when he suggested that the borough secure an American flag and pole, and that the borough show its patriotism. He asked the Mayor to take hold of the matter and see if such a display cannot be made. He cited the recent action of the Plainfield Council, and he expressed the opinion that the borough could do just as much.

A short executive session was taken at this time, and when Council reconvened Mr. Rogers offered a resolution confirming the election of W. W. Mills as a member of the West End Hose Company, and Mr. MacLaughlin offered a resolution authorizing the drafting of a warrant for $160 in favor of G. W. Rowley for services rendered as delinquent tax collector. This concluded the business and the meeting adjourned.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

It is well known that Grimaldi, the great English clown, was subject to periodical fits of melancholia. On one of these occasions he consulted a physician, and after describing his symptoms and rejecting a half dozen recipes as useless, because already tried without effect, was told as a last resource to go and see Grimaldi. "Alas," replied the clown, who was unknown to the physician, "I am Grimaldi." The manager of "Gayest Manhattan," who tells this anecdote, supplements it with with a bet that the production he will present at Music Hall tonight will cure anyone of melancholia, at least temporarily, during the performance of the burlesque, no matter how obstinate or of how long standing.

Accepting the auspices under which "Gayest Manhattan" was oiginally produced and the period of its successful run as a standard of its merits, he is not without reason in his boast The play was first enacted at Koster & Bial's theatre last season, and was kept as the leading attraction of the early summer. During the summer it was started on the road for a tour of the United States. The play will suffer nothing in its itinerary. The scenery properties and costumes as originally used in New York, have all been retouched and will be utilized on the tour. They are the very best of their kind. Necessarily they must have been so as to have stood the test of a production at Koster & Bial's. The company will be the same as took part in the original production. A chorus of over forty male and female accompanying the production while the principals comprise the best known performers on the vaudeville stage.

The Acme Comedy and Vaudeville Company will inaugurate a season of four nights and a Saturday matinee at Music Hall, commencing on Wednesday night of next weet. In presenting this company in high class comedy and refined vaudeville, the management think they have struck the popular chord. and can prove that the can be given at prices within reach of all. A first class company of comedians have been engaged and a perfectly satisfactory performance guaranteed. The popular price of admission will be 10c. Reserved seats 20c.

"Paper Missions"

The address of Mrs. J. S. Bussing, of New York, yesterday afternoon, before the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church, was greatly enjoyed by the large number in attendance. She was introduced by the president of the Band, Mrs. F. E. Woodruff. Mrs. Bussing is a consecrated, enthusiastic, entertaining person and her remarks were principally on the "paper missions," a subject she is thoroughly conversant with. Her suggestions, if carried out, will be very helpful not only to the members of the Band, but to those to whom the members of the Band send their old papers, books, etc.

"EVERYBODY!"
No doubt has heard of our remarkable removal sale. It is remarkable because of the wonderful LOW prices at which we are selling fine shoes and trunks. It is a positive fact that no such bargains in these grades have ever been offered in Plainfield before. As the people become aware of this fact more and more the interest in the sale increases. There is inducement enough to buy ahead of your present need, as such chances don't come every day.
We are having a brisk trade. Don't you want to save some money too?

Dunellen, May 7.—Albert W. Warden, who was elected a justice of the peace at the last election, has just received his commission and he is now entitled to perform the duties of his office. Justice Warden has also been appointed a commissioner of deeds, and he has also received that commission. It will not now be necessary for people seeking a justice of the peace to go out of the borough. Mr. Warden is thoroughly capable of performing the duties of his office, and he is very popular in the borough.

Last Thursday evening, the members of the M. E. church gave their pastor, Rev. Alfred Jamison, a reception. The affair was largely attended and everyone present had a thoroughly good time. Township Committee.

At the meeting of the Township Committee held last evening, the bicycle ordinance was passed to a third reading and on motion adopted. It provides that lights shall be carried one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise. It also compels riders to carry bells and to ride at a rate not to exceed eight miles an hour. A fine of $5 for violations of this ordinance will be inflicted upon offenders. The clerk was instructed to have new electric lights at the following places: Two on Center street, Garwood; one each on First street, Rahway road; Clark street, North avenue, South avenue, Downer street and Cumberland street. Township Attorney Paul Q. Oliver sent a communication to the Committee stating that the Westfield fire department was not a lawful organization and that no money should be paid over to the fire department. A. A. Gaddis, of the Westfield and Elizabeth Railway Company, asked that the hearing on the petition for the trolley franchise be adjourned until Friday evening, May 20th. Granted.

The Westfield Water Company made a proposition to the committee to furnish 30 hydrants at a cost of $22 each, water for flushing sewers at a rate of 10 cents per 1,000 gallons The company also agreed to keep a pressure of 75 pounds per inch at the corner of Broad and Elm streets. They also agreed to sell the plant to the township at any time within ten years at the cost of the plant with an addition of 5 per cent. This caused a great deal of discussion, Committeemen Warden and Dennis being in favor of signing a contract with the company, but Chairman Embree was very much against it. On motion of Committeeman Warden, the contract was made, Messrs. Warden and Dennis voting for it, and Mr. Embree against it.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

DRESS SHIELD PERFECTION.

Amolin Dress Shields do all that other shields can and have one remarkable merit that no others possess: They destroy all odor of perspiration. They have an absorbent cover—absorb like a sponge—and are cool, comfortable and absolutely odorless. No one who tries them would think of using anything else.

Their antiseptic and deodorizing property can be perfectly maintained by an occasional dusting with Amolin Powder. This is a harmless toilet and medicinal powder that instantly deodorizes whatever it touches. It destroys odor of perspiration or other secretions and prevents chafing or roughening of the skin.

We are sole agents for both the above.

IF WOMEN WERE IN CONGRESS.

What Their Presence There and in the Cortes Might Have Done.

Orange, May 7.—A proposed constitutional amendment providing for suffrage based upon educational qualifications was offered for adoption at a National and State Woman Suffrage conference begun yesterday afternoon in Union Hall. The proposed educational examination for would-be voters is the suggestion of Prof. Homer B. Sprague, of East Orange, and it will be referred to the next session of the National Suffrage Association. Prof. Sprague's proposition is as follows:

"On and after Jan. 1st, 1901, any citizen of the United States not then a voter, being upward of 21 years of age and of good moral character, shall be admitted to exercise the right of suffrage, provided, and it is hereby required, that he or she shall first have satisfactorily passed a thorough written examination in common arithmetic, the use of the English language, and in the geography, the history and the civil government of the United States."

Rev. Antoinette Brown Blackwell said that if Queen Maria Cristina and President McKinley could have met without other intervention, Cuba would have been freed without complications, had there been a half-dozen good women in Congress and the Spanish Cortes, and war would have been prevented without any sacrifice of honor.

For the Tailor-Made Girl.

Close, trim and natty in effect are all of the new tailor gowns made by celebrated French artists. Skirts are narrowly gored, sleeves are carefully fitted, and very slightly trimmed, and yet, this season, these goods are more difficult than usual to describe, because the beauty of the models consists so much in the hang of the skirt, the draperies and trimmings of the bodice, and the artistic but indescribable blending of colors.

A Stylish Spring Suit.

Sage-gray, blue, green, brown, and black cloth, armurette, or ribbed-wool costumes are made with slashed blouse-waists, with under-blouses of soft, almond-colored vicuna, overlaid with narrow strips of the dress fabric, edged with fine gold cord. The skirt opens from belt to hem on each side, showing an underdress of the vicuna crossed all the way down with straps of the gold-corded fabric, about three inches of the foundation material showing between the straps. This makes a very stylish dress in black, with black braid and tailor buttons for trimming and a guimpe or underblouse of black and white checked, plaided, or dotted taffeta silk.

'Tis a bitter memory to think of the wrongs we have done and might have avoided.

What country is ruled by an interjection? Persia; because it is governed by a Shah—pshah.

It has never been ascertained how much old ocean measures round her grey and melancholy waste.

DECORATIVE NEEDLE WORK A FAD.

Some Useful and Pretty Novelties in the Shape of Home Made Books.

It is always pleasant to find a new object upon which decorative needlework can be displayed, and during the warm weather particularly, fancy work of all kind appeals to nearly all women. Two novelties which have the additional recommendation of being distinctly useful as well as ornamental, are the new manuscript books for cooking recipes and the new blotting pads.

The former are nice, firm little books, about the size of an ordinary blotting-case, and good lined-paper pages, and thick enough to hold a generous supply of recipes; but it is with the embroidered covers that we especially have to deal. The foundation is usually made of art colored linen, and in some cases the designs are simply floral, and very much like other fancy work; but the daintiest are decorated with appropriate mottoes, such as "Now good digestion wait on appetite, and health on both," "A feast should be without a fault," "Bid them prepare dinner," or, more quaintly, still, "Too many cooks spoil the broth," or "How shall I feast him?" A recipe-book with the latter inscription upon it would be an excellent wedding present for a young housekeeper.

The corners and sides of these covers are filled in principally with arabesques or quaint devices. One of the latter, which had three conventional fishes very cleverly worked in shades of pearly-blue flax, to represent the scales, was particularly attractive and pretty.

The ordinary blotting pad is a useful article, but when not in actual use and lying with the soiled blotting paper upwards, it certainly is not an ornament to a dainty writing table. Therefore a good plan is to have a pretty case into which the blotting pads can be easily slipped, and to decorate the back of it with artistic embroidery.

No extra "fussiness" is given to the serviceable blotting-pad by this cover, but by simply placing it face downwards upon the table, the embroidered back comes fully into view, and instead of a blemish, it becomes an additional beauty.

For the decoration of these covers, the favorite motto embroidery is again very much in evidence, such sentences as "Thoughts that breathe and words that burn," "With thee conversing I forget all time," and "The pen is mightier than the sword," being particularly appropriate.

The Headdress Popular.

The headdress has apparently come to stay. It is the rarest thing nowadays to see a coiffure unaccompanied by its forest of feathers, not to speak of big bows of ribbon, flowers and buckles. A pompon of tulle, with a small paste ornament and one uprising plume in the centre, is among the latest novelties in head adornment. An erect triple spire of roses rising from a bow of satin is another popular decoration, as is also a gracefully arranged aigrette of orchids and violets. Black ospreys, mingled with diamond crescents, are suitable for elderly women, though they are worn by the youthful likewise. Flowers are the newest, though, and of flowers, scarlet geranium and white lilac are the acme of smartness. Ostrich plumes of the gayest colors are in high favor, such as cerise, purple and scarlet. Feathers spangled with diamonds and frosted leaves show the tendency to combine different novelties.

Spring Shades.

The spring shades of blue are Roman, hyacinth, silver, Napoleon, and barbeau, or blue-bottle. The greens are in many tints with fanciful titles that have clear emerald tints, and also the deep Russian green, becoming to so many women; willow, the golden green tint and leaf in three different shades. Gismonda again appears, the purple slightly deeper than that of Parma violet, and much like the amethyst are plum shades that have been so popular in costume cloths and millinery this winter.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die Regierung hat beschlossen, den Mitgliedern des Pferdezuchtvereins, die edle Pferde zur Züchtung von dem Verein beziehen wollen, den Ankaufspreis der Fohlen vorlagsweise und verzinslich zu bestreiten, und zwar derart, daß ein Drittel des Preises baar und der Rest in zwei jährlichen Raten von den Käufern der Fohlen zu bezahlen ist.

Mainz. Das Kind einer Obstfrau wollte eine Orange essen. Ein Kern der Frucht gerieth ihm dabei in die Luftröhre und bald darauf erstickte das Kind.

Biernheim. Die Hunde einer in der Nähe des Ortes lagernden Zigeunerbande hatten eine Anzahl Hühner todtgebissen, etwa 15 bis 20 Stück. Aus diesem Anlaß ließ der Bürgermeister Pfitzer sieben Männer der Bande durch die Polizei ziemlich unsanft in das Rathhaus bringen. Dort angelangt, wurde ein Barbier geholt, dessen Gehilfe einem der Zigeuner die Hälfte des Bartes abnehmen mußte. Den anderen wurde die Hälfte des Haupthaares geschoren. Nachher ließ man sie laufen. Ein Pferd wurde zurückbehalten, später aber freigegeben. Man würde diesen Vorgang nicht für möglich halten, wenn er nicht durch glaubwürdige Zeugen bestätigt wäre.

Bayern.

München. Die Staatsbahnverwaltung wird den Vorortverkehr zwischen München und Pasing elektrisch betreiben, um Erfahrungen im elektrischen Bahnbetriebe zu sammeln.—Das hiesige städtische Arbeitsamt hat auf Veranlassung verschiedener Regimenter mehrmals junge, um Arbeit nachfragende Handwerker veranlaßt, beim Militär einzutreten, um dort als Handwerker nach Bedarf verwendet zu werden. Das ist allerdings eine seltsame Thätigkeit des Arbeitsamtes.

Berneck. Der hier verstorbene Privatier Wilhelm Rather hat die Stadtgemeinde Berneck zur Universalerbin seines 400,000 Mark betragenden Baarvermögens und seines Anwesens eingesetzt.

Eichstätt. In Gaimersheim fiel das vierjährige Kind des Brauereibesitzers Baumann zum „Huberbräu" in die zum Zinnputzen hergerichtete heiße Lauge und erlitt derartige Brandwunden, daß es kurze Zeit darauf seinen Verletzungen erlag.

Kissingen. In dem armen Rhöndorf Oehringen sind dieser Tage neun Wohnhäuser, vier Scheunen und 13 kleinere Nebengebäude total niedergebrannt. Gerettet wurde fast nichts. Auch sind die Abgebrannten nur theilweise versichert. Von den 87 Einwohnern des Ortes sind 56 obdachlos. Prinz-Regent Luitpold hat für die Abgebrannten 600 Mark gespendet.

Nürnberg. Die Abgeordnetenkammer in München nahm die Regierungsvorlage über Umbau des Bahnhofs Nürnberg (Gesammtbedarf 30,832,000 Mark, davon erste Rate 12,000,000 Mark) einstimmig an.—Hier hat der Inhaber der bekannten Laufer'schen Farbenwerke seine Frau, seine Tochter und dann sich selbst erschossen. Er befand sich in finanziellen Schwierigkeiten.

Weiding. Hier hat sich ein bedauerlicher Unglücksfall zugetragen. Der Gütler Spranger war mit dem Ausrechen einer Wiese beschäftigt und zündete den zusammengetragenen Haufen Streu und Reisig an. Das vierjährige Mädchen des Spranger, das sich in der Nähe befand, kam in einem unbewachten Augenblick dem Feuer zu nahe und erlitt hierbei so schwere Brandwunden, daß es ihnen alsbald erlegen ist.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Altripp. Die Sachsengängerei scheint auch auf die Vorderpfalz ausgedehnt zu werden. Auf den hiesigen und benachbarten Ziegeleien sind gegen 100 Arbeiter aus Ost- und Westpreußen und Posen eingetroffen.

Bedroom Suits--

Another very unusual "happening" for you.

It's about the same as the bedroom suit event we startled you with a week or so ago, except that more suits are in the sale. They're not rejected patterns but the cream of our '98 arrivals. You cannot meet another snap like it anywhere.

Suits exactly like cut, well carved--liberal dresser and washstand--bevelled mirror--a $25 suit--at $14.95.

A Curly Birch Suit--French plate, bevelled mirror, very large bureau and stand, brass trimmings, cheap at $45--now $30.

Some 8-piece Quartered Oak Suits, elegant, "impressive," unusual--instead of $50, it's $35.

A richly carved, Solid Oak Suit--was $65--now $40. Decribing it would be useless--"seeing" tells more than words.

A FASCINATING ISLAND.

Where the Traveler Forgets Everything in Its Languorous Delight.

"Of all fascinating places under the sun," said a gentleman who has traveled much, "the island of Tahiti, one of the Society Islands, is the most fascinating. In that country a little earth lost in a vast ocean, nature has done everything to make indolent souls happy. The climate is temperate and even all the year round, the vegetation is luxuriant, the women beautiful, and the nights, full of perfume and mystical light, stir the most practical mind to love of meditation and dreaming. The influence of this dreamy, lazy life is very insidious. It is not necessary to work, as the island furnishes food without the labor of tillage. I know a number of Americans and French who have gone there for a visit, and have become so enraptured with the languorous existence that, like the visitors to lotus land, they lie down and forget friends, home, ambition and everything. I remember how I used to feel the influence steal upon me. Many a time I wished earnestly to cast my lot with those languorous people. I can look back now and see myself as I lay one night against a cocoanut tree in a sort of ecstacy of meditation. Overhead was a sky bright with a million stars. Sounds came to me in a strange fashion, blending into a murmur. A short distance away a group of natives, girls and men, were shouting the rhythmic chant of the upuupa dance. I thought of myself on this little isle, with ocean on every side and New Orleans so many miles distant. Nothing seemed real to me but that spot in which one could hear indistinctly the chant of the singers and the sobbing of the waves; a mysterious charm possessed me."—Mexican Herald.

HOW THEY RAILROAD IN CHINA.

Some of the Difficulties Under Which the Roads Are Conducted.

A missionary writing from China to a friend in this city recently described the difficulties under which the newly completed railroads are conducted in that country.

Passengers in the first-class coaches, he said, exhibited so strong a desire to carry off various articles from the cars as souvenirs of their trip that the coaches were speedily stripped of those things that contribute to the comfort of the passenger. They took away with them hat and bundle racks, mirrors, lamp brackets, hooks, small tables, and even doors. They were considerate enough to leave the car frame and wheels. And the purloiners were government officials and people belonging to the wealthy classes.

The stations along the railroad over which the writer traveled were rude sheds, very unclean, and without a chair or bench. The cars, too, were very dirty. While this was especially true of the second-class coaches, which were oftentimes crowded with half-naked, unwashed people, the first-class coaches also became very unclean in a short time. It soon became necessary to take out all the upholstery and replace it by plain seats.

When the railroads were being built reports were spread that the foreign contractors were stealing Chinese children and burying them in the roadbed so as to propitiate the god who rules over railroads. These reports greatly excited the people, and in one instance a mob attacked two missionaries near Pekin, and would have killed them had not a detachment of soldiers rescued them. Under guise of these reports children were really kidnapped and taken into the cities for immoral purposes.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A RAFFLE FOR SOULS.

A Peculiar Notice in a Catholic Church in Mexico.

The Rev. Francis S. Borton, a missionary in Pueblo, Mex., says, in the Christian Endeavor World, that he recently saw the following notice in a Roman Catholic church in Mexico:

"Raffle for Souls—At the last Raffle for Souls the following numbers obtained the prize, and the lucky holders may be assured that their loved ones are forever released from the flames of purgatory:

"Ticket 841—The soul of the lawyer James Vasquey is released from purgatory and ushered into heavenly joys.

"Ticket 762—The soul of the aged widow Francisca de Parras is forever released from the flames of purgatory.

"Another raffle for souls will be held at this same blessed Church of the Redeemer on January 1, at which four bleeding and tortured souls will be released from purgatory to heaven, according to the four highest tickets in this most holy lottery. Tickets, $1. To be had of the father in charge. Will you, for the poor sum of $1, leave your loved ones to burn in purgatory for ages?"

Considerate Arab Widow.

When an Arab woman is tired of widowhood and desires to marry again, she goes the night before the wedding to her husband's tomb and prays him not to be offended. To make quite sure of his forgiveness, she brings with her two large goatskins, filled with water, and with these she waters the grave, that the refreshing liquid may soak down to the defunct husband's bones. Having thus done all she can to propitiate his spirit, she goes off with a good courage to start life again as a wife.

Inclined to Fret.

It is a great misfortune to have a fretful disposition. It takes the fragrance out of one's life. The habit of fretting is one that grows rapidly, unless it be sternly repressed.

News From the Front.

Daniel C. Main, of Central avenue, and a member of the 17th Infantry hospital corps, writes from Tampa, Fla., that he expects to go to Cuba not later than Sunday. Soldiers are coming into Tampa all the time. About 10,000 are now there, and at Port Tampa, including three colored regiments, one cavaly and two infantry. No hard work yet, he writes, but they are expecting it.

STICKS UP FOR SPENCER

FRIEND OF THE FORMER COLLECTOR TALKS ABOUT HIS TROUBLE.

Says That Mr. Spencer Was Not Given an Opportunity to Adjust the Difficulties as He Would Have Liked To.

A citizen of the borough, who is well posted on the matter of the Collector's accounts, states that he thinks that the treatment of Mr. Spencer has been, under the circumstances, rather unfair. He said to a Daily Press reporter this morning:

"In the first place, the officials of the borough after having the experts spend several months on the book and compiling a voluminous report, only furnished Mr. Spencer with a synopsis of it, from which he was unable to ascertain the particular items with which he was charged as being short, and his vouchers being in the hands of the Council, it was impossible for him to go over the accounts in a satisfactory manner.

"The committee only gave Mr. Spencer an opportunity to meet with them two or three evenings, when they had the report with them and evidently expected him to go over the entire matter, when it had taken the experts months to compile it in that limited time.

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Spencer found an error of over $1,000 license fees with which he had been charged, and found that it had been paid by him, which amount has been deducted by the committee.

"Another item of license fees and interests of over $1,100, which is included in the amount that Mr. Spencer paid, has without doubt been paid by him before, and he has evidence to that effect.

"There are evidently other items that can be accounted for as soon as Mr. Spencer has an opportunity to investigate the accountants' report more thoroughly, which the committee undoubtedly had in mind when they offered the resolution, which was passed last night, to the effect that, if it is shown by him that he is entitled to any credits which he has not received, the amount of such credits shall be refunded to him.

"It is natural to suppose that, during a term of twelve years as Collector and handling as he did considerably over half a million dollars, that he should have made a number of mistakes, but from my knowledge of Mr. Spencer's character I know that he was just as anxious to have his accounts properly adjusted as were the borough officials, and the fact that he has paid this amount, while knowing that part of it at least will come back to him, signifies his willingness to act fairly in the matter.

"I have had business relations with Mr. Spencer extending over a long term of years, and have found him straight forward and strictly honest in all his dealings, and am fully assured that the differences are owing to the antiquated methods of bookkeeping provided by the borough, and to errors made by him without intent on his part to wrong anyone."

ALICE IN WONDERLAND.

A Pretty and Clever Little Entertainment That Was Given.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent avenue church was given yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Charles Ames, 563 West Eighth street. The programme was most attractive, and was planned and carried out by Mrs. Charles E. Brroks. It consisted of an amusing scene from "Alice in Wonderland," in which the characters were taken by Miss Grace Kaufman, Ames Brooks, Van Wyck Brooks, and Brockholst Miller. Miss Helen Harmon played a charming selection on the violin, and Van Wyck Brooks gave a burlesque recitation. The numbers on the programme were announced by George Richards, president of the band, and the other officers and members assisted by selling candy, lemonade, etc. About one hundred and twenty-five persons attended, and the whole affair was voted a great success. The thanks of the band are due Mrs. Ames and Mrs Brooks for the great interest and trouble they have taken on its behalf.

THE TROTTING CIRCUIT.

PLANS NOW COMPLETED FOR SUCCESSFUL MEETS.

Judge Coddington, of Plainfield, is at the Head—Entries to be Accepted from Every Section of the State.

The Central New Jersey Trotting Association is now ready for work. After several weeks of preparation, the organization has been rendered complete. The last meeting of the association was held at Flemington, N. J., last Monday evening. At that meeting the following officers were elected.

Former Judge William A. Coddington was chosen as president of the organization. He has been one of the most enthusiastic workers and has taken a guiding interest in the formation of the association. One vice-President was elected from each of the four counties represented. Thomas Brantingham was chosen as the vice-president from Union county. William F. Williams was made secretary from Union county and Newton B. Smalley treasurer from the same county.

The executive committee will be composed of the president and two members from each county. John Osborne and Charles C. Brower were chosen to represent Union county on the committee. C. V. D. Corle and Sheriff William T. Kirk were made the Union county members of the reception committee.

There has been considerable discussion as to the advisibility of opening the meets to all the State rather than the four counties alone. Such action was taken at a previous meeting, but at the meeting Monday night there were some who were in favor of rescinding the action of the other meeting. The question was put to a vote and it was decided to let horses from all over the State take part in the races.

The settlement of dates and places for the circuit was left to the executive committee which will take action shortly. As soon as the dates are settled the committees in the different counties will take the initiative and begin preparations for the meets at once.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Joseph DeForeest, of the Plainfield High School, is a new candidate for honors in throwing the discus. He has gone into training in that event and will participate in the State games.

The Plainfield High School will have a strong team to represent it in the annual games of the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association, which will be held May 21st, at Bayonne. Carroll L. Runyon is almost certain of first place in throwing the hammer, as he is considered one of the three best men of the metropoliton district. Rhey T. Snodgrass will participate in the one hundred and two hundred and twenty yard dashes. He is a newcomer but is expected to make a good showing. Harry Cuming will ride in the one-mile bicycle race. Like his older brother, he is a speedy rider and will give Allen, of Montclair High, and McCully, of Pingry's School, a lively race for first. Walter L. Long will enter the high jump, in which he is considered proficient. His strongest opponent will be Moore, of Pingry's. Joseph DeForeest will enter the discus throwing contest. He is a new man but considered very good.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Lou Compton, of Leggett's pharmacy, is riding a new Eldridge wheel which he finds very satisfactory.

Mrs. A. C. LaBoyteaux, of Fairview avenue, has received her new Eldridge wheel from the Eldridge Bicycle Company.

The past week has been an unsatisfactory one to wheelmen. The rain has prevented riding almost every day and when there was not rain the mud made riding next to impossible.

J. E. Morse, of Franklin place, has received his new Cleveland wheel from the F. L. C. Martin Cycle Company. It is the first wheel in the city to be equipped with the new Burwell tires and Cleveland gear case.

Miss Ernestine Smith will again act as captain of the Christian Endeavor bicycle squad this year. She was appointed at the last meeting of the executive committee of the local union, and has decided to accept. The first of the runs will probably be to Dunellen and will occur sometime in June.

BAD WRECK ON THE CENTPAL.

No One was Hurt but Tracks Were Blocked for Four Hours.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, May 7—A bad wreck of a B. & O. west bound fast freight occurred about a mile east of this place last evening about 8 o'clock. The train was wrecked by a broken axle on the train. There were about twelve empty freight cars demolished and the four tracks were badly torn up and blocked until after 12 o'clock midnight.

The fast trains were obliged to run over the Lehigh Valley Railroad from Bound Brook to Roselle, and in the local service passengers were transferred around the wreck. Fortunately no one was injured or killed, and aside from the damage resulting to the cars derailed and the tracks no further damage occurred.

Spalding $50. Crawford $50 & $35.

Now is the time to have your Wheel cleaned and put in order before the RUSH.

SPECIAL TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY PRESS FROM UNION ASSOCIATED PRESS

[The figures of time following the date in each dispatch indicate the time of its receipt in Plainfield, and will afford readers a better understanding and appreciation of the order in which the events have happened, and their relative importance to each other.]

PROMPT INVASION OF CUBA.

Regulars Are to Go This Week and the Volunteers to Follow.

Washington, May 9, 1:35 p. m—Again have the authorities here decided that the best course of action is a prompt invasion of Cuba. The hope of the army officers that the news of the great victory of Commodore Dewey would be a signal for the invasion, seems about to become true.

At the meeting of the Cabinet this morning the immediate invasion of Cuba was decided upon. It is planned to land 16,000 regular troops as soon as possible.

The government believes that an energetic invasion by the army, backed by Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet, could liberate Cuba by mid summer.

As a result of this, transports for sixty thousand troops have been chartered and are now awaiting orders. The war department intends to land the force of regulars this week. The volunteers, it is planned, will start for Cuba next week.

Extraordinary measures are being adopted by the War Department to mobilize 50,000 volunteers at the camp at Chickamauga.

Major-General Coppinger arrived here this morning. A consultation with the Administration followed. It was decided that General Shafter will lead the invasion of Cuba. Generals Coppinger, Wade and Lee will follow him with the remainder of the invading force.

SPANISH MOBS

Seriousness of Internal Disension Continus to Menace Spain.

Madrid, May 9, 11:05 a. m.—The seriousness of the internal situation in this country continues to increase. Reports of new outbreaks are heard from every side. The populace seems to have turned against the present government.

The most serious outbreak reported is at Linares where the mob brushed aside the police and went forth to burn and destroy.

The handsome municipal buildings in that city are reported to have been wrecked by the mob. The Civil Guards were called out, and were ordered to fire on the rioters. Fourteen rioters were killed and many more wounded. Sixty prisoners were taken, were taken. The rioting still continues unabated.

CONGRESS TO THANK DEWEY

A Message Recommending Such Action Will be Sent Today.

Washington, May 9, 12:05 p. m—The recent trend of affairs has developed many new things for the Cabinet to consider and act upon at once. As a result, a special meeting of the Cabinet was held this morning at 10 o'clock.

The situation at Cuba, the approaching conflict between the two navies in West Indian waters, and the need of troops in the far east, were the principal topics of discussion.

The Cabinet had also the message recommending a vote of thanks to Rear Admiral Dewey by Congress to consider. The message will be sent to Congress this afternoon and immediate action is expected by both Houses.

Washington, May 9, 1:30 p. m—President McKinley sent a special message to Congress this afternoon complimenting Commodore Dewey and recommending that a vote of thanks be extended to him by Congress and that he be appointed rear admiral at once.

Washington, May 9, 2:55 p. m.—Congress this afternoon passed resolutions thanking Commodore Dewey.

Congress also increased the number of rear admirals to seven to permit Dewey's promotion to that rank.

Senator Lodge introduced a resolution in the Senate that was immediately passed.

It authorizes the President to present Commodore Dewey with a sword and his officers and men with medals.

$10,000 was appropriated for the purpose.

LOOKING FOR SPANIARDS.

The Cruiser Yale is Scouting Off the Island of St. Thomas.

New York, May 9, 11:30 a. m—A special dispatch to The Journal from St. Thomas, says that a coasting schooner which has just arrived in that port was spoken last evening near Anegada Island, forty miles northeast of that island, by the American auxiliary cruiser Yale.

The commander of the Yale asked the names of the vessels the schooner had passed. During the meeting, one of the crew of the Yale said that there were three big American steamships watching the Virgin and Mona passages and other Haytian waters for Spanish ships.

The crew of the Yale knew nothing of the alleged engagement between the United States cruiser, Montgomery, and the Spanish cruiser, Vicaya.

SEWELL'S POSITION.

He Will Not Leave the Senate for a Military Command.

Washington, May 9.—It is understood that Senator Sewell will not resign his place in the Senate to take the major-generalship in the volunteer army. If he can hold both positions, the Jersey statesman will do so, otherwise the military appointment must go by the board. Senator Sewell considers that the war will soon be ended, and that it is likely that the army of volunteers will take little or no part in the conflict. He has referred the question of holding both positions to Attorney-General Griggs who will give an opinion on it shortly.

WOULDN'T SELL TO SPAIN.

Dominion Coal Company Refuse to Replenish the Bunkers of War Vessels.

Montreal, Canada, May 9, 1 p. m.—The Dominion Coal Company of this city has refused to sell Spain the thousand tons of coal to be delivered at Sidney, Cape Breton Islands.

The representatives of Spain made energetic efforts to persuade the company to take the order, but the refusal was prompt and firm. The reason given is that it would not be in keeping with Great Britain's pasition of strict neutrality.

This action of Spain is looked on to mean that it is her intention to send a fleet to North Atlantic waters with the probable intention of bombarding some of the coast cities.

Woodford at Washington

Washington, May 9.—Gen. Woodford, United States Minister to Spain, arrived here last night. He held a conference with President McKinley at once and told of his final negotiations with the Spanish ministry. It is understood that he was offered the appointment as major general of volunteers.

Spanish Troops Have Left Manila.

Madrid, May 9, 10 a. m—It is announced that a despatch has been received from Manila. The despatch states that the Spanish army has gone from Manila into the country, taking with them their arms, ammunition and stores.

SPRY AND READY THE CRANFORD GIRLS ARE.

Bnt They Couldn't Defeat Plainfield's Fair Athletes.

BASKET BALL WAS THE GAME

THE CONTEST PLAYED WITH GREAT VIGOR BY THE GIRLS.

The Visiting Team Mixed up With the High School Girls Regardless of the Consequences. But There Was No Spite in Their Tactics—Home Team Were the More Expert Players Though, and They Easily Won a Victory—Game Witnessed by 200 People in the Whittier School Gymnasium Saturday.

The fair basket ball players of Cranford were overwhelmingly defeated by the girls of the Senior class of the Plainfield High School Saturday afternoon by a score of 26 to 0 On unfamiliar grounds, before a crowd of spectators for the first time, and with a deplorable lack of coaching, the Cranford girls were sadly handicapped. They made a spirited fight, however, and although the final result was soon evident, they contested every point with a vigor that made the game decidedly exciting despite its onesidedness.

The game was to have been played a week ago but was postponed at the request of the Cranford team. Owing to a misunderstanding, the game was advertised to be played at the Y. M C. A. gymnasium. Instead it was played in the gymnasium of the Girls' Athletic Association of the High School in the second story of the Whittier building. The game was witnessed by an audience numbering nearly two hundred.

The final result, 26 to 0, in favor of the Plainfield team, was the result of their excellent team work. The Misses Pruden, Loizeaux and Patton worked the zig zag to perfection and carried the ball up to the goal time after time. Had their goal throwing been more accurate, the score might have been nearly doubled. There was a lack of team play on the part of the visitors for which even the most brilliant of individual playing can not make up.

At the start, it was apparent that the Cranford girls had been trained to entirely different tactics from those of their opponents. They showed an ability to dodge and duck that delighted the audience. As a result there were a series of scrimmages that sent the enthusiasm up to fever-heat Then the Cranford girls followed the ball with a seeming disregard for consequences. The dived into the audience after the ball as it crossed the boundary line, fell on it if it happened to come their way, and sprang up again with an agility that showed considerable athletic prowess.

Miss Bradley, of the visiting team, was probably the most aggresive player and she made things decidedly lively for several of her opponents at the same time. She was a very athletic young woman and played her best.

Now, in the games among the Plainfield girls there has been an absence of tumbles that has been noticeable. Saturday, however, there was an abundance of them. The Cranford girls played a far more aggressive game than their opponents but the team play, quick but quiet, was the principal factor in the result.

Within a minute of play, the first goal was scored by Miss Pruden by a pretty throw from the field. Other goals followed in the first half until the score stood 12 to 0 when time was called. In the second half, several of the visitors lost heart, while the Plainfield team became more confident as the score continued to roll up.

There was little attempt at a uniform in the costumes of either side, although several of the local team wore red sweaters with the initials "G. A. A." in white on the front. Both teams wore the short bicycle skirts customary in the game.

Although at times the play did seem rather fierce, there was little roughness on either side and the best of feeling seemed to prevail among the players. The audience was impartial in its applause.

The low ceiling of the room can probably account for the fact that the Cranford girls were unable to score at all. They were accustomed to try for goals at some distance from the basket which the low ceiling did not permit. Then, too, they were unable to send the ball any distance as in passing it they sent it against the ceiling.

There were no changes in the Plainfield team during the game. In the second half, Miss Plummer and Miss Crane, of the Cranford team, changed

GREAT DAMAGE TO FRUIT

ICE FORMED A QUARTER OF AN INCH THICK LAST NIGHT.

Garden Stuff and Early Strawberries Almost Destroyed by the Frigid Weather—Peaches and Cherries Also Hurt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Sterling, May 9.—Farmers throughout Washington and Passaic valleys and the whole of Somerset county are apprehensive of great losses to growing vegetables and fruits. In may quarters the thermometer went several degrees below freezing point when the rain ceased after darkness, and ice formed a quarter of an inch thick.

A good many farmers started bonfires in their gardens and berry patches to counteract the effect of the frigid atmosphere, but those who did not, found that their early vegetables and berries—especially strawberries—were nipped by the frost and totally destroyed.

Peaches and cherries, say the farmers, who came to town this morning, are practically destroyed. Where before the storm, the fruit which had developed from the buds recently, had a thrifty and hardy look, this morning they were shriveled up in a manner indicating that they were totally ruined.

It is estimated that at least $25,000 damages has been done by the cold weather of yesterday and last night.

MAD DOG ATTACKED PIGS.

Great Disturbance Caused in a Sty at Mt. Bethel.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Mt. Bethel, May 9—A large coach dog belonging to T. B. King, of West Front street, Plainfield, went mad yesterday afternoon and invaded and caused distraction to a large number of residents in this vicinity. After attacking and biting a big watch dog belonging to William Darcy, the mad dog ran down the road in a zig-zag course towards Charles VanPelt's place. Darcy saw the attack on his favorite animal and he pursued the strange canine with a shot gun. He found the dog in VanPelt's pig pen, with a half dozen hogs in a corner and biting them viciously. Darcy discharged his shot gun at the dog, but the bullet did not have fatal effect and the dog continued his attack on the pigs. VanPelt was attracted by the disturbance at his pig sty and arming himself with a shot gun he aimed at the mad dog and succeeded in killing him. VanPelt will probably slaughter his herd of pigs immediately as he is fearful that they may be affected with the rabies by reason of the bites inflicted by the mad dog.

Patriotic Decorations.

The show windows of two local merchants are now decorated, with war relics. In the window of J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler, is the full dress coat worn by Rear Admiral Norton when he was a midshipman. There is also the battle flag of the Third Vermont volunteers, carried at the battle of Cedar Creek. Then there is a group of other war relics.

A little bivouac has been arranged in the show window of Edward White, the West Front street merchant. About it are grouped part of the equipment carried by E. C. Morse, of the borough, while in the Civil War. There are other appropriate decorations. A small electric fan keeps the stars and stripes and the Cuban colors in a constant flutter.

On the Way to the Klondike.

Walter Gordon Williams, the young Plainfield lawyer who left here several months ago, is now located at Seattle, Washington. He is working with the Seattle and Lake Washington Waterway Company, for whom he soon will strike out into the gold fields of Alaska where he will locate several claims for the company. He has written to Plainfield friends telling of his success there, and is very anxious that some of them should enjoy some of the advantages there with him.

Decoration Day at Lincoln.

[Special to The Daily Press.]

Lincoln, May 9.—Mayor Drake announces that he has prepared a large and attractive programme for Decoration day. The chief speaker for the day will be Past Commander E. C. Stahl, of the G. A. A NUPTIAL SURPRISE.

POPULAR SCOTCH PLAINS COUPLE SECRETLY MARRIED.

Went Ostensibly for a Pleasure Drive, But in Reality to Visit a Clergyman and be Made Husband and Wife.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, May 9.—Two young people of this place have caused a sensation among their friends by announcing their marriage. On Sunday evening, April 24th, Miss Louisa Stillgar, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stillgar, became the wife of Frederick K. Clark, Saturday they told their friends what they had done.

Nobody had the slightest objection to the marriage, and it has been known for several years that the couple were quite intimate. In fact, it was quietly said that they must be engaged. The young couple had desired to have a quiet wedding. So on the eventful day they drove over to Stony Hill, where Father Chandler, of the Catholic church in that place, performed the ceremony.

Mr. Clark is engaged in the livery and exchange business in Scotch Plains and was acting postmaster to fill the unexpired term of James A. Baker. He is a popular young man.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will take up their residence this week with the bride's parents.

SUNDAY SELLING CASE APPEALED.

Evidence Taken in City Court to Be Reviewed by Supreme Court.

Councilman Walter L. Hetfield, attorney for Jose Carbone, the North avenue fruit dealer, tried before City Judge DeMeza several weeks ago on a charge of selling cigars, tobacco and chewing gum Sundays, has succeeded in obtaining a writ of certiorari from Justice VanSickle, of the Supreme Court. The writ is returnable at Trenton June 7th, when the summer term of the Supreme Court opens.

Carbone was found guilty of violating the ordinance after the jury had been out only a short time. Carbone's defense was that he observed the seventh day of the week, Saturday, as his Sunday, and therefore had a right to keep his store open on the first day of the week.

The case is a test case, and on the result hang the half-dozen similar cases which were tried in turn afterwards.

The writ orders the City Judge to have before the Supreme Court all the proceedings in the case, which will be reviewed by the Court, and a decision rendered upon the legality and constitutionality of the verdict.

POLICE STILL SAY SUICIDE.

No Effort to Solve the Mystery of Man Found Drowned with Legs Tied.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, May 9.—The police still assert that the unknown man whose body was found in Staten Island Sound at Elizabeth Thursday with his legs tied together committed suicide. Just how a man could get into the river after his legs were bound they do not attempt to explain.

County Physician Westcott, of Fanwood, said yesterday to a reporter that appearances all pointed to death by drowning, and not by physical violence. The body was so badly decomposed that he did not think it best to perform an autopsy.

A Vicious Dog.

Yesterday afternoon while the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howe, of Chestnut street, Prideville, was going home from school, she was attacked by a dog owned by Charles Pope, of Steiner place. The dog bit the girl in the right leg and drew blood The girl was frightened and hastened home to tell her parents. Mrs. Howe treated the injury as best she could and used preparations of salve as an application. Mr. Howe notified Mr. Pope last evening that he must keep his dog tied or he would have the animal shot by the police authorities.

The Borough Hose Tower.

This evening the fire committee of the borough Council and the chief of the borough fire department will hold a conference relative to erecting a hose tower in place of the old one destroyed by heavy winds.

Annual May Walk.

Next Sunday the members of the Gesang and Turn Verein will enjoy their annual May walk. After that date the members will hold their festivities in the woods instead of their hall on Somerset street.

Editor Runyon to Build.

Frank W. Runyon, editor of the News, has decided to build a residence on Madison avenue. It will cost about $4,000. Mr. Runyon will occupy the house when it is completed.

—Owing to the illness of one of the candidates, the baptism at the Park Avenue Baptist church last night was postponed for one week.

SEVENTEEN YEARS OF WORTHY CHURCH HELP

Anniversary of a Trinity Church Auxiliary.

GOOD ACTS ACCOMPLISHED.

SAVED SOULS AND HELPED THE POOR AND MISSIONS.

Ladies' Christian Work Society Celebrated an Auspicious Event Last Night—Much Credit is Due the Various Members for Their Assistance in Remodeling the Church Edifice—Rev. Mr. Schenck Paid a Glowing and Deserved Tribute for Their Help—Creditable Annual Treasurer's Report.

That most worthy and helpful auxiliary to the Trinity Reformed church, the Ladies' Christian Work Society, celebrated its seventeenth anniversary last evening in a fitting and appropriate manner. The progress of the society is marked and is best told by the reports of the secretary, Mrs. Harry W. Marshall, and the treasurer, Mrs. O. W. Dunham. A portion of the secretary's report, as read by her, is as follows:

"The seventeenth anniversary of the Ladies' Christian Work Society finds us with a membership of sixty active and six honorary members. We have added to our flock ten new members during the year, and three have resigned, and the good Lord has thought best to take two of our members from us. Our meetings have been well attended and the work accomplished is far beyond that done in preceding years. Much credit is due each member for faithful service in helping to convert what was formerly called our basement into a magnificent lecture room and parlor.

"The following committees have been engaged in doing the work of the society: Missionary committee has collected during the year from the five cent a month plan, $75.88; also, a special contribution of $10 for the Arabian and Indian missions. The Young Women's Mission Band of the church contributed $29.70 toward the upholstering and the purchase of a table for the parlor. A box was sent to the Rev. Schaffer in Dakota, valued at $118. A special service was held and the collection was given toward the expense of sending a missionary to Japan. The poor committee has provided for families in need of help. The sewing committee held nine meetings and made articles for the missionary box. The visiting committee has been engaged in looking after the sick, while the social committee realized $22 25 from the tea given in November at the home of Mrs. J. H. Tier. The sum of $180.95 was realized from the annual supper given in January, and $46 50 from the dollar social given in February. The temperance committee donated $5 to the W. C. T. U. and the Christian Endeavor Society donated $5 toward decorating the church on special occasions, which work was attended to by the flower committee.

"The carpet committee had a great responsibility upon them. The carpet for the church and pulpit cost $478.78; for the study and stairs $9.95, and the upholstering cost $568. We have had a blessing sent to us in the form of two checks for $100 each. The parlor committee gave an entertainment and realized $65.43. A silver water pitcher was donated by J. W. Johnson for the parlor. We feel that a great work has been accomplished during the year, and we extend to the retiring officers a vote of thanks."

The pastor, Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., made a few congratulatory remarks recognizing the efficiency and help of the society in the church. He said that while no doubt the members would like to hear the voice of a stranger, there was no one that appreciated the work of the society more than himself. When one thinks, he said, of the $1,500 and over, received and collected by the members, of the labor, thought involved and plans executed, a slight idea can be obtained of what has been done. The name of the society has been properly taken, the Ladies's Christian Work Society, as the lines are numerous and broad. The chief object of the society is to save souls, to help the condition of the poor, to send boxes to missionaries and to look after the social interests of the church. He congratulated and commended the members and said that no slight was intended on the other societies of the church, for all have worked zealously.

Mr. Schenck also spoke of the society being almost as old as the church and of the very great work accomplished during its existence. He then read the very excellent report of

DEWEY'S BIG VICTORY

SPANISH LOSS OVER 500

The American Ships Did Not Lose a Man—Our Fleet Is Anchored in Front of Manila, but Dewey Deems It Inexpedient to Attempt to Actually Hold the City Until He Is Reinforced.

Hong Kong, May 9.—The American dispatch boat Hugh McCulloch, attached to Commodore Dewey's squadron, arrived here Saturday afternoon from Manila, bringing dispatches from Commodore Dewey to the Navy Department at Washington. Manila is distant some 600 miles from here, and the McCulloch was forty-eight hours in making the voyage, averaging about 12½ knots per hour.

Her coming had been awaited with much impatience, as everybody here was keenly anxious to learn the details of the battle in Manila Bay last Sunday, and to be informed of the situation in Manila itself. It was thought that the McCulloch would bring advices showing that Manila had been bombarded by the American squadron, and, as many merchants here have business interests in the Philippine capital, they were more than ordinarily desirous of learning whether those interests had been injured by a bombardment.

City Not Burned.

They were much relieved to learn that the reports about the burning of the city were untrue, and that the Americans had not bombarded the place.

As soon as the McCulloch arrived her officers and even her crew were beseiged by questioners. The former confirmed the reports that had already reached her of the total destruction of the Spanish squadron.

Two Thousand Killed.

They said they estimated the loss of the enemy at two thousand killed, these figures including those who lost their lives at Cavite and Corregidor Island, where the shore batteries were located.

A number of wounded Spaniards fell into the hands of the Americans, and, much to their surprise, were treated as kindly as though they were Americans, the fleet surgeons doing everything to relieve their sufferings. They at first apparently thought that they might at once be put to the sword when they found themselves prisoners.

Great surprise and much satisfaction were expressed here when the officers reported that the American warships had not sustained any damage worth speaking of, and that not a single American belonging to the squadron had been killed.

History's Record Broken.

It is believed that naval history does not furnish another instance of a great battle being fought and a fleet annihilated without the loss of a single life by the victors. Several Americans were wounded, but there was only one man whose injuries were in the slightest degree serious. It was practically certain when the McCulloch left the squadron that this man would recover.

In giving the details of the fighting, the McCulloch's officers stated that the squadron entered the bay and arrived off Corregidor Island on Saturday night, April 30.

Remember the Maine.

The morale of the Americans has never been surpassed in any naval or land engagement the world has ever seen. From the Commodore to the "powder monkey" every man on the fleet had settled it in his mind that the Spaniards were to be sunk, burned, blown up, and that he would be one of the first in action. Remember the Maine was a watchword which needed no repetition and no emphasis. The crews of the American fleet shut their lips firmly and prepared for battle.

The sailors as well as officers knew exactly what the work was which was cut out for them to do. They confidently expected victory, but never dreamed it would come with absolutely no casualty to the American fleet. They knew that the Spanish fleet, though vastly their superior in number and tonnage, could not stand up against them.

Realized the Danger.

But the officers knew that the forts about the harbor were exceedingly well equipped with modern guns, and they realized that when they entered Manila Bay they went betwen fires.

Nothing was kept from the men. They fully realized the dangers. They welcomed the peril, and they went to victory as they would have gone to death, with a smile on their lips. They wrote in letters home before sailing for the Philippines: "We expect to go to victory or to hell in short order when once the battle is opened."

Never was prophecy so completely realized. They went to the greatest victory ever chronicled—won in the shortest time of any victory on land or sea.

First Shots Fired.

It appears that the first reports that the Americans entered without being seen were erroneous, for the fort on Corregidor Island fired three shots, and then became silent. The Americans were prepared for any contingency that might arise, and the gun crews and other men stood at their stations, eager and alert, until the ships went into action.

Early on Sunday morning the Spanish fleet, numbering fourteen vessels, were sighted off Cavite. It was just about daybreak when the engagement began.

The guns of the harbor had boomed out the announcement that the American fleet was entering the bay. This disposes of the story that Commodore Dewey succeeded in gaining an entrance unobserved. The Spaniards knew he was in the bay, and they were not surprised when, at daybreak, they saw the fleet under the land batteries.

"Advance! Give Battle!"

Commodore Dewey waited for light, and for nothing besides. He ordered the squadron to advance to give battle. Through a hailstorm of lead and fire the plucky Asiatic squadron sailed proudly down toward Cavite to meet the enemy.

At once the heavy guns of Montijo's fleet and the big cannon from the two forts opened fire on the Americans.

Sailing in a circle, the Asiatic squadron drew up toward her enemies, pouring thick showers of death dealing shells into the fortifications as well as the ships of Spain.

Gun Play Was Heavy.

Surrounded, as the fleet very nearly was, it proved a match for the enemy, and seemed to be able to take care of all of them at once.

Commodore Dewey at once ordered his squadron to close in, the land batteries and the Spanish warships at once opening a heavy fire. The cannonading by the Americans was awful, all their guns, great and small, being used.

A splendid example was this of the work of modern naval armament. The rapid-fire guns sputtered and crackled, the great mortars boomed out their hoarsest voices, the shells rose with a shrill scream and plunged down, bearing certain death in its most fearful shape.

Spaniards Despaired.

So continuous was the firing of the Americans, so deadly was their aim that the Spaniards became stunned and their marksmanship, bad at the start, became absurdly so, as if despair dulled their vision and palsied their arm.

Meanwhile the great ships danced, as it were, a stately minuet on the smoky surface of the bay. They were performing the evolutions signaled to them by Commodore Dewey, who took good care the Spaniards should not find their range by means of any stationary fabric.

Great Skill Shown.

The Spaniards evidently hoped that in the manoeuvring that Commodore Dewey was compelled to resort to in order to hold his vessels up against the swift currents, and for the purpose of bothering the Spanish gunners as much as possible, that some of the American warships would get in shallow water, and take the bottom. In this, however, they were disappointed. The navigating officers of the American ships had made a special study of the waters and currents of Manila Bay, and probably know them as well as the best local pilots.

The principal Spanish vessels that took part in the engagement were the Reina Christina, Castilla, Don Antonio de Ulloa, Isla de Luzon, Isla de Cuba, General Lezo, Marques del Duero, El Cano and Velasco.

First Ship Fired.

After the fighting had lasted for about half an hour the American ships were withdrawn from the range of the smaller Spanish guns, and poured a hot fire with their big guns.

This manoeuvre gave heart to the Spanish sympathizers, who crowded the shores and strove to see through the thick smoke the issue of the battle.

When they saw the American vessels retiring, although in perfect order, they cried: "The Yankees are beaten."

The wish was father to the thought. Soon they were undeceived, for the engagement had scarcely begun. Commodore Dewey's fleet had only given a synopsis of the chapter which was to follow.

Montijo Knew.

Again the warships drew out into the bay and sailed toward their disheartened enemy. Admiral Montijo had never for a moment been deceived. In despair he watched the fearful havoc wrought by the shot and shell of the Americans—each shot killing a man or opening the side of a ship, and he knew that the issue could not be long protracted. He must have felt from the first that it was never doubtful.

The scene in the bay was one of awful magnificence, and the din of battle was stunning, the sharp reports of the small caliber guns were closely punctuated with the reverberating boom of the big rifles, the crash of striking shot and the roar of exploding shells.

Before the battle had progressed far the Reina Maria Christina, the flagship of Admiral Montijo, received a shell forward which set her on fire. In a little time her crew were compelled to abandon her, and Admiral Montijo's flag was transferred to the Isla de Cuba.

Second in Flames.

Meanwhile the Don Antonio de Ulloa was seen to be in difficulty, and shortly afterward flames broke out aboard of her.

The Spanish gunners displayed a woful lack of practice, many of their shots either falling short or going clean over the American vessels.

One after another the principal Spanish ships were put out of action. The fire of the Americans was steady, and as well sustained as though the gunners were simply practising, but every minute the effect of their marksmanship was becoming plainer and plainer upon the Spanish ships.

The second engagement was even more fierce. As if to see how quickly fourteen ships of the navy of proud Spain could be sunk, burned or put hors du combat, Commodore Dewey gave orders to run down into close range and with the flagship he drew nearer to the forts of Cavite.

Tackled the Fort.

The guns at Cavite were used to aid the warships, but their service was as poor as that in the warships, and did no damage whatever.

Commodore Dewey engaged Cavite at the same time he was fighting the Spanish warships, and poured a devastating fire into Manila's boasted defense. It is known that the losses in the fortifications were very heavy.

In all, fourteen Spanish vessels took part in the engagement, and after fighting several hours the entire fleet was at the bottom of the bay.

"Magnificent, but not war," the famous historical phrase, might be applied to this action in another sense; the battle of Manila Bay was so much more than war as Nelson or Napoleon knew it.

Landed His Men.

After the fleet had been destroyed, Commodore Dewey devoted all his attention to Cavite, and increased his bombardment of the fortifications there. The Spaniards, urged by their deep hatred of the Yankees, made a fine defense, but the American squadron was too much for them, and toward evening Cavite capitulated.

A small force was landed from the Petrel to occupy the place, and medical assistance was sent to the wounded, who up to that time had had very little help from the Spanish surgeons.

In addition to the vessels above named as being destroyed, the transport Isla de Mindanao and another vessel, the name of which could not be ascertained, were sunk.

Dewey Did Not Land.

On Monday the American squadron went up the bay to Manila and anchored. No landing parties were sent ashore, Commodore Dewey deeming it inexpedient to attempt to actually hold the city until reinforcements are forwarded to him.

Meantime the city is under complete command of the guns of the fleet, and were a bombardment deemed necessary the ships are in the most advantageous positions to destroy the place.

There is a strong force of insurgents back of the city, and some fears were entertained on board the warships that they would attempt to enter the city and massacre the Spaniards.

Fear the Insurgents.

This Commodore Dewey is firmly determined to prevent, and should the rebels try anything of the kind they will find themselves pitted against the American bluejackets and marines, for Commodore Dewey, should the occasion arise, will land all his available force for the protection of the residents of the city.

During the fighting there was an explosion on the American cruiser Baltimore, caused by fire being communicated to some of her ammunition. The explosion did very little damage.

After taking possession of Cavite Commodore Dewey razed the fortifications there. He also destroyed the fortifications at Corregidor Island.

Spain Says 618 Were Killed.

Madrid, May 9.—Gen. Augusti, Governor General of the Philippines, has sent by way of the island of Labuan this message, telling of the Spanish situation at Manila:

"The enemy seized Cavite and the arsenal owing to the destruction of the Spanish squadron and established a close blockade. It is said that at the request of the consuls here the enemy will not bombard Manila for the present, provided I do not open fire upon the enemy's squadron, which is out of range of our guns. Therefore, I cannot fire until they come nearer.

"A thousand sailors arrived here Friday evening from our destroyed squadron, the losses of which number 618."

SPAIN'S ANNIHILATED FLEET.

Description of the Ships Destroyed by Dewey in Manila Harbor.

Washington, May 9.—Spain's loss was two protected cruisers, four unprotected cruisers, three gunboats and an armed transport or auxiliary cruiser. It is supposed that the cruiser Don Juan de Austria and some small wooden gunboats of the Spanish fleet in the Philippines escaped, or were spared by Dewey.

The protected cruisers were the Isla de Cuba and the Isla de Luzon, sisters, both twin screw steel vessels, built at Elsmick, England, in 1886. Each had a displacement of 1,040 tons, and could make under forced draft a speed of 15.9 knots an hour.

The protection consisted of a steel deck from 1.5 to 2.5 inches thick, and there were two inches of protection on the conning tower. The armament of each consisted of six 4.7-inch Hontoria breech-loading rifles, four six-pounder quick-fire guns, two one-pounder Nordenfeldts, two smaller Nordenfeldts and two torpedo tubes.

Of the unprotected cruisers, the Reina Cristina, a sister of the Alfonso XII., now at Havana, was built in 1887. She had a displacement of 3,000 tons and a speed capacity of 14 knots at natural and 17.5 knots at forced draught. He main battery consisted of six 6.2-inch Hontoria breech-loading rifles. She had 15 other guns, twelve of them quick fire, and five torpedo tubes. The Reina Cristina had an iron hull.

The Castello was a wooden cruiser, single screw, 3,342 tons displacement, 14 knots, and armed with four 5.9-inch Krupps, two 4.7-inch Krupps, two 3.4-inch Krupps, two 2.9-inch Krupps, all breech-loaders, four one-pounder revolving cannon and two torpedo tubes. She was built at Cadiz in 1881.

The unprotected cruiser Don Antonia de Ulloa was finished at Cartagena in 1887. She had an iron hull, one screw, displaced 1,152 tons, and could make 14 knots. Her armament consisted of four 4.7-inch Hontoria breech-loaders, four six-pounders, one machine gun and two torpedo tubes.

The Velasco, the other unprotected cruiser destroyed, was built at Blackwell, England, in 1881. She had an iron hull, one screw, a displacement of 1,139 tons and a speed capacity of 14.2 knots. Three six-inch Armstrong breech-loaders, two 2.7-inch Hontoria breech-loaders and two machine guns, composed her armament. She had no torpedo tubes.

The Spanish gunboats destroyed by Dewey's vessels did not amount to much as warships, although two of them, the General Lezo and El Cano, were well equipped.

The number of officers and men on the Spanish ships destroyed was as follows: Isla de Cuba, 164; Isla de Luzon, 164; Reina Cristina, 270; Castello, 300; Don Antonia de Ulloa, 173; Velasco, 173; El Cano, 98; General Lezo, 98; Marques del Duero, 98; Isla de Mindanao, about 300. Total, 1,938.

TO RULE PHILIPPINES.

Dewey Asks for Provisional Government Administered by Commission.

Hong Kong, May 9.—Commodore Dewey has telegraphed to Washington recommending that the surrender of Manila be demanded and that a provisional government for the Philippines be established pending the settlement of the war with Spain.

His proposal is for a commission to take control of the government. He suggests that he be named as one of the commissioners. The government would be continued under much the same lines as exist now.

He asks that sufficient troops be sent him, in the event that his plan is adopted, to maintain order. If his suggestion is favorably received by the President and the Cabinet, it is probable that our two consuls, Williams, of Manila, and Wildman, of Hong Kong, will be asked to serve on the commission.

A cable dispatch from Madrid says that a Cabinet crisis has been averted by Senor Moret's speech in the Cortes.

"Spring Medicines," "Blood Purifiers" and "Tonics" an Old-Fashioned Idea.

Pure blood, strong nerves and muscles, firm, healthy flesh, can only come from wholesome food well digested. "Blood purifiers and "nerve tonic" do not reach the cause of the mischief. The stomach is the point to be looked after. The safest and surest way to cure any form of indigestion is to take after each meal some harmless preparation of this kind composed of vegetable essences pure pepsin, golden seal and fruit salts, sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and these tablets taken after meals assist digestion wonderfully because they will digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and sour, and the weak stomach relieved and assisted in this way soon becomes strong and vigorous again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are superior to any secret patent medicines because you know what you are taking into your stomach.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50c per package. Write F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for book on stomach diseases, mailed free.

JAMES BURNS.
Ex-Collector of the Port of Kansas City.

Of the men who have occupied positions of public trust in Kansas City, either by gift of the people or by appointment, none has a more enviable reputation for ability, honesty and efficiency than James Burns, Collector of the Port of Kansas City under Grover Cleveland. He lived to the letter the maxim "a public office is a public trust," and when he retired he carried with him the respect of everyone in the community—Democrats and Republicans alike.

James Burns has used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and he does not hesitate to say that they have accomplished wonders.

"I suffered with dyspepsia for twenty years," said Mr. Burns yesterday. "Never knew what it was to enjoy life—in fact, living seemed a burden, as it does to all who suffer severely with dyspepsia. A few months ago I began taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. From the first I felt relief, and now, although I am still taking them, I feel entirely cured. For the first time in twenty years I can eat anything I want and suffer no ill effects from it. You can't imagine the pleasure of this unless you have been a dyspepsia sufferer.

"I never gave a testimonial for any medicine before, but I feel as if every body ought to know of this remedy, and while it is personally distasteful to me to appear in print in this connection, I feel as if I had no right to shirk the opportunity to, perhaps help some other sufferers from dyspepsia. I have been recommending the Tablets to all my friends. Only recently I took James H. Lillis, the father of Father Lillis, down to get some, and I understand he also is being wonderfully benefited. I can't recommend it too highly." 5 9 11 13

EXPEDITION TO MANILA

Five Thousand Men Will Be Embarked Within a Few Days.

TO DRIVE OUT SPANIARDS

War Department Is Making Rapid Preparations, and the First Batch May Depart from San Francisco on Thursday, Others to Follow Later from the Same Point—Fast Transports Engaged.

Washington, May 9.—Troops are to be sent to Acting Admiral Dewey, as soon as it is practicable. The report of the victorious officer had no sooner been made public than Secretary Alger made himself busy getting in motion the wheels to gather the forces and ship them to the Philippines.

For several days the preparations for sending a force of regular and volunteer soldiers from the Pacific coast on steamships chartered for the purpose have been progressing rapidly.

A part of the dispatch from Dewey, which was officially withheld from the statement made by Secretary Long, states that he has not men enough under his command to take and hold the capital of the Philippines. This information was the one thing which the Government was waiting for before embarking the proposed military reinforcements.

The Quartermaster General of California has already engaged the necessary transports for ten thousand men. He wired the department that all ships belonging to the Panama and Pacific Mail Steamship line had been put at the disposal of the United States. These are all splendid vessels and are capable of making very fast time.

To Drive Away Spaniards.

Major Gen. Miles says that he can easily get in perfect organization and ready for service 5,000 men in a period of five days. In five days more he feels assured that 5,000 more troops will be in condition to leave San Francisco. The War Department is very desirous to get men off to Manila as soon as possible, as in all probability the expedition will leave in two divisions of 5,000 troops.

Representatives from all branches of the service will be sent to the Philippines, as the Government feels sure that there will be a great deal of actual fighting. Cavalry, infantry and both heavy and light artillery will leave San Francisco for the purpose of assuring the American victory at Manila in the surrounding islands of the group. It is the purpose of President McKinley to drive all Spaniards from the Philippines.

The War Department has practically decided that the forces for Manila, outside of the Fourteenth Infantry and Third Artillery, will be taken from the Carlifornia, Oregon and Washington volunteers and the Shoup Riflemen, which were raised by the brothers of Senator Shoup, of Idaho. The plan is to replace the artillery taken from San Francisco by cavalry.

To Send Dewey Ammunition

Having been advised by Admiral Dewey that he is in need of ammunition, it is proposed by Secretary Long to send him a supply without delay. The entire destruction of the Spanish fleet makes it unnecessary for a man-of-war to be sent as a convoy to the troop ships, and if it should be found that it will take quite a good deal of time to collect the number of troops that are required for service in the conquered islands, the Charleston will probably be ordered to take a deck load of ammunition aboard and sail at once for Manila.

The Subsistence Department is already making preparations to lay in provisions for the expeditionary force, which will last for at least two months. These provisions will be delivered at San Francisco within a few days, and will be ready for loading by the time the main expedition is ready.

It is estimated that about twenty days will be required for the transport ships to reach Manila after leaving San Francisco. The chances are, therefore, that by early June the United States army will have landed a force in the Philippine Islands that will insure American control in the territory as long as the Government desires to maintain it.

ALGER WILL STAY.

Denies That He Has Any Thought of Leaving the Cabinet.

Washington, May 9.—It can be stated with authority that Secretary Alger will continue to serve as Secretary of War, and that all reports of a purpose on his part to resign from the Cabinet are absolutely without foundation.

With equal positiveness it can be said that it is the earnest wish of the President that Secretary Alger should remain with him throughout his administration. The President and the Secretary of War are in thorough accord, and the latter has no thought of resigning. He is pushing the army end of the war movement with energy and effectiveness, and is performing his duties intelligently, patriotically and to the entire satisfaction of the President, whose unqualified confidence he enjoys.

Based on the fact that the Secretary's health was impaired last Winter by an attack of the grip, rumors have been circulated persistently of his retirement from the Cabinet. The positive statement that these are baseless is therefore authorized to put them to rest.

50,000 Men Ordered to Chickamauga

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 9.—"I have just received information," said Gen. Brooke, yesterday afternoon, "that 50,000 volunteers have been ordered to Chickamauga." Further than this Gen. Brooke would give nothing out. As he spoke he held in his hand a dispatch from Washington, which he had just finished reading to Col. Sheridan, and the other members of his staff. A few minutes after Gen. Brooke said, in answer to an urgent question, that the purpose of assembling the volunteer army at Chickamauga was to organize it into brigades, corps and divisions. Thirty-seven regiments of infantry, two of cavalry and nine batteries of artillery have been ordered here.

PERHAPS A BATTLE TO-DAY.

Big Atlantic Fleets May Already Have Had an Engagement.

Port au Prince, Hayti, May 9.—The United States cruiser Montgomery, Commander G. A. Converse, is believed to have been engaged with a much larger Spanish cruiser Saturday night northwest of Cape Haytien, a seaport town of Hayti on its north coast, ninety miles north of Port au Prince.

The vessel which pursued the cruiser Montgomery is supposed to have been the Spanish warship Vizcaya, and it is suggested that possibly the Montgomery enticed the Spaniard within striking distance of Rear Admiral Sampson. The crew of the German ship Bolivia, Capt. Bruhn, which arrived yesterday, say they heard cannonading to the northward about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The arrival is rumored late last evening of seventeen Spanish vessels, warships and others, at Porto Rico. A battle is expected on Tuesday.

It is also reported from Cape Haytien that Rear Admiral Sampson's squadron has been sighted to the northward.

Our Big Ships Tow Monitors.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, May 9.—The dispatch boat Kanapaha arrived here yesterday, having left Key West last Tuesday. The Kanapaha accompanied Acting Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet, which is making its way to Porto Rico, expecting to meet there and destroy the Spanish squadron from the Cape Verde Islands. Action is expected soon, certainly before to-morrow.

Acting Rear Admiral Sampson's progress is slow, because he is towing the huge monitors Terror and Amphitrite. In the fleet besides the monitors are the New York, the Indiana, the Iowa, the Porter, and several smaller boats. It is reported here that seventeen Spanish warships are waiting for the fleet in Porto Rican waters. Most of these must be small gunboats.

Acting Rear Admiral Sampson and his men have unlimited confidence in their ability to destroy any fleet Spain can muster and to reduce the fortifications of San Juan. They mean to make the action the duplicate of that of Acting Admiral Dewey in the Philippines.

Porto Rico Expects 40,000 Troops.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, May 9.—According to advices from Martinique, the Spanish fleet has not been sighted off the island. The Governor of San Juan de Porto Rico recently received orders from Madrid to provide rations for 40,000 troops. He asked the time of their arrival and got the reply:

"Movements of the Spanish fleet are kept strictly secret. Your question cannot be answered. Be prepared."

It is reported that five Spanish warships were seen off St. Thomas on Thursday, but they were probably only gunboats from San Juan de Porto Rico scouting.

No News of Sampson.

Washington, May 9.—If any news has been received from Admiral Sampson, it was not of a character that could become public without endangering the successful working of the plans of the Strategy Board. It may be stated positively, however, that so far the Navy Department has heard nothing of an engagement or of anything approaching one between our fleet and the Spanish forces.

It is expected by the Navy Department officials that there will be nothing like the delay experienced in the Philippine Islands in hearing from Admiral Sampson in case of an engagement in the West Indies. Without admitting that Puerto Rico is Sampson's objective point, it is pointed out that even allowing the Spanish the retention of cable communication from that island to the outside world, there is an independent cable connection from St. Thomas that cannot come under Spanish control, running as it does through the chain of French and British islands southward from St. Thomas, and thence to Hayti, where direct cable connection can be had with New York.

SPANISH SPY ARRESTED.

Was Once a Member of the Crew of the United States Cruiser Chicago.

Washington, May 9.—A former United States seaman has been arrested in Washington as a Spanish spy.

Saturday evening at about 11 o'clock, at a small boarding house in a disreputable part of Washington, the Secret Service officials arrested Henry Rawlings, formerly a seaman in the United States Navy, on the serious charge of being a Spanish spy. The Secret Service officers were assisted in making the arrest by a squad of soldiers from the Eighth Artillery, under the command of Capt. Sage.

At the time of the capture Rawlings had in his possession a small satchel containing papers of a most incriminating character. A complete cipher code and many sketches of the fortifications around Washington were included in these papers.

Rawlings, although an Englishman by birth, has been a naturalized citizen for a number of years, and until a short time ago was attached to the cruiser Chicago. The fact that Rawlings is a United States citizen adds interest to the case. If it is proved without any doubt that he is a hireling of the Spanish Government, his life will pay the forfeit.

Slew His Wife and Landlord.

New York, May 9.—New Jersey's record of tragedy is swelled by a double murder, committed last night in Bloomfield. After an alcoholic Sunday at home, Harry Woodward shot his wife and then killed his landlord, Patrick Dailey, who bravely sought to protect the dying woman from further violence. The killing of Dailey appears, from the story of Mrs. Dailey, to have been deliberate, but the shooting of Mrs. Woodward was accidental and incidental to the murder of Dailey. Woodward was arrested as he was leaving the house where the murder took place. He is now in the county jail at Newark.

Bread Famine in Germany.

Berlin, May 9.—It cannot be denied that the poor of Germany are already suffering from the approaching bread famine. The prices in Berlin have risen from ten to fifteen per cent. and the Socialists and Radicals propose to make election material out of the rise of bread and the Government's position in the matter of the suspension of duties on grain.

Two Thousand Persons Homeless.

Duluth, Minn., May 9.—Fifty frame buildings on Minnesota Point, just above the ship canal, were burned yesterday afternoon. An hour after the fire started 2,000 persons were homeless. The district was populated by the poorest people in the city. The total loss is thought to be over $100,000.

EUROPE EXPECTED IT

Admiral Dewey's Glorious Victory Was No Surprise.

GREAT BRITAIN A FRIEND

Attitude of England Angers the Great Powers, Who Make Every Effort to Ensnare Her Into Some Action Unfriendly to the United States—Spain's Pitiful Spectacle of Weakness.

London, May 9.—Public attention has been entirely devoted to the news from Manila. The publication of Commodore Dewey's first report late Saturday afternoon proved a great disappointment, inasmuch as it contained nothing of later date than already reported in garbled fashion by the Spaniards themselves. The disappointment was relieved, however, when Dewey's second dispatch was published in the evening. The version given of Sunday's engagement was about what the European public had been led to expect, and served to confirm the English estimate of the behavior of the American officers and men.

London is now speculating on what has happened since the dispatch boat Hugh McCulloch left the fleet, but nobody seems to doubt that Dewey is still master of the situation, and will remain so until he is reinforced by troops from San Francisco.

The Arena, an unusually well informed paper of Rome, states that England took the lead in proposing to the powers collective intervention between Spain and the United States, immediately after the first battle of any importance, whichever way the issue might go. The Agenzia Libera, which is often inspired by the Italian Foreign Office, declares that the Arena's statement is right, and that the scheme was foiled by the refusal of Russia and Austria to join unless the other powers agreed to send troops to Spain in the event of a revolution menacing the safety of the dynasty.

It may be asserted with confidence as the result of information obtained from Downing street (the British Foreign Office) that England, so far from having taken the initiative in intervention, has steadily refused to have anything to do with it. It is, moreover, a positive fact that England was asked last week to join in a naval demonstration in the West Indies, and emphatically refused. The object of the demonstration, as explained to this Government, was ostensibly to show both belligerents that there are other people in the world besides the Americans who are interested in the conflict and desire its early termination, but it really was directed against the United States alone.

England also refused to have anything to do with this scheme, and it was her refusal that led to the countermanding of the orders for part of the channel fleet to go to Cuban waters for instructional purposes, the Government thinking that the dispatch of the vessels at this time might be misunderstood in the United States and also in Europe.

It can be said once for all that the British Cabinet has steadfastly resisted all temptation to interfere between the belligerents, nor will the British Government be found on the wrong side when, as is not unlikely, Europe claims some voice in the settlement of the terms of peace.

If the United States should decide to keep the Philippines, England, at any rate, will not say her nay, and it is reliably stated that Ambassador Hay has been assured that if any European power or combination of powers seek in any way to limit the money value or territorial extent of America's compensation for the cost and worry of her righteous war, England will place herself openly and resolutely on America's side.

It is generally agreed in official circles here that after Porto Rico is captured and the Spanish fleet in Cuban waters dispersed, Admiral Sampson will be sent with a strong squadron to seize the Canary Islands, and that the departure of that squadron across the Atlantic will be the signal for Spain to invoke the intercession of the powers.

All the mail advices received here from Spain agree that the demoralization of all classes there is complete. One writer says the mere fact that eyes are now turned on Weyler as the possible savior of the country from anarchy shows how low Spain has fallen. No one in his sane moments, he says, would place any confidence in this ufheroic individual, but the country is no longer sane. The Government knows it, and has promptly clapped on the strait-jacket of martial law. As soon as that can be thrown off, the spectators will see to what a pitch of madness the Spaniards have been driven by the supineness, indifference and incompetence of their rulers.

Miss Gould's Gift of $100,000.

Washington, May 9.—United States Treasurer Roberts on Saturday received from Miss Helen Gould a check for $100,000 toward the equipment of the army, and disposed of any technicalities hitherto surrounding this patriotic impulse by turning the donation into the Treasury. At the same time Treasurer Roberts acknowledged the gift in a graceful letter, in which Miss Gould's high motives were fittingly referred to.

As to Prize Moneys.

The prize court of inquiry that has been organized at Key West will dispose of the cases of all the Spanish vessels captured by our ships in West Indian waters. Probably several of the earlier seizures will be annulled under strict interpretations of rights and the captured vessels released.

Those that are held as lawful prizes, however, will have their net values apportioned among several parties. If the ruling holds that the war actually began when Minister Woodford received from Spain his dismissal, Thursday, April 21, then the Buena Ventura, seized by the Nashville on the morning of April 22, is a lawful prize.

The rules on the subject of prize moneys is that when an enemy's war vessel is captured by a war vessel of the opposing fleet the government gets the vessel and the prize money. When a trading ship is captured, however, the capturers share in the sum obtained from selling the vessel and her cargo. The money is distributed between the government and the captors according to certain usages. Thus, if a man-of-war captures a merchantman or a vessel containing contraband goods and the seized ship is of greater naval strength than the one making the capture, she is turned over entirely to the crew that caught her, cargo and all. When the captured vessel is of inferior strength to the captor, then the government gets half the prize money. If the captor belongs to a fleet or squadron, one-twentieth of the prize money goes to the commanding officer of the whole fleet and one-fiftieth to the chief officer of the division of the fleet to which the captor belongs. The commander of the vessel making the capture gets from one-tenth to three-twentieths of all the net prize money awarded to his ship, according to the conditions under which the seizure was made. The rest of the money is distributed among the officers and seamen of the captor according to rank. If the seizures already made in West Indian waters are adjudged to hold good, our men-of-war's men have already laid up over $1,000,000, of which they will get their share.

Not since the Mexican war have American soldiers been called on to fight in so hot a country as Cuba. The heat has necessitated a change in the honored blue woolen uniform which our soldiers wear. Some time ago General Miles gave the order for the manufacture of 5,000 blue gray canvas uniforms for the troops, but this number will not be half or quarter enough. All our boys should be clad in the lightest, thinnest clothing that can be devised. The Cubans can give the United States military authorities lessons on what soldiers should wear in their island. The Cuban fighters have the thing down fine. They mostly go barefoot. For traveling over the half civilized roads of Cuba a good mule is more useful than even shoes. Instead of caps United States soldiers in Cuba will wear shade hats suitable to protect them against the tropical sun.

The British army has employed effectively the suggestion made some years ago to utilize barbed wire in military operations. No living army could penetrate to an inclosure guarded by numerous lines of the awful barbed wire fence placed at short distances apart, especially if the lines were arranged so that they could be charged with electricity. Dynamite itself is not more deadly than such a system of wires would be. This idea was doubtless in the mind of the person who made the recommendation to load 50 miles of barbed wire fencing upon some of our ships and take it along to Cuba.

—A communion service was held at Hope chapel last evening when three new members were received.

PREPARING FOR THE FRAY.

These are great days for the patriotic citizens of the southern points where our land forces are mobilizing. The tramp of infantry, the rumble of wheels and the rattling of accoutrements are warlike accompaniments to the strains of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Dixie."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

The Evening World published Saturday, under the caption of "A Saturday Night Thought," a picture of Rev. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue Presbytean church, and the following sentiment expressed by him: "You will see people who do not impress you as very godly, and yet you do believe them loyal to some principle; careless about other things, they have been faithful to that. Now I am glad to believe that any such faithfully cherished principle, which a man would not betray at any cost, may be a sort of germinal but genuine faith binding his soul to God."

* * * * *

It is an interesting fact that of the most stirring of all the National anthems which are stirring the patriotic populace at present the most vigorous one was written by a woman. Julia Ward Howe's magnificent "Battle Hymn of the Republic" certainly ranks, for force as well as for beauty and poetry, above Dr. Smith's "America," and even above Key's "Star-Spangled Banner." It is not less interesting to know that the author of the strong, swinging lines is one of the most feminine of women. Mrs. Howe has always been interested in public movements. She is a club woman of the most clubbable sort. But she is at the same time one of the gentlest, least aggressive women in Boston, where she lives. Her home on Beacon street is a centre of social as well as of literary and "advanced" life. And as for Mrs. Howe's club affiliations, it has passed into a saying in the Hub that the women will attend any society meeting for which she is booked, because her bonnets alone are worth an afternoon's study and the imitation of a whole lifetime."

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Whenever Manager Edwards announces hereafter the advent of a first-class performance, it may be accepted as a verity and truth. The presentation of "Gayest Manhattan" at Music Hall Saturday night far exceeded the expectations of those attending and many who had seen the production in New York. It was one of the best performances of burlesque extravaganza ever given in this city, replete with best and most refined specialties, splendidly rendered by a superior corps of artists. A second visit of this excellent organization will be heartily welcomed.

A big novelty is promised at Music Hall Wednesday night when the Acme Comedy and Vaudeville Company make their first appearance. It is composed of 12 first-class comedy artists, who appear in a beautiful comedy entitled "The Bacnelor's Divorce," in addition to 8 specialty acts, which includes everything in the way of refined vaudeville. Illustrated songs, views of the Maine, Commodore Depew, General Lee, President McKinley and other patriotic subjects. The great feature, however, of this company is the prices to be charged. Ten cents only for admission and twenty cents for reserved seats. Reserved seats will be sold at box office during day, but when doors open at night, nothing but admission tickets will be sold.

Cut His Face Badly.

Thomas Nankin, a young boy living at 823 Richmond street, was running across a field in the borough belonging to Josiah Brown, when he struck a wire which was stretched across the lot. The wire caught the boy in the face and cut him severely. It was necessary for a physician to take eight stitches in the cut. The boy's face and lip is very sore and he suffers great pain.

KNOWS WRATHY DONS.

CONSUL H. W. BOWEN RERURNS TO GOOD OLD AMERICA.

Arrived in New York Saturday Morning and Greeted by Many Friends—His Experience With Spanish Mobs.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, May 9—Herbert W. Bowen, recently United States Consul at Barcelona, Spain, brother of H. E. Bowen, and well-known to many Plainfielders by reason of his visits to that town, arrived on terra firma of good old America Saturday by the steamer Etruia. He was greeted by several relatives and friends, among whom was his brother from Plainfield. He proceeded with little delay to his home at 90 Willow avenue, Brooklyn.

Of robust and commanding figure, he presented a striking picture of vigorous manhood. He was in excellent health and spirits, and was eager to learn the latest war news.

Consul General Bowen talked freely about such of his recent experiences as have become matters of current news, but he carefully refrained from commenting upon any of the occurrences from an official standpoint. During the last nine days that he was in Barcelona, eight different mobs assembled in front of the United States Consulate and made threatening demonstrations. Each mob numbered from 1,000 to 6,000 persons, and the Spanish authorities of the city were obliged to send large squads of police and semi-military guards to quell the disturbances and disperse the crowds. On one occasion, more than 100 Spanish policemen were on guard at the United States Consulate.

"These mobs apparently came to the United States Consulate for the purpose of tearing down our flag and coat of arms," said Mr. Bowen, "but they did not succeed in touching those emblems, which were kept in their places on the Consulate building until just a few hours before I left Barcelona. There were no personal attack on myself, although I was frequently warned by the authorities that there might be. No missiles were thrown at the Consulate, for the reason I presume, that the persons comprising the mods had nothing to throw. There are no loose stones or other objects lying about in the streets of Barcelona, the pavements there are kept very clean. I know of no personal attacks made on Americans in Barcelona."

Mr. Bowen was appointed United States Consul to Barcelona by President Harrison in 1890, and so well did he fill the office that in 1895 he was promoted by President Cleveland to be Consul General.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

PELTERING RAIN FELL

HEAVY DOWNFALL DID SOME DAMAGE ABOUT THE CITY.

Sewers Were Stopped up and Unable to Carry Off the Flow—A Couple of Trees Blown Over by the Wind.

The rain storm which visited this city Saturday night and yesterday was one of the heaviest of the season. The rain fell in torrents, and at the same time the wind blew a gale. The streets seemed to be running with water and every thing was thoroughly washed, but looks bright and fresh today as a result.

While the storm was at its height Saturday night, Street Commissioner Gavett sent two of his "white wings" out with shovels and hoes, with instructions to clear all the culverts and gutters. No serious interference with the easy disposal of the water was reported, except on the corner of Putnam and Carleton avenues where one culvert filled up. It is keeping the men busy today to clean it out.

Two trees were blown over. One was a large apple tree standing in a yard on Church street between Front and Second streets, and the other at was a fine maple that was blown across Arlington avenue near Sixth street. Both trees were blown over during Saturday night, and kept the Street Commissioner's men busy a good part of yesterday clearing away the debris.

No serious damage to telephone or electric light wires was reported.

Clara Tshudi, Gold Medalist.

Clara Tschudi, who has just been invested with the gold medal for excellence in literature by the King of Sweden, is one of the most remarkable characters of the century. She was born in 1856 at Tonesberg, Norway, and when in her teens, imagined herself destined for the operatic stage.

She studied under the greatest German masters and actually made her appearance in some of the principal cities of Sweden and Germany, achieving a great success. Within a year after her first appearance she began the study of history and published a life of Empress Eugenie of France and later a monograph on Marie Antoinette.

These efforts placed her in the first ranks of women writers of the century. Since then she has written continuously and classes among the most prominent leaders in the woman's movement on the continent. Her latest production and the one that earned her the gold medal is a book entitled "The Emancipation Question, It's Development and Its Present Status." This has been translated into English, German, Russian, French and Italian, and is considered the most complete history of the woman's movement for emancipation that has yet been published.

At present Miss Tschudi is working on "A Cycle of Biographies," which is to contain a sketch of every famous woman of the century.

Serviceable Waist for Cycling.

A comfortable waist for cycling or for ordinary wear, is in cream wash silk or pongee, lined with fine muslin. The lining is tight fitting and buttons down the front. The silk is gathered, and fastened to the lining at the back. The front hangs separately from the lining, and fastens with three large smoke pearl buttons; it is kept down at the waist by an elastic band under a waistband of folded ribbon, finished by a bow at the side. The revers, turn over collar, and cuffs, are lined with stiff white canvas and are ornamented with fancy stitch in white or colored silk.

Experiments with Liquid Air.

Some curious experiments with liquid air were recently made by Professor Barker, at the University of Pennsylvania, a couple of gallons of the substance having been dispatched from New York to him in a milk-can. The method of manufacturing the liquid air is described as the compressing of ordinary air to 2,000lb. per square inch, and cooling it in a coil and allowing it to expand, thus producing a temperature of 312 deg. Fahr., at which temperature air is a liquid at atmospheric pressure. The experiments included making the liquid boil by dropping a frozen egg in it; the substance also boiled when bits of tin, platinum, copper, and rubber were introduced. When removed, the tin and rubber were found to be as brittle as glass, but the other metals were not in the least way affected.

Indoor Exercise

Those who are most confined indoors often suffer ill-health from want of exercise. Nature demands exercise and health cannot exist without it. In place of the monotonous dumb-bell exercise one could easily substitute the well-known game of battledore and shuttlecock. This may be looked upon as childish by some women, but surely the objection is a very foolish one. Then again, women who are not above superintending their own household affairs—who look upon the polishing of a mahogany table or the sweeping of a carpet as necessary but pleasant aids to the preservation of health—need not have recourse either to dumb-bells or childish games. Dancing is also a very healthy exercise when not carried to excess.

To keep cutlery free from rust, it should be placed in boxes lined with zinc.

Pinafore for Child.

There can never be too many aprons included in a little girl's wardrobe, for besides being a great protection to the dress, they give a clean and dainty appearance. Fine nainsook is the best material to use for a smart pinafore, as it washes and wears well. For useful wear holland or fine linen is more serviceable.

A pretty white apron of white nainsook has the bodice made with a pointed yoke of embroidery. It is gathered on a waistband over which is worn a sash of plaid ribbon, tied in the back. The frill over the shoulders and around the hem are of embroidery.

Proverbs.

We must not always speak all that we know—that were folly; but what a man says should be what he thinks, otherwise it is knavery.

Reading furnishes the mind only with materials of knowledge; it is thinking which makes what we read ours.

A Daughter of the Revolution.

Marion Gibbs was a girl thirteen years old, living on a plantation near Charlestown, during the Revolution, when Tarleton's red-coated troopers were raiding that region. Her father, who had been in the American army, was crippled from his wounds, and almost helpless.

One morning a slave rushed into the room where Marion was spinning, and in great excitement begged her to flee to the swamp, for the troopers had already set the barns on fire and shot down some of the negroes.

Hastily summoning the servants, Marion had her father and the children conveyed to a hiding place in the neighboring swamp, and directed the negro nurse to get the baby, a boy two years old, and join them, while she would get together a few needed articles. As soon as the red coats of the soldiers were observed approaching through the orchard, Marion slipped out of the rear door and sped away to her friends.

Upon joining the frightened group, our little heroine discovered that the nurse and baby had not been seen by anybody in the party. Without uttering a word she darted back along the intricate path that led through the lonely morass.

Upon emerging from the gloomy forest she beheld the house in flames and surrounded by the soldiers, while, flying toward her, and wringing her hands in agony, came Aunt Dinah, who sobbed out: "Honey, honey! is you got de baby? Aunt Dinah jes stop one minute ter go to de washhouse fo' de baby's clo'es, an' when she go back de house all on fire! Oh, tell me, honey, is you got de baby?"

The next moment a lithe form flashed between the ranks of dragoons and disappeared within the structure, from which greedy tongues of smoke and flame were spitefully thrust out of doors and windows. Before the startled soldiers had finished their cries of consternation, Marion reappeared, bearing in her burnt, brave little arms a white bundle, from which a child's frightened cry was heard as the heroic girl once more rushed away in the direction of the swamp. Instead of impeding her flight, the English soldiers swung their hats and cheered her until the dark forest hid her from their view.

Lettuce Soup.

Ingredients. — Three-quarters of a pound of lettuce, a bunch of herbs, one ounce and a half of butter, one pint and a half of white stock (made from mutton or veal trimmings), two yolks of eggs, a quarter of a pint of cream, two spring onions (chopped), a little green coloring, a little grated lemon rind, a few drops of lemon juice.

Method.—Put the butter into a stew pan, and when melted add the shredded lettuce, lemon rind, onions and herbs; cook these gently in the butter for about fifteen minutes, and then add the stock and simmer gently for half an hour. Pass through a hair sieve, reheat the soup and add the lemon juice; beat up the yolks of the eggs and add the cream. Pour upon this the hot soup, whisking rapidly all the time to prevent the eggs curdling. Return the soup to the saucepan and whisk until the soup is thickened and the eggs cooked. It must on no account boil; add a little coloring if necessary; serve with croutons of fried bread.

Treatment of Goldfish.

In cases where goldfish are kept in vessels in rooms, etc., they should be kept in spring water. The water will require to be changed according to the size of the bowl or the number of fish kept, but it is not well to change the water too often. In a vessel or bowl that will hold a common size pail of water, two fish may be kept by changing the water once a fortnight, and so on in proportion. If any food is supplied them it should be a few crumbs of bread dropped in the water two or three times a week, and occasionally a few ant's eggs. The bread must not remain in the water, or it will become sour.

Wash for the Hands.

The care of the hands should always occupy special attention. The following recipe will keep them soft and white: Take equal parts of rose-water and glycerine, mix while warm and keep firmly corked. The bottle should be shaken before using. If the hands are very rough, it is best to put two-thirds of glycerine to one of rose-water. Rub well over the hands after washing, and also apply last thing at night. To sleep in loose suede gloves is also a good practice.

An Odd Skirt.

A new and rather extraordinary skirt-model has a tunic back and front of a different material from the underskirt. If the tunic is of lace and the underskirt of satin, the style is at its best. Another very unusual skirt has three overlapping skirts shaped in handerchief points, and made of white glace silk mounted in cerise silk. The effect is very striking.

A hair-dresser says that an old silk handkerchief is much better to use in stroking the hair night and morning than a brush.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Folgende acht Familien sind dadurch obdachlos geworden: Wittwe Bank, Philipp Walter, Jakob Kummel, Uhrmacher Mahler, Christian Fischer, Gebhard Geist, Heinrich Meyer, Bäcker Moser.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Mit dem kürzlich in den Ruhestand getretenen Kreisschulinspektor Praß scheidet aus dem öffentlichen Leben eine Persönlichkeit, der bei der Einrichtung der deutschen Schulverwaltung im Reichslande eine bedeutsame Rolle zugefallen war. Praß war der erste deutsche Schulinspektor im Reichslande. Er kam hierher zu Anfang 1871, als viele Volksschullehrer ausgewandert, die Lehrerseminare entvölkert waren und das ganze Schulwesen schwer darniederlag. Ihm fiel zum guten Theil die schwierige Aufgabe zu, die Lehrerseminare zu organisiren und die Durchführung des Schulzwanges zu besorgen.

Very Valuable Jersey Comes From Hood Farm to Plainfield.

L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street, has purchased from Hood Farm, Lowell, Mass., Brown Bessie's Conqueror, one of the most promising Jersey bulls ever sent out from that famous establishment. He is by Brown Bessie's Son out of Tormentor's Fancy Wax: Brown Bessie's Son is at the head of the Hood Farm herd. He now has six daughters in the 14 lb. list and there are many more to follow. As his name indicates he is a son of the great Brown Bessie, owned at Hood Farm, and the winner of the 90 and 30 days butter tests at the World's Fair, Chicago, 1893. She made more butter in a day, a week, a month and throughout the entire period of the test than any other cow and averaged over 40 pounds per day for the five months she was in Chicago. Brown Bessie's Son traces three times to all Combination and has 50 per cent. of the blood. Combination is the grandsire of Brown Bessie and also of the other great Hood Farm cow, Merry Maiden. These two cows were the greatest winners in the tests at the World's Fair and they were the only Jerseys that proved themselves superior to all other breeds in all three tests.

Tormentor's Fancy Wax, the dam of Brown Bessie's conqueror, has never been beaten in the show ring, neither has her dam. She carries one of the largest and finest udders imaginable, and her teats are long and well placed. She has a butter record of 15 pounds, 4½ ounces, which does not represent her full capacity. One of her sons is at the head of one of the choicest herds in the country, and although very young, he now has six daughters in the 14 pound list, and five of them made their reports with their first calves.

Tormentor's Fancy Wax is by the imported Tormentor, the sire of 42 in the 14 pound list. Tormetor is by Khedive, the sire of Princess second, test, 37 pounds, 12½ ounces, and he is a grandsire of Onan, of Riverside, 31 pounds 3 ounces, Ethleel second, 30 pounds, 15 ounces, and Toltee's Fancy, 27 pounds 5½ ounces. The dam of Tormentor's Fancy Wax is Fancy Wax, test, 19 pounds 3½ ounces with her first calf. She is the dam of three cows in the 14 pound list, and two of her sons have daughters with records. She is by Fancy's Harry, the sire of 37 in the 14 pound list, and is out of Beeswax, test, 17 pounds 5 ounces, and the dam of 5 in the 14 pound list.

A Reported Battle.

New York, May 9, 2:30 p. m—Crosswell, the World correspondent at Port au Prince, has cabled that the United States cruiser Montgomery fought an unknown Spanish cruiser off Cape Haytien late Saturday night.

The flashes of the cannon could plainly be seen from the land. It is confidently asserted there that there is a powerful Spanish fleet between Porto Rico and the isle of St. Thomas.

Rea, the World correspondent at Puerto Plata, cables that the captain of the German steamship Bolivia reports that an American cruiser entered Port Haytien ysterday and coraled, despite the protestsof the Spanish.

The Bolivia sighted five American war ships which are believed to be Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet.

MUST TAKE ADVICE FIRST.

Judge VanSyckel Puzzled About Fixing Date of Manshanda Trial.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, N. J., May 9.—In he case of the State against Manshanda, for homicide, the State this morning ruled that a day be fixed for the trial. The prosecutor, Frederick C. Marsh appeared for the State, and Craig A. Marsh for the defendant. Judge VanSyckel stated that he would do nothing further with that case until he should take the advice of the Supreme Court.

In the case of Phelps agrinst Howell, the court has filed conclusions granting a new trila on the ground that the verdict was agoinst the weight of evidence, and the further ground of newly discovered evidence. Craig A. Marsh, attorney for plaintiff, and William K. McClure and R. V. Lindabury attorneys for defendant. The new trial will take place at the October term of court.

—On the evening of May 12th the associate members of the Plainfield Catholic Club will give a reception and entertainment to the honorary members.

—The interest in Doane & Edsall's removal sale is increasing every day, as the people are being convinced by practical demonstration that there are real bargains to be had.

THE RESOURCEFUL SMITH.

Scheme by Which He Grew Rich at His Trade of Shoeing Horses.

"I lived at a little cross-roads hamlet, which was not even a post office, on the line between New York State and Pennsylvania," said a story-teller to a Sioux City Journal reporter. "Of course there was a blacksmith shop there. There was no tavern, but the blacksmith also had a cider press, and he made the cider for all the farmers for miles around. But neither this nor the profits of his shop could account for the rapid way in which he accumulated wealth. As is well known, apple cider, if allowed to stand long enough, will become "hard," and after that it will turn into vinegar. This cider dealer always had plenty of hard cider on hand, but never had any vinegar for sale. The farmers and others who stopped at his place could always get a drink of hard cider, which they took out of a tin dipper at 10c. a drink, and the size of the drink was something which attracted very little attention. Hardly any kind of beverage is more intoxicating than hard cider. The blacksmith required no license to sell hard cider, and he worked the game to the limit. His place became very popular, and the farmers came from many miles around in both states to get their horses shod at his place. Many of them would come home drunk, and their wives began to protest. They always had to have some excuse for having visited the state line shop, and so the blacksmith, after supplying them with a few dipperfuls of hard cider, would take the shoes off their beasts and put on new ones, whether they needed it or not. For this service he would charge a good round price, while in many instances it was noticed he made no charge for the cider.

"But as is the way of all flesh, this blacksmith died one day, and then his business secrets came out. He left an estate or over $80,000, and in the cellar of the cider-press a great number of empty whiskey barrels were found. For years he had been putting whiskey into his cider, and had been setting new shoes on nearly every horse which came along, willy nilly."

WOODEN SOLED SHOES.

Used in Tin Mills for "Doubling"—The Heat Would Burn Those of Leather.

Wooden soled shoes are getting to be quite the proper thing in New Kensington. Society circles don't recognize them, as they are not just the proper thing with which to whirl through the mazy music of the waltz or to step the fairy tripplings of the polka. But for the purpose they are intended they are all right and are worn daily by dozens of men. These shoes look heavy and cumbersome. They have leather uppers, a wooden sole from one-half to an inch in thickness and on the under side of the sole is an iron, horseshoe-shaped, guard to prevent it wearing out too soon. The workmen at the tin mills use them in "doubling." When the hot shoot iron comes through the roll the workmen grasp it in the tongs, double it over and stamp on it to flatten it down at the fold. As it is almost at a white heat a leather-soled shoe would burn up in no time, so the doubler wears a wooden soled one. He only wears one, as all the stamping is done with one foot. They are as particular about these shoes as about those for fancy dress. They like maple wood soles, because they are not so thick and heavy as paper. The make of the shoe is important. It has to be boxed to prevent sore feet Altogether they are rather particular about these comely Dutch-looking articles of footwear and they cost from $1 to $1.50 each.—Kenningston, Penn., Keystone.

"CHAPEL OF THE SEAS."

Most Wonderful Cave in the World in the South Pacific.

The most wonderful cave in the world is in the island of Tonga, in the South Pacific. Byron called it "a chapel of the seas." It is formed in a rock that is almost surrounded by the ocean. This rock is about sixty feet high, and broad proportionately.

Many years ago a boy, the son of a native chief, was chasing a huge turtle, when his game seemed to sink into the rock. The lad watched and waited until the tide fell, disclosing a small opening in the rock about six feet under low water mark.

Diving boldly the young hunter entered the aperture, and, to his surprise, came to the surface inside the rock. The rock was hollow, and its interior was found afterward, when the natives explored it with torches, to contain many beautiful stalacites.

When attacked and followed by enemies the natives, who know the secret, leave their canoes, plunge into the water, and disappear. Their foes linger, astonished at their disappearance, for no person not acquainted with it would suspect that the rock was hollow.

POOR WAY TO CELEBRATE.

Charles Frey Beat His Wife and was Then Arrested.

Charles Frey has a strange way of celebrating his birthday. Yesterday he got intoxicated. Then he went to the house where his wife lives, and beat her and Mrs. Bridget Bent, the woman with whom she lives, until frightened away by the approach of neighbors.

When Frey was arraigned in court this morning he said that yesterday was his birthday and that he celebrated it by drinking too much. He professed entire ignorance of what had occurred at his wife's home. He was given $20 and sixty days.

Frey was arrested early this morning at Netherwood.

Only the members of the society were present and a very impromptu programme consisting of recitations, vocal and instrumental music and speeches, was presented by the members. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge and a general good time was enjoyed throughout the evening. The attendance of members was very large. The affair was under the direction of the president, Henry Haurand.

A Committe Camp Fire.

Something entirely new and novel will be held in the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church Friday evening. The idea is to have a meeting of all the committees of the Christian Endeavor Society and to enthuse more life and activity into each member. The first thing to be considered, on assembling, will be a bountiful supper, after which the open conference will be held. A pleasant and profitable evening is assured to all who attend and it is hoped every member of the different committees of the society will be present.

CYCLING COMMENT.

John Vetterlein has sold to Lew Compton, of Leggett's pharmacy, a new Eldridge wheel.

The Bachelors' Club is organizing a cycling division which will hold several runs this summer. Almost all the members of the club are enthusiastic wheelmen and they have decided that wheeling is a pleasant manner to spend the summer evenings. The president of the club, Benjamin O. Bowers, Jr., is at the head of the movement.

The young people of the Congregational church gave a bicycle run Wednesday afternoon. The party, numbering ten, rode to New Brunswick by the way of New Market and Stelton, and returned via Metuchen. The run was paced by Miss Sadie Mae Howell and John W Kirkner. Mrs. A. C LaBoyteaux acted as chaperone.

There was a movement earlier in the year on the part of some ou side bicycle race meet promoters to secure the Crescent Oval for race meets this season Arrangements were so made that the races would not conflict with the baseball games. The scheme seems to have fallen through, however, for nothing has been heard from it for some time.

AROUND THE BASES.

The baseball game between the nines of the Plainfield High School and the Montclair High School was played Saturday morning, or rather three innings were played. Then Lederer, captain of the Plainfield team, gave up the game and the umpire awarded it to Montclair, 9 to 0. Owing to the decidedly moist weather all the Plainfield team except four had supposed that no game would be played and so did not show up at the LaGrande avenue grounds. The Montclair boys came over, however, and wanted to play. After much hustling, Manager Edwards managed to get nine High School boys.

The game began at 11:30 o'clock. Edwards had to cover first and Hewitt was put in the box The score stood 1 to 1 at the close of the first inning. Then the visitors began to bat until the score stood 14 to 2, after three innings. Then Lederer gave up all hope and the game.

The teams were as follows:

NEEDLE EXTRACTED BY A MAGNET.

It Had Been in the Hand for More Than Two Months.

A young laundress thrust a broken needle into her right hand while washing clothes. The needle having disappeared in the flesh, the surgeon, who was consulted several days after the accident, refused to perform an operation, fearing lest he should be compelled to make a large number of incisions amid the ligaments of the articulation. Two months afterward the girl lost the use of her right hand, and the least movement of the fingers caused her exquisite pain. Drs. Gorinewski and Cerestin then determined to extract the needle with the aid of a magnet, drawing it into a fleshy region where an incision could be made without danger. To cause this movement they chose a very feeble electromagnet. But a difficulty arose; the needle having entered point first, it would have to be drawn out backward, the broken part in advance. The first trial lasted two hours with short intervals for rest, without appreciable result. Before the third trial, the girl said that she felt a pricking in the palm of her hand near the place where the magnet had been applied, and where the needle ought to appear. At the ninth sitting, finally, the needle appeared beneath the skin and came out whole, broken end first, without pain and without loss of blood. It fixed itself to the pole of the electromagnet, and the young laundress was cured. This result—the drawing of a needle through the flesh,—is very remarkable. In twenty-four hours after the first trial this needle was extracted from the inside of the hand, after lying there more than two months.—Cosmos.

How Hot Weather Effects Great Editors Described by the Sun.

The New York Sun, Mr. Dana's paper, says that after describing Hawaii as "a rotten republic," and characterizing its people as an "abominable community," and its government as "a gang of crooked schemers" our contemporary, the New York Times, proceeded yesterday morning to remark:

"Over all this unspeakable nastiness we propose to unfurl the American flag. We take Hawaii into our Federal sisterhood, and ought to wear the hue of shame and hang our heads in doing it, as might a man who should take into his home a wretched trollop of the streets."

Saturday, like Friday, was an uncommonly hot day. On Friday the Mugwump Evening Post came to the melancholy conclusion that popular government had ceased to exist in this country; although later in the day it revised its threnody so far as to admit that popular government might yet be alive, although constitutional government was certainly dead.

Saturday's heat acted somewhat different upon the cranium of the Times. We as a nation are all right, whatever the Evening Post might say to the contrary, but the estimable inhabitants of the Hawaiian Islands and the respectable gentlemen who constitute the government of that little republic will appear to the Times' superheated brains as things of "unspeakable nastiness."

How much better it is that in newspaper offices where intellect is at the mercy of the thermometer the ebullition of the gray matter should manifest itself in such comparatively benign symptoms as in the Tribune establishment, which produced on the hottest of Saturdays for yesterday's reading a masterly editorial article, showing that the finer qualities of human nature have not entirely disappeared from earth, and containing this lovely passage:

"Not yet the age of chivalry is gone. Not yet, nor ever will be while human nature to itself holds true. The splendors of knight-errantry are past. The valiant deeds that glorified the age of force are done; happy if not forgotten or discredited. Yet each revolving year, defying the dreary drivel of materialism and rebuking the pale plane of Mugwump mediocrity, brings to the fore, some new, resplendent scene that shows how slight and puerile are storm and wreck and woe and death before the conquering greatness of the human soul."

There was nearly a column that read like a poem. How much better it is, we repeat, that the crisis should pass thus harmlessly, rather than in melancholia or violence.

The Sharp Witted American Warrior Did Not Fall Into Their Trap.

Hong Kong, May 10, 1:40 p. m.—Word has been received that the priests and the Sisters of Charity at Cavite formed a procession bearing crosses and marched to the shore.

They petitioned Commodore not to massacre the sick and wounded as they thought he was going.

Dewey replied that the Americans warred not on invalids. The Spaniards then thanked the Americans for their unexpected humanity.

They also pretended to repay him by informing Dewey that the narrow channel to the city was safe, while the broad channel was sown with torpedoes.

An investigation showed the facts to be just the reverse. Dewey then exploded the mines in the narrow channel.

MAKING LIFE EASIER AT THE STATE CAMP.

Good Work Which the Y. M. C. A. is Engaged In.

APPEAL FOR THE SOLDIERS.

BRANCH TENTS ESTABLISHED AT CAMP VOORHEES.

Beyond the Bare Necessities of Life Nothing is Provided for the Convenience of the Soldiers and it is the Intention of the Y. M. C. A. to Furnish Them With a few of the Pleasant Things of Life, and Lighten the Burdens Which They Have to Bear to Hold Up the Honor of the Nation.

The accounts which have been published make it very plain that the men who have been called into the army are having a hard time at the State Camps. Besides the bare necessaries of life, nothing is provided for them. In its efforts to meet this lack and to minister to the comfort of these soldiers, the New Jersey Young Men's Christian Associations, through their state committee, are now establishing several tents at the State camp at Sea Girt, and the international committee is beginning a similar work at the National encampments.

In each tent writing material is furnished, daily and weekly papers, as well as the magazines, are on file, and games of different kinds, including several baseball outfits, are provided for the use of the men. Two experienced secretaries are in charge at Sea Girt, who will strive in every way to help the soldiers. An organ is to be put in each tent and song services will be held whenever convenient. Sundays the usual association gospel services will be held.

The committee aims also to be a distributing agency, and should anyone desire to send anything to any of the soldiers it can be left at the Y. M. C. A. building, and upon payment of express charges it will be promptly forwarded.

It will be seen that this work is entirely distinct from that of the Red Cross Society, which aims to care for the sick and wounded soldiers, and the two in no way conflict. No charge is made to the soldiers and therefore the cost of maintaining the association tents must be met by voluntary subscriptions.

The Plainfield association has appointed a committee, such as will be appointed in all association towns, to take charge of this work, and subscriptions of any amount may be sent to any of them or to the general secretary at the association building. Should the Sea Girt camp be abandoned any remaining funds will be turned over to the International Y. M. C. A. for work in national camps.

The committee appointed is E. L. Bonny, A. B. Beers, W. D. Murray.

She was assisted back into the house and later on friends helped her to reach her home, where she is now confined. She will be unable to walk for sometime.

—An entertainment will be given in Saengerbund Hall on the evening of May 10th.

DELICATE POINT OF LAW

MANSHANDA'S EARLY PLEA MAY MAKE HIM A STATE'S WITNESS.

While Manshanda was Being Held as a Witness He Gave Valuable Information, and It May Perhaps Save His Life

(Special to The Daily Press.

Elizabeth, May 10th.—The action of Judge Van Syckel yesterday in declining to set a day for the trial of George Manshanda, charged with the murder of James C. Pitts, came as a surprise to most of the court habitues.

It was believed from the charge of Judge Van Syckel in the Roesel trial, Manshanda would be immediately placed on trial for murder. The difficulty arises from the peculiar circumstances in reference to Manshanda's case.

It appears that while Manshanda was being held as a witness, and before the indictments for murder were found, he was taken before the grand jury, and in the Roesel trial he gave important testimony for the State. The precedents are that pleas have been accepted from criminals who have become State's evidence.

Independent, however, of any service Manshanda has given to the prosecutor, the State's motion was to place him on trial for murder.

The decision of the Supreme court will be awaited with much public interest.

ASSAULT CASE HEARD.

THE RESULT OF STOPPING TO DRINK BEER IN SOMERVILLE.

The Jury to Decide the Guilt of John Kline Today—Johnson Found Guilty of Burglarizing at Railway Depot.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, May 10.—The session of the Court of Common Pleas of Somerset county opened here yesterday. One offender was tried and found guilty, and another trial was started.

Yesterday morning a man named Johnson was tried on the charge of burglarizing the station at Raritan. He was found guilty and Judge Bartine will pronounce sentence shortly.

In the afternoon, the trial of John Kline, colored, was begun. Some time ago two white men, Devery and Smith, started from Morristown to Hopewell to get work at the quarries. They stopped in a saloon at Somerville to get some beer. While there they had a wordy encounter with two negroes. George Vandervort assaulted them with the end of a beer bottle. He afterwards pleaded guilty to the charge of atrocious assault. Then Kline, it was alleged, attacked them with a coal shovel and knocked Devery down.

The evidence produced was rather contradictory. Kline's lawyers, Steele and Meehan, attempted to make out that Kline was only trying to prevent Vandervort from attacking the white men. They also tried to prove that the latter had attacked Kline with a razor.

This morning Judge Bartine charged the jury in the case and they retired.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

The objects of the league as set forth in the constitution, are the protection of the property of its members against corporate aggression. Williams; treasurer, Louis Mathey; directors, Spencer C. Blake, Lucius Bradley and Wright Babcock.

In the event of the Board of Chosen Freeholders proceeding under the authority of the county boulevard law, to widen Westfield avenue, an injunction will be applied for by the league, and counsel will be employed to test the validity of the law in the courts.

AN OLD MERCHANT DEAD

LEBBEUS L. MARTIN PASSED AWAY AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS.

Was Born in Plainfield in 1821 and Was Engaged in the Clothing Business on Front Street for Many Years.

One of Plainfield's oldest citizens and business men has closed a long and honorable career. Lebbeus L. Martin died at the home of his son, Fred H. Martin, of 633 West Front street, last evening.

Mr. Martin was born in this city January 23d, 1821. Here he passed his youth and received his education. He was in the clothing business for many years on West Front street. He also invested in real estate and owned a considerable amount at the time of his death. He retired from an active business life some years ago. Two years ago he moved to Catskill, N. Y., where he has resided until four months ago when he came to this city to visit his son.

A week ago, Mr. Martin complained of ill health and took to his bed, Friday he was out again, for the day. While the family realized that he was very weak, they had no idea that the end was so near. Death was caused by a complication of diseases and old age.

While in this city, Mr. Martin was an attendant of the Crescent Avenue church. He leaves a widow and two children, Fred H. Martin, of this city, and Mrs. E. M. Butler, of Catskill.

VICIOUS DOG'S ATTACK.

Letter-Carrier Reville's Exciting Encounter Yesterday.

Patrick Reville, one of the letter-carriers of this city, was attacked by a savage Newfoundland dog, owned by John Kiely at Netherwood, yesterday. Reville's clothes were torn, and the dog's fangs broke through the skin on the man's leg.

Reville, who says he has had several unpleasant experiences with this dog and several others owned by Kiely, was driving across the lots back of St. Mary's cemetery near Jackson street, where Kiely lives.

Reville was busy looking over a package of letters in his hand, and did not notice the approach of the dog until the beast sprang up into the cart and seized him by the leg.

Reville picked up the whip and gave the dog several hard blows with it over the head. This made doggy lose his grip and fall back. The dog sprang to the attack a second time, and took hold of the folded blanket upon which Reville was seated. By this time Reville was 500 yards away from the house so the dog gave up the fight and went home.

Reville notified the Chief of Police and Henry Frisbie, and the canine will be killed today.

Reville says that he has been troubled with savage dogs in that locality for some time.

Position Didn't Materialize.

Charles M. Flint returned to his home in Rochester, N. Y., Saturday afternoon. He came here a week ago to assist at the New Jersey Military Academy when it was supposed that the Academy would be continued under the supervison of Percy Robert Colwell. When Mr. Colwell learned of the heavy indebtedness of the absent superintendent, he gave up all plans of running the school.

Mrs. Penny, of Easton, Pa., is visiting Plainfield relatives for a few days.

MARTIN ACT UPHELD BY VICE CHANCELLOR

Back Taxes Can be Collected After or Prior to the Passage.

INTEREST IN PLAINFIELD.

DECISION RENDERED IN THE CASE OF NEWARK PROPERTY.

It Was the First Actual Test of the Constitutionality of the Martin Act, and the Decision is Regarded as Highly Important by Lawyers, as There Have Been Doubts Entertained About Its Validity—Strong Opinion Rendered on the Contention by Vice Chancellor Pitney in the Decision Just Filed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, May 10—A decision which, while it does not apply directly to Plainfield, will be read with great interest in that place, has just been filed by Vice-Chancellor Pitney in a case involving the constitutionality of the Martin act. The decision holds the measure to be valid in every respect, not only with reference to application to assessments levied since its enactment, but also to prior assessments. The decision is regarded as highly important by all lawyers, inasmuch as there has been doubts entertained ever since its enactment that it was not constitutional.

The case was that of Seraphine Fountain against the Mayor and Common Council of Newark, and it attracted considerable interest, inasmuch as it was the first actual test of of the constitutionality of the Martin Act.

The property levied was assessed in 1873 for certain street improvements, and John Fountain, who was then the owner of the property, refused to pay the assessment. Because of that failure the property was sold under the old law and bought in by the city for a period of forty nine years. The owner contested the right of the city under the then existing law to sell his property for the unpaid assessment and brought suit in Chancery to have the sale set aside. A decree was rendered in his favor January 29, 1878.

From the time of that decision until the passage of the Martin Act no further action was taken by the city. Then the claim against the Fountain property and numerous similar claims were adjusted by the Martin Act Commission, and where the claims were not paid the property was sold. The Fountain tract was among the latter number, and it was bought in by the city for the amount of the claim and costs. Seraphine Fountain, who had become owner of the land, began suit in Chancery to have the second sale set aside.

In the bill filed, attacking the constitutionality of the Martin Act, the decree of the Court in the case of the first sale in 1878 was quoted and urged as a bar to the second sale by the city. The Vice Chancellor did not agree with the latter contention, and held that the decree did not or could not operate as a bar to subsequent valid legislation as embodied in the Martin Act, and in rendering judgment in favor of the city he quotes similar decisions by the late Chief Justice Beasely and Justice Garrison. The significance of this reference by the Court of Chancery to the finding of the Supreme Court lies in the fact that with both the law and equity courts holding similar opinions, the Court of Errors, to which the case might be appealed, will hardly reverse the judgment.

Didn't Have a License.

Peter Robinson, colored, was arrested and locked up yesterday afternoon by Roundsman Fredrickson on a charge of carrying garbage without a license. The complaint was made by Health Inspector Addis, who claims to have caught Robinson on Watchung avenue with a can of kitchen garbage in his wagon, beside several barrels of decayed fruit and vegetables. Robinson pleaded not guilty when arraigned before City Judge De Meza in the evening, and retained Counsellor W. S. Angleman to represent him. The trial was set down for a week from Saturday.

All Over a Dog.

James H. Lines, of Manning avenue, lost a little yellow dog named "Gip" a week ago, and accused Henry Mier, a neighbor, with having taken him. Mier admitted that he had the dog, but that he had owned it for two years. Suit was therefore brought in Justice Thoma's court for $20 damages. The case was tried yesterday afternoon, and a verdict was rendered for the plaintiff for $10 and costs. William G. DeMeza represented the plaintiff.

TO INVADE CUBA NOW

Troops Will Start Very Soon, Probably by Sunday Next.

GENERAL MILES TO LEAD

Sixty Thousand Men Will Form the Army of Invasion—New York Volunteers to Be Among the First to Be Ordered to the Front—Cabinet Decides on an Aggressive Policy.

Washington, May 10.—Gen. Miles has announced that as soon as possible 66,000 troops would be sent to Cuba. He hopes to get part of this army of invasion off by next Sunday. By that time the battle between Sampson's and the Spanish fleet would be over, and the attack on Cuba would be made.

The Cabinet has decided on an aggressive policy, and from this time on war will be waged with vigor. Not only will Cuba be occupied, but Manila and Porto Rico.

The War Department is hastening preparations to move the army. All volunteers in camp will be hastily mustered in and sent South, ready to go to Cuba. The New York volunteers at Camp Black, as they are all ready to muster in, will be among the first to be ordered out.

Four regiments from New York have been ordered to move at once to Washington, where they will go into camp at Falls Church, Va., a few miles south of Arlington. The Pennsylvania troops, and in fact all of the Eastern regiments will be in camp at the same place. The New York troops will start as soon as they can be mustered in.

Gen. Miles says he can get 66,000 troops into Cuba in ten days.

The victory at Manila has so changed public opinion that the plan now is to follow an aggressive policy in regard to Cuba and Porto Rico, as well as the Philippines. It is believed that the war can be ended in a short time, and a treaty of peace negotiated and signed before the Summer is over.

The Change of Plan.

The change of plan was evidently brought about by news from Cuba, brought to Washington by our officers, who went there to open communication with the Cubans. Up to Saturday the plan was to send only a small force of troops to the island; but, although this was favored by the President and Secretary Alger, it was opposed by the military experts, who have a comprehensive plan for operations, and this was accepted.

There is no doubt that the visit of Gen. Woodford to the President had something to do with the plan of invasion just announced. Gen. Woodford gave the President a full report of the situation in Madrid, and the condition of the army and navy there. This evidently was of such a character as to strengthen the plan proposed by the military experts.

The feeling now is that further delay would unnecessarily prolong the war, that a small force of troops would not be effective in getting relief to the sufferers on the island beyond a narrow margin, nor could it protect a base of supplies. The Cuban forces could not be relied upon to assemble at this place in sufficient strength to aid the American army. A small body of our troops landed in Cuba might be utterly destroyed.

Another thing considered is that the victory at Manila, the desperate situation of the Spanish Government at home, the effectiveness of the blockade of Cuba, and the developments at Porto Rico, all give promise of a speedy termination of the war if blows are struck with vigor and in rapid succession. It is proposed, therefore, to close up the war as quickly as possible, avoiding protracted disturbance, and lessening the danger of international complications. It is calculated that though it will take a week or ten days longer to get a large army to Cuba than it would to land a small force and establish a base of supplies, the large force would bring relief to the suffering on the island more speedily than could the small force.

The plan is to land a large force at several points to advance upon the Spanish as rapidly as possible, and, having confined the enemy in Havana, to relieve the suffering of the rest of the island and then reduce the city. The volunteers, as well as the regular army, will be used in this invasion.

Gen. Miles has acknowledged that the department was making all haste to assemble a large army at the Southern ports for a Cuban campaign. He has been in consultation with the generals who will have charge of this work and gave orders to all the officers mustering in the volunteer forces to complete their work with all dispatch, and to notify him of the earliest possible day on which the troops can be ordered to points of mobilization.

The Commanding Generals.

The present arrangement contemplates the sending of about 66,000 troops to Cuba. Of this number 16,000 will be regulars, and the remaining 50,000 will be volunteers. Gen. Shafter will probably command the first division of the regulars, and Gen. Coppinger the second. Gen. Lee is slated for the command of the first division of volunteers.

Lieut. Miley, military aide to Gen. Shafter, has delivered to Gen. Miles an important communication regarding the Cuban campaign. The document was considered too important to be entrusted to the mails. A report from Admiral Sampson reached Secretary Long on Sunday. These two papers have an important bearing upon the Cuban invasion, where they were laid before the Cabinet.

The haste with which the preparations are being made for the army is shown by the fact that to facilitate matters orders have been issued limiting the obligatory uniforms for volunteers to simply a blue blouse. The delay in securing full uniforms has been such that the army cannot wait for them and permission has been given to volunteers to wear any trousers they may see fit.

The plan proposed now is to muster in all volunteers now in camp in different States and order them to Southern points, 40,000 of them to come to Washington. As the volunteers of New York, Ohio, Michigan, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey, and of a few other States are in camp ready to be mustered in, these will be the first ones ordered South for the Cuban invasion.

The President holds to the belief that the Spanish forces will not offer any resistance worth speaking of to the progress of the expedition into the interior of Cuba.

The latest advices received from Havana through secret agents are that there are not more than 80,000 Spanish troops, including volunteers and Spanish sympathizers, on the island, and that these are massed in Havana in anticipation of an attack by the American gunboats.

Estimates of the strength of the insurgent forces, with which the United States will co-operate, place it at less than 9,000, scattered throughout the interior. The report of the insurgent strength has reached the President direct from Gen. Gomes, having been brought by the American officer who visited the camp of the insurgent leader ten days ago.

Miles to Lead the Invasion.

Washington, May 10.—The War Committee has decided that Gen. Miles in person shall lead the invasion of Cuba. No time is to be lost. Gen. Shafter has been ordered to hurry up additional transports. Volunteers, as well as troops of the regular army, are to take part in the occupation of the island.

"On to Cuba."

Washington, May 10.—Orders were issued last night for the volunteers to start for Chickamauga. The railroads will be crowded in three days. It is "On to Cuba!" from this time on. The first load of regulars is expected to go on to-morrow.

THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

Committee Will Not Report the Bond Proposition.

Washington, May 10.—Senator Jones, of Nevada, has indicated that he will oppose the bond provision of the War Revenue bill. It therefore will be stricken out in the Senate Finance Committee, and then a fight will be made in the Senate to reinsert it.

The committee continued its work yesterday on the War Revenue bill, beginning with the unfinished amendments offered by the Republican members to the stamp tax schedule. The committee considered as absolutely settled the two matters of the elimination of the tonnage tax and the changing of the tobacco schedule so as to relieve stock on hand from taxation. They have decided to leave the beer schedule as it passed the House, except that the rebate is to be increased from 5 to 7½ per cent. There are also many other changes which have been settled, but the members of the committee refuse to make them public, on the plea that they are generally of small importance, and that their publication would only serve to bring protests from those interested.

The Democratic members of the committee have completed their amendments and decided fully upon a programme. In addition to their provision for a corporation tax they will offer an amendment authorizing the issuance of $150,000,000 in non-interest-bearing Treasury notes, and another authorizing the coinage of the silver seigniorage in the Treasury. The rate of taxation for corporations has been reduced in their programme to one-half of 1 per cent., and it is believed by them that this provision will produce at least $40,000,000 of revenue.

It now seems quite certain that these provisions will be incorporated in the bill as reported to the Senate, and that the bond provision will be stricken out, on account of the action of Senator Jones, of Nevada, in determining to vote with the Democrats in committee on the bond proposition.

Ponchos for Volunteer Army.

Cleveland, O., May 10.—The Cleveland Rubber Works has just received an order from the United States Government to immediately furnish 15,000 ponchos for the volunteer army. The ponchos are light rubber blankets, 72x45 inches, and are adapted to three uses. They can be used as blankets, as capes, or four of them may be placed together and made into a tent. It is the intention of the Government to furnish all the volunteers with these blankets, as they will be especially serviceable in Cuba during the rainy season. Another order for 50,000 ponchos will probably be given to the company within a few days.

Big Order for Cartridges.

East Chicago, Ind., May 10.—The Hessville powder mills, located five miles south of this place, will begin operation to-day on an order of 35,000,000 cartridges for the Government. The powder mills at Miller's Station are also working day and night on Government orders.

Ryan and West Matched.

New York, May 10.—Tommy Ryan, of Syracuse, the welterweight champion boxer, and Tommy West, of this city, who has a decision over Joe Walcott, were matched yesterday afternoon to box at catch weights about June 10, at the Ice Palace in this city, for a purse of $2,500.

To Enlist 10,000 "Immunes."

Washington, May 10.—The House yesterday passed the "Immune" bill, providing for the enlistment for service in Cuba of 10,000 volunteers who have had yellow fever.

WHEAT SOLD AT $1.90.

Tremendous Advances Scored in New York and Chicago.

New York, May 10.—It has taken twenty-one years at New York to get wheat prices up to equal the figures of 1877, and, with the exception of the September corner by Hutchinson in 1888, the same time in Chicago. All recent records have been passed long ago. Yesterday in the local market in the early dealings the May delivery sold at $1.90 a bushel representing a net advance of 80 cents a bushel compared with the closing price on Saturday.

In the Chicago market the same delivery sold at $1.75 a bushel, an advance of 8 cents a bushel, compared with Saturday's final price.

In both markets there was tremendous excitement, with the bears panic stricken and wildly endeavoring to obtain the wheat with which to cover their short contracts.

Mr. Leiter's success in cornering the world's markets has been phenomenal, but it has been the result of extraordinary conditions, the outbreak of the war developing a panic of the bears, while the talk of scarcity has been a secondary issue as shown by the fact that the producing markets of the world are the highest, yet exports are not stopped, while the consuming countries of the world, as far as America is concerned, are the lowest. No failures were reported during the morning, as margins have been so extensively called that houses have been forced out previous or else had their deals protected, while the advertised corner for weeks past has compelled speculators to keep margins thoroughly protected.

TO LEAVE MOUNT GRETNA.

Pennsylvania's Troops Likely to Be Assembled at Washington.

Harrisburg, May 10.—The Pennsylvania National Guard will be ordered away from Mount Gretna as fast as the troops are mustered into the United States service and the fifteen regiments are recruited up to the regular army standard. Three thousand troops will be moved from Camp Hastings within the next twenty-four hours to a point in the South to be selected by the officers of the War Department.

The Secretary has decided to concentrate 50,000 men in the vicinity of Philadelphia. The soldiers from this State will not, however, be ordered there, as the policy of the Government will be to concentrate the troops outside the borders of the State to which they belong. The Pennsylvania troops will mobilize at Washington or Richmond, in all probability at the national capital.

The mustering officers at Camp Hastings will work day and night in order to have the troops ready to move as fast as they are called for by the War Department. It has not yet been decided which regiments will be taken first, although the chances are that the Second Brigade stands the best show, as it is in better shape and its regiments can be recruited up to the standard with greater dispatch than the First or Third Brigade.

GOLD SEEKERS DROWNED.

Ice Gave Way and They Were Precipitated Into the Stream Underneath.

San Francisco, May 10.—A special from Victoria, B. C., says:

"On Monday last the ice covering a stream near the crater, near the lake, gave way under the passing throng of Klondike gold seekers and more than a score of men were precipitated into the water and drowned. Dr. J. F. Frizelle, of Los Angeles, who brings the news, passed the scene only a few hours after the calamity occurred.

"It was on the other side of the summit, between Linderman and the Long Lake, at a point in the canyon some fourteen miles above Stonehouse, where an iceslide over a mountain stream has been utilized as a path. A number of men were advancing in almost unbroken rank, each hauling a heavily laden sled, when there came a sudden crash. The ice opened for thirty feet or more and in an instant twenty-two men with their supplies were whirled down and under the surface of the stream to drown without even the chance of battling for life.

The names of the victims of the ice break Mr. Frizelle cannot give. Four Montana and two California men are thought to have been among the victims, while the others included an Eastern party of seven, almost all being known by the nicknames which Western freedom had given them.

Three Suffocated by Fire.

Seneca Falls, N. Y., May 10.—Mrs. Fred Habel and her two children were suffocated by a fire that occurred at their home here yesterday. Mr. Habel occupied an upstairs room with three children, while his wife with the two children slept downstairs. Habel was awakened about 4 o'clock this morning by smoke and succeeded in saving the three children who slept with him, but was unable to save the others. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Tillman's Dispensary Law.

Washington, May 10.—The Supreme Court, in the case of Vance & Scott vs. the Vandercook Company, of California, held that the new South Carolina State Dispensary law was invalid as to its inspection features, but valid as to that part regulating the sale of original packages within the State.

Prisoners of War.

Atlanta, Ga., May 10.—Sixteen prisoners of war arrived here under guard of a detail of negro soldiers from the Twenty-fifth Regiment, and were placed in the military prison at Fort McPherson. The Spaniards were captured in Cuban waters several days go by the Nashville.

Spain Cannot Get Coal.

Montreal, May 10.—Word has been received here that the Dominion Coal Company had refused to sell the Spanish Government 10,000 tons of coal to be delivered at Sydney, Cape Breton. This shows, in the first place, that a Spanish fleet is coming to Atlantic waters.

King's Assailants Put to Death.

Athens, May 10.—Karditza and Giorgil, who attempted to assassinate King George and his daughter, Princess Marie, on Feb. 26 last, were put to death yesterday.

Great Grumblers.

Grumbling Will Cease if Plainfield People Will Follow This Citizen's Advice.

When the kidneys are sick they grumble.

You hear them clear through the back.

You feel them clear through the body.

They grumble when overtaxed.

Know how the kidneys grumble?

It's a simple thing; your back will tell you.

Backache is the first grumbling warning.

The kidneys give it and if you heed it not,

Look out for trouble, it will surely come.

Urinary trouble, kidney trouble and many miseries.

Doan's Kidney Pills are made for kidneys only.

They cure every form of kidney ill.

The experience of Plainfield people proves this.

Here's a case in point:

Mrs. R. A. Martin, of No. 70 Jackson Ave., says:—"I have had pains in my back and loins for about one year or more, no doubt caused by my kidneys being out of order. I felt it more in the morning just after getting up or if I did any stooping or lifting. Notwithstanding the fact that I took all kinds of medicines I never found anything which helped me until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at L. W. Randolph's drug store. They not only removed the pain but they have strengthened me in other ways. I can cheerfully recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering with a lame back."

SAMPSON'S MOVEMENTS

Said to Be Approaching Porto Rico With His Armor-clads.

WAITING FOR BIG BATTLE

Washington Anxiously Expects a Conflict Between Sampson and the Spanish Fleet—Will Probably Bottle Up the Spaniards at San Juan—Ex-Secretary Herbert's Views on the Situation.

Washington, May 10.—The most intense interest is shown in naval, military and general Administration circles in the errand of Admiral Sampson.

For the first time since the war began the Navy Department has consented to give some information about the position of the vessels under Sampson's command. The information given is meagre enough. It is merely to the effect that Sampson's battleships, monitors and some of the cruisers are off the north coast of Hayti.

This statement is based on advices from Admiral Sampson on Saturday, carried by the Montgomery to Cape Haytien, whence they were telegraphed to Washington.

The squadron is proceeding very slowly. It was not officially admitted, but a reporter was told by an authority that the Navy Department expected to hear from Sampson on or before Thursday next.

This indicates that the department anticipates a naval engagement off San Juan, Porto Rico, where Sampson's ships will be to-morrow if the present rate of progress is maintained.

Nobody here who knows will tell the programme mapped out for Sampson, but there is good reason for the assertion that the plan contemplates the bottling up of the Spanish fleet in the harbor of San Juan.

The channel entrance is narrow and the enemy's vessels could be obliged to come out to meet Sampson in single file. With the monitors stationed at the entrance and the other American ships waiting outside, there would be little chance of the enemy escaping.

It's a curious fact that thus far the Navy Department does not know positively where the Spanish fleet is, and it is just possible that the vessels may be away over on the other side of the Atlantic, or at Cadiz, instead of being in Sampson's neighborhood in the West Indies.

Ex-Secretary of the Navy Herbert, when asked by a correspondent if he thought Capt. Sampson's fleet would meet the Spanish squadron off Porto Rico, said:

"It is my opinion that the Spanish fleet has left the beaten track and gone after the Oregon. However, the chances of a battle between our fleet and that of Spain are good, although it may not come off for a few days yet. Spain is desperate and has a strong fleet, and it seems to me that, in view of this fact, it will do no harm to have the Massachusetts and Texas with Capt. Sampson's other vessels. The more ships we have, the easier will be our victory."

Our Scout Ships at Porto Rico.

Madrid, May 10.—A cable dispatch has been received here from the Captain General of Porto Rico saying that three suspicious looking vessels are hovering in the offing." He adds that the United States fleet is approaching Porto Rico.

Governor General Macias of Porto Rico cables the Government that a Spanish merchant steamer was pursued by an American armed transatlantic liner, but escaped, with the aid of Spanish men of war.

A dispatch from Porto Rico says a "good fighting spirit" prevails there, thanks to the munitions brought by the cruiser Alfonso XIII., and the strong fortifications.

The dispatch says that the Spanish merchantman which escaped from the armed American liner was the steamer Paulina, which has arrived at San Juan de Porto Rico. The Paulina first took refuge in Port Fajardo, from which point a Spanish warship chased the American eastward.

May Have More Work to Do.

London, May 10.—A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Hong Kong says a communication from Manila asserts that the Spaniards are still arrogant and not likely to surrender until the city is blown to pieces. A telegraph operator has gone with the McCulloch to see what can be done with the cable.

Preparing a Naval Surprise.

Cadiz, May 10.—Preparations for the sailing of the fleet now here are being closely guarded by the Government. The ships now ready are the Carlos Quinto, with a complement of 600 men; the Victoria, with 600 men; the Alfonso XIII., with 500 men, and the torpedo boat destroyers Orado and Proserpina.

CHAOS REIGNS IN MADRID.

Ministers Hand Their Portfolios to Sagasta—Nobody Wants to Take Office.

Madrid, May 10.—It is announced here that the Cabinet ministers have placed their portfolios in the hands of Senor Sagasta, the Premier, in view of a probable reconstruction of the ministry.

The consultation between the Queen Regent and Senor Gamazo, the Liberal leader, as well as Her Majesty's conference with Senor Montero Rios, the President of the Senate, was without result.

Everybody appears loath to assume the responsibility of taking office under the existing condition of affairs.

Beer Goes Up $2 a Barrel.

New York, May 10.—Beer is to be advanced in price on account of the war, and the members of the Brewers' Association will announce to-day an increase of $2 a barrel. Retailers will be given fifteen days' notice of the advance. Beer has already gone up in price in other cities, and is likely to go still further.

ALL HONOR TO DEWEY

Congress Passes Resolutions of Thanks to Manila Heroes.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Senator Lodge Introduces and Senate Passes Resolution Authorizing the President to Present a Sword to Dewey and Medals to Officers and Men Who Participated in the Battle.

Washington, May 10.—The President yesterday sent the following message to Congress:

To the Congress of the United States:

On the 24th of April I directed the Secretary of the Navy to telegraph orders to Commodore George Dewey, of the United States Navy, commanding the Asiatic squadron, then lying in the port of Hong Kong, to proceed forthwith to the Philippine Islands, there to commence operations and engage the assembled Spanish fleet.

Promptly obeying that order, the United States squadron, consisting of the flagship Olympia, Baltimore, Raleigh, Boston, Concord and Petrel, with the revenue cutter McCulloch as an auxiliary dispatch boat, entered the harbor of Manila at daybreak on the 1st of May and immediately engaged the entire Spanish fleet of eleven ships, which were under the protection of the fire of the land forts. After a stubborn fight, in which the enemy suffered great loss, these vessels were destroyed or completely disabled and the water battery at Cavite silenced. Of our brave officers and men not one was lost, and only eight injured, and those slightly. All of our ships escaped any serious damage.

By the 4th of May Commodore Dewey had taken possession of the naval station at Cavite, destroying the fortifications there and at the entrance of the bay, paroling their garrisons. The waters of the bay are under his complete control. He has established hospitals within the American lines, where 250 of the Spanish sick and wounded are assisted and protected.

The magnitude of this victory can hardly be measured by the ordinary standards of naval warfare. Outweighing any material advantage is the moral effect of this initial success. At this unsurpassed achievement the great heart of our nation throbs, not with boasting or with greed of conquest, but with deep gratitude that this triumph has come in a just cause, and that by the grace of God an effective step has thus been taken toward the attainment of the wished for peace. To those whose skill, courage and devotion have won the fight, to the gallant commander and the brave officers and men who aided him, our country owes an incalculable debt.

Feeling as our people feel, and speaking in their name, I at once sent a message to Commodore Dewey, thanking him and his officers and men for their splendid achievement and overwhelming victory, and informing him that I had appointed him an Acting Rear Admiral.

I now recommend that following our national precedents and expressing the fervent gratitude of every patriotic heart, the thanks of Congress be given Acting Rear Admiral George Dewey, of the United States Navy, for highly distinguished conduct with the enemy, and to the officers and men under his command for their gallantry in the destruction of the enemy's fleet and the capture of the enemy's fortifications in the Bay of Manila.

WILLIAM M'KINLEY.

Executive Mansion, May 9, 1898.

Both House and Senate promptly passed a resolution of thanks and a bill creating an additional rear admiral, thereby making provision for the promotion of Dewey. The text of the resolution of thanks is as follows:

"Joint resolution tendering the thanks of Congress to Commodore George Dewey, United States Navy, and to the officers and men of the squadron under his command.

"Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, that in pursuance of the recommendation of the President, made in accordance with the provisions of Section 1,108, of the Revised Statutes, the thanks of Congress and of the American people are hereby tendered to Commodore George Dewey, U. S. N., commander-in-chief of the Asiatic station, for highly distinguished conduct in conflict with the enemy, as displayed by him in the destruction of the Spanish fleet and batteries in harbor of Manila, Philippine Islands, May 1, 1898.

"Sec. 2. That the thanks of Congress and the American people are hereby extended through Commodore Dewey to the officers and men under his command for the gallantry and skill exhibited by them on that occasion.

"Sec. 3. Be it further resolved that the President of the United States be requested to cause this resolution to be communicated to Commodore Dewey, and through him to the officers and men under his command."

The following is the bill passed by Congress raising the number of admirals from six to seven to provide for Commodore Dewey's promotion:

"Section 1. That the number of rear admirals in the United States Navy now allowed by law be and is hereby increased from six to seven, and this act shall be construed and taken as validating and making in force and effect any promotion to said rank of rear admiral in the United States Navy made heretofore or hereafter and during the existing war and based on the thanks of Congress."

Senator Lodge presented and the Senate passed a resolution authorizing the President to present a sword to Dewey and medals to officers and men under him who were in the battle at Manila. It appropriates $10,000 for the purpose.

The resolutions of thanks to Dewey passed the House unanimously on a rising vote.

By order of Gov. Black, the Thirteenth Regiment, located in Brooklyn, has been disbanded for disobedience of orders in failing to respond after volunteering.

FITZSIMMONS' DEFI.

The Champion Says He Will Fight Both Corbett and McCoy.

Boston, May 10.—Bob Fitzsimmons has announced his acceptance of the offer of Kid McCoy to fight the champion for $10,000 in a contest at middleweight, and also his acceptance of the offer of James J. Corbett of $25,000 for an opportunity to regain the heavyweight championship.

Fitzsimmons will meet either man before the regularly organized club offering the largest purse, but he will insist on a side bet of $10,000 in each case, and both matches must take place before Sep. 1. of this year.

This announcement is accompanied with the offer of Julian, Fitzsimmons' manager, and the prize fighter himself to bet $2,500 that neither McCoy nor Corbett will make good his offer.

Denver, Col., May 10.—After reading the Associated Press dispatch from Boston, announcing that Bob Fitzsimmons had accepted his offer of $25,000 for an opportunity to regain the heavyweight championship, James J. Corbett sent the following dispatch to W. A. Brady, his manager, who is in New York City:

"Go after that man (Fitzsimmons) and make my offer to him again—$25,000 that I will stop him in ten rounds—and put up some money. Show him up."

To Be Tried as a Spy.

Washington, May 10.—George Downing, the former sailor on the cruiser Brooklyn, who was arrested here on Saturday night by John Wilkie, Chief of the United States Secret Service, will be tried as a spy. The War Department has taken charge of the case and the charges are being prepared in the office of the Judge Advocate General. The trial will be by a military commission to be selected by Secretary Alger. Downing is confined at the Washington barracks under a strong guard and no person is allowed to see him. The barracks is famous as the place where Mrs. Surratt, an accomplice of Booth, was imprisoned during her trial.

Postmasters Must Keep Silent.

Washington, May 10.—Postmaster General Emory Smith has issued the following order:

"All officers and employes of the Post Office Department are hereby forbidden to furnish information pertaining to or in any way bearing upon the conduct of the war to any person or persons not connected with the department or to any newspaper or other publication unless authorized to do so by the head of the department."

This order was made for the purpose of preventing postmasters from giving information in regard to suspicious letters passing through their offices. Such information, it is thought, may in some instances be incorrect, and in others prejudicial to the interests of the Government.

To Arm Cuban Volunteers.

Washington, May 10.—Yesterday the House passed the Senate bill providing for the enlistment of inhabitants of Cuba in the army of the United States, accepting the services of Cuban volunteers and relieving destitute Cuban women and children. This means that arms and ammunition can now be furnished by the Government to all the armies of Cuba, and that co-operation from Gomez and his forces can be expected as soon as they can be reached.

For a Recess of Congress.

Washington, May 10.—Representative Dockery, of Missouri, has introduced a concurrent resolution providing for a recess of Congress from June 7 to July 19.

The Martin Act.

The decision of Vice Chancellor Pitney in reference to the constitutionality of the Martin Act, as printed in the news columns of today's Press, will be read with great interest by a large number of Plainfield property owners who just now are undergoing an attempted application of its provisions to their properties.

The point with which the Vice Chancellor dealt is not the same as has been raised in Plainfield in objection to certain adjustments made by the commissioners working under the law. But since the constitutionally of the law to a large degree hinged upon the contention, it assures the Plainfielders that they will not be able to escape the findings of the commissioners by any faulty construction of the law itself.

Daily Press Eleven Years Old.

Eleven years ago The Daily Press first made its appearance. Its growth from the first issue has been constant and marked. Its policy has always been to print the news quickly and truthfully—the essential practices that have brought it prosperity and placed it in the front rank of New Jersey newspapers.

Today The Daily Press is the acknowledged leading newspaper of Plainfield. It will continue in this position by simply following out the policy which has always characterized its conduct.

How little marine enterprise the people of the middle ages had is shown by the fact that the Cape Verde islands, distant only 320 miles from the westernmost point of Africa, were not discovered till the middle of the fifteenth century, not many years before America. The Portuguese were the greatest navigators of those days, and they first sighted these dots of land in the sea and took possession of them in the name of their government. The Cape Verde islands have belonged to the country that discovered them, Portugal, ever since her navigators found them, being one of the few tracts of land that have not changed hands in modern times.

Spain was only able to buy two Atlantic liners to be converted into cruisers, the Normannia and the Columbia of the Hamburg-American line. After the sale had been completed the German government expressed in strong terms its displeasure at the transaction. Germany had the like claim on these two vessels that the United States government had on the four steamers of the American line, the St. Paul, St. Louis, New York and Paris, and there was an implied understanding that they should be taken and converted into armed cruisers for the service of the empire, if they were ever to be needed for such purpose.

American merchant ships in Spanish ports have until May 21 to get out in safety. After that they will be subject to seizure. The same courtesy shown to Spanish merchantmen in our ports will enable both American and Spanish trading vessels to get safe out upon the high seas, beyond the three mile limit which has been adjudged to belong to a country as her coast line.

The usual method when a naval nation proclaim neutrality is to inform the fighting countries that they will be required to take their warships out of the said nation's ports on a notice of 24 hours. The neutral nation may, however, hold back for a considerable time the notice to the ships to quit.

The sultan of Turkey has built at Mecca a huge shelter house, capable of holding 6,000 pilgrims at once. The sultan of Turkey is very much like those rich Americans who think they will atone for their sins by giving money to construct big churches and pay preachers.

Things that Are Not Exactly News, but Just as Interesting.

The Frank L. C. Martin Cycle Company have an automatic pumping machine in front of their store on Park avenue, which will inflate bicycle tires at short notice. A penny is dropped in the slot, the pipe being attached to the tire, and enough air is pumped into the tire to inflate it. The machine has already become popular.

Captain George D. Morrison, of Plainfield avenue, who has been absent from this city since last December, returned home last evening from California. Last December Capt. Morrison left Philadelphia on his ship, James Nesbitt, for California. It was his intention to sell the ship at the latter place. It required 127 days for him to reach his destination. As the purchasers were hardly ready for him he was obliged to wait for two or three days before the deal was completed. The Captain left California April 11th for home. He stopped at various places en route. He says that the patriotic feeling is even more intense in California than here. He mentioned several places where people were out in the streets and at the railroad station celebrating the news from the seat of war when it was favorable to the United States. In some cases music was furnished by a brass band. Captain Morrison is glad to get home and it is likely that he will now remain in Plainfield. His many friends are glad to greet him on his return.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The Acme Comedy and Vaudeville Company make their first appearance tomorrow night at Music Hall, presenting for their initial bill, the laughable comedy, "The Bachelor's Divorce." It is said to be a highly entertaining play, and in the hands of the efficient company portraying the several characters, will undoubtedly be a great success. After the comedy, the company and specialty artists appear in a full programme of special fetures, and illustrated songs, including some of the very latest war scenes, so that two distinct entertainments are given, complete in every detail. Particular attention is called to the prices to be charged for these performances. The general admission is fixed at 10 cents and reserved seats will be sold for 20 cents. These reserved seats will be sold during the day at box office, and nothing but general admission and box seats will be sold when doors open for perfor mance at night.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CITY UNION OF KING'S DAUGHTERS.

City Nurse Told How the Poor Appreciate the Efforts Made to Make Life Happier—Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The annual meeting of the City Union of the King's Daughters was held yesterday afternoon in the Sunday-school room of the First Baptist church. New officers were elected, and reports from the Union as well as from the different circles read. The reports showed that the Union is in a flourishing condition financially, and the results of the year's work can be looked upon very pleasantly.

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises by Rev. Dr. Yerkes. The treasurer's report as submitted, showed that the receipts for the contingent fund were $30.66, the ex penditures $17 87, leaving a balance of $12 18. The amount paid for the nurses' services was $9 93. The report of the nurse fund showed that $807.68 had been received, and $691.01 expended, leaving a balance of $116 87. The camp fund report showed the receipts to have been $287 64, expenditures $188.63, balance, $99.01.

Miss Hartranft, the city nurse, was also present, and made a report of her year's work. Miss Hartranft is quite enthusiastic over the prospects for good among the poor of this city, and told how anxiously the people looked for her coming, when due on her regular visits, and how much they appreciated her efforts in their behalf.

The reports of the various circles of the city were generally short, but contained much that was gratifying. In almost every case the circles had been actively engaged in distributing Christmas and Thanksgiving dinners to the poor, paying their shares towards supporting the city nurse and helping the work along in every pos sible direction. The Co Workers Circle reported that they had taken a young girl in Burmah to teach, and had named her Emily Butler, after their beloved president, and the Daughters of the Cross said they had added twenty-six new members during the past year.

Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., was given an opportunity to tell something about the needs and wants of the Girls' Club. Mrs. Biglow said that the City Union had decided that they could not support the club financially any more, and that now they would have to look for aid among those outside of the union. The club is about to change its quarters to the house in the rear of the Jackson building on Madison avenue, and it will be under heavier expenses. It is desired, that as many of the male members of the community interest themselves in the club as possible.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Charles A. Reed; vice president, Mrs. Edward Caldwell; corresponding secretary, Miss Emma Haviland; recording secretary, Miss Delphine Bowers; treasurer, Miss Linda Butler It was decided to revise the constitution and a committeee, consisting of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Mrs W. L. C. Glenny and Miss Linda Butler, was appointed to look over the matter and to report upon it in the fall The circles have a year now in which to pay their pledges to the nurse's fund, ins ead of six months, as formerly.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to the Daily Press)

Westfield, May 10—The announcement was made today of the marriage of Miss Hattie Terry, daughter of A. S. Terry, of Broad street, to Warren Woodruff, son of B. H. Woodruff, also of this place. The announcement was a great surprise to the friends of the contracting parties, as it took place seven months ago in New York. Miss Terry was formerly employed as the cashier at Walker's grocery store, and both she and her husband are popular young people.

The action of the Township Committee Friday evening in giving a ten years' contract to the Westfield Water Company is being much criticised by the property owners and taxpayers of the town. By the new contract the city will pay $22 for each fire hydrant, which is $3 cheaper than is now being paid to the Union Water Company, but the residents do not think the township should be tied up for so long a time, and besides the contract with the Union Water Company has expired and there is nothing to prevent them turning off the water supply and leaving the town without water for fire purposes. Chairman Embree, of the Committee, was thinking of this when he tried to prevent the Committee from railroading the contract through without more deliberation. In an interview with The Press representative Mr. Embree stated that he was heartily in favor of the Westfield Water Company, and that he did not vote against the resolution to sign the contract because of any wish to protect the interests of the Union Water Company, but simply to protect the people who elected him.

The prayer meeting at the Garwood chapel Thursday evening will be led by Rev Charles Fiske, of St. Paul's church, this place.

As the Garfield baseball team failed to show up Saturday there was no game on the Broad street grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hazel, of Elizabeth, have been spending a few days with friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bonner, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with friends in Westfield.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

SCHOOL OF A SOLDIER.

Manual of Arms for Young Men of Military Inclination.

War talk always stirs the military ardor of the boys. There is no schoo boy so young but what he yearns to be a soldier when his country sounds the call to arms. To-day in every city and hamlet in the land, this spirit of patriotism finds expression in the formation and drilling of juvenile battalions. Ordinary sports and pastimes, for the time being, give place to the evolutions of the drill and the manual of arms, and the martial strains of drum and fife are beginning to be as popular and omnipresent as they were in1861-65.

In forming ranks the position of the soldier at "Attention" is: Heels in the same line and near each other; feet turned out equally and formins with each other an angle of about 60 degrees; knees straight, but not stiff; body erect on the hips, slightly inclined forward; arms and hands hanging naturally; little fingers opposite seams of the trousers; head erect, chin slightly down, and eyes straight in the front.

Next comes the manual of arms. Marching and the performance of difficult evolutions need not be taught until the boys have mastered the secret of preserving perfect alignment in ranks, and handling their guns. The manual of arms is as follows:

Order Arms—Butt of gun rests solidly on ground, barrel to the rear, touching toe of the right shoe; right hand holding the piece between thumb and fingers, first two fingers to the front.

Port Rms.—Raise piece diagonally across the body, magazine to the front; grasp it smartly with both hands (the right palm down) at the small of the stock (the left palm up) at the balance, thumb clasping the piece, barrel slipping to the left and crossing opposite the junction of the neck with the left shoulder; right forearm horizontal, left forearm resting agaist the body; piece near the body.

Shoulder Arms—Carry the piece diagonally across the body with the right hand, magazine to front; grasp it at the balance wth left hand palm up, thumb clasping the piece; carry the right hand and quickly to the butt, embracing it, heel between the first two fingers, the thumb and figers closed on the stock, the barrel sloping to the left and crossing opposite the juncture of the neck with the left shoulder, left forearm resting against the body, the piece, left arm, and hand being in the same position as at port arms. Raise and place the piece on the right shoulder, the right elbow against the side, the right hand directly in front of the elbow; at the same time slip the left hand, fingers extended and jointed down opposite the bolt handle. Then drop the left hand by the side.

Parade Rest—Being at order arms: Carry the right foot six inches straight to the rear, left knee slightly bent; carry the muzzle in front of the center of the body, barrel to the left hand just below the stacking swivel and with the right hand below and against the left.

When precision in this manual has been attained the drillmaster may take his squad into some handy lot and put the boys through their paces

A NEW WESTERN IDEA.

Girls Who Give Gold Models of Their Little Fingers to Their Betrothed.

"Do the girls here give gold models of their little fingers to their fiances?" asked the Western girl of the Gothamite.

"Heavens, no!" answered the Gothamite. "It seems to me that that is a rather grewsome souvenir."

"Not at all," answered the Western girl. "It is decidedly dainty, and I'm a little surprised that New York is so far behind the times. The fad started in this way. When the daughter of one of our big Western politicians was six months old, he had a model of her little finger cast in gold. Around the little dimpled digit is a ring of turquoise, which is her birth stone, and it makes a lovely charm for her betrothed's watch chain. He valued it so much that it set other men to thinking, and the result is that as soon as the girl wraps one of these chaps around her own little finger sufficiently for a proposal to follow, he immediately insists upon a gold facsimile of the flesh and blood original. It is a pretty conceit, and is being followed by every Westerner who is in subjection to somebody's little finger.—New York Sun.

Making an Artificial Skin.

A process has been patented in Germany for making a substitute for the natural skin for use in wounds. The muscular coating of the intestines of animals is divested of mucous membrane and then treated in a pepsin solution until the muscular fibres are half-digested. After a second treatment with tannin and gallic acid a tissue is produced which takes the place of the natural skin, and which, when laid on the wound, is entirely absorbed during the healing process.

The Inquiring Mind.

Johnny—Say pa, I want to ask you a question.

Mr. Sniff.—Well, now, I don't know why the Spring doesn't always come in the Fall, or where the wind is when it doesn't blow, or whether, if the almanac makers should leave out the month of August, the corn crop would be ruined by September frosts. But go ahead.

Johnny—Why, pa, I only wanted to know how it comes that no one but children die in childhood?—New York Journal.

Stood Up for Him.

"Do you think your sister likes me, Tommy?"

"Yes; she stood up for you at dinner."

"Stood up for me? Was anybody saying anything about me?"

"No, nothing much. Father said he thought you were rather a donkey, but sis got up and said you weren't, and told father he ought to know better than to judge a man by his looks."—London Household Words.

Not Susceptible to Flattery.

Broken-Down Actor (with battered hat and frayed clothing)—Ah, good morning, me charming gazelle. May I inquire if you have at your disposal any cold turkey or other suitable viands with which a gentleman might assuage his hunger?

Servant Girl (who has been there before)—I guess there's plenty o' cold vittles in the kitchen, if thot's wot ye mane. But—er—where's the gintleman?—New York Truth.

His Theory.

"A great many women marry men for the purpose of reforming them," remarked the observant citizen.

"I suppose so," replied the man who was reluctantly writing a check, "but sometimes they misjudge a man. Now that you remind me of it, I believe my wife unjustly suspected me of the habit of saying too much money."—Washington Star.

Electric Tornado Alarms.

A cyclone or a tornado will rush suddenly upon a township and leave it in ruins a few minutes later. This fact has resulted in the invention of a barometer, built on such lines that, a few minutes before the arrival of a violent atmospheric disturbance, the mercury, being agitated, rings an electric alarm and gives fair warning.

Tame Enough.

Tourist (in Jersey, apprehensively)—How about the Jersey mosquitoes? Don't you find them pretty vicious creatures?

Jersey Native (indifferently)—Not at all! Not at all! Why, they'll eat right out of your hand!—Puck.

Nothing to Tell.

Mother: "What did your father say when he saw his broken pipe?"

Innocent; "Shall I leave out the wicked words, mamma?"

Mother: "Certainly."

Innocent: "Then I don't believe there is anything to tell you, mamma."

His Yearn.

"Shay, m' (hic) frien'!" said Lushington, after vainly fumbling with his latch-key for twenty minutes.

"Well?" returned the passer-by.

"Have you (hic) got such a shing as a spare key (hic) hole about you?"—Judge.

Not a Judge.

"Is it true, 'Nezer, that stolen chickens are the sweetest?"

"Dunno, boss, 'deed I don'. I nebber tasted de yudder kind."—Typographical Journal.

Miss Passe. Oh, Reginald. Do some brave and heroic deed and prove your love for me.

Reginald. Haven't I offered to marry you?

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Bei einer neuerlichen erregten Volksversammlung im Rathhause wurde das antisemitische Reichsrathsmitglied Bielohlawek geohrfeigt. Polizei mußte aufgeboten werden und es wurden 100 Verhaftungen vorgenommen.—Eine hiesige Baumwollspinnfabrik bezog dieser Tage eine Partie amerikanischer Baumwolle, die mit dem Dampfer „Eskdale" aus Savannah in Bremen ankam. Beim Oeffnen eines Ballens im Fabriksmagazin fanden die Arbeiter im Innern des Ballens eine mit einem Explosivstoffe gefüllte Kapsel vor, an welcher eine Zündschnur angebracht war. Einem günstigen Zufall ist es zu danken, daß keine Inbrandsetzung der Baumwolle stattgefunden hat.

Baden. Bei einem Gewitter schlug der Blitz in Teesdorf ein und zündete in dem Hause des Wirthschaftsbesitzers Hininger, welches sammt den Nebengebäuden eingeäschert wurde. Ein Knecht und drei Kühe wurden vom Blitz gelähmt.

Budapest. In Folge Berstens der Hauptschleuse eines Kunstteiches wurde das Goldbergwerk Verespatak völlig überschwemmt. Sämmtliche Anlagen sind zerstört. Der Schaden beträgt über 100,000 Gulden.

Graz. Der wegen Brandlegung in Untersuchung befindliche Franz Kantuser ermordete im Gefangenhause zu Drachenburg seinen 67 Jahre alten Zellengenossen Joseph Ulamec mit einer Hacke, weil er von Ulamec den Verrath eines ihm anvertrauten Geheimnisses fürchtete.

Innsbruck. Im Herbst vorigen Jahres wurde auch hier der Versuch mit der Abhaltung volksthümlicher Universitätskurse gemacht und das Ergebniß war ein sehr erfreuliches. Nach den soeben veröffentlichten Daten betrug die Zahl der Besucher insgesammt 3171, wovon nahezu ein Drittel auf die Arbeiterschaft entfällt.

Leoben. Der auf der hiesigen Bergakademie studirende tatarische Fürst Ameredszibi ist verhaftet worden, weil er arge Exzesse verübt und dabei die Drohung ausgestoßen hatte, alle Deutschen wie die Hunde niederzuschießen.

Libochowitz. Im Abhange des Hasenberges oberhalb Klappat entstand ein Bergrutsch, wodurch bis jetzt 30 Häuser theils verschüttet, theils gefährdet wurden. Die Schule und das Pfarrhaus sind in hohem Grade bedroht. Der Statthalter sandte militärische Hilfe.

Neunkirchen. Dieser Tage unternahmen einige Bursche einen Ausflug nach der „Flatzer Wand," eine sonst höchst ungefährliche Partie. Der 17jährige Gebäcksausträger Georg Frais wollte ein Bravourstückchen ausführen und sprang von einem circa drei Meter hohen Felsen herab. Hierbei brach er sich zweimal den linken Arm und einen Fuß und erlitt überdies am Kopfe mehrere Verletzungen.

Salzburg. Ein Hahn aus der letzten Brut des vergangenen Herbstes hat dem zweijährigen Sohne des Josef Brunauer, Bloachlechnerbauer in Geisau, in Abwesenheit der Eltern und während sich die Dienstmagd im Stalle befand, derartige Verletzungen am Kopfe, insbesondere an den Schläfen beigebracht, daß das Kind nach einigen Stunden gestorben ist.

Triest. Neulich brachten 100 Personen, zumeist Sozialisten, dem hier weilenden Wiener Bürgermeister Lueger vor dessen Hotel eine Katzenmusik, „Hinaus Lueger! Nieder Lueger!" rufend. Die Polizei nahm vier Verhaftungen vor.

Schweiz.

Bern. Der Nationalrath genehmigte einstimmig die Uebernahme der Gewähr für die Verzinsung und Rückzahlung der von Kantonalbanken der Jura-Simplongesellschaft angebotenen Anleihe von 60,000,000 Francs für den Simplondurchstich.—Vor Kurzem geriethen sechs Wegearbeiter, welche die Straße Andermatt-Göschenen für die Post zu öffnen hatten, in eine Schneelawine. Der Wegmeister, welcher nun schon zum neunten Male von einer Lawine überschüttet worden war, sowie drei Wegknechte konnten sich herausarbeiten, während zwei Wegknechte ihren Tod fanden. Das Unglück trug sich oberhalb des Urnenlochs zu.

Zürich. An der Universität Zürich wurde Frau Gisela Kuhn, die Gattin eines Brünner Tuchfabrikanten, auf Grund der von ihr durchwegs mit Auszeichnung abgelegten Staatsprüfungen und der Inaugural-Dissertation „Ueber Tracheitis Membranacea" zum Doktor der gesammten Heilkunde promovirt. Frau Dr. Kuhn wird sich nach dem Orient wenden, um dort ihre ärztliche Praxis auszuüben.

Schwyz. In der Nähe der elektrischen Leitung zwischen Brunnen und Gersau wurde Holz gefällt und durch einen herabstürzenden Baumstamm die Leitung zerstört. Der herabhängende Draht verursachte einen Waldbrand, den zwei anwesende Männer zu dämmen suchten. Bei der Rettungsarbeit kamen die Beiden, denen die Wirkung der Elektrizität, beziehungsweise die Berührung von Drähten elektrischer Hochspannungsleitungen nicht bekannt sein mochte, mit dem Drahte in Berührung; sie fielen sofort todt nieder.

JAPAN'S AMBASSADOR.

A Highly Cultivated Man—His Life Reads Like a Romance.

No better evidence of the development of Japan into a great civilized power can be found than by contrasting its Legation at Washington with that of China and Korea. The great mandarins of the Flowery Kingdom are the same in manners, customs, speech, thought and even tendencies as were those described by the English, Portugese and Dutch navigators in the seventeenth century. The Korean representatives go about with the curious two-storied hats and the other quaint articles of wear which they employ in their own land, and their best representatives at Washington are exactly like the one thousand and one petty nobles who make up the aristocracy of the Hermit Kingdom.

Forty years ago Japan sent out no legation, and its people were on a par with those of its two neighbors, but today the land is as civilized as our own, and the Legation at Washington is so like that of the European powers that in many respects they may all be regarded as casts from the same mold.

In some respects the Ministers from Dai Nippon set an example to those from other lands. Nearly all are college men, trained soldiers and jurists and linguists of no mean ability. The preceding Ambassadors, M. Kurino and M. Tateno and the present one, M. Toru Hoshi, are all men of extraordinary ability. The last named is a character whose history is almost a romance. He belongs to what may be termed the reform liberal party, and is almost a democrat in his ideas and views.

He was a leader of the popular uprising in his early youth, when the people, growing out of their former customs, demanded greater liberty and privileges for themselves and the curtailment of the powers of the ruling classes. In those years he was mobbed, assaulted, arrested, convicted, imprisoned, and once banished from the capital, yet during that period he found time to prosecute studies of all sorts, and became, through study and practice, one of the best parliamentarians and jurists in Japan.

He also acquired distinction as a politician, orator, stateman and executive. In the eighties he went around the world on a tour of study, in which he paid particular attention to the political and social institutions of Italy, Austria, France, Germany, Russia and England. He reads and writes English with rare fluency and speaks it admirably.

He has a fair knowledge of French and Latin and a great familiarity with Korean, official Chinese and Cantonese. He is also one of the native scholars that have studied the Aino Loo Choo and other ancient dialects and tongues of his country.—New York Mail and Express.

THE ONLY RELIC LEFT.

The Importunate Englishman Backed Down When Offered It.

Robert Burns's wife, after his death, continued to live at Dumfries, and it was customary for strangers to visit the place. A young Englishman one day called upon the widow and, after he had seen all that she had to show, the poet's bedroom, his original portrait of Nasmyth, and his family Bible, he entreated her to present him with some relic which he might carry away with him.

"Indeed, sir," said Mrs. Burns, "I have given away so many relics that I have not one left."

"Oh, you surely must have something," said the persevering Saxon. "Anything will do—anything you please."

Some further altercation took place, the lady reasserting that she had no relic to give, and he as repeatedly renewing his request. At length, fairly tired out with the man's importunities, Mrs. Burns said to him with a smile: "Dear sir, unless you take me, then, I dinna see how you are to get what you want."

Her suggestion had the desired effect and the petition was at once withdrawn.

The King of the Woods.

Very few persons ever visit the southern portion of the United States and become at all familiar with its woodland life without being captivated by that prince of singers, the mocking bird. Not only as a musician, but in general "smartness," he is far and away ahead of anything else that flies. He is the "Yankee" among birds. In vivacity, in cleverness, in a quick and dexterous use of his small but brillian brain, it would be hard to point out his equal. And when in the springtime the woods resound with his clear, flutelike, and exultant notes, even the man, if such there be, "who hath no music in his soul," would find it hard to resist the contagious good humor of his glad and gleeful song.

And yet the mocking bird is incorrectly named. He is by no means a natural mimic. Half a dozen birds could be mentioned that in this particular far surpass him. This may seem a strange thing to say, in view of the stories current so abundantly illustrating and emphasizing this supposed gift.

A PONY'S INSTINCT.

She Saved Her Master's Life by Digging Him Out of a Huge Heap of Sand.

In some of the western states and territories they have sandstorms, says a writer in the Outlook. The wind rises, and the sand is blown in great quantities and with great swiftness. Sometimes the sand buries small horses, as the snow does. It banks up against buildings and buries cattle on the plains. The cattle seem to know when one of these storms is brewing, and are terrified and very difficult to control. Among the scouts on the western plains is one who owns a pony named Cita. When a man and a pony live together for a long time they become great friends, and object to separation. Cita had stumbled and skinned one of her legs. Her master had to go out on an expedition, and decided that he would ride another horse. He thought the journey too hard for Cita with her hurt leg.

After the scout had been gone an hour one of the sandstorms came up. At night the wind went down and the moon rose. The men sat sorrowfully around the camp fire, when they were startled by the sound of a horse's feet. The scout's friend rode into camp, exhausted, and with face and hands bruised by the flying sand. He had worked his way out of the flying drift after the storm was over. The scout had been blown from his pony. The last the friend saw of the man and pony were being blown before the wind.

The party started to search for the scout. They discovered that Cita had broken her halter and was gone. They followed her trail, and after many hours heard a horse whinny. In the moonlight they discovered Cita, reared on her hind legs, digging in a huge pile of sand with her fore feet. The men went to work, and there, under his horse, which had protected him, they found the scout, alive.

FRENCH FUNERALS.

Napoleon Created the Having but One Undertaker for Paris.

Practically there is, or was, only one undertaker for the whole of the French capital and its suburbs. Disgusted with the abuses and unseemly scenes of his times, Napoleon I. conferred the monopoly of burying the Parisians on one contractor, and the arrangements exist until the present day.

It must not be thought, however, that the privilege was granted without very stringent conditions, which, as they stand, make a considerable inroad on the enormous profits of the monopolist. Funerals are divided into nine classes, ranging from 7184 francs to 18 francs 75 centimes.

The municipality allows the burial company $1 per body interred. On the other hand, the company is bound to refund 56 per cent. of its gross receipts, which sums are divided among the various religious communities. In addition, the company has to bury gratuitously every individual whose friends or relatives are unable to defray the expense of any of the nine classes.—Golden Days.

True to His Bringing Up.

A writer in the Independent has discovered something rare—a donkey boy in Cairo with a sense of the ideal. Most boys of his profession are a good-natured lot, but few are the vices they cannot teach. Little Hassau, on the contrary, seems to have principles, and is quietly stanch in his adherence to them.

Once he refused a cigarette, says the traveler, and in my surprise I almost lost my balance.

"What! Not smoke, Hassau?" said I. "I thought all the donkey boys smoked."

"I don't, said Hassau, who looked about eleven, was short, very brown, very scantily dressed, quite dirty, had only one eye and trotted behind the donkey with rounded shoulders and head craned forward. "I don't. If I did, my family would beat me, and quite right, too."

"But who are you, and who are your family?" I asked.

"Ah!" he said, proudly, "we are Sudanese. In the Sudan we are strict. To smoke, to use wine, to drink coffee, not to pray---these are shameful things; and if a man did anything impure, they hang him to a tree with his face toward the sun."

Both Qualifications.

There is a large coinage of good stories about Hannibal Hamlin up in Maine, and this is one of them: In his earlier days, at a certain caucus in Hampden, the only attendants were himself and a citizen of large stature. Mr. Hamlin had some resolutions to pass which began by representing that they were presented to a "large and respectable" gathering of voters. "Hold on," cried the other man, "we can't pass that, for it ain't true! It ain't a large and respectable caucus! There's only two of us." "You keep still," brother," commanded the wily Hannibal. "It's all right, for you are large and I am respectable. You just keep still." So the resolutions were passed without further demur.—Living Church.

SPORTS

AROUND THE BASES.

A baseball league has been formed in the Passaic Valley representing teams in the various towns along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad from Summit to Gladstone. Games have been arranged for every Saturday from April 30th to October 8th, with holidays open for postponed games. The trophy to be awarded the winner at the end of the season is a large silver cup suitably engraved. Robert G. Rogers, manager of the Berkley Heights team, has laid out and graded a suitable baseball field near the railroad station at Berkley Heights which will be equal to any in the league.

The Crescents did not open the season Saturday afternoon as was expected. When Manager Mumford saw that the afternoon was likely to be wet and stormy, he telegraphed to the manager of the Seventh Regiment team and asked that the game be postponed for a week. Manager Wilson agreed to the change. So next Saturday will see the Seventh Regiment nine here. The members of the local team appeared, however, and spent the afternoon in practice down at the diamond at the Crescent Oval. They showed up very well.

Manager Mumford has all sorts of wierd tales to tell about his new short-stop for the Crescents. He says that they were shooting cannon balls at Stamnitz, who is this wonderful short-stop, Saturday, and that he never failed to stop one of them. While the other baseball cranks are not sure about the cannon ball stopping feat, they agree that in practice Saturday afternoon Stamnitz certainly did excellent work.

What show the Plainfield High School team had for the pennant in the New Jersey Interscholastic Athletic Association is gone now. Three games have been lost and only one victory secured. There is one satisfaction, however, they will not be last in the contest. The team from Stevens School has an even more unenviable record.

The Norwood Athletic Club defeated the Union Athletic Club at base ball Saturday afternoon on the Plainfield avenue grounds. The battery for the Norwood Club was Feiring, VanAuken and Messersmith. Delamer and Peterson formed the battery for the Unions.

The nine of the Bachelors' Club was to have played the Leal's School team Saturday afternoon at the Washington avenue grounds. Owing to the muddy condition of the grounds, the game was called off and the players adjourned to see the girls play basket ball.

GOLF.

The first contest for the Charles J. Fisk cup, junior handicap, took place last Saturday morning on the links of Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. In all there were sixteen entries, and the playing was very good. Morris Dumont won the cup with a net score of 67, and Harvey Fisk secured secured second place with a net score of 74. The winner will hold the cup until next June, when it will be played for again. The names of those who contested are Augustus Fisk, Charles Fisk, Jr., W. Wadsworth, Lester Glenny, George Rickard, Pendleton Rogers, Jr., N. Rogers, Whitney Baker, F. Talmage, Owen Fleming, Paul Kimball, Morris Dumont, Harvey Fisk, W. Roome, Jr., Howard Roome and C. Roome. In the afternoon the preparatory play for the Mrs. Charles J. Fisk cup resulted in Harvey Fisk securing the cup with a net score of 66. This cup will also be held until June, when the second contest will take place.

A Death at New Market.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Market, May 10—The death of Ann E., wife of George C. Soulsby, aged 85 years, occurred at her home yesterday afternoon after a long illness. The deceased was well known throughout this locality and she had a host of friends who will be shocked to learn of her death. The funeral will be held from the late residence on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Chicago Wants "Dick."

The police have received circulars from Chicago, asking them to be on the lookout for "Dick" Sullivan, who is wanted in that city for robbery. It is thought that he has come east.

Sec. 2. The assessor shall enter each year, upon a field book to be furnished him by the Council, in each and every case, the information indicated by the following several headings, viz: "Owner," "Location," "Dimensions of Land," "Description of Buildings," "Value of Land," "Value of Buildings," "Personal Property," "Deductions," "Total Assessed Value," "Dog" and "Poll."

Sec. 3. The assessor shall complete the field book mentioned in the preceding section and also make annually an original duplicate of his assessments for such year, and a true copy thereof, and present such field book, copy of assessment map, duplicate and copy thereof, at the first meeting, regular or special, of the Council in August of each year, and continue to so present them at any adjourned or other meeting of the Council, at the pleasure of the Council until the duplicate is finally corrected and approved as required by law. For the purposes of this section the said duplicate and copy thereof need contain only the names of owners, the location of property, the assessed value and the character of property, whether real or personal.

Sec. 4. Before any duplicate is finally approved as required by law, the copy thereof mentioned in preceding section shall be compared with the original and made to correspond therewith in the particulars specified in said section by the Borough Clerk, and shall thereafter remain in the custody of the Borough Clerk without further alteration, subject to such use as the Council may, from time to time, by resolution determine. After any duplicate shall have been finally approved by the Council, no change in the amount of any assessment contained therein shall be made by the Assessor or Collector except first authorized by resolution of the Council.

Sec. 5. The Commissioners of Appeal shall annually make and certify under their hands or the hands of a majority of them, duplicate reports in writing in detail of all allowances and deductions or other changes in assessments made or allowed by them, and shall deliver within five days after their meeting in each year one copy of such report to the Borough Clerk and the other copy to the Collector, and said Clerk and Collector shall severally file and preserve every such report.

Sec. 6. No exemption from taxation shall be allowed to any soldier, sailor, member of the national guard, or active or exempt fireman, except on property owned by and assessed to such soldier, sailor, member of the national guard, active or exempt fireman, and no exempt fireman except such as shall have earned his exemption in the service of a fire department within the limits of the Borough of North Plainfield shall be allowed any such exemption as exempt fireman.

Sec. 7. No allowance or deduction shall be made from any assessment by the Collector except by virtue of resolution of the Council or the certified written report of the commissioners of appeal on file with the Collector.

Sec. 8. The Collector shall charge and collect interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum on all delinquent taxes (as provided in state law) unless the Council shall by resolution direct him to accept a less rate, which said Council may do in any particular case without otherwise changing this provision.

Sec. 9. The Collector shall keep a full and correct record in a proper book, of all property sold for taxes, and report all such sales with a description of the property, name of owner, name of purchaser, term and amount for which sold, in writing to the Council at its next regular meeting after such sale is made, and whenever thereafter the tax on any such property is paid shall in like manner report that fact to the Council.

Sec. 10. The Collector shall report in writing to the Council at each regular meeting thereof the amount of money by him collected since the previous meeting, and in such report shall specify in each instance, in addition to the year for which the money collected was assessed, the name of each person assessed, the amount assessed, the date when paid and the amount of interest, if any, collected.

Sec. 11. The Borough Collector shall deposit, as soon as possible after the same shall come into his possession, all checks and moneys of the Borough hereafter collected or received by him for any purpose, in such bank as the Council shall from time to time by resolution designate, in the name of "The Mayor and Council of the Borough of North Plainfield," which moneys so deposited shall be subject only to drafts thereon signed by the Mayor, attested by the Borough Clerk, and countersigned by the said Collector.

Sec. 12. The Borough Clerk shall file and preserve every report made by the collector pursuant to the preceding section, and shall enter each month upon the proper copy of the duplicate in his possession the date when each item of tax shown on such copy was reported by the Collector paid and such further facts in relation thereto as may be proper.

Sec. 13. The Borough Clerk shall immediately before the regular October meeting of the Council in each year, compare his copy of the duplicates for all preceding years with the Collector's duplicates for the purpose of determining whether or not such copies agree with such duplicates up to the thirtieth day of September then next preceding, and shall report the result in writing to the Council at such October meeting.

Sec. 14. The Committee on Taxation shall compare each year immediately prior to the regular February meeting of the Council the Collector's duplicate with the Clerk's copies thereof, and report the result to the Council at said meeting.

Sec. 15. All special school taxes collected by the Collector shall be transferred to him as the legal custodian of the school money belonging to the school district in which the borough is situated, as soon as the same are reported collected to the Council, and for that purpose the Mayor, Borough Clerk and Collector shall have power to draw their warrants from time to time for, and not exceeding the amount of special school tax so reported collected, without the passage, by the Council, of any resolution for that purpose, and the Collector shall, at each regular meeting of the Council, report the amount of such warrants drawn since the last preceding regular meeting.

Sec. 16. Every person who shall violate any provision of this ordinance, or shall fail to perform any duty required thereby, shall, on conviction thereof, be liable to a fine of one hundred dollars for every such violation or failure, and such penalty shall be in addition to any other liability or penalty which is now, or may hereafter be, provided by any law.

POWERS WANT PEACE.

A Joint Appeal May be Made to Compell Spain to Give Up Cuba and Pay Indemnity.

Washington, May 11, 11 a. m—The great triumph at the American fleet at Manila has put a new face on the present conflict in the eyes of the Powers of Europe. They now appreciate that they cannot dictate to the United States.

Spain is not in such a position, however, and the Powers can bring much force to bear upon her in event of their united support of any definite course of action. Then, too, Great Britian will not take part in any joint movement against the United States.

There is now talk of a joint appeal from the Powers to Spain to compel her to withdraw from the conflict, recognize the independence of Cuba and make suitable reparation to the United States.

The representatives of the Powers in this city held a conference this morning that was of much importance. They considered a proposition to compel Spain to sue for peace.

The basis of this proposed peace would be the relinquishing of Cuba by Spain, and the payment by Spain of an enormous war indemnity to the United States. The Phillippine Islands would then be returned to Spain.

Commodore Dewey would be permitted to hold the Phillippine Islands until the indemnity had been fully settled. Cuba would be allowed to form such manner of government as her people wished.

President McKinley will be approached today with a view to ascertain the views of the administration regarding such a course.

A leading diplomat here said that he did not believe that the administration would favor any plan that provided for the returning of the Phillippine Islands to Spain. Neither did he think that an agreement could be reached which did not give the United States a coaling station in the East and one in the West Indies.

TO BOMBARD HAVANA.

Report That Sampson Has Been Ordered to Co-operate With Army of Invasion.

Washington, May 11, 11:20 a. m,—It is reported at the Navy Department that Secretary Long sent orders to Rear Admiral Sampson this morning ordering him to return to Key West with his fleet to co-operate with the army of invasion in the bombardment of Havana.

After that is accomplished, he may then proceed to capture Porto Rico, in which he will be assisted by a portion of the land forces.

It is reported at the Navy Department that Commodore Schley's fleet at Old Point Comfort has been ordered to proceed south to assist in the bombardment of Havana by the navy while the army attacks it in the rear.

CUBA INVADED.

First United States Troops Landed With Supplies for the Insurgents.

Key West, May 11, 11 a. m—The first installment of regular troops of the United States Army has been landed on the shores of Cuba. With them is a large quantity of supplies of provisions, firearms and ammunition for the insurgent army.

The side-wheel steamer, Gussie, one of the fleet of transports, sailed from here yesterday with Companies E. and G. of the First Infantry on board. There was also on board a large amount of supplies for the insurgents.

Word was received this morning that the Gussie had landed the expedition, which is under the command of Captain Dorst, of the Fourth Cavalry, has been successfully landed on the northern coast of Cuba, fifty miles west af Havana.

A portion of the cargo of seven thousand Springfield rifles, 250,000 rounds of ammunition and general equipment for the insurgents was sent ashore under cover of the darkness. The two companies of the First Infantry was landed with the supplies to protect them until they shall have been turned over to the Cubans.

The Gussie will make two other landings where the remainder of the supplies will be left.

FURIOUS POPULACE.

Madrid, May 11, 11:30 a. m—The rioting was renewed here this morning. The populace was furious at the return of the Spanish fleet from the Cape Verde Islands.

The people expected that the fleet would give battle to the American fleet under Rear Admiral Sampson and would defeat the Americans, thus retrieving their honor after the defeat at Manila.

They are all ready to sail except the Pelayo, the repairs on which have not been quite completed. The Globe correspondent believes that the squadron will sail today.

He also adds that troops will leave for the Canary Islands next Sunday. Three battalions of marines are now quartered at San Bernando ready for embarkation.

Lieutenant Colwell, the naval attache at the American Embassy, said this afternoon that he disbelieves the report that the Spanish fleet from Cape Verde Islands is now at Cadiz.

Elected Grand Commander for State of New Jersey.

HEAD OF A NOBLE ORDER.

HIS CHOICE WAS THE RESULT OF SUCCESSIVE PROMOTION.

Mr. Sebring's Worth and Ability in Masonic Circles is Recognized Throughout New Jersey — Empowered to Make Arrangements for the Triennual National Conclave to be Held in Pittsburg Next October—Dr. D. C. Adams Elected Grand Junior Warden—Other Officers Chosen by the State Conclave.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, May 11—William H. Sebring, of Plainfield, was yesterday honored with the highest office that a Knight Templar of the Masonic brotherhood can attain in New Jersey—elected to the Grand Commandership of the State.

Mr. Sebring's selection was the result of the established custom of successive promotion to high and honored offices for a number of years.

It is recognized by Knights throughout the State that Mr. Sebring will make a fine Commander for the noble order of the Templars, and from this chair he will next year become a Past Grand Commander—a position which falls to the lot o. but few Masons.

Besides the choice of Mr. Sebring, the conclave yesterday elected the following other officers:

Deputy Grand Commander, Dr. Peter McGill, Lambertville; Grand Generalismo, William P. Pugh, Jersey City; Grand Captain-General, Joseph Davidson, Washington; Grand Prelate, Rev. George C. Maddox, Trenton; Grand Senior Warden, David Demarest, Paterson; Grand Junior Warden, Dr. D. C. Adams, Plainfield; Grand Treasurer, F. T. Wiese, Bordentown; Grand Recorder, Charles Bechtel, Trenton; Grand Standard Bearer, R. A. Shirrief, Elizabeth; Grand Sword Bearer, J. D. Beegle, Asbury Park, Grand Warder, John Henry, Newark; Grand Sentinel, P. C. Osmun, Trenton.

The Grand Commander was empowered to go ahead and make arrangements for the triennial conclave to be held in Pittsburg, Pa., during next October.

PARLIAMENTARY CLUB.

Chairmen of the Various Committees Were Appointed.

The meeting of the Parliamentary Club yesterday morning was particularly well attended, and the programme committee reported on the special meeting of the club which is to be held on the afternoon of May 26th in the large Y. M. C. A. Hall. This special meeting will be open to the public to a certain extent, each member being privileged to invite five guests. The programme will consist of a parliamentary drill to illustrate the work of the club, and reports from special committees.

At the meeting yesterday morning Mrs. F. A. Dunham was in the chair. Chairmen of the committees were appointed as follows: Committee on foreign affair, Mrs. W. L. Patton; local affairs, Mrs. W. B. Maxson; art and literature, Mrs. T. Frank Budlong; bulletin, Mrs. F. A. Dunham. Mrs. J. M. McNaughton and Mrs. Oliver King were appointed auditors.

Miss Eastman, of Crescent avenue, was elected a member of the club.

Many Houses Being Painted.

Marsh, Ayres & Co., the Park avenue decorators, began work on the following houses yesterday: For Mr. Herbst, of Terrill road, five houses on West Seventh street; Robert Rushmore's house, on West Seventh street; F. O. Herring's house, on East Ninth street; Mrs. N. B. Fisk's house on LaGrande avenue; Mrs. Wooden, Orchard place; E. C. Duffy's house, Central avenue, and Councilman Peck's house, on Willow avenue.

Martin Wants More Room.

The F. L. C. Martin Company need more room to carry on their increasing business. In their present location on Park avenue they feel the disadvantages of not having their repair shop in the same building with their store. When the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company take possession of Mr. Martin's building next year, the company will look for larger accommodations elsewhere.

Smith Demands a Jury.

Henry G. Smith, of Westervelt avenue, will be tried Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the city court, on a charge preferred by his wife of calling her names last week. Smith has demanded a jury and the venire was issued this moning.

UNFURLING THE FLAG.

THE EVENT TO BE MADE AN OCCASION OF PATRIOTIC DISPLAY.

New Pole Has Arrived But it Will be Raised in a Quiet Manner—A Big Time When Stars and Stripes are Floated.

It will only be a matter of a few days now before the immense flag pole of the city will be placed in position at the corner of Front street and Park avenue. The councilmanic committee in whose hands the matter was left by the Common Council, has decided that there will be no public celebration when the pole is placed in position. The grand demonstration will be made when the American flag, the gift of Edward White to the city, is raised to its lofty position on the new pole.

The new pole has arrived, as has already been stated in these columns. It will be given three coats of white paint and will then be ready for setting. The pole will be set in its position by the employes of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, under the direction of Manager Charles W. Runyon.

There has been much enquiry as to the precise location of the pole. It is the intention of the Committee to place it on the sidewalk, close to the curb, in front of Schwed's clothing store. It will be placed as near the centre of Park avenue as possible and probably on the site now occupied by a lamp post.

Mayor Fisk is of the opinion that if the pole is not placed in position quickly, it will not go up until after the war comes to an end.

It will be the flag raising that is to be one of the events of the year in Plainfield. That will take place on May 30th, Decoration Day, and the Grand Army will take charge of the exercises.

After that the flag will continue to fly rain or shine until the close of the war. No decision has yet been reached as to what is then to be done.

ALL OVER A DEAD HEN.

COMPLICATED ASSAULT CASE BEING HEARD IN SOMERSET COURT.

Mrs. Anna Thompson Threw the Hen That Had Been Shot by John Earned Into the Face of the Fowl's Assassin.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, May 11—Circuit court was occupied yesterday and will be today with an assault case that is very complicated. It is the action of Mrs. Anna Thompson against John Earned, living on adjoining farms near Bound Brook.

Mrs. Thompson is the owner of a large flock of fowls, and it seems that some of the chickens were frequent visitors to the garden of the neighbor. The visits, however, were not relished, and one fateful day Earned took down his old shot gun and poured a dose of lead into a trespassing fowl. Then he threw the dead body over the fence on to Mrs. Thompson's property.

Some time after that, at an opportune moment, Mrs. Thompson threw the dead chicken into the face of Earned. That act was followed with a free-for-all fight in which a dozen members of the two families indulged in a battle royal, and from which Mrs. Thompson emerged with a broken rib or two and sundry bruises.

The case now being heard is the result. Some very exciting evidence is being offered and the court habitues are greatly interested in the outcome.

In the assault case against John Kline the jury found the prisoner guilty. Judge Bartine will pronounce sentence Friday of this week.

Miss Newcomb Coming to Plainfield.

The New York Tribune of Monday has an extract from a thrilling address by Miss Helen Newcomb on "Darkest India." Miss Newcomb recently spoke to a few ladies in the parlor of Mrs. W. A. Freeman, of First place. She is planning to visit Plainfield soon again, and many should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear a speaker of such interest.

Appointment to Hospital Practice.

In the list of appointments from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, the Medical School of Columbia University, is Norman H. Probasco, son of Dr. John B. Probasco, of East Front street, who is appointed to Bellevue Hospital. The examinations for appointment are competitive. His service is to begin July 1st, and is surgical.

Feared the Rabies.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Union Village, May 11.—The two valuable dogs owned by Charles VanPelt and David French, which were bitten by the mad dog that invaded the town Friday, were killed yesterday for fear that they would be affected with the rabies. VanPelt has not yet decided what to do with the pigs which were bitten by the mad dog.

A NEW POSTMASTER NOW

JOHN M. HETFIELD'S TERM WILL EXPIRE TODAY.

It is Expected That President McKinley Will Make the Nomination, and That E. H. Bird Will Get It.

The appointment of a postmaster in Plainfield to succeed John M. Hetfield, the present incumbent, is expected to be made today by President McKinley.

It is generally understood that Elias H. Bird, present city collector, will secure the plum through the good graces of Congressman Fowler. As is customary, the chief executive leaves such matters to the choice of the Congressmen in their various districts, and Mr. Fowler will be accorded the usual courtesy.

ELIAS H. BIRD.

Mr. Bird and J. Fred MacDonald have been the principal candidates for the position. Mr. Bird did not enter the race until after City Clerk J. T. MacMurray withdrew. Mr. MacMurray turned all of his support, or as much as he could control, over to the interests of Mr. Bird.

Today there was a story in circulation that Mr. Bird intended to hold both the city collectorship and the postmastership in the event of his appointment by President McKinley.

Mr. Bird was seen this afternoon by a representative of The Daily Press and asked if the rumor was true.

Mr. Bird emphatically denied that he had any such intentions. In case of the appointment being made in his favor he declared that he would resign the city collectorship and devote his whole time to the work in the postoffice.

Postmaster John Hetfield's term expired today. Mr. Hetfield will probably be ready to turn over the office as soon as the new appointee can arrange his plans to assume the office.

CONGRATULATING TIME.

NEW FIRE COMPANY FOREMAN ENTERTAINED HIS MEN.

No. 2 Engine Company Assembled Around the Banquet Board and Had a Felicitous Occasion of It.

Last evening at 7:15 o'clock the members of No. 2 Engine Company took their engine out for a test. The apparatus was taken to the foot of Westervelt avenue and a successful "wash" was given. The boys returned to fire headquarters about 9 o'clock and were then invited by the new foreman, Frank Hand, to adjourn to Fred Caspar's hotel on Front street. When the company arrived there they found a tempting repast prepared for them and all did full justice.

Chief T. O. Doane made a few remarks in which he thanked the foreman and company for its generous hospitality, and he said that he knew the new foreman would do as well as his predecessors.

First Assistant James Martin also complimented the foreman and company, and said that he knew the company would stand by their new foreman. He praised the company for what it had done and bespoke unity for the future as it had been in the past. Second Assistant J. W. Murray, Jr., also thanked the boys for their kindness and paid a compliment to the company for its efficiency.

Foreman Frank Hand made a few remarks in which he thanked the boys for electing him to his new position. Other remarks were made by Adolph Karhman, William Chamberlain and R. B. Rogers. The latter said that for the first time since the company was organized he occupied the position of a private, having held an office of some kind every year up to the present one.

Remarks were made by Andrew Jennings, and the company was pleased with vocal solos by Robert Eick, William Townley and Willett Marsh.

OLD SCHOOL MENTOR TALKED ABOUT SPAIN

Miss Julia Bulkley Addressed Scholars This Morning.

TOPIC WAS A TIMELY ONE.

COLLECTION TO BUY THE BRONZE EAGLE WAS TAKEN UP.

Miss Bulkley Has Just Returned From a Foreign Trip, and She Recited a Few Observations Made on Her Tour Through the Land of the Dons—Spanish People are a Cruel Nation in Their Pastimes—Their Boasted Honor Amounts to Nothing—Remarks Received Heartily by the Scholars.

Today proved a rather eventful one at the Plainfield High School. Miss Julia Bulkley, now of the University of Chicago, and once the superintendent of schools in this city, paid a short visit to the school and made a few remarks on the topic of special interest at this time, Spain and her people. Then the collection for the bronze eagle that is to surmount the new city flag pole was taken and resulted in a goodly amount.

While there were very few of the pupils who had ever been directly under Miss Bulkley's supervision, she was well known to most of the High School pupils. She has just returned from a trip abroad and spent a day in Plainfield before going to Danbury, Conn., to visit her brother.

Miss Bulkley had little time to prepare anything, but consented to tell something of Spain, through which she had passed two years ago.

She sketched the trip of her party as they landed at Gibraltar and thence over to Algeciras, where they first landed in Spain. The coast looked unproductive, and so it was, for the wealth of the land is in the interior. They went to Granada, where they saw the Alhambra, then through Seville and Cordova to Madrid. Madrid she described as being located on an unproductive tableland, where nothing but royalty could maintain a city. Then the party continued northward to the Pyrenees, which marks the boundary of Spain.

The climate was very similar to that of this country except that Madrid, on account of its elevation, was somewhat cooler.

She told something of the pleasures of the Spanish people, principally bull fights and cock fights, in which cruelty was very apparent. The beggars were obtrusive throughout the country, especially in the large cities where the step to thieving and pilfering was very short.

Miss Bulkley told something of her personal experiences at Spanish hotels. While there was a great deal of show and display on the part of the Spaniards, when it came to something solid they were found wanting. Their boasted honor amounted to nothing as was seen when American Minister Woodford was not even treated with common courtesy on his departure. Miss Bulkley's remarks were received with hearty applause.

The collection to secure funds to purchase the eagle was afterwards taken up in the class rooms. At the same time it was taken up in the other public schools about the city.

RED CROSS BENEFIT.

Funds to be Raised to Aid the Sick and Wounded of the Army.

A benefit for the Red Cross fund for sick and wounded of the United States Army is being arranged to be given in Music Hall May 19th. The entertainment will consist of the presentation of a skit from one of the burlesque successes produced at Weber & Field's music hall in New York during the present season, together with a number of specialties by the best vaudeville artists in the theatrical profession.

The benefit will be given under the auspices of Mayor Fisk and a large number of prominent people of Plainfield, nearly a hundred having already pledged their support to the affair.

Honor for Plainfield Knights.

A party from Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, of this city, will attend the annual visitation and inspection of Clinton Commandery, of Brooklyn, this evening. The members are particularly honored in being invited to attend this great event as they are the only knights out of the metropolitan district who have been invited.

—On the evening of Friday, May 27th, a strawberry festival will be given in Hope chapel.

—The Women's Association of the Congregational church will hold a patriotic sociable in the church parlors Friday evening.

VERDE FLEET AT CADIZ

Spanish Ships Have Returned to Their Home Port.

SAMPSON'S WAY IS CLEAR

State Department Gives Official Notice of Spain's Retreat—Plans of the Strategy Board Completely Upset—Plans of Military and Naval Campaign Changed—Now for Porto Rico, and Then Cuba.

Washington, May 11.—Secretary Long yesterday afternoon received a cablegram announcing the arrival of the Cape Verde fleet at Cadiz, and the following statement was given out by the State Department:

"Official information has been received that four Spanish cruisers and three torpedo boat destroyers have returned to Cadiz."

Not long after this was made public Secretary Long told the newspaper men that he had received advices from the American Naval Attache at the British Legation in London confirming the State Department's report.

The strategists, of course, were upset by the news. They have been morally certain, in the absence of any information, that Villamil's ships were at the Canaries or anywhere but beating westward on the high seas, that a crash between the belligerent Atlantic squadrons was a question only of hours. Administration officials did not have to do much thinking to arrive at these conclusions:

First: That the seizure of the harbor of San Juan de Porto Rico by Rear Admiral Sampson is a certainty, and that it may have occurred already.

Second: That the invasion of Cuba by the American Army will be hastened as quickly as trains and transports can travel, and the Spaniards driven out of Cuba.

Third: That as soon as the combined Spanish squadrons now at Cadiz can be made ready for sea they will proceed across the Atlantic to engage our ships and perhaps menace our coast.

It is quite probable, in the absence of any information from the Navy Department on this interesting subject, that no message will be received from Rear Admiral Sampson until after he has accomplished the mission on which he set out with the big ships of his blockading fleet at daybreak on last Wednesday morning. There is little doubt that his instructions were much similar to those which President McKinley caused to be cabled to Rear Admiral Dewey at Hong Kong on the day that Congress passed the joint resolution declaring a state of war against Spain to exist.

The instructions to Sampson, which probably were not altered in the dispatches which the cruiser Montgomery got when she called at Cape Haytien on last Sunday, undoubtedly were to destroy the Cape Verde ships and seize Porto Rico's principal harbor. The biggest part of this contract the American commander now, of course, is unable to execute, but the seizure of San Juan remains for him to accomplish. The strategists all along have calculated this part of the programme to be a military necessity.

Whether the disappearance of the Villamil squadron from the naval map would alter their reasoning is not known to the laymen. However that may be, it is not likely that any dispatches from the Navy Department countermanding the original blanket instructions could reach Sampson in time to prevent operations against San Juan.

Therefore, a dispatch announcing the fall of San Juan may be expected before another day, according to the calculations as to the progress of the flagship New York, the battleships Indiana and Iowa and the other vessels with the monitors Terror and Amphitrite in tow.

It is hard to tell whether the naval officials were relieved or disappointed by the news that the Spanish flying squadron had arrived at Cadiz. The safety of the Oregon from attack is now completely assured, and the way is clear for military operations in Cuba without running the risk of having the occupying army's line of communication cut off. On the other hand, it is believed that no enduring peace can be secured until the Spanish navy has been destroyed, and it now appears that to do this our sailors must make up their minds to go after the Spaniards—a task very much more difficult than that of meeting them near our own shores.

The principal vessels of the squadron which sailed from the Cape Verde Islands about ten days ago, and which are supposed to be the ones reported at Cadiz, are the four armored cruisers Vizcaya, Almirante Oquendo, Maria Theresa and Cristobal Colon. The squadron included the torpedo boat destroyers Pluton, Terror and Furor.

The junction of the Spanish fleet at Cadiz, which includes the battleships Pelayo and the Emperador Carlos V., with the vessels which sailed from the Cape Verde Islands and are now reported to have arrived at the Spanish port, would give Spain the most powerful combination of fighting ships she ever had.

The failure of the Cape Verde fleet to cross the Atlantic, if true, leaves Porto Rico practically at the mercy of Admiral Sampson's squadron. It relieves the battleship Oregon, the gunboat Marietta and the cruiser Buffalo, now on their way up the Brazilian coast, of fear of attack by an overwhelming force of the enemy.

The massing of virtually her whole naval strength in one fleet may mean that Spain is going to play a waiting game, and meanwhile keep her fleet for the defence of the peninsular, leaving her colonies to be defended by the forces now guarding them, or that she means to put all her strength behind one last telling blow at the United States.

Maybe Spain Means to Give Up Cuba.

London, May 11.—There is no confirmation of the report that the Spanish fleet from the Cape Verde Islands has returned to Cadiz, but it is generally regarded as the most likely movement to be made, and as an indication that Spain has decided to let her West Indian possessions go.

The question is generally asked, "What possible use has Spain for continuing a hopeless struggle?" as it is considered next to impossible that she has any alternative plan or that the retreat of the squadron hides some strategic design.

NO NEWS FROM SAMPSON.

Porto Rico Is Now Practically at His Mercy.

Washington, May 11.—Although the Secretary of the Navy and the officers of the Navy Department are all anxiously awaiting news from Admiral Sampson's fleet, nothing has been received at the department officially from either the Admiral or any of the Government officials.

The latest reports at the Navy Department in regard to our fleet is that they are proceeding slowly toward Porto Rico, not only to save coal, but also because the big monitors Terror and Amphitrite are being towed in order that their coal may not be consumed. At the rate they are going, they ought to reach Porto Rico some time to-day, if they have not already done so.

The department does not credit the reports that the Oregon is the object of attack by the Spaniards. At the time of the sailing of the Spanish fleet from Cape Verde it was announced that while the fleet went west (certainly for twelve hours), two transports and three torpedo boats were sent back to the Canary Islands. It was thought that if the westerly course taken by the fleet were merely a move to deceive, it would take a wide circle and join the transports and torpedo boats going to the Canaries.

The announcement in a London dispatch that the transports and torpedo boats have arrived at the Canaries without the rest of the fleet is regarded as confirming the theory that the fleet kept on toward Porto Rico. There was some uneasiness caused by the announcement of the cable being cut between Montevideo and Rio Grande du Sol, and the report that was spread abroad that it was done to conceal the movements of the Spanish fleet, and that perhaps the fleet, instead of coming to Porto Rico, was going around the horn to California to attack San Francisco. This was, however, laughed at, because it would take sixty days for the trip, frequent coaling, and long before the vessels could reach California the war would be over.

It is said that the interruption of the cable can hardly have any bearing on the Spanish cable, because it is said that this cable is frequently out of order, and this may be the trouble with it now.

The programme for Admiral Sampson after reaching Porto Rico will depend entirely upon circumstances. His instructions have been to seek and destroy the Spanish fleet, but whether his orders direct him, in the absence of the enemy, to bombard Porto Rico, is not known, and his full instructions are kept closely guarded.

Do Not Expect Spain's Fleet.

Washington, May 11.—The President is inclined to believe that the Spanish fleet has not ventured into American waters, but is bound to the Canaries or nearer home.

With the fleet failing to put in an appearance around the West Indies, action against the Island of Porto Rico will not be much longer deferred, and important news from that quarter is momentarily expected.

It is felt that the next few hours will determine beyond further question whether the Spanish fleet, which left the Cape Verde Islands, did in fact come to Porto Rico, or diverge northward back to Cadiz for a formidable concentration of the strongest ships of the Spanish navy. In the latter event Admiral Sampson will have no Spanish fleet to fight, save those smaller craft in Cuban waters. It will leave the course free to the Oregon to make a juncture with the fleet, and also will leave Admiral Sampson's hands free for attention to Porto Rico or Cuba.

German Warships to Manila.

Berlin, May 11.—The Lokalanzeiger says the Foreign Office has notified the Germans in Manila that four more German warships will be sent there from the Eastern Squadron The Government is disposed to do everything possible to protect the national interests, but nothing can be done before the war is ended. Then indemnity will be demanded for whatever losses have been incurred.

All to Leave Chickamauga.

Chattanooga, May 11.—The entire army stationed at Chickamauga Park has been ordered to the front. The First and Tenth Cavalry go to New Orleans, the Second Cavalry to Mobile, the Third and Sixth to Tampa. The entire infantry goes to Tampa.

Thirty Ships Chartered.

Washington, May 11.—Assistant Secretary of War Meikeljohn has chartered about thirty ships, with capacity of 25,000 men. They are to be used to convey troops to Cuba and the Philippines.

There is more talk of war prices than real foundation for an advance in values. Flour, fresh meats and tobacco are dearer, but natural causes are responsible.

The House has passed a bill authorising the appointment of three commissioners to revise the statutes regulating patents and trademarks.

INVASION HAS BEGUN

First Troops Likely to Land on Cuban Soil Left Yesterday.

MILES STARTS FOR TAMPA

Volunteers Will Not Stop at Chickamauga, but Go Direct to the Front—Regulars Will Be Embarked First, and Volunteers Will Follow as Speedily as Possible Thereafter—Orders Changed.

Washington, May 11.—Preparations for the invasion of Cuba by the United States Army are being pushed as rapidly as possible. It was announced at the War Department that at least 20,000 troops will be landed in Cuba by Saturday morning. The thirty or forty thousand volunteers will follow as soon as they can be put upon the transports.

As announced in these dispatches yesterday, Gen. Miles will take command of the troops, and will leave for Tampa to-day on the Southern Railway. His staff, however, left last night for the headquarters at Tampa. Gen. Miles, when he arrives at Tampa, will have absolute charge and direction of the movement of the troops, but Gen. Wade will be in command of the invading force.

The preparations for hastening the movements of the troops to all points South are nearly completed, and an important change has been made in the assignment of the volunteer forces. The troops ordered to Chickamauga from the West will not stop there, but will go directly to Tampa, Mobile and New Orleans as ordered, while the troops from the Eastern States, which have been ordered also to Chickamauga, will not go to that point, but will be shipped by the nearest route to the three points South, named.

This change has been made because the Cabinet has decided to send the volunteers to Cuba also. When the assignments were made a few days ago by the War Department, it was thought that the troops ordered to Chickamauga would mobilize and would remain in camp until called to go to Cuba. The policy of an immediate invasion has, however, changed these plans, and the troops before ordered to Chickamauga will go to Tampa, New Orleans and Mobile for embarkment to Cuba. Therefore, all the State regiments which have been ordered South can make up their minds that in less than a week they will be on Cuban soil.

The third of the volunteer force which will come to Washington will be in camp here ready to be ordered to Cuba if more troops are needed there, or to be sent to Porto Rico. The other third will be ordered to the coast defense or held in reserve by the different States.

The Cuban movement will begin before the arrival of the volunteers at either Tampa, Mobile or New Orleans, because the sixteen or twenty thousand regulars will be the first troops sent off. Naturally the War Department is not making known the exact date of the starting of the soldiers, but, as stated above, twenty thousand will be in Cuba by Saturday, and the volunteers will follow as soon as they reach the points of shipment at Tampa and New Orleans. The transports for these troops are now being hastily prepared, and will be in readiness by the time the soldiers reach the points of embarkment.

INVASION OF CUBA BEGUN.

The Transport Gussie Leaves with Two Companies and Ammunition for Insurgents.

Tampa, May 11.—Before the news was received here that the Cape Verde fleet had turned tail and run home, and in the absence of any definite information as to Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet, the army yesterday started a little Cuban expedidtion from Port Tampa.

The first United States regulars to land on Cuban soil sailed on the side-wheel steamer Gussie at 1.10 p. m. They are Companies E and G of the First Infantry, Major Gen. Shafter's old regiment. Dr. F. Gandy, of the First, two hospital stewards and four privates will act as hospital attendants, from the Ninth Cavalry, and a small party of Cuban veterans went along, too. The expedition was in charge of Capt. J. H. Dorst.

The Gussie will stop at three different places on the Cuban coast, but the success of the expedition depends upon secrecy regarding the landing points, and they cannot, therefore, be stated. It can be said, however, that they are close enough to the Cuban allies to insure the safe delivery of arms and ammunition.

The nine transports have had two shifts of one hundred carpenters at work on them night and day building stalls for the horses and mules. They have their coal and water supplies, and are now taking on ammunition and provisions for the men. A tremendous amount of these is being packed away in their holds.

It is not thought that the nine boats now at Port Tampa can carry more men than are now here, for they will be crowded with 7,000 men, 16,000 horses and mules, and the guns, ammunition and provisions necessary for such an expedition.

It is said that a request has been made for more ships, for it will be impossible to carry the 5,000 regulars now at Chickamauga and New Orleans on the first expedition on the fleet of ships now here. These additional 5,000 are now under orders to come to Tampa, making about 12,000 in all at the two camps here.

Washington dispatches say, as they have said before, that an immediate invasion of Cuba has been decided upon. This word "immediately" must not be taken too literally; it will be a matter of days to embark all the regiments and their paraphernalia now here. It will be a matter of weeks to load such an army of regulars and volunteers as has been ordered to this place.

This is a hostile expedition. It is prepared to fight and expects to fight. United with the Cubans, it will at once give a nucleus of strength to those forces very much as the Old Guard gave to the French recruits, but even before it reaches Gen. Gomez it will be well able to take care of itself against a thousand Spaniards, and it is not likely they will meet half that number.

A WORN-OUT FAD.

"Spring Medicines," "Blood Purifiers" and "Tonics" an Old-Fashioned Idea.

Pure blood, strong nerves and muscles, firm, healthy flesh, can only come from wholesome food well digested. "Blood purifiers and "nerve tonic" do not reach the cause of the mischief. The stomach is the point to be looked after. The safest and surest way to cure any form of indigestion is to take after each meal some harmless preparation of this kind composed of vegetable essences pure pepsin, golden seal and fruit salts, sold by druggists under name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and these tablets taken after meals assist digestion wonderfully because they will digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and sour, and the weak stomach relieved and assisted in this way soon becomes strong and vigorous again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are superior to any secret patent medicines because you know what you are taking into your stomach.

JAMES BURNS.

Ex-Collector of the Port of Kansas City.

Of the men who have occupied positions of public trust in Kansas City, either by gift of the people or by appointment, none has a more enviable reputation for ability, honesty and efficiency than James Burns, Collector of the Port of Kansas City under Grover Cleveland. He lived to the letter the maxim "a public office is a public trust," and when he retired he carried with him the respect of everyone in the community—Democrats and Republicans alike.

James Burns has used Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and he does not hesitate to say that they have accomplished wonders.

"I suffered with dyspepsia for twenty years," said Mr. Burns yesterday. "Never knew what it was to enjoy life—in fact, living seemed a burden, as it does to all who suffer severely with dyspepsia. A few months ago I began taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. From the first I felt relief, and now, although I am still taking them, I feel entirely cured. For the first time in twenty years I can eat anything I want and suffer no ill effects from it. You can't imagine the pleasure of this unless you have been a dyspepsia sufferer.

"I never gave a testimonial for any medicine before, but I feel as if everybody ought to know of this remedy, and while it is personally distasteful to me to appear in print in this connection, I feel as if I had no right to shirk the opportunity to, perhaps help some other sufferers from dyspepsia. I have been recommending the Tablets to all my friends. Only recently I took James H. Lillis, the father of Father Lillis, down to get some, and I understand he also is being wonderfully benefited. I can't recommend it too highly." 5 9 11 13

ROMAN CATHOLICS PATRIOTIC.

Letter to the Clergy and Laity on the Present War with Spain.

Washington, May 11.—The archbishops of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States have agreed upon a letter, addressed to the clergy and laity of the country. The letter bears on the war with Spain and will be read in all the churches on Sunday. It is indorsed by Mgr. Martinelli, the apostolic delegate, and is as follows:

"To the Clergy and Laity of the Catholic Church of the United States, greeting:

"The events that have succeeded the blowing up of the battleship Maine, and the sacrifice of 266 innocent victims, the patriotic seamen of the United States, have culminated in a war with Spain and our own beloved country.

"Whatever may have been the individual opinions of Americans prior to the declaration of war, there can now be no two opinions as to the duty of every loyal American citizen. A resort to arms was determined upon by the Chief Executive of the nation, with the advice of both houses of Congress, and after consultation with his Cabinet officers, but not until after every effort had been exhausted to bring about an honorable and peaceful solution of our difficulties with Spain. The patient calmness, the dignified forbearance, the subdued firmness of President McKinley during the trying time that intervened between the destruction of the Maine and the declaration are beyond all praise, and should command the admiration of every true American. We, the members of the Catholic Church, are true Americans, and as such are loyal to our country and our flag, and obedient to the highest decrees and the supreme authority of the nation.

"We are not now engaged in a war of section against section, or State against State, but we are united as one man against a foreign enemy and a common foe. If, as we are taught by our holy church, love of country is next to love of God, a duty imposed on us by all laws, human and divine, then it is our duty to labor and to pray for the temporal and spiritual wellbeing of the brave soldiers who are battling for our beloved country. Let us faithfully beg the God of battles to crown their arms on land and sea with victory and triumph, and to stay unnecessary effusion of blood, and speedily to restore peace to our beloved land and people.

"To this end we direct that on and after the receipt of this circular, and until the close of this war, every priest shall, in his daily mass, pray for the restoration of peace by the glorious victory of our flag. We also direct that prayers for the brave soldiers and sailors that fall in battle be said every day after a mass. These prayers shall be, one Our Father, one Hail Mary, and the De Profundis.

"We pray that God may bless and preserve our country in this great crisis and speedily bring victory, honor and peace to all our people."

OUR POLICY IN THE EAST.

Olney's Note at the Close of the China-Japan War.

Washington, May 11.—At the close of the China-Japan war, when Richard Olney was Secretary of State, a formal note was sent to the European powers saying that in the event of a partition of China, or the occupation of Chinese ports by foreigners, it must be considered that the United States had a very great interest. This move is being taken into consideration by members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, who are examining our diplomatic history in the East, as likely to affect any policy we may have for the Philippines.

One of the Senators, in discussing the matter, said that even if there had been no war, and we had never possessed the Philippines, we soon would have had to protest against being shut out of the Asiatic trade. These islands, he said, give us a place to stand on and fight for the policy faintly indicated two years ago by Secretary Olney.

BLANCO WANTS SUPPLIES.

Must Wait Until the Cortes Votes the War Credits.

Madrid, May 11.—The Government intends to insist that the Cortes sit continuously until the war measures are adopted. The Minister of Finance, Senor Puigcerver, declares that until the credits are voted it is impossible to meet the demands for ammunition and provisions for Cuba, Porto Rico and the Balearic Islands, and the Canary Islands, and to obtain the necessary stocks of coal.

Capt. Gen. Blanco has cabled an urgent request for considerable supplies of provisions, which the Government cannot dispatch until the Cortes have voted the war measure.

The authorities here are greatly concerned about the provisions for this city. It is estimated that the stock of wheat will be consumed inside of a month and measures are being taken to purchase wheat abroad.

The War Revenue Bill.

Washington, May 11.—The Senate Finance Committee expects to report the War Revenue bill back to the Senate to-day or to-morrow. The committee, being in the hands of the Democrats and silverites, will report the bill without the bond clause, but there is no doubt but that it will be reinserted in the bill by the Senate. An amendment will likely be added to the bond clause in the Senate, which will aid its passage, and will gain many votes which might not be given to it without the amendment. The amendment proposed is to authorize the issue of bonds only during the continuation of the war, and for uses in prosecuting the present war.

More Spanish Cruisers.

London, May 11.—The Chambers of Commerce of some of the most important Spanish ports, according to a special dispatch from Madrid, have decided to provide and fit out several auxiliary cruisers "of from 3,000 to 4,000 tons, and having a speed of eighteen or nineteen knots, to watch the Spanish coast, venture out to sea and run a blockade if necessary."

No Report on Hawaii.

Washington, May 11.—The House Foreign Affairs Committee did not reach a decision yesterday as to the bill to annex Hawaii, and postponed taking a vote on the question until to-morrow.

MASSACRES IN MANILA

Natives Said to Have Slain Commander of the Spanish Fleet.

MORE SPANISH TREACHERY

Sisters of Charity Said to Have Tried to Lead Our Men to Mined Channel—Shanghai Dispatch Says the Insurgents Have Killed the Spanish Women and Children—Dewey Unable to Control the Natives.

London, May 11.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says it is reported there that Admiral Montijo, the commander of the Spanish fleet, who escaped from Cavite by running along the shore to Manila with his two sons, was killed by the populace of the latter place.

It is added that the Hospital of San Roque, filled with Spanish soldiers, was set on fire by shells from the Boston and that Sisters of Charity were killed while removing the wounded.

Massacres are reported to have occurred outside of Manila, the insurgents butchering even the Spanish women and children.

ALLEGED SPANISH TREACHERY.

Sisters of Mercy Said to Have Tried to Lead Dewey Into a Mined Channel.

Hong Kong, May 11.—A fresh example of Spanish treachery seems to have come to light. It is said here that the priests and Sisters of Charity, of the Cavite Hospital, in a procession, bearing crosses, etc., petitioned Rear Admiral Dewey not to massacre the sick and wounded, which, naturally, he did not do. The Spaniards, it is added, thereupon thanked the Americans for their humanity and repaid them by informing them of a narrow channel which, they said, was not mined, while the broad channel, they explained, was fully mined.

An investigation upon the part of the Americans, however, revealed the contrary to be the case, and the mines were blown up by the sailors of the American fleet.

Rear Admiral Dewey, it is said here, finds the insurgents growing dangerous. It is added that he cannot control them, nor can he enable the Spaniards to do so.

There is one Japanese warship at Manila.

None of the rumors in the London cable has been verified. It is incredible that the marksmanship of the Boston's gunners was so poor as to result in the shelling of a hospital.

PEKING READY BY SATURDAY.

Big Pacific Steamer Being Prepared to Carry Troops to Manila.

San Francisco, May 11.—The work of discharging the cargo of the steamship City of Peking will soon be completed. She will be docked, cleaned and turned over to the Government, when she will be prepared for use as a transport. She will be able to carry at least 3,000 soldiers, and in addition about 2,500 tons of freight.

By Saturday, it is expected, she can be loaded and ready to sail. Capt. Smith and his officers will remain in charge of the steamship.

While in Kong Kong a cable was received from Washington ordering the American Consul to detain the Peking, but Admiral Dewey cabled back to the effect that she would probably be of more use here, and that if vessels were required they could be bought in Hong Kong. After some little correspondence the Peking was allowed to sail, with orders to make the best time possible.

Mobilizing at San Francisco.

San Francisco, May 11.—California claims the honor of precedence in responding to the call for volunteers, and it is probable that Col. James Smith, of the First Regiment, of California, will be the ranking colonel of the volunteer army of the United States.

A recruiting office has been opened at Army Headquarters for the enlistment of 800 men for the Third Artillery. Some of these probably will go to the Philippines, while others will remain here to man the defenses of this harbor. Under arrangements with the War Department at Washington, the Southern Pacific Company is preparing to move about 2,000 troops from Portland and 3,000 from Ogden. The troops will be mobilized at San Francisco, preparatory to removal to Manila.

Arrangements are being made to supply the Police Department of San Francisco with Gatling guns and 400 Springfield rifles. As there are about 1,700 Springfield rifles and 200 Krag-Jorgensen rifles in the arsenal at Benecia, there will be no difficulty in securing all the arms required here.

Gov. Budd will proceed at once to reorganize the National Guard of California, which it is proposed to make much stronger than heretofore.

MAY RETURN TO MADRID.

President Intends that Woodford Shall Retain Diplomatic Capacity.

Washington, May 11.—The President, it is understood, intends that Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, the Minister to Madrid, shall retain his diplomatic capacity and return to Madrid after the war is over and diplomatic relations are restored. This statement is made by a well known Senator cognizant of the facts.

Gen. Woodford's first knowledge of the intention to confer a major generalship on him was on his meeting with the President on the latter's summons to come immediately to Washington after landing at New York. The offer then made was promptly declined, and unless there is some unforeseen contingency, Gen. Woodford eventually will return to Madrid.

Col. Roosevelt is uncertain whether his "Rough Riders" will be in readiness to go with the first expedition to Cuba or not, the shipping of the equipment in time for them to join being the chief obstacle in sight.

Major Gen. Joseph Wheeler is the first of the newly appointed major generals to take the field. He left Washington yesterday for Chattanooga to take his command.

Venezuela adopted resolutions indorsing the action of the United States in going to the aid of Cuba.

BOUNTY FOR DEWEY'S MEN.

Law Provides for Dividing $187,200 Among the Fleet.

Washington, May 11.—Not only will Rear Admiral Dewey and his gallant tars obtain the thanks of Congress and the medals ordered struck for them on account of their victory in Manila Bay, but over $180,000 bounty money will be distributed among them in the same way as prize money.

Admiral Dewey will get over $9,000, while his ship's crew will have over $45,000 divided among them. The fleet captain, if there is one, will get over $1,800.

A law bearing on the matter has just been discovered. It is section 4,635 of the Revised Statutes and provides that a bounty shall be paid the United States vessels in action for each enemy's vessel destroyed of $100 for each person on board the enemy's ships if they were inferior and $200 if they were equal to the United States ships.

On the eleven Spanish ships sunk at Manila were 1,872 men. At $100 for each man the sum to be paid as bounty is $187,200. Of this Admiral Dewey will get a twentieth, or $9,300. The amount left for distribution to the fleet will be about $175,000.

This will be divided among the ships in about the following proportion: Olympia, $45,000; Baltimore, $40,000; Boston, $25,000; Raleigh, $22,000; Concord, $20,000; Petrel, $12,000; McCulloch, $9,000.

The commander of each vessel will get one-tenth of the amount awarded to his ship. This will give the commanders the following amounts approximately: Capt. E. V. Gridley, Olympia, $4,500; Capt. N. M. Dyer, Baltimore, $4,000; Capt. Frank Wildes, Boston, $2,500; Capt. J. B. Coghland, Raleigh, $2,200; Commander Asa Walker, Concord, $2,000; Commander E. P. Wood, Petrel, $1,200; Capt. D. E. Hodgsdon, McCulloch, $900.

The amount for each seaman will be about $50.

STATE GOVERNMENTS PROTEST.

They Want Their Volunteer Troops Kept Together During the War.

Washington, May 11.—Several States have already sent protests to the army administration against the distribution of the troops from their commonwealths by the major general commanding the army.

In nearly every State the authorities are anxious to have their troops kept together during the war, and the Secretary of War has been repeatedly asked to see that the men from certain States are assigned to duty together.

States which have been prompt to fill their quotas of troops have asked that the men be allowed to serve in the same division of the army. Kentucky has filled its quota of three regiments, and Senator Lindsay has urged Secretary Alger to have the Kentucky brigade preserved intact.

According to the assignments made one of the Kentucky regiments will go to Washington, D. C., the second to Chickamauga and the third to the coast.

Congress Pays the Maine Claim.

Washington, May 11.—The Navy Department has just closed the accounts of the contractors for wrecking the Maine. These were the Merritt & Chapman Wrecking Company and the Boston Towboat Company. The department settled their claims for an aggregate of $50,000, which is about one-half of the appropriation made by Congress for the work of wrecking. Up to the time when the work of wrecking was stopped by the outbreak of war and the wrecking boats were ordered home the contractors had recovered a good deal of Government property, including five 6-inch rifles, which alone are worth the amount of money paid to the contractors.

Site Selected for Reserve Camp.

Washington, May 11.—Engineers from the War Department have been out to the neighborhood of Falls Church and located definitely the great camp upon which will be concentrated from 30,000 to 40,000 United States troops within the next week or two. The tract selected embraces about 1,400 acres of land, well watered and wooded, and will afford accommodations for all the soldiers comprised within the President's first order. The camp ground lies about two and a half miles south of Falls Church, on the line of the Southern Railway, and about a mile and a half from the electric road running to Washington.

Hawaii Offers to Be Our Ally.

Washington, May 11.—Minister Hatch, of Hawaii, called on Secretary Day yesterday and formally offered the United States the use of coaling stations at the islands. Mr. Hatch said, after leaving the department, that this act on his part would doubtless be construed as hostile to Spain, but as she now had no navy in the Pacific, Hawaii no longer feared her. In the event of trouble he had no doubt the United States would protect President Dole and the Government.

Officers' Defects to Be Overlooked.

Washington, May 11.—The major general commanding the army has issued an order directing mustering in officers to accept all regimental officers appointed by the Governors of States, regardless of physical disqualifications. Mustering officers are instructed, however, to make a record of such physical defects for the information of the Government, so that the record may be used in determining the validity of pension claims after the war. 78 10

Germany and Spain.

Cadiz, May 11.—The crew of the German cruiser Oldenburg, lying at this port, were on shore leave yesterday, and ostentatiously fraternizing with the crew of the Spanish battleship Pelayo, who were also ashore. The men were roaming about the city arm in arm, with their caps interchanged, while the populace cheered them wildly.

More Rumors of Armed Intervention.

Hong Kong, May 11.—It is reported that naval movements are progressing, which suggest an intention on the part of the powers to intervene between the United States and Spain. The Tonkin papers (under French direction) denounce the Americans as pirates and the Anglo-Saxon race as encroaching upon the Latin race.

Roosevelt Leaves for Texas.

Washington, May 11.—Lieut. Col. Theodore Roosevelt left yesterday afternoon for San Antonio, Texas, to take command of his cowboy regiment. A large number of prominent people, including Senators and Congressmen, called at the department to bid him good by.

And After?

It was not to maintain the Monroe doctrine that the war with Spain was begun. It was from considerations of philanthropy and the American pocket. American citizens and American trade alike suffered by the war, while nobody with a human heart could stand by and refuse to lift a finger to stop the starvation and cruelty in Cuba. Starvation as a military policy does not meet the approval of the majority of the American people, while there are some among us who were honestly opposed to a war with Spain. They said, for instance, France would have exactly the same right to cross the channel and make war on England because she had misused Ireland.

But these opponents were in the minority, and the war began. All indications point toward sweeping victories for the United States. By these she will change entirely her attitude to the nations. She will show she is by sea as she has already proved herself on land, in peace and in war—one of the earth's very greatest nations. We shall have an illustrious prestige among all peoples.

After the war has closed, what then will be our policy? Suppose we have on our hands Spain's islands in the eastern and western hemispheres—Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Philippines and possibly the Canaries? What shall we do with them? Shall we take possession of them and annex them, thus having in all parts of the oceans stations where our ships may coal and put in for repairs and obtain necessary supplies of all kinds? Such stations in every part of the globe will be necessary if we follow up our advantages and decide to become one of the world's sea powers. If we do not thus maintain our prestige as a great naval power, shall we sell our ships for old iron, leave the islands we have taken for some European power to grab and retire into our shell of former isolation till some other war forces us out and compels us again at an extravagant expense to hurry together a navy, man it with seamen and fit it out with supplies all in three weeks? This is the age of sea wars, not land fights. If we only take Cuba and the Philippines in order to let some other great power seize them, what was the good of our taking them from Spain?

These are questions we as a nation shall be called on to answer sooner or later. They are questions that concern more intimately than any other the future of the United States of America.

The fact that at this moment, with a fleet actively engaged in war on the east side of Asia, the United States has absolutely no spot where that fleet can obtain coal and supplies nearer than San Francisco, 5,000 miles away, and that it will take over two weeks for assistance from that point to reach Commodore Dewey at the Philippines, is respectfully commended to the attention of the American people.

The public baths of Philadelphia go to sustain the charge of a certain disgruntled Englishman that men are cleaner than women because men bathe oftener, as proved by the use of public baths. Philadelphia has provided one-third fewer baths for women than for men in the establishments where for a very small fee anybody may wash and be clean.

Strong people do not talk much. They are silent, but when the hour comes they strike with all their force. They do not waste their powers on gab. There is no surer proof of the weakness and degeneracy of the Spaniards than their impotent scolding and abuse of the United States.

It was very odd that the first heavy fighting of the war between Spain and the United States on account of Cuba should have taken place in Asia.

GENERAL WILLIAM R. SHAFTER.

To General William R. Shafter, commander of the department of California, came the honor of being selected for the first important command of our forces in Cuba. It is generally believed that no better selection could have been made.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Bound Brook has done two acts this week, both of which will doubtless prove of great value in the development of the town and its surroundings. Monday night the people voted almost unanimously to place in the hands of the Board of Education $15,000 with which to make our public school property thoroughly modern in every respect. Tuesday night the Mayor and Council granted a trolley franchise through which we will doubtless be connected by electric cars with Somerville, New Brunswick and Plainfield "before the snow flies." These two prosperity-working events are enough good fortune to have occur in one week.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

Edward White, the dry goods merchant, has two photographs in his store showing the difference in the store he occupied twelve years ago, and the up-to-date department store of which he is the proprietor today. Mr. White first began business on the corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street.

The patriotic feeling expressed on all sides just at present is bringing to light all kinds of war flags and relics. John B. Macintyre, of the Frank L. C. Martin Cycle Company, has a ship ensign which saw the surrender of New Orleans during the Civil War. The flag is a regulation navy flag, and was carried by the gun boat "Cananha," in the fleet commanded by Farragut. It was presented to Mr. MacIntyre soon after the close of the war by the executive officer of the Cananha.

A man living not many miles from Plainfield received severe punishment a few days ago at the hands of his better half for a little outing which he took. Together with some friends, he went off for a good time and did not return until early the next morning. The man in question was feeling a little out of sorts, but he had no idea of meeting his wife before the next morning, when he expected to be in condition to meet her. Things were different, however, and when he re turned his wife was at the door waiting to receive him She gave him little warning of what was to follow, but before he could realize what was going on, he came to a partial sense of the fact that his whiskers were being pulled out by the roots. A few good pulls was sufficient, and the husband begged for mercy, promising never to do so again. After the effects of the outing had passed off the husband took a look at himself in the glass, and discovered his terrible loss. He called on a barber, a friend, and immediately had all of the remaining adornment shaven. His friends hardly recognized him now, but he avows that he will stay home next time.

Miss Nettie La Salle, the singing and dancing comedienne. Miss Ouida Rivers, the phenomenal contralto, in operatic selections. J. Frank Addison, the blackface comedian and monologue artist. Ely and Landen, the coon song illustrators, introducing all of the latest negro melodies. AN ANSWER TO BERGEN.

Wright Babcock Replies to the Lawyer's Criticism.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Dear Sir—My attention has been called to an extract from your issue of the 6th inst., quoting Mr. Bergen as saying, "the only opposition to the (county trolley) scheme in Fanwood is made by a person named Babcock."

The following facts of record may surprise and interest those who have been accustomed to rely on Mr. Bergen's statements:

There are only about 60 houses in the borough of Fanwood, and the last poll list, as posted in the railroad station, contained but 85 names.

I have in my possession copies of two protests against the trolley. One is a protest against the use of any one of three specified roads for that purpose, and this petition was signed by 55 residents for owners, of whom the largest private owner in the borough is one. The other is a protest only against the use of North avenue, and this having the signatures of 20 residents for owners was presented to the county trolley commissioners when Mr. Bergen was present, at their meeting Nov. 16th last. There are but 21 pieces of improved property on North avenue in the borough, and of these only 16 are privately owned. January 10th last, that is to say just about four months ago, a resolution was passed at a public meeting on the subject in the borough, specifically condemning the county trolley route over North avenue, and no less specifically approving another route for a trolley. Is that "careless engrossing clerk" again responsible for a wide discrepancy between statement and fact?

Very truly yours,
Wright Babcock

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflammed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflammed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free

RESULTS OF SEWING SCHOOL OF THE EAST THIRD STREET MISSION.

Closing Exercises Held Last Night—Addresses by Revs. Yerkes and Herring—Prizes Awarded to the Members.

The members of the sewing school connected with the East Third Street Mission held their closing exercises in the lecture room of the First Baptist church last evening. The attendance of members and friends was large and the exercises were interesting. The rooms presented a patriotic appearance.

The affair was in charge of the superintendent of the school, Mrs. A. E. Bushnell, and she was assisted by Mrs. Fred Bird and several other women of the church. There are at present 103 members in the school.

During the evening there were two addresses, one by Dr. D. J. Yerkes and one by Rev. C. E. Herring. Both congratulated the superintendent, the teachers and the scholars on the completion of their first year, and the remarks were attentively listened to by all present. The programme consisted of singing by the school and the following recitations: "Little Blessings," twelve girls; "First Up," Willie Gloak; "Little Things," Anna Saunders; "Dare," May Frazee; "Sewing," Beulah VanWinckle: "What I'll Do," Harold Gloak; "Mosquito Bug," Emily Walsh; "Reason Why," Edna Bailey; 'The Model Woman," Nettie Ammon; "Frowns and Smiles," Bertha Hill; "When I am Big," Eddie Taylor; "Cheerfulness," Lucy Scott; "Little Quaker Singer," Maude Crane; "The Thimble," Jessie Hill; "A Lesson in Arithmetic," five boys.

The report of the superintendent showed that the school started with twenty-three members and there are now enrolled 103. Sessions are held every Saturday afternoon and the members make useful garments for themselves after they are taught the art. There are between eight and ten teachers in the school. During the year 137 garments have been made by the members for themselves which were earned by being punctual and faithful in attendance.

After the exercises, L. W. Randolph, superintendent of the East Third Street mission, presented several prizes to the scholars for excellent work during the year. Miss Lucy Scott received first prize for best sewing. It was a handsome workbox. She also received a handsome cushion for being present every Saturday during the year. Other prizes, consisting of companions, were presented to Bertha Manning, Florence Watts and Bertha Hill. Ella Walsh, five years old, received a pretty basket as a prize. For good sewing Jennie Scott received a similar prize. For the boys Eddie Taylor and Fred Cable received pen knives as prizes for good sewing. They made waists and shirts. Oliver Ulmer for proficiency received a box of handkerchiefs. There are several boys in the Children's Home entitled to prizes but owing to illness they could not be present to receive them.

After the presentation of prizes the members of the school were served with ice cream and cake by the women in charge, and a good social time was enjoyed. Miss Shreve and Miss Haviland are entitled to the credit for the decorations, and Miss Bond presided at the piano efficiently, while Mrs. L. H. Biglow, Jr., led the singing very acceptably. The school will not meet again until next fall when the sessions will be resumed as usual. There was on exhibition samples of the work done by the members, and those present complimented them very highly for the excellent work performed.

ATE WHEN AND WHAT HE WANTED

And Has Lived to the Green Old Age of One-Hundred and Ten Years.

"What advice would you give to people who want to live long?" The question was popped at the oldest veteran in the world, Captain Jack Haynes, of St. Louis, who, on Christmas, was 110 years old.

"I would advise them to eat everything they like, as I have done," was the sturdy reply. If there is any secret of his long life, it is to be found in his cheerful disposition. He doesn't worry, and never has done so. He is ready to go from earth at any time. Asked "Do you want to live longer?" he replied, "It is all in the hands of my Heavenly Father. If He wants me to live longer, I am contented to stay. If He wants me to come up higher, I am ready."

Captain Haynes still keeps his interest in the affairs of the world, but events pass before him as in a dream. He sees what is going on, but it doesn't affect him. Although he doesn't expect to be here to see whether his prophecy is fulfilled or not, he predicts that the next ten years will bring forth an industrial revolution, "unless the present trend of things is stopped."

The captain is unable to account for his long life. "I never had any ideas about how to live," he says; "I never have taken unusually good care of myself. My work often subjected me to exposure, but that doesn't seem to have hurt me. I never had a bad spell of sickness until I had the grip here last year, and when I was a boy they used to call it just a hard cold. A good many times I have been where there was contagious disease, even yellow fever on the Mississippi boat on which I was running, but I never was caught.

"As to eating, I always ate whenever and whatever I wanted, and when I was flush at times I lived pretty high. I never have smoked, but up to five years ago I used 10 cents worth of chewing tobacco a day. When I came to the home I gave up that habit, because it is so dirty. I always have drank when I felt like it, but never to excess."

Captain Haynes volunteered in his little Tennessee town for the War of 1812, and was with Jackson when the veterans of Pakenham were hurried back from the cotton ramparts of New Orleans. "It was there," he said, "that I got my nickname of "Captain Jack. General Andy Jackson gave it to me, and it has clung to me ever since. The General seemed to take a fancy to me, and he had me carry messages for him."

Steam navigation was very young when the Captain learned how to run a marine engine. He got his first experience on a slave ship between New Orleans and Liberia. In 1818 he was engineer of the first steamboat built at New Orleans.

When the civil war came the captain was too old to enlist, but he kept at his work as an engineer on the Mississippi. He made good money on a transport for Grant, and finally Eads wanted him to serve on the flotilla he had built. Haynes was not anxious to go in the regular service, but he was told that a file of soldiers would take him if he didn't go willingly, and he thought it better policy to consent.

Seven years ago next April he joined Blair Post, G. A. R., of St. Louis, giving his age as 103 years. Two or three years after that he was obliged to give up work and become an inmate of the Soldiers' Home.

OIL CRAZE IN INDIANA.

Pathetic Story of an Old Man's Gratitude for Unexpected Riches.

Indiana now has the oil fever almost as bad as Pennsylvania had it more than a score of years ago. Near the town of Peru two unsuccessful efforts were made, but finally a little syndicate was formed to try again.

Up to the tenth day after the drill was started, no one paid any particular attention to the work, unless it was an employe in the railroad shops who would stop while passing to and from his work to inquire how deep the hole was or chat a few minutes with the workmen. But before the sun set on the eleventh day every man, woman and child of the 8,000 residents knew that oil had shown up in the pipe, and on the following day, when the black, ill-smelling stuff began to flow over the top of the casing, the excitement became wildly, uproariously intense.

Many small fortunes have already been made and others will be realized by persons who less than a year ago were scarcely in comfortable circumstances. One of the most notable of these is Charles Artis, an old colored man. He had grown old and become infirm in the performance of odd jobs of labor for his neighbors. He owned part of a lot which was drilled and when a well was sunk it proved to be the best one in the district. For the first few days it produced 600 barrels a day, and soon settled down to 480, which it has discharged every day for a month or more.

From the Heart of London

In the house of the great Madame Dalbert, Regents Park, London, Eng., there lives a French girl named Angelus Daubene, whose restoration to health through taking Dr. Campbell's Red Blood Forming Capsuloids has attracted the attention of many people in the neighborhood of Regents Park. She writes as follows:

THE CAPSULOID COMPANY.

GENTLEMEN:—I have the good fortune to know your Manager. I say "good fortune" because six weeks ago when I met him I was a physical wreck through ulcer of the stomach, which caused me dreadful distress as well as anæmia so bad that I was as pale as any corpse. I had not left the house for nine weeks, and I had made my will although only 22 years of age. When your Manager asked me to try Capsuloids, and told me they were not a patent medicine and contained only iron, I smiled and said iron was poison to me, that I would not dare touch it. He kindly explained that your Capsuloids contained natural iron, exactly like the iron which my blood lacked so woefully. He offered to stay with me for an hour after I took the first Capsuloid for, in spite of his assurances that Capsuloids were as mild as milk, I expected to suffer indigestion pain immediately. I was surprised to find that my stomach was as free from pain at the end of the hour as before I took the Capsuloid. I have taken them regularly now for six weeks, without once feeling discomfort from them; the ulcer in my stomach is healed; I can eat even meat and potatoes; I can assure you my cheeks are rosy; I have gained 13½ pounds, and I am better and stronger and freer from headache and backache than I have felt in years. I cannot repay you, but I am sure you have sold two hundred boxes in this locality through the change you have brought about in me.

I am ever thankfully yours, ANGELUS DAUBENE.

TARGET PRACTICE AT SEA.

The Navy Likely to Use $700,000 Worth of Powder and Shells Next Year.

Target practice at sea by ships of the new navy costs the Government annually half a million of dollars, and with the completion of ships now building the cost will approach $800,000. This includes only the cost of powder and the cheap variety of shells used. Were full powder charges and the regular armor-piercing projectiles employed the cost would be at least $3,000,000. None but the best kind of powder can be used in the big guns, but the shells need not be of the finest workmanship.

From not more than $100,000 a year for target practice to nearly one million is a big jump in the cost of maintaining the navy, and yet officers claim that there is not half enough practice as it is. Economy has prevented the frequent use of the batteries, and the marksmanship records show that gunners are not so proficient as they should be. The fact that the navy has has been well supplied with either powder or shell for years is the cause of the poor scores made by some ships' companies, say the officers. The President recommends in his annual message the appropriation of $1,000,000 to provide a reserve supply of powder.

Recent regulations provide that every vessel in the navy at sea shall have a certain amount of target practice annually. The limited supply of powder and shells prevents full service charges from being fired often and in all target practice the charges are greatly reduced and the shells used are of the cast steel variety. All practice is to be conducted on or off soundings at ranges varying from 800 to 3,000 yards, the ship circling the target at a speed of not less than eight knots, such practice being intended to simulate, as nearly as possible, the conditions of battle under a spirited and continuous fire. At two sea practices each year all vessels are to be cleared for action, and men are to be stationed as in actual battle, with necessary officers, aids, and quartermaster in the conning tower, and all other officers at stations. Projectiles used in practice are either semi-armor piercing or simply cast iron with little power to break through heavy armor. The powder, however, is of the best furnished the navy.—New York Sun.

A GODSEND LUFKIN OF MAINE.

This Was a Mistake of the Clergyman's but $100,000 Came Along with It.

A Godsend Lufkin, of Tilden, Me., has the distinction of owning the queerest name in Maine. He got it through a mistake of the clergyman who christened him.

Godsend's grandfather, old Peleg Lufkin, owned about all the wild land in the town. When he died he left his property to his four boys in trust, the whole of it to go to the first grandson who should come into the world. At that time none of the boys were married, but they at once remedied that fault, every one taking a wife inside of a year from the time the will of their father was made. Six years after his wedding the wife of George Lufkin presented to him a son, who was entitled to the great estate under the terms of the will. It was agreed that the boy's mother should bestow the name, but she neglected to tell the minister about it before the party had assembled at the church. Then when the clergyman asked what name he should bestow the child's father spoke up and said:

"I think you'd better call him a godsend, because he has proved that to my family."

The words spoken in jest were taken in earnest by the clergyman, who proceeded to formally christen the boy as "A Godsend Lufkin," a name which he bears to-day. As he got nearly $100,000 worth of property along with his name, he is trying to stand it.—New York Sun.

TRIUMPHS OF THE NEW SURGERY.

Teeth Transplanted and Grow as Strong as the Original Ones.

The most wonderful thing accomplished by the dental surgeon is the transplantation of teeth. He can actually take a good fresh-drawn tooth from the mouth of one person and plant it in the jaw of another, so that it will grow and be to all intents and purposes as good as if it had sprouted originally in its new situation. A satisfactory connection with the old nerve is established, the fortunate fact being that nothing in the body unites more readily than nerve tissue.

The transplantation of bones is another triumph of the new surgery. Where a human bone has become diseased or otherwise damaged beyond repair, it can be replaced under reasonably favorable conditions by a bone taken from an animal.

The nose is an organ liable to damage, and various diseases attack it and impair its beauty. Where the bridge of that organ has fallen in, or has been destroyed, it has been found practicable to put in an artificial bridge of chicken bone. Sometimes gold or platinum is preferred as the material. The proper antiseptic methods being followed, the flesh heals over the new bridge without irritation, and thus life is made worth living once more.

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR TALKS.

Strict Neutrality But Strong Representation in the East.

Vienna, Austria, May 11, 1 p. m—The Emperor, in his speech in the Reichstag today, said that Austria would observe the strictest neutrality.

He hoped that the war would soon be finished by some equitable arrangement and he hoped for pacific developments in the east.

In view of the present uncertain situation, he said, the maintenance of a powerful armament in the east was necessary.

Chased By Spanish Ship.

New York, May 11, 12:40 p. m—The steamship Schleswig arrived at this port this morning after a very exciting voyage.

While off the coast of Hayti in the West Indies the steamer was fired upon by a Spanish warship. The Schleswig was chased for several hours.

It was only the poor marksmanship of the Spanish gunners that enabled the American ship to escape. The shots and shell flew wild and the ship was never struck once.

AT CAMP VOORHEES.

Prospect of Jersey Boys Being Soon Ordered to Go to the Front.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camp Voorhees, Sea Girt, N. J., May 11.—There seems a definite prospect some of Jersey's blue-coats will soon be ordered to the front, and as a result everybody here is on the qui vive with excitement. The First Regiment has been mustered in with the exception of two companies. Capt. Butler is now hard at work preparing to muster in those companies. The army officers who are to assist him are expected today, and when they come the work will go forward with renewed vigor.

Meanwhile the boys of the Third Regiment are being looked over by the medical examiners and will soon be ready to be mustered in.

The return of pleasant weather put new life into the soldiers and drills and camp duties have been performed with energy.

The rumors as to who are to go and where they are to go are endless, but it is the general opinion that the First Regiment will leave the last of this week for the National camp at Chickamauga.

THE NAVAL RESERVE.

Premise of Active Service on the Badger for Battalion of the East.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Hoboken, N. J., May 11—There is a promise of active service at last for the Naval Reserves of the Battalion of the East. There was general disappointment when the detail ordered to take the monitor Montauk to Portland Me., was ordered home. Even when it was announced that the reserves would take charge of the auxiliary cruiser Badger, there was a general feeling that the boys would only be disappointed again.

The action that has given the Jersey reserves renewed interest was the swearing in of Paymaster A. H. Colby, at the Brooklyn navy yard Monday night. He was ordered to make requisition for the articles needed for the reserve on board the Badger. The announcement had already been made that the Badger would be ready to be put in commission two weeks from Monday last. The Naval Construction Board has decided to condemn the flooring on one of the decks which will necessitate more and a further postponement of the time for active service.

Despite the delay, however, the Naval Reserves are now taking renewed interest as they believe that they will really go to sea on the Badger in the course of a few weeks.

Even if the Badger is not put in commission until three weeks from now, it will be necessary for a detail of the Battalion to go on board nearly a week before that date to assist in the preparations.

Those of the reserves who have been aboard the Badger are greatly pleased with her appearance and consider her a very sea-worthy vessel. Her armament is being prepared and will shortly be placed in position.

Meanwhile, the members of the reserve are relieved from the strain of expecting to be called out for duty at any moment.

MOSES SCHLOSS MARRIED.

Scheuer & Company's Popular Young Manager Takes a Wife.

Moses Schloss, manager for Scheuer & Company, of this city, was married last night to Miss Minnie Krieger, of Philadelphia. The wedding took place in Casino Hall, Philadelphia, the ceremony being performed by Rabbi Leucht, of Newark.

The wedding was attended by over 200 guests, from among the most prominent Jewish families of that city, and by William and Emanuel Schloss, brothers of the groom, from Plainfield. After a short honeymoon, the couple will take up their residence on Sandford avenue in this city.

A Menace to Health.

(Special to The Daily Press.

South Stirling, May 11.—The Board of Health of Warren township was this morning notified that a dead horse, which was owned by Rosylin Smith, a retired lawyer living at Washingtonville, had been lying in an open field on the farm of Augustus Sticket for several days and emitting a disgusting stench. Sticklet was ordered to have the dead carcass removed.

Frank Hubbard, John Kean, Hamilton Kean and James McGuire. The directors then chose their officers as follows: President, Frank Bergen; secretary and treasurer, J. Frank Hubbard.

Past Commander Paid a Visit.

The members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., at their meeting last evening, had the pleasure of a visit from Past Department Commander Stahl, of Trenton, who made a patriotic address. Other patriotic remarks were made by members of the Post. The business of the evening was of a routine nature.

Scotch Plains, May 11 — At a special meeting of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company in their rooms last evening, it was decided that the members should meet at the company's headquarters at 5 o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of returning Gazelle's hand engine in a body to the Exempt) Firemen's Association in Plainfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, May 11—The death of Mrs. Anna C. Kratzel, wife of Paul Kratzel, of North avenue, occurred last evening after a lingering illness with consumption. She was the daughter of Jacob Pfinger, of Washington Valley, and a sister of Peter Pfinger, of the same place. She leaves a husband and large family of children.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

At the interscholastic games held at Princeton Saturday, George Proctor Smith won the pole vault. He also finished third in putting the shot.

Carroll L. Runyon, captain of the track team of the Plainfield High School, yesterday sent in the entries for the High School team for the New Jersey interscholastic games. Runyon is entered in the hammer throwing; Walter L. Long in the high jump; Joseph DeForeest in the discus, and Harry Cuming in the bicycle race. At the last moment Rhey T. Snodgrass backed out of the running events and announced that he would not take part in the games. George Proctor Smith, formerly of the New Jersey Military Academy, entered the High School lately so as to be able to take part in the State games. As he has not yet become a member of the High School Athletic Association, he could not be entered with the rest. The entries close today.

The young athletes, who were formerly students at the New Jersey Military Academy until that institution collapsed, now find themselves in a rather peculiar position. Among them is George Proctor Smith, president of the New Jersey Interscholastic Association. According to the rulings of that association, it will be impossible for the young men to now enter another school and enter the State interscholastic games. The rules are so made as to prevent athletes from attending school a few weeks in advance of the games so as to be able to enter. They are required to be at school several months before they have a right to enter from that school. As it is now too late to enter the High School and compete from there and as the New Jersey Military Academy is no more, Smith and his schoolmates are in a quandary. It is not likely that any special arrangement could be made as the athletes of the other schools in the association are all jealous of the ability of the Plainfield opponents and would vigorously oppose any rule that would so-evidently favor them.

AROUND THE BASES.

The Plainfield Juniors defeated the Dunellen Juniors Monday afternoon by a score of 18 to 12. Last year the score was reversed.

The young Orientals will play the Bound Brook Athletic Club Saturday at Bound Brook. The battery for the Orientals will be John Callahan and Harry Drake. Patrick Ryan, short stop, has been released and H. Angleman taken in his place.

Baseball at the Plainfield High School has come to a sudden stop. There is a lack of financial support from the athletic association that will make it absolutely impossible for the team to continue. The reason for the lack of support that controls the sport is due to the fact that the treasury is perilously near a stage of emptiness while the bills that have already been contracted will take every cent there is in the treasury. It is not an easy thing to run a baseball team, especially if the financial support is limited. Manager Claude Edwards has done well with the team, but the members of the association were lax in their aid. The support of the public at the games was not sufficient to render the team self-supporting. So they had to draw on the treasury. The expenses of the track team added in the rapid disappearance of the small amount left. The interest in baseball among the High School boys has certainly decreased considerably. The members of the team no longer turn up to practice, and there are only a few who are really working for the good of the team. The High School has two more games to play, one at Newark Academy and the other here with the Princeton "Prep." As in each case the management has to pay one-half of the expenses, the games will probably be cancelled and the High School will withdraw from the contest.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Fred Pope, of West Front street, is riding an Eldridge wheel.

Frank Haurand, of Lederer's dry goods store, is arranging a bicycle parts. The plan is to issue invitations for a limited number. The party will ride to Elizabeth and return on the train. They will then go to some convenient place and have a supper.

Another bicycle run was held by the members of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church Monday evening. There were twelve young people who took part in the run. They met at the church and after a spin to Oak Tree returned to the parsonage on Central avenue where a social time was enjoyed.

BASKET BALL

There is considerable talk of having the return match between the girls teams of this city and Cranford played on the lawn to one of the large residences in Cranford. It was first proposed to play in the gymnasium of the Cranford Athletic Club, but it is very small for the purpose and will accommodate but few visitors.

IN CITY COURT.

A Frenchman Who Says a Colored Man Struck Him.

John Scott, colored, was arrested last night by Officer Watson, on a complaint made by Justine Durnthier, the latter a Frenchman, on a charge of fighting. Scott pleaded not guilty, and his trial was set down for Saturday. Durnthier says that he was standing near Scott's house on Plainfield avenue, when Scott came up and struck him a blow across the face. Scott says Durnthier struck him first with a shovel.

Patrick Dunavan was arrested by Officer McCue on complaint of his wife, who charged him with calling her names. His trial was set down for Saturday, May 23d.

Officer Cash arrested Jacob Sternberg for peddling without a license. He was fined $3 which he waid.

Breaking Quarantine.

Because the Board of Health complained that Martin Stevens, of Cottage place, is not complying with the quarantine regulation and allowing people to go in and out of his house where there is a case of scarlet fever, Chief Grant has detailed Officer Giese to watch the house with instructions to arrest any one not heeding the notice.
